In terms of dollar volume of construction put into place, home building today accounts for more than $23 billion — a larger amount than the factory value of the output of cars, trucks and buses, or greater than the total amount of our exports and imports.

Freighters Collide In Mobile Harbor

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—An outbound freighter collided with an oil barge in Mobile harbor early today and both burst into flame.

The Coast Guard said it had no report of injuries.

The fire in the bow of the 447-foot ore carrier Prospector was extinguished within a short time.

The Coast Guard said the ore carrier later reported a fire in a forward hold. The Prospector tied up at an Alabama state dock berth where city fire trucks pumped water into the hold.

Flames on the oil barge lighted up the Mobile waterfront near the downtown business section. The fire was brought under control about three hours after the collision.

The Coast Guard said the 82-foot cutter Point Lookout took the barge under tow and moved it out of the harbor into Mobile Bay.

Anything Might Happen in Ohio Primary Voting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The feeling in Ohio today is that anything might happen in the Democratic and Republican primaries Tuesday.

By all the odds, Sen. Stephen M. Young, who is observing his 75th birthday today, should win renomination handily.

But there is the intriguing question of how a famous name on the Democratic ballot—that of ailing astronaut Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr.—will fare.

In the Republican contest, Rep. Robert Taft Jr. has all the betting on his side on a contest with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown for the GOP senatorial nomination.

But here, too, there is the rather unbelievable issue of whether the son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, who was known as Mr. Republican, is too liberal to succeed his famously conservative father.

The New Hampshire primary seemed to prove that, as far as it concerned Republicans, the man who wasn't there fared best in a presidential contest. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, half a world away in Saigon, South Viet Nam, walked off with the state's 14 delegates in a tremendous write-in surge.

The situation in Ohio is comparable only in the fact that Glenn has not been able to campaign because he fell against a bathtub in Columbus late in February and developed an inner ear disturbance which he announced would not permit him to run or to accept nomination even if the voters gave it to him.

The Ohio voters are going to have their say on several questions.

Does a famous name and personality override in the average citizen's mind the service that may have been given to him by a sitting senator.

Is there what might be called a therapy vote by those who think it might help Glenn's ear condition if they said they wanted him for their senatorial nominee.

Are enough sympathetic voters willing to mark Glenn's name on the ballot to retire Young.

Beyond this is the element of the publicly unspoken preference of the late President John F. Kennedy and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, for Glenn.

Every piece of political logic in Ohio says that Young should win, hands down. But will he?

On the Republican side the same logic dictates that the younger Taft, a much more personable candidate than his father, should take the GOP senatorial nomination easily.

But some curious things have been going on in Ohio, rather unnoticed nationally.

Brown, a champion vote-getter in the state who has spent 14 years in public office, has been chiding Taft for voting for the civil rights bill in the House and for favoring the sale of wheat to the Soviet Union.

Unaccountably, Taft has felt it necessary to reply to some of Brown's charges. He has denied that he voted for the wheat deal. He has said that he doesn't believe the civil rights bill will affect Ohio at all because state laws are much stricter.

Behind all of this is the aroma of undercurrent support for Brown by backers of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who don't like the arrangement by which Ohio's 58 Republican convention delegates will go to Gov. James A. Rhodes as a favorite son.

Brown has avoided any direct endorsement of Goldwater but has described himself as a "Goldwater type" Republican. Taft has not been marked as a Goldwater admirer.

Brown has seemed to have got under Taft's political skin by his charges that the state's congressman-at-large has gone to the left of his famous father. Brown calls himself a Herbert Hoover conservative.

Defending his record, Taft said he had voted at every opportunity to reduce federal spending "but not blindly."

"I am a thinking conservative, not a blind conservative," he said.

New Rocket Systems Plant Planned for Springs Area

Reynolds Rocket Systems Inc. of La Puente, Calif., engaged in the development and sale of ordnance systems and equipment for use in weapons, missiles and space vehicles, announced plans today to construct a plant on a 750-acre tract east of Colorado Springs.

Dr. George J. Dwire, chairman of the industrial committee of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, told members of the Chamber's Roundup Club at a breakfast meeting at the Swiss Chalet restaurant that F. Robert Reynolds, president of the company, had authorized him to report that the company had taken an option to buy more than 750 acres on Colorado Highway 90, the Farmers Highway, about six miles east of Peterson Field.

The land is owned by H. L. Boucher, rancher, and A. A. Gutmann, assistant cashier of the Colorado Springs National Bank. It is a long, narrow strip of land, Clay Banta, Chamber manager, said, which will be used in rocket testing.

The plant will employ about 30 persons.

Dwire announced that as soon as land acquisition and construction plans have been completed, a public announcement will be made by Reynolds regarding the type of facility that will be operated here by his company.

Reynolds Rocket Systems Inc. is a California corporation chartered April 19, 1962.

Bill Smartt, ranch boss of the Roundup Club, said the Chamber "is working on more and hotter industrial projects," and said that W. E. Carraway, director of industrial development for the Chamber, will return Friday from a six-weeks tour of the East Coast and Midwest contacting industries.

Banta announced at the breakfast meeting that Colorado Springs will be represented among 50 or 60 Coloradoans who will go to New York next week to invite East Coast industrial representatives to visit Colorado in a "Sell Colorado" program.

44 DIE IN AIRLINER CRASH

By ROBERT STRAND

DANVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — A twin-engine airliner flying from Stockton, Calif., to San Francisco in clear weather crashed and burned on a ranch today and all 44 persons aboard were reported killed.

Pacific Air Lines officials said the [illegible] F27 turbo-jet carried 40 passengers, a crew of three and one Federal Aviation Agency observer.

Contra Costa County sheriff's officers said there were no survivors.

The plane, Flight 773, originating in Reno, Nev., smashed into the ground on a ranch near this community on the east side of San Francisco Bay.

It was about 40 miles from its destination, San Francisco International Airport. It gave no hint of trouble in a routine radio report to the FAA control tower at Oakland a minute or two before it crashed at 9:50 a.m. EDT.

Dave Patterson, a pilot from nearby Concord, Calif., flew over the crash scene and said wreckage was strewn for at least a quarter of a mile.

"No portion appeared larger than a single automobile," he said.

It was the first crash in the 21 years of Pacific Air Lines, a scheduled line operating in California, Oregon and Nevada.

In Washington the Civil Aeronautics Board said a 12-man investigation team headed by Lee Martin was being sent to the crash site.

Showers Sprinkle Scattered Areas Throughout U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers sprinkled scattered areas in the eastern part of the nation today while a cool spell of weather continued in western sections.

The storm center that caused tornadoes and strong winds in seven Midwestern states Tuesday moved across the north central border into Canada. But gusty winds, with showers, swept areas in the Upper Great Lakes region. Gale warnings remained in effect for Lake Michigan and Superior.

Showers also splashed areas from Michigan to Texas and headed into the Ohio Valley to western New York State.

In the West, more snow fell in mountain areas. A foot of snow was on the ground in Austin, in central Nevada. Temperatures in lowland areas of northern and central California were reported near freezing. The Weather Bureau has issued warnings to livestock owners in parts of Utah, eastern Nevada and northern Arizona.

Mild weather prevailed in much of the eastern half of the nation.

Dust-Laden Wind Damages Crops In East Colorado

DENVER (AP) —Strong, dust-laden winds caused severe damage to croplands in some eastern Colorado counties, county agents reported today.

Leland Barden at Springfield commented, "Prospects are very poor for wheat. Most of it's gone.

"Beets are badly damaged too. Blowing dust closed roads in the Springfield area last night."

Prowers County Agent Fred Fitzsimmons said Tuesday's wind was the worst this spring. "Wheat is severely damaged and surface moisture is poor," he said.

At Eads, Bruce D. Whitmore, Kiowa County agent, said dry winds since December had destroyed most winter wheat in the eastern part of the county and caused damage to grasslands. He said some wheat looks good in the western half of the county.

'Uneasiness' Reported in Castro Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Newly arrived refugees reported increasing uneasiness in Communist Cuba today.

"The atmosphere in Cuba is one of rebellion," said Jose Garcel Mora of Oriente Province, who fled by rowboat and was picked up by a vessel that brought him and eight companions to Miami.

There are increasing rumors that something big is going to happen in May.

The Revolutionary Junta renewed a promise that its men will land in Cuba by May 20 to join guerrillas already there.

Garcel Mora told newsmen that two months ago he and neighbors found an abandoned boat on the Oriente north coast.

"From footprints in the sand, it appeared between 80 and 100 men landed and fled inland," he said.

Snowfall Improves State Water Supply Outlook

DENVER (AP) — Snowfall in April helped to improve the outlook for Colorado water supplies.

F. A. Mark, state conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, said today the best conditions are in northern Colorado and the poorest in the Arkansas and Rio Grande basins.

"Even though forecasts are raised slightly on the Arkansas River," Mark's report said as of May 1, "water users in this basin will have considerably below normal water supply."

The report said reservoir storage in the valley "is practically nonexistent," and streamflow at Pueblo is forecast a 73 per cent for May through September compared with the 15-year average — 1943-1957.

"The Rio Grande Valley is in about the same situation as the Arkansas with poor carryover storage and streamflow of 71 per cent expected," the report said. "Soil moisture is reported as poor."

Mark said in the San Juan Basin the forecast for summer water is 50 to 60 per cent of normal.

His report gave these forecasts for other streams:

Yampa, 104 per cent of the 15-year average; White, 99 per cent; Colorado River at Glenwood Springs, 82 per cent; Animas at Durango, 88 per cent, and Cache la Poudre, 83 per cent.

"Soil moisture in the Platte Basin is relatively good, but high winds are rapidly depleting surface moisture," the report said.

President Gets Criticism for 'Ear Tugs'

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — President Johnson has been unjustly criticized for giving his two pet Beagles "affectionate ear tugs," says the president of the Vanderburgh County Humane Society.

The society has sent Johnson a life membership.

"I've seen men pinch their wives, and I think the women enjoy it," said Dorothy Lutz, who heads the society. "If the dogs get used to a few tugs, chances are they like it too."

Calling the President a "just and humane" man, Mrs. Lutz said, "If everybody was as kind and fair to animals as the President there would be no need for humane societies. We are very proud to have Mr. Johnson as a member."

Four Men Killed As Air Force Plane Crashes

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force is investigating the crash of a C123 which claimed the lives of four men and injured [illegible] others Thursday.

The aircraft crashed during [illegible] and [illegible] less than 1,000 yards from [illegible] Highway 98 at nearby Hurlburt Air Force Field. The plane was at the Gen. Jimmy Doolittle Field, a small runway used by Doolittle while training for his raid on Tokyo in World War II.

Dead are: Airman 1/C William T. Hansley Jr., 33, Sea Shore Village, Fla.; Staff Sgt. Malcolm R. Cardwell, 29, Mary Esther, Fla.; Airman 1/C Jerry N. Cecil, 31, Fort Walton Beach, Fla., and Tech. Sgt. [illegible] White, 44, Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.

An Air Force spokesman said Airman 1/C Manuel L. Jernigan, 31, Mary Esther, Fla., was seriously hurt with a back injury.

Others injured in the crash were the pilot, Capt. Karl W. Lessner, 33, of Fayetteville, N.C.; the copilot, 1st Lt. James S. [illegible], 26, and Staff Sgt. Jay R. Read, 29, both of Eglin Air Force Base. All of the men except Sgt. White were members of the Air Force's [illegible] team [illegible] the First Air Commando Wing. White was a [illegible] trainer from Eglin on assignment.

The cause of the accident has not been determined.

Cuba Overflights Will Continue, McNamara Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today the United States will continue [illegible] aerial reconnaissance [illegible] Cuba [illegible] Soviets [illegible] the aerial [illegible] missile batteries [illegible].

Any [illegible] transfer of [illegible] would [illegible] affect our need for or our plans for aerial reconnaissance," McNamara told the Advertising Council.

He stressed that the United States, under both Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson, stated very clearly "that we must have satisfactory inspection of Cuba to be sure that offensive weapons such as ballistic missiles are not introduced [illegible] that country."

In the absence of on-site inspection, McNamara said the United States must fly aerial reconnaissance over Fidel Castro's country.

As for future prospects in Cuba, McNamara said that in view of the police state methods which have been applied to the population, he does not believe we can expect any internal revolt in Cuba.

He covered a wide range of subjects in a brief talk and a question and answer session.

Viet Nam: "It is a very serious situation," but he expects to start seeing some improvement in the next few months. "It's going to be slow. It can't be won quickly; no guerrilla war ever has been."

Red China: Because of agricultural and economic problems and a lack of aircraft spare parts, he does not expect Red China to be a first-class military power for many, many years.

Spending: The cost reduction program aimed at reducing operating expenses $4 billion a year by 1967 is on schedule. If the economy program continues to do as well, we can expect our defense budget at least in relative terms to decline in future years."

Harlem 'Gang Of 400' Is Being Probed

NEW YORK (AP) — The fatal stabbing of a white woman shopkeeper in Harlem has spurred police investigation of reports that a gang of Negro youths, dedicated to crime and attacks on whites, has been formed.

The slaying of Margit Sugar, 45, in her second-hand clothing store last Wednesday apparently was unprovoked. Coupled with the deaths of three other whites in Harlem recently, it gave rise to reports of a racial vendetta.

The New York Times quoted an unidentified source today as estimating the size of the gang at 400 and saying [illegible] had been trained by dissident members of the Black Muslim sect. Other published reports have placed the size at 60 to 80 members.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm declined to confirm or deny that such a gang exists. He said police would have no statement "until we have something on which we can take some action, until we really know what we are talking about."

James 67X, a spokesman for the group of former Black Muslims who broke away from the parent sect with Malcolm X, professed to have no knowledge of such a gang.

Air Marshal C. Roy Slemon, RCAF, has accepted a position with the Air Force Academy Foundation as director of a project to create an aerospace educational center. The center will be adjacent to and in support of the academy, according to William Thayer Tutt, president of the foundation.

Air Marshal Slemon, who is retiring from the RCAF after serving 42 years in the RCAF, has been the deputy commander-in-chief of the North American Air Defense Command for the past seven years at NORAD headquarters in Colorado Springs.

Tutt stated that he is proud to announce that Air Marshal Slemon and his family will continue to reside in Colorado Springs.

The air marshal will be associated with the Air Force Academy Foundation in its many activities which are centered in Colorado Springs and whose functions are in support of the Air Force Academy.

The Aerospace Educational center will be designed to function as a focus for educational endeavors related to air and space activity and will include

Tiny Whooping Crane Is Getting Used to Zoo

MONTE VISTA (UPI) — Zoe, the whooping crane chick, was getting used to new and quite elaborate surroundings today.

The eight-day-old crane, one of only 40 such birds in the world, was brought to the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service's new research station just south of here last Saturday.

Biologists hope the move will help save the species from extinction. The station, still under construction, is being built to help preserve species of wildlife which are dying out.

Zoe, one of only eight whooping cranes in captivity, was born April 28 at the service's substation in Lafayette, La. It was the first baby whooping crane born in captivity in three years and the ninth in history.

Eugene Knoder, biologist in charge of the Monte Vista station, said his department would try to "use this bird and others like it to breed a flock in captivity and eventually help restore the wild population."

The adult whooping crane stands five feet, has an eight-foot wingspread and is pure white with brilliant red and black head markings and black wingtips.

Wrinkle Remover Business Faces Federal Frowning

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS

NEW YORK (AP) — A new wrinkle has developed in the wrinkle-removing business.

But the government has stepped in and unless things are smoothed out, a potential $100-million market may be in jeopardy.

Ten weeks ago Helene Curtis Industries Inc. pioneered with a lotion which may, for a few hours, restore youthful smoothness to faces.

Sales sky-rocketed and other cosmetics firms — Coty, Hazel Bishop, Revlon—quickly readied their own versions.

Then last week the Food and Drug Administration seized a batch of Helene Curtis product —Magic Secret—in Baltimore claiming that it is a drug instead of a cosmetic and should have had drug clearance. The agency raised no question of health nor did it ban further sales.

But announcement of the seizure dropped Helene Curtis stock by $3 to $19.75, its 1964 low, on the New York Stock Exchange that day and, said some New York retailers, it turned off sales like a spigot.

Hazel Bishop's president Willard Gidwitz promptly charged in a statement that the FDA was seeking publicity to further an effort to get tighter controls over cosmetics. The FDA has jurisdiction over [illegible] drugs and food.

There [illegible] newspaper ads [illegible] that drug or [illegible] FDA [illegible] product was good and people should [illegible] keep buying it.

Makers of these lotions contend that they are not drugs. They describe the chief ingredient as a protein extracted from cow's blood that acts only on the surface of the skin. The lotions therefore differ, they say, from the steroid-hormone creams previously marketed, which are long-term treatments affecting the moisture-retaining capacity of skin cells.

LBJ Declares Late Summer Congress Recall Possible

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — While reporters' children squirmed in their seats and munched on cookies, President Johnson passed on the kind of news that makes congressmen squirm: act on the administration program or face a possible late summer recall.

"The people's business must come first," the President declared as he mixed business — replying to newsmen's questions —with pleasure—playing picnic host in the White House back yard.

"I strive to please," Johnson said at one point Wednesday, and the setting proved it. Before him were tots to teen-agers, children of newsmen invited to the presidential news conference and plied with punch served up at gaily colored refreshment stands.

New Rocket Systems Plant Planned for Springs Area

Reynolds Rocket Systems Inc. of La Puente, Calif., engaged in the development and sale of ordnance systems and equipment for use in weapons, missiles and space vehicles, announced plans today to construct a plant on a 750-acre tract east of Colorado Springs.

Dr. George J. Dwire, chairman of the industrial committee of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, told members of the Chamber's Roundup Club at a breakfast meeting at the Swiss Chalet restaurant, that F. Robert Reynolds, president of the company, had authorized him to report that the company had taken an option to buy more than 750 acres on Colorado Highway 90, the Farmers Highway, about six miles east of Peterson Field.

The land is owned by H. L. Boucher, rancher, and A. A. Gutmann, assistant cashier of the Colorado Springs National Bank. It is a long, narrow strip of land. Clay Banta, Chamber manager, said, which will be used in rocket testing.

The plant will employ about 30 persons.

Dwire announced that as soon as land acquisition and construction plans have been completed, a public announcement will be made by Reynolds regarding the type of facility that will be operated here by his company.

Reynolds Rocket Systems Inc. is a California corporation chartered April 19, 1962.

Bill Smartt, ranch boss of the Roundup Club, said the Chamber "is working on more and hotter industrial projects," and said that W. E. Carraway, director of industrial development for the Chamber, will return Friday from a six-weeks tour of the East Coast and Midwest contacting industries.

Banta announced at the breakfast meeting that Colorado Springs will be represented among 50 or 60 Coloradoans who will go to New York next week to invite East Coast industrial representatives to visit Colorado in a "Sell Colorado" program.

Showers Sprinkle Scattered Areas Throughout U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers sprinkled scattered areas in the eastern part of the nation today while a cool spell of weather continued in western sections.

The storm center that caused tornadoes and strong winds in seven Midwestern states Tuesday moved across the north central border into Canada. But gusty winds, with showers, swept areas in the Upper Great Lakes region. Gale warnings remained in effect for Lake Michigan and Superior.

Showers also splashed areas from Michigan to Texas and headed into the Ohio Valley to western New York State.

In the West, more snow fell in mountain areas. A foot of snow was on the ground in Austin, in central Nevada. Temperatures in lowland areas of northern and central California were reported near freezing. The Weather Bureau has issued warnings to livestock owners in parts of Utah, eastern Nevada and northern Arizona.

Mild weather prevailed in much of the eastern half of the nation.

Dust-Laden Wind Damages Crops In East Colorado

DENVER (AP)—Strong, dust-laden winds caused severe damage to croplands in some eastern Colorado counties, county agents reported today.

Leland Barden at Springfield commented, "Prospects are very poor for wheat. Most of it's gone.

"Beets are badly damaged, too. Blowing dust closed roads in the Springfield area last night."

Prowers County Agent Fred Fitzsimmons said Tuesday's wind was the worst this spring. "Wheat is severely damaged and surface moisture is poor," he said.

At Eads, Bruce D. Whitmore, Kiowa County agent, said dry winds since December had destroyed most winter wheat in the eastern part of the county and caused damage to grasslands. He said some wheat looks good in the western half of the county.

'Uneasiness' Reported in Castro Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Newly arrived refugees reported increasing uneasiness in Communist Cuba today.

"The atmosphere in Cuba is one of rebellion," said Jose Garcel Mora of Oriente Province, who fled by rowboat and was picked up by a vessel that brought him and eight companions to Miami.

"There are increasing rumors that something big is going to happen in May."

The Revolutionary Junta renewed a promise that its men will land in Cuba by May 20 to join guerrillas already there.

Garcel Mora told newsmen that two months ago he and neighbors found an abandoned boat on the Oriente north coast.

"From footprints in the sand, it appeared between 80 and 100 men landed and fled inland," he said.

A free barbecue will be sponsored by the Big Sandy, Black Squirrel, Fountain Valley and Horse-Rush Soil Conservation districts. Former sheriff G. R. Brown of Elbert County will be the chef.

A fish planting demonstration will be conducted by the Colorado Game, Fish and Parks Department. Plans call for unloading a truck filled with catching-sized trout into the reservoir.

Tentative plans call for a water show, and every effort is being made to conduct a boat show.

Snowfall Improves State Water Supply Outlook

DENVER (AP) — Snowfall in April helped to improve the outlook for Colorado water supplies.

F. A. Mark, state conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, said today the best conditions are in northern Colorado and the poorest in the Arkansas and Rio Grande basins.

"Even though forecasts are raised slightly on the Arkansas River," Mark's report said as of May 1, "water users in this basin will have considerably below normal water supply."

The report said reservoir storage in the valley "is practically nonexistent," and streamflow at Pueblo is forecast a 73 per cent for May through September compared with the 15-year average — 1943-1957.

"The Rio Grande Valley is in about the same situation as the Arkansas with poor carryover storage and streamflow of 71 per cent expected," the report said. "Soil moisture is reported as poor."

Mark said in the San Juan Basin the forecast for summer water is 50 to 60 per cent of normal.

His report gave these forecasts for other streams:

Yampa, 104 per cent of the 15-year average; White, 99 per cent; Colorado River at Glenwood Springs, 82 per cent; Animas at Durango, 88 per cent, and Cache la Poudre, 83 per cent.

"Soil moisture in the Platte Basin is relatively good, but high winds are rapidly depleting surface moisture," the report said.

President Gets Criticism for 'Ear Tugs'

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — President Johnson has been unjustly criticized for giving his two pet Beagles "affectionate ear tugs," says the president of the Vanderburgh County Humane Society.

The society has sent Johnson a life membership.

"I've seen men pinch their wives, and I think the women enjoy it," said Dorothy Lutz, who heads the society. "If the dogs get used to a few tugs, chances are they like it too."

Calling the President a "just and humane" man, Mrs. Lutz said: "If everybody was as kind and fair to animals as the President there would be no need for humane societies. We are very proud to have Mr. Johnson as a member."

44 DIE IN AIRLINER CRASH

By ROBERT STRAND

DANVILLE, Calif. (UPI)—A twin-engine airliner flying from Stockton, Calif., to San Francisco in clear weather crashed and burned on a ranch today and all 44 persons aboard were reported killed.

Pacific Air Lines officials said the plane, an F27 turbo-jet, carried 40 passengers, a crew of three and one Federal Aviation Agency observer.

Contra Costa County sheriff's officers said there were no survivors.

The plane, Flight 773 originating in Reno, Nev., smashed into the ground on a ranch near this community on the east side of San Francisco Bay.

It was about 40 miles from its destination, San Francisco International Airport. It gave no hint of trouble in a routine radio report to the FAA control tower at Oakland a minute or two before it crashed at 9:50 a.m. EDT.

Dave Patterson, a pilot from nearby Concord, Calif., flew over the crash scene and said wreckage was strewn for at least a quarter of a mile.

"No portion appeared larger than a single automobile," he said.

It was the third crash in the 21 years of Pacific Air Lines, a scheduled line operating in California, Oregon and Nevada.

(In Washington, the Civil Aeronautics Board said a 12-man investigation team headed by Lee Martin was being sent to the crash site.)

Four Men Killed As Air Force Plane Crashes

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force is investigating the crash of a C123 which claimed the lives of four men and injured four others Thursday.

The aircraft crashed during routine touch and go landings less than 1,000 yards from U.S. Highway 98 at nearby Hurlburt Air Force Field. The plane was at the Gen. Jimmy Doolittle Field, a small runway used by Doolittle while training for his raid on Tokyo in World War II.

Dead are: Airman 1.C William T. Hansley Jr., 33, Sea Shore Village, Fla.; Staff Sgt. Malcolm R. Cardwell, 29, Mary Esther, Fla., Airman 1.C Jeff N. Cecil, 31, Fort Walton Beach, Fla.; and Tech Sgt. Cleo C. White, 44, Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.

An Air Force spokesman said Airman 1.C. Manuel L. Jernagan, 31, Mary Esther, Fla., was seriously hurt with a back injury.

Others injured in the crash were: the pilot, Capt. Karl W. Leuschner, 33, of Fayetteville, N.C.; the co-pilot, 1st Lt. James S. Lamdin, 26, and Staff Sgt. Jay R. Read, 29, both of Eglin Air Force Base. All of the men except Sgt. White were members of the Air Force's anti-guerrilla team, the First Air Commando Wing. White was a photographer from Eglin on assignment.

The cause of the accident has not been determined.

Cuba Overflights Will Continue, McNamara Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today the United States will continue to fly aerial reconnaissance missions over Cuba whether or not the Soviets turn over to Cuba the antiaircraft missile batteries they installed.

Any such transfer of control "will not affect our need for or our plans for aerial reconnaissance," McNamara told the Advertising Council.

He stressed that the United States, under both Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson, stated very clearly "that we must have satisfactory inspection of Cuba to be sure that offensive weapons such as ballistic missiles are not introduced in that country."

In the absence of on-site inspection, McNamara said, the United States must fly aerial reconnaissance over Fidel Castro's country.

As for future prospects in Cuba, McNamara said that in view of the police state methods which have been applied to the population, he does not believe "we can expect any internal revolt in Cuba."

He covered a wide range of subjects in a brief talk and a question and answer session:

Viet Nam: "It is a very serious situation" but he expects to start seeing some improvement in the next few months. "It's going to be slow. It can't be won quickly—no guerrilla war ever has been."

Red China: Because of agricultural and economic problems and a lack of aircraft spare parts, he does not expect Red China to be a first-class military power for "many, many years."

Spending: The cost reduction program aimed at reducing operating expenses $4 billion a year by 1967 is on schedule. If the economy program continues to do as well "we can expect our defense budget at least in relative terms to decline in future years."

Uranium Miners Run Higher Risk For Lung Cancer

RICHLAND, Wash. (AP) — Uranium miners run a higher risk of lung cancer than the general population, two medical researchers said Wednesday in reporting on studies made in Colorado.

Dr. V. E. Archer of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Dr. G. Saccomanno, pathologist at St. Mary's Hospital in Grand Junction, Colo., described separate search involving uranium miners in the Colorado Plateau.

They took part in a three-day symposium here on inhaled radioactive particles and gases. The meeting, sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission and General Electric Co., has attracted more than 200 scientists from eight nations.

Roy Delaney of Shell said he found the money several weeks ago when he opened a package in the deep freeze labeled "deer chops."

Tiny Whooping Crane Is Getting Used to Zoo

MONTE VISTA (UPI)—"Zoe" the whooping crane still was getting used to new—and quite elaborate— surroundings today.

The eight-day-old crane, one of only 40 such birds in the world, was brought to the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service's new research station just south of here last Saturday.

Biologists hope the move will help save the species from extinction. The station, still under construction, is being built to help preserve species of wildlife which are dying out.

Zoe, one of only eight whooping cranes in captivity, was born April 28 at the service's substation in Lafayette, La. It was the first baby whooping crane born in captivity in three years and the ninth in history.

Eugene Knoder, biologist in charge of the Monte Vista station, said his department would try to "use this bird and others like it to breed a flock in captivity and eventually help restore the wild population."

The adult whooping crane stands five feet, has an eight-foot wingspread and is pure white with brilliant red and black head markings and black wingtips.

Harlem 'Gang Of 400' Is Being Probed

NEW YORK (AP)—The fatal stabbing of a white woman shopkeeper in Harlem has spurred police investigation of reports that a gang of Negro youths, dedicated to crime and attacks on whites, has been formed.

The slaying of Margit Sugar, 45, in her second-hand clothing store last Wednesday, apparently was unprovoked. Coupled with the deaths of three other whites in Harlem recently it gave rise to reports of a racial vendetta.

The New York Times quoted an unidentified source today as estimating the size of the gang at 400 and saying the youths had been trained by dissident members of the Black Muslim sect. Other published reports have placed the size at 60 to 80 members.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm declined to confirm or deny that such a gang exists. He said police would have no statement "until we have something on which we can take some action, until we really know what we are talking about."

James 67X, a spokesman for the group of former Black Muslims who broke away from the parent sect with Malcolm X, professed to have no knowledge of such a gang.

Tutt stated that he is proud to announce that Air Marshal Slemon and his family will continue to reside in Colorado Springs.

The air marshal will be associated with the Air Force Academy Foundation in its many activities which are centered in Colorado Springs, and whose functions are in support of the Air Force Academy.

The Aerospace Educational Center will be designed to function as a focus for educational endeavor related to air and space activity, and will include

Wrinkle Remover Business Faces Federal Frowning

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS

NEW YORK (AP)—A new wrinkle has developed in the wrinkle-removing business.

But the government has stepped in, and unless things are smoothed out, a potential $100-million market may be in jeopardy.

Ten weeks ago Helene Curtis Industries, Inc., pioneered with a lotion which, may, for a few hours, restore youthful smoothness to faces.

Sales sky-rocketed, and other cosmetics firms — Coty, Hazel Bishop, Revlon—quickly readied their own versions.

Then last week the Food and Drug Administration seized a batch of Helene Curtis' product —Magic Secret—in Baltimore claiming that it is a drug instead of a cosmetic, and should have had drug clearance. The agency raised no question of health, nor did it ban further sales.

But announcement of the seizure dropped Helene Curtis stock by $3 to $19.75 (its 1964 low) on the New York Stock Exchange that day and, said some New York retailers, it turned off sales like a spigot.

Hazel Bishop's president, Willard Gidwitz, promptly charged in a statement that the FDA was seeking publicity to further an effect to get tougher controls over cosmetics (the FDA has jurisdiction only over drugs and food).

Then in broadside newspaper ads, he said in effect, that drug or cosmetic, FDA or no, his product was good and people should please keep buying it.

Makers of these lotions contend that they are not drugs. They describe the chief ingredient as a protein extracted from cow's blood that acts only on the surface of the skin. The lotions therefore differ, they say, from the steroid-hormone creams previously marketed, which are long-term treatments affecting the moisture-retaining capacity of skin cells.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Bob is typical of the stutter victim. But stuttering actually can involve many first cousins, such as spastic colitis, blushing, hand tremor and the pre-performance nausea of singers or orators. So study the "stutter triangle" below for a neurological understanding of this nuisance complex.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE S-457: Bob G., aged 17, is a confirmed stutterer.

"T-t-tell me, Dr. C-C-Crane," he began, "how I c-c-can get rid of this t-t-terrible habit."

Despite the involved explanation that some speech therapists employ, and their lengthy stress on relaxation — all of which is good, the psychiatric answer is comparatively simple.

For the usual case of stuttering is due to a social "burn" that develops because of humiliation or extreme embarrassment at the very moment the victim is using normal conversation in his native tongue with other human beings.

There are thus three elements to the stuttering complex which you can visualize as corners of an equilateral triangle.

And here are the three basic elements in that "stutter triangle":

1. Normal conversational tones.
2. In one's native tongue.
3. While speaking to human companions.

After any one of those three corners of that famous "stutter triangle" and the stutterer can free himself from slavery to the little cluster of unruly muscles that have revolted.

STUTTERING

For example, a stutterer can pitch his voice higher or lower and then speak naturally. As a ventriloquist he will not stutter either.

If he reads aloud or sings this is not normal conversation so he does not stutter.

He can recite his lines in a play and not stutter.

Demosthenes thus altered this corner of the "stutter triangle" by holding pebbles in his mouth for this was not the natural situation when he first started to stutter.

Modern stutterers can also help themselves by biting down upon one side of their tongue and holding it imprisoned between their molars as they launch into speech.

Bubble gum in the mouth also serves in lieu of the pebbles that Demosthenes employed.

Change No. 2 and you will find that the stutter victim usually stops stuttering at once.

Thus an American stutterer can usually speak fluently in French or Spanish.

Or even if he adopts dialectal speech or a cockney accent, he can usually speak smoothly.

Now notice No. 3, for Demosthenes also talked to the waves, which altered this point of the triangle.

Stutterers can thus converse with their dogs or with horses, etc.

For stuttering is a very specific pattern of behavior. You victims can "trick" that unruly cluster of muscles by altering any of those original factors that comprised the "stutter triangle."

Relaxation also helps and so exercise is likewise beneficial. [illegible] stuttering of any set of muscles may require chronic treatment to keep the victim free from this unruly cluster of muscles.

Ruling in Sheppard Case Is Expected

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Carl A. Weinman says a ruling in the Sam Sheppard case may be forthcoming in June.

Weinman indicated as much after another routine, pretrial conference here Wednesday in prolonged efforts by Sheppard's attorneys to free the Cleveland life-termer from Ohio penitentiary.

The judge is studying briefs submitted by the attorney general's office and from Sheppard's lawyers who claim his constitutional rights were violated at his 1954 trial for the murder of his wife.

Weinman said Wednesday's conference was the final one. He indicated he may be able to decide on the habeas corpus action on written statements alone which would eliminate need for a trial.

Sheppard was convicted in the bludgeon slaying of his wife, Marilyn, in their plush home in suburban Cleveland. He becomes eligible for parole late this year.

EARLY LUTHERAN

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Lutherans were practicing their religion in New Jersey 21 years before it became a state.

Lutheran records show that as early as 1643 Swedish Lutherans had their own pastor, the Rev. Israel Holgh Fluviander, at Fort Eltsborg, a garrison on the eastern side of the Delaware River, near the present town of Salem in south Jersey, according to Dr. Albert P. Stauderman of The Lutheran magazine.

Voters Change Their Minds in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— They've really changed their minds in the East Fork fire district since 1962.

That year, the 12-family community voted to approve a fire protection contract with the Madison Place Volunteer Fire Department by a vote of 1-0.

In this week's primary election, East Fork repudiated that decision.

The vote was 2-0.

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—When a car horn kept blowing outside the Police Department Wednesday, Traffic Lt. Ed Bozarth looked out the window. And he took a second look.

"He does it every once in a while," Adair said. "He doesn't like to be left alone."

Space Program Said Vital to Economy of U.S.

BOULDER (UPI)— Professor William Miernyk, head of the University of Colorado's bureau of economic research, said Tuesday night that the U.S. space program would be vital to the nation's economy for years to come.

"Right now, the United States could not afford to do without the space program," Miernyk told a session of CU's aerospace week.

"The space program probably will be the fastest growing part of our economy for many years to come," he said. "The program acts with a large multiplier effect. Although direct appropriations amount to only $4.5 billion, the addition to the United States' gross national product is considerably more than that."

The economist said the program had indirectly helped solve unreleated problems.

The Area Redevelopment Act, he said, has channeled $326 million into depressed areas with high unemployment in three years, while National Aeronautics and Space Administration projects have funneled $306 million into the same areas in one year.

The aerospace meeting ends today.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D.,Ph.D.

Bob is typical of the stutter victim. But stuttering actually can involve many first cousins, such as spastic colitis, blushing, hand tremor and the pre-performance nausea of singers or orators. So study the "stutter triangle" below for a neurological understanding of this nuisance complex.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE S-457: Bob G., aged 17, is a confirmed stutterer.

"T-t-tell me, Dr. C-C-Crane," he began, "how I c-c-can get rid of this t-t-terrible habit?"

Despite the involved explanation that some speech therapists employ and their lengthy stress on relaxation — all of which is good, the psychiatric answer is comparatively simple.

For the usual case of stuttering is due to a social "burn" that develops because of humiliation or extreme embarrassment at the very moment the victim is using normal conversation in his native tongue with other human beings.

There are thus three elements to the stuttering complex, which you can visualize as corners of an equilateral triangle.

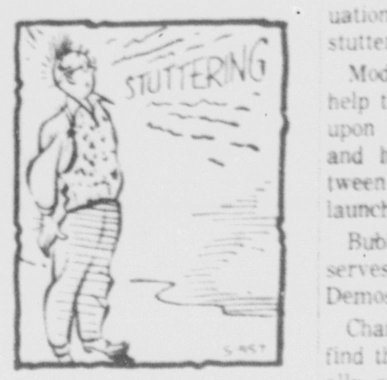
And here are the three basic elements in that "stutter triangle".

(1) Normal conversational tones;

(2) In one's native tongue;

(3) While speaking to human companions.

Alter any one of those three corners of that famous "stutter triangle" and the stutterer can free himself from slavery to the little cluster of unruly muscles that have revolted.



* * *

For example, a stutterer can pitch his voice higher or lower and then speak naturally. As a ventrioloquist, he will not stutter, either!

If he reads aloud or sings, this is not normal conversation so he does not stutter.

He can recite his lines in a play and not stutter.

Demosthenes thus altered this corner of the "stutter triangle" by holding pebbles in his mouth, for this was not the natural situation when he first started to stutter.

Modern stutterers can also help themselves by biting down upon one side of their tongue and holding it imprisoned between their molars as they launch into speech.

Bubble gum in the mouth also serves in lieu of the pebbles that Demosthenes employed.

Change No. 2 and you will find that the stutter victim usually stops stuttering at once.

Thus an American stutterer can usually speak fluently in French or Spanish.

Or, even if he adopts dialectal brogue or a cockney accent, he can usually speak smoothly.

Now notice No. 3, for Demosthenes also talked to the waves, which altered this point of the triangle.

Stutterers can thus converse with their dogs or with horses, too.

For stuttering is a very specific pattern of behavior. You victims can "trick" that unruly cluster of muscles by altering any of those original factors that comprised the "stutter triangle."

Relaxation also helps and social poise is likewise beneficial, but stuttering of any set of muscles may require chronic treatment to keep the victim free from this unruly cluster of muscles.

So send for my booklet "How to Stop Stuttering," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

For a slip of the tongue by a timid child who is under tension, may cause the laughter that starts a chronic case of stuttering.

Negro Leaders Disappointed By Court Ruling

GARY, Ind. (AP)—Gary Negro leaders showed disappointment and the school administration had no comment today on the U.S. Supreme Court's refusal to order changes in school district boundaries.

The Supreme Court declined Monday to upset a ruling that boundaries need not be changed to force integration when they have been honestly drawn with no intention of segregating races.

"Naturally I am disappointed," said Jeanette Strong, head of the Gary chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

She declined to comment on possible further moves by the NAACP but said the chapter's board of directors will meet Thursday night.

School Supt. Lee R. Gilbert refused to discuss the ruling. He said through his secretary that he had not been notified formally of the Supreme Court action.

The suit filed on behalf of a group of Negro children contended that school districts reflected the racial residential patterns of Gary, which has one of the nation's largest urban concentrations of Negroes.

In the original decision in U.S. District Court at Hammond, Ind., Judge George N. Beamer held that neighborhood schools were basic in the American educational system and there was no valid reason to disturb the pattern.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago let the ruling stand, holding that Gary has followed a policy of requiring pupils to attend schools in their own districts regardless of race.

However, Mrs. Strong said there are times when the boundaries have been gerrymandered to contain the Negroes.

White pupils who live in the predominantly Negro area have been allowed special transfers out to all-white schools, she said.

More than half of Gary's 45,000 pupils are non-white. More than 16,000 Negro pupils—two-thirds of the total—stayed out of school in a one-day boycott in April.

Britain Wants 'Settlement' in Malaysia Crisis

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler said today Britain wants an "honorable settlement" of the Malaysian crisis but that it is primarily a matter for the Asian powers involved.

He said that if it appears possible from his talks in Manila with President Diosdado Macapagal to arrange for a foreign ministers' conference followed by a new Malaysia-Indonesia-Philippines summit meeting, "we will be glad to look at it and to talk to the Malaysians about it."

He leaves for the Philippines Tuesday after a five-day visit to Japan. Butler told a news conference Japan had indicated willingness to act as a mediator in the dispute between Indonesia and Malaysia but that Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda did not believe the time was ripe for such an intervention.

Butler made these other points:

1. Britain, which recognizes Communist China, would be glad to take part in any conference on the future of Formosa providing it took into account the wishes of the inhabitants of the Nationalist-controlled island. He said Japan was in substantial agreement.

2. While Britain will not work for admission of Red China to the United Nations, it sees an advantage for world peace if any country like Red China were to associate with other nations in the international community.

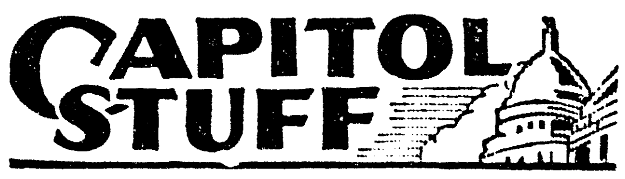
3. There are no differences in British attitudes in trade with either sector of the Communist bloc. All its dealings are on a purely commercial basis.

4. Britain and the Soviet Union are in agreement over the need for a broad-based government in Laos with Prince Souvanna Phouma as premier.

SOOTLESS CHIMNEYS

PIRAN, Yugoslavia (AP) — Dragutin Krizanec claims to have invented a device which will eliminate soot from factory chimneys. It is a system of metal pipes in the chimney in which the smoke passes through water evaporating from ventilators. He calls it "Dimokondenz," which is short for smoke condenser.

CAPITOL STUFF



By TED LEWIS

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's speeches, now that he has made so many of them, need to be examined thoughtfully both by politicians and historians for they reveal a talent for extemporaneous self-expression which has not been properly appreciated.

We are not referring to the phrases he uses to win support for civil rights or his economic uplift programs, but primarily to his ability to discuss off-the-cuff delicate problems such as those involving foreign affairs without coming close to a bobble.

Even President Kennedy, who had a superb command of English, recognized the perils in ad libbing his opinions on a touchy issue. If it involved a domestic problem, the choice of a wrong word could give Republicans political ammunition. On a foreign issue he was always sensitive to the fact that off-the-cuff comment delivered impulsively was dangerous business when any crisis was blowing up.

But it is definitely different with Johnson. He has no hesitancy in discussing any subject that comes to mind, and often at considerable length. If he is hampered at all, it is only by national security restrictions.

In the last few weeks, when he has had a chance to sound off with frequency, either in formal addresses or remarks to groups in the White House, the evidence has mounted that Johnson is almost immune from foot-in-mouth bobbles.

Of course, LBJ may come a cropper one day, but for a man who likes to talk a lot when he has a receptive audience, he thus far has not come up with one phrase or malaprop sentence which could upset a foreign capital or bring partisan abuse from the GOP.

This is a Johnson talent that politicians are beginning to recognize as of considerable significance.

REFLECTS HIS PERSONALITY AND BACKGROUND

It reflects the President's confidence in his ability to talk to the nation, either directly or through televised tapes of his remarks to various groups calling on him at the White House.

Moreover, it has a deeper meaning. In the first few months in the White House the new President gave the impression that he felt he lacked JFK's forensic appeal, especially when it came to erudition and a big vocabulary.

Now it is different. The President is convinced that his homey, simple phrases, his choice of words that all people understand, pack an appeal and, what is equally important, reflect honesty, his own personality and background.

The result will be that the President from now on will talk more rather than less, even if he has talked considerably already. Especially as the Presidential campaign develops this will be true. But already Republican leaders have about decided that it won't be his speeches which will get him into political trouble with the voters.

Well, then, in what area do they have any hope of the President making a bobble which could affect his election chances?

SWIMMING, SPEEDING AND BEAGLES

The best chance of this happening is in the area of Johnson's own efforts to act naturally even if President. There have been three instances already where what he did aroused considerable unfavorable reaction. First there was that business about how he swam nude in the White House pool, then his driving over the speed limit in Texas, and the latest incident — his lifting of two beagle pups up by the ears.

These may appear to be minor difficulties but in a political year such issues as ear-pulling have a tendency to build up like the Truman Administration's "deep freeze" issue in 1952.

But, all in all, it appears Johnson will be hard to beat in November, unless Viet Nam explodes or he blows his top at some point over published criticism of his personal activities, like driving fast.

Only the most naive observer would dare to suggest that the Republican Party, at its July convention, should choose its Presidential nominee on the basis that he will be beaten, but is most qualified to act as "caretaker" of the party for the next four years.

This advice is, however, being offered, although as GOP veteran leaders point out it overlooks the fact that no party nominating convention ever acted on that surrender basis.

THERE WAS MANEUVERING FOR BARKLEY

"Of course, when we meet in San Francisco," said one official close to GOP National Chairman William E. Miller, "we will figure we can win in November. No matter how bleak it looks in July, who knows how Lyndon might stumble in August or October."

This has been invariably the attitude of party delegates as well as leaders in the emotional setting of a national convention.

In 1952, the Democrats doubted they had a prayer of beating Ike in November. There was considerable backstage maneuvering to nominate Veep Alben Barkley, on the basis he would be the ideal caretaker to keep the party intact during a GOP Administration.

But Barkley didn't have a chance. The choice was Adlai Stevenson. Politicians who should have known better thought he could beat Ike. The more cautious figured that Adlai was the best bet and that if Ike stumbled during the campaign he might win.

The GOP convention opening July 13 will have the same hopes that Johnson bobbles will give them a real chance at the White House. But as of this date, Johnson has supplied few clues as to how he might mess up his election. Certainly such mistakes as pulling beagles by the ears are unlikely to be repeated, as the Republicans realize.

Burma Soil Rich, But It Needs Farm Machinery

RANGOON, Burma (UPI) — Like many of South Asia's developing nations, Burma needs a lot more farm machinery to bring its rich soil into full cultivation.

The fertile soil of Burma's broad alluvial plains could produce enough food to make the nation one of the breadbaskets of the eastern hemisphere.

Its gentle hills and plateaus produce expensive timbers such as teak and hold untold quantities of lead, tin, rubies, sapphires and other precious stones.

But Burma's farmers, backbone of the nation, toil under a brilliant tropical sun for one of the lowest per capita incomes in the world.

About 80 per cent of Burma's 22,342,000 (m) people are farmers and they produce about two-thirds of the nation's annual national income, about $31 billion.

But only 20 million of Burma's 55 million acres of arable land is under cultivation.

The revolutionary government of Burma, headed by General Ne Win, is attempting to mechanize agriculture in a hurry to improve the lot of the peasants and exploit the nation's potential wealth.

Unofficial estimates say Burma needs about [illegible]0,000 tractors to bring all its arable land under profitable cultivation.

The nation imported 3,000 tractors from Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union last year along with a large number of tillers purchased in Japan.

The government on paper at least hopes to import about 2,000 tractors annually.

Select Burmese students have been sent to Czechoslovakia, Russia and Japan to learn how to repair and maintain farm equipment.

Tractor-operating courses are being given to sons of Burmese farmers on a crash basis with classes running from 5:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The students are paid the equivalent of $8 per month plus room and board during the three-month course.

When a student finishes, he goes to work in a government tractor station for $25 monthly, the lowest basic wage paid to a clerk in a government office.

Few Burmese farmers can afford to purchase a pair of draft animals for farm work. The cost of a tractor is beyond their dreams.

Most of the tractors now in Burma are being used for priority cash crops such as groundnuts, pulses (edible seeds), jute, long-staple cotton, hemp and sugar cane.

The government hopes it can pay for imported tractors and other farm implements from profits made in exporting rice and other cash crops.

The government also is issuing harvest loans, $10 million earmarked this year, and is expanding its meteorological and hydrological services with aid from the United Nations Special Fund.

He leaves for the Philippines Tuesday after a five-day visit to Japan. Butler told a news conference Japan had indicated willingness to act as a mediator in the dispute between Indonesia and Malaysia but that Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda did not believe the time was ripe for such an intervention.

Butler made these other points:

1. Britain, which recognizes Communist China, would be glad to take part in any conference on the future of Formosa, providing it took into account the wishes of the inhabitants of the Nationalist-controlled island. He said Japan was in substantial agreement.

2. While Britain will not work for admission of Red China to the United Nations, it sees an advantage for world peace if any country like Red China were to associate with other nations in the international community.

3. There are no differences in British attitudes in trade with either sector of the Communist bloc. All its dealings are on a purely commercial basis.

4. Britain and the Soviet Union are in agreement over the need for a broad-based government in Laos with Prince Souvanna Phouma as premier.

SOOTLESS CHIMNEYS

PIRAN, Yugoslavia (AP) — Dragutin Krizanec claims to have invented a device which will eliminate soot from factory chimneys. It is a system of metal pipes in the chimney in which the smoke passes through water evaporating from ventilators. He calls it "Dimokondenz," which is short for smoke condenser.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's speeches, now that he has made so many of them, need to be examined thoughtfully both by politicians and historians, for they reveal a talent for extemporaneous self-expression which has not been properly appreciated.

We are not referring to the phrases he uses to win support for civil rights or his economic uplift programs, but primarily to his ability to discuss off-the-cuff delicate problems such as those involving foreign affairs without coming close to a bobble.

Even President Kennedy, who had a superb command of English, recognized the perils in ad libbing his opinions on a touchy issue. If it involved a domestic problem, the choice of a wrong word could give Republicans political ammunition. On a foreign issue he was always sensitive to the fact that off-the-cuff comment, delivered impulsively, was dangerous business when any crisis was blowing up.

But it is definitely different with Johnson. He has no hesitancy in discussing any subject that comes to mind, and often at considerable length. If he is hampered at all, it is only by national security restrictions.

In the last few weeks, when he has had a chance to sound off with frequency, either in formal addresses or remarks to groups in the White House, the evidence has mounted that Johnson is almost immune from foot-in-mouth bobbles.

Of course, LBJ may come a cropper one day, but for a man who likes to talk a lot when he has a receptive audience he thus far has not come up with one phrase or malaprop sentence which could upset a foreign capital or bring partisan abuse from the GOP.

This is a Johnson talent that politicians are beginning to realize has considerable significance.

REFLECTS HIS PERSONALITY AND BACKGROUND

It reflects the President's confidence in his ability to talk to the nation, either directly, or through televised tapes of his "remarks" to various groups calling on him at the White House.

Moreover, it has a deeper meaning. In the first few months in the White House, the new President gave the impression that he felt he lacked JFK's forensic appeal, especially when it came to erudition and a big vocabulary.

Now all is different. The President is convinced that his homey, simple phrases, his choice of words that all people understand, pack an appeal and, what is equally important, reflect honestly his own personality and background.

The result will be that the President from now on will talk more, rather than less, even if he has talked considerably already. Especially as the Presidential campaign develops this will be true. But already Republican leaders have about decided that it won't be his speeches which will get him into political trouble with the voters.

Well, then, in what area do they have any hope of the President making a bobble which could affect his election chances?

SWIMMING, SPEEDING AND BEAGLES

The best chance of this happening is in the area of Johnson's own efforts to act naturally even if President. There have been three instances already where what he did aroused considerable unfavorable reaction. First there was that business about how he swam nude in the White House pool, then his driving over the speed limit in Texas, and the latest incident — his lifting of two beagle pups up by the ears.

These may appear to be minor difficulties but in a political year such issues as ear-pulling have a tendency to build up like the Truman Administration's "deep freeze" issue in 1952.

But, all in all, it appears Johnson will be hard to beat in November, unless Viet Nam explodes or he blows his top at some point over published criticism of his personal activities, like driving fast.

Only the most naive observer would dare to suggest that the Republican Party, at its July convention, should choose its Presidential nominee on the basis that he will be beaten, but is most qualified to act as "caretaker" of the party for the next four years.

This advice is, however, being offered, although as GOP veteran leaders point out it overlooks the fact that no party nominating convention ever acted on that surrender basis.

THERE WAS MANEUVERING FOR BARKLEY

"Of course, when we meet in San Francisco," said one official close to GOP National Chairman William E. Miller, "we will figure we can win in November. No matter how bleak it looks in July, who knows how Lyndon might stumble in August or October."

This has been invariably the attitude of party delegates as well as leaders in the emotional setting of a national convention.

In 1952, the Democrats doubted they had a prayer of beating Ike in November. There was considerable backstage maneuvering to nominate Veep Alben Barkley, on the basis he would be the ideal caretaker to keep the party intact during a GOP Administration.

But Barkley didn't have a chance. The choice was Adlai Stevenson. Politicians who should have known better thought he could beat Ike. The more cautious figured that Adlai was the best bet, and that if Ike stumbled during the campaign, he might win.

The GOP convention opening July 13 will have the same hopes that Johnson bobbles will give them a real chance at the White House. But as of this date, Johnson has supplied few clues as to how he might mess up his election. Certainly such mistakes as pulling beagles by the ears are unlikely to be repeated as the Republicans realize.

Burma Soil Rich, But It Needs Farm Machinery

RANGOON, Burma (UPI) — Like many of South Asia's developing nations, Burma needs a lot more farm machinery to bring its rich soil into full cultivation.

The fertile soil of Burma's broad alluvial plains could produce enough food to make the nation one of the breadbaskets of the eastern hemisphere.

Its gentle hills and plateaus produce expensive timbers such as teak and hold untold quantities of lead, tin, rubies, sapphires and other precious stones.

But Burma's farmers, backbone of the nation, toil under a brilliant tropical sun for one of the lowest per capita incomes in the world.

About 80 per cent of Burma's 22,342,000 (m) people are farmers and they produce about two-thirds of the nation's annual national income, about $31 billion.

But only 20 million of Burma's 55 million acres of arable land is under cultivation.

The revolutionary government of Burma, headed by General Ne Win, is attempting to mechanize agriculture in a hurry to improve the lot of the peasants and exploit the nation's potential wealth.

Unofficial estimates say Burma needs about 50,000 tractors to bring all its arable land under profitable cultivation.

The nation imported 3,000 tractors from Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union last year along with a large number of tillers purchased in Japan.

The government, on paper at least, hopes to import about 2,000 tractors annually.

Select Burmese students have been sent to Czechoslovakia, Russia and Japan to learn how to repair and maintain farm equipment.

Tractor-operating courses are being given to sons of Burmese farmers on a crash basis with classes running from 5:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The students are paid the equivalent of $8 per month plus room and board during the three-month course.

When a student finishes, he goes to work in a government tractor station for $25 monthly, the lowest basic wage paid to a clerk in a government office.

Few Burmese farmers can afford to purchase a pair of draft animals for farm work. The cost of a tractor is beyond their dreams.

Most of the tractors now in Burma are being used for priority cash crops such as groundnuts, pulses (edible seeds), jute, long-staple cotton, hemp and sugar cane.

The government hopes it can pay for imported tractors and other farm implements from profits made in exporting rice and other cash crops.

The government also is issuing harvest loans, $10 million earmarked this year, and is expanding its meteorological and hydrological services with aid from the United Nations Special Fund.

The Zimmerman's decided to move to town from their farm some 9 miles southwest of Sterling, and they did just that. A picture of their house and garage was seen rolling briskly down Sterling's main street, with furniture, china and all household belongings still in the house. Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman were following the movers and ready to set up housekeeping as soon as the caravan reached its new destination at 5th and Washington Streets.

Sailor Shot to Death Aboard U.S. Destroyer

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—An American sailor was found shot to death today aboard the U.S. destroyer Gridley, docked here on a goodwill visit.

The Gridley's public information officer said the sailor died of a self-inflicted wound. An investigation was under way to determine whether the death was accidental or suicide.

The poisonous bite of the American tarantula is fatal only to insects, although it may bite human beings in self-defense, causing a small wound which heals quickly.

Macon County Negroes Win Vote Victory

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — Negroes in Macon County, where racial tension still simmers in the wake of school desegregation, apparently have defeated white opponents in a Democratic primary.

All four Negro candidates seeking county offices led the ticket in Tuesday's election.

One faced a possible runoff against a white incumbent but there were enough uncounted votes—mostly in predominantly Negro precincts—to win outright.

With four boxes untabulated out of 20 in the county, the Rev. V. A. Edwards led the runner-up by 209 votes in the race for a seat on the county governing body. He was shy of a majority, however.

Edwards, religious extension director at Tuskegee Institute, had 1,229 votes, incumbent Virgil Guthrie had 1,020, Hoyt Sheppard received 598, Herman Daughtry 371, and W. C. Dillard 144.

Dr. C. G. Gomillion, professor of sociology at the famed Negro college, drew 1,493 votes for a seat on the county school board now held by Emerson Guthrie, a brother of Virgil Guthrie. The incumbent had 949 votes and O. C. Bryant 805.

Two Negro businessmen, William J. Childs and William C. Allen, were nominated for justice of the peace in separate races. Childs, a service station owner, had 989 votes to 710 for Kyle Freeman. Allen, who operates a merchandizing store, led James R. Perry Sr. 970 votes to 654.

It was an historic climax to a long struggle for voting rights which finally gave the Negroes an unquestioned majority at the polls after a federal judge ordered all qualified applicants registered.

Elsewhere in Alabama, two Negro women also sought nomination in the primary, but both were defeated.

Amelia Platts Boynton of Selma made an unsuccessful race for Congress against Rep. Kenneth Roberts in Jefferson County (Birmingham), a Negro school teacher, Bernice Johnson, lost in her race for the county school board.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican congressman plans to move to increase the administration's request for military assistance abroad "because I don't want to tie their hands on anything necessary to win the war in Viet Nam."

Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Mich., a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, told a reporter today he would offer an amendment to increase by $250 million the administration's flat $1 billion request for helping to beef up the defenses of friendly countries in the coming year.

The Broomfield amendment immediately took on a partisan aspect, though Broomfield said he did not intend it. Several Democrats on the committee indicated they would oppose the amendment as a matter of support for the administration position.

The partisanship over the issue, at least in the eyes of some Republicans, stems back to the March 25 appearance before the committee by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

McNamara told the committee a sharp cut down to $1 billion in the program last year, initiated by a Republican member, had seriously and adversely affected U.S. security.

Elected at last week's meeting as Senior Patrol Leader was Bob Brooks, whose duties will be to preside at the Patrol Leaders Council meetings, organize and set up Patrol programs. The Troop also elected four patrol leaders and with a division of Scouts, each patrol will have five or six members. The Flying Eagle Patrol has Randy Weatherington as patrol leader, with Roy Musser assistant; The Rattlesnake Patrol elected Paul Tanner as leader; David Mayfield will be a patrol leader, and Lee Van Arsdale assistant leader. These two Patrols have not as yet been named, and other officers will be elected this week.

The Senior Citizens Bowling League posted a 229 scratch game score for Dave Borton, on the Homesteaders team, and 211 for Bob Milosvitch, on the Cutco team, last week. High series for ladies was won by Goldie Whitmore, 514 on the Pin Split team, tying with Susie Benman's 514, on the N's and W's team. Viola Watson hit a 508 score on the Sun Downers. High men's scores for the series were Guy Chick, 523; George Miller, 510, on Krass-Fires team, and Emmet Dye, 598, with the BVD's.

Charles Vaught picked up the 6-7-10 pins split. George Miller got his 5-10 split and Irene Gish picked up the 5-6 pins. Mrs. Wini Kraas, secretary, is always glad to receive applications from interested persons, age 55 or over. Phone 634-9118.

Mrs. Ruth Roth observed her April 29 birthday with her sister Nina Freidinger. They both joined the "Golden Age Club" at the Cooper Theatre, and attended the show "South Pacific."

Mr. and Mrs. George Roth have received a copy of the Old Home Paper, Kansas Bulletin, of Sterling, Kan., which showed a picture and story of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Zimmerman, summer residents in Chipita Park, in "Zimmerview" cottage on Picaba Road. The Zimmerman's decided to move to town from their farm some 9 miles southwest of Sterling, and they did just that. A picture of their house and garage was seen rolling briskly down Sterling's main street, with furniture, china and all household belongings still in the house. Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman were following the movers and ready to set up housekeeping as soon as the caravan reached its new destination, at 5th and Washington Streets.

Mrs. Helen J. Newkirk has returned after a two months visit with relatives and friends. On April 3 she attended the wedding of her granddaughter, Miss June Fitch to Mitchell Tucker Jr., at the St. Johns Episcopal Church in Tulsa, Okla. Mrs. Newkirk then visited her daughter, Mrs. Robert John, in Chicago and spent some time in Kansas before coming home. Miss Dorothy Sabin Jones joined her sister in Tulsa for the wedding, spending ten days.

The Harmony Club, OES of Colorado, met Sunday, May 3, at the Masonic Temple in Castle Rock for a 1 o'clock dinner. Mrs. Floyd Conrad of Castle Rock took reservations. Members and their escorts were cordially invited.

Manitou Springs eighth grade students presented a three-act play, "Old Doc," in the Junior High School auditorium April 25 at 7:30 p.m. Among the cast of characters were Jock Bartley, Linda Thomson, Roy Musser, Elizabeth Pole and Barbara Johnson from Ute Pass.

The cast chosen for the Senior Class play titled, "Twleve Angry Jurors," will include Frances Workman, Charles Anderson, Jody Gayler, Bill Schorer and Lynn Tanner as some of the jurors. Rehearsals began April 21, with the production date set for May 22.

Mrs. Dorothy Leek's Algebra II classes are starting synthetic division or substitution. The new Modern Mathematics program was introduced in Manitou High School recently and is proving very successful. Two thirds of the 135,000 elementary and secondary schools across the country are using the new method.

An innovation for Ute Pass and your enjoyment this summer will be the introduction of Chuck Wagon dinners, to be served every Monday and Thursday nights, at 7 p.m. Under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Lew Pettit, the "Triangle Bar B" Western entertainment will be in Sand Gulch Canyon on Highway 24, over a wagon trail about ¼ of a mile. An upland meadow, towering pines and majestic mountain ranges will be the background for the open fire, with under cover provided in case of rain. The dinner menu will be roast beef, baked potato, cole slaw, pinto beans, Texas toast, old fashioned cake, coffee, tea and pop. The Triangle Bar-B-Boys, Jack Sparks, Bob Giles and Lew Pettit will furnish guitar music, and a group of Pejn Indians will dance, to highlight each dinner party. Accomodations can be made for 200 persons by reservations with the first outing on June 15.

Sailor Shot to Death Aboard U.S. Destroyer

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—An American sailor was found shot to death today aboard the U.S. destroyer Gridley, docked here on a goodwill visit.

The Gridley's public information officer said the sailor died of a self-inflicted wound. An investigation was under way to determine whether the death was accidental or suicide.

The poisonous bite of the American tarantula is fatal only to insects, although it may bite human beings in self-defense, causing a small wound which heals quickly.

A 20-cent piece was minted by the U.S. in 1875.

Macon County Negroes Win Vote Victory

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—Negroes in Macon County, where racial tension still simmers in the wake of school desegregation, apparently have defeated white opponents in a Democratic primary.

All four Negro candidates seeking county offices led the ticket in Tuesday's election.

One faced a possible runoff against a white incumbent, but there were enough uncounted votes—mostly in predominantly Negro precincts—to win outright.

With four boxes untabulated out of 20 in the county, the Rev. V. A. Edwards led the runner-up by 209 votes in the race for a seat on the county governing body. He was shy of a majority, however.

Edwards, religious extension director at Tuskegee Institute, had 1,229 votes; incumbent Virgil Guthrie had 1,020; Hoyt Sheppard received 598; Herman Daughtry 371; and W. C. Dillard 144.

Dr. C. G. Gomillion, professor of sociology at the famed Negro college, drew 1,493 votes for a seat on the county school board now held by Emerson Guthrie, a brother of Virgil Guthrie. The incumbent had 949 votes and O. C. Bryant 805.

Two Negro businessmen, William J. Childs and William C. Allen, were nominated for justice of the peace in separate races. Childs, a service station owner, had 989 votes to 710 for Kyle Freeman. Allen, who operates a merchandizing store, led James R. Perry Sr., 970 votes to 654.

It was an historic climax to a long struggle for voting rights which finally gave the Negroes an unquestioned majority at the polls after a federal judge ordered all qualified applicants registered.

Elsewhere in Alabama, two Negro women also sought nomination in the primary, but both were defeated.

Amelia Platts Boynton of Selma made an unsuccessful race for Congress against Rep. Kenneth Roberts in Jefferson County (Birmingham), a Negro school teacher, Bernice Johnson, lost in her race for the county school board.

German Girls Discover 'It Pays to Advertise'

By TOM A CULLEN

FRANKFURT (NEA) — Every day is Sadie Hawkins Day in West Germany. In this country, where women outnumber men by 3 million, it is the boys who are often the ones pursued.

Marriage bureaus and escort services flourish everywhere. Typical is the marriage counseling service offered by the Baroness von Redwitz of Frankfurt who describes herself as having "decades of experience and with good connections both home and abroad."

For those who cannot afford a marriage counselor's fees there is a chain of 14 night clubs dotted around Germany known as the Ball of the Lonely Hearts.

The one in Frankfurt is decorated with paper hearts on the walls. The lonely ones sit at tables marked with such place names as Copenhagen, Moscow, Berlin and New York. This is to facilitate the postal service between tables for those who are too shy to ask each other to dance.

A postmistress of love clad in a satin uniform carries the messages (discreetly censored) from table to table. She is nearly rushed off her feet.

Marriage is encouraged. The Frankfurt Ball of the Lonely Hearts boasts that 78 couples have married in the past four years as a result of chance encounters at the club.

Even more startling to Americans are the full pages of marriage advertisements which appear in the West German newspapers, particularly the respectable ones.

The marriage ads skip all romantic nonsense in favor of a strictly down-to-earth approach, including the exchange of photographs, physical descriptions and measurements.

"Young lady from industrial family is looking for a marriage comrade from industry or business," reads a typical marriage ad in the Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung.

Another young lady in the same paper wants a husband who would place her in the sales planning department of several industrial [illegible] machine construction and [illegible] ware preferred. Marriage is encouraged. The Frankfurt Ball of the Lonely Hearts boasts that 78 couples have married in the past four years as a result of chance encounters at the club.

Even more startling to Americans are the full pages of marriage advertisements which appear in the West German newspapers, particularly the respectable ones.

The marriage ads skip all romantic nonsense in favor of a strictly down-to-earth approach, including the exchange of photographs, physical descriptions and measurements.

"Young lady from industrial family is looking for a marriage comrade from industry or business," reads a typical marriage ad in the Frankfurt Allgemeine Zeitung.

Another young lady, in the same paper wants a husband who would place her "in the sales planning departments of several industrial companies, machine construction and metalware preferred." In exchange she offers herself as a wife who would be "natural, happy, music-loving, blonde and with a good figure."

Other ads are equally materialistic in their "hard sell" approach. In a leading Hamburg newspaper, a 40-year-old lady, who describes herself as "well-preserved, charming and chic," announces that she will have a large inheritance. "In her elegant villa she awaits a husband," she concludes.

A Hamburg dress shop owner, with a "beautiful home," is looking for a marriage partner "to stand at her side with advice and help." He should not be without means, she adds.

Sometimes the parents of a marriageable daughter advertise her charms. Such a girl is always from "a good family," and with an unblemished past. Usually she is seeking a partner who "lives in the best economic circumstances," according to her mother or father.

Then there are the ads of the middle-aged war widows. These have the merit of being honest, and are often poignant. "War widow, 49, tired of being alone, wants a humorous husband up to the age of 55. A widower would be pleasant."

Bachelor American servicemen stationed here in West Germany have caught on quickly to the marriage possibilities offered by the German press. In a recent issue of the Frankfurter Rundsschau a GI advertised for a bride interested in stock car racing and skiing. The add made no mention of the villas and the company directorships which the local prospects highly prize. Presumably the GI found few takers.

Mrs. Bessie Snell and Mrs. Melissa T. Snell spent the past weekend in Denver visiting relatives.

Friday morning Mr. and Mrs. Tom McClain, of Deertrail, called on Mrs. Myrtle Dobson.

We are indebted to Mrs. Bessie Snell for the following letter from Mrs. Gertrude Dunning Gammon:

Your letter and question about when the Ramah auditorium was built. I recall the time, as it was the first year I was in Ramah.

"Inez Johnson was county superintendent of schools and called me from the office where I was working. The mothers of Ramah had sent her a full page of signatures concerning small children at school. I went out on Sunday on the noon train. Ed Riley met me at the depot on that hot day of September, of 1910 or 1911, and carried my suitcase to the hotel which Mrs. Mabel Phillips managed. Wages were $55 per month, and board $20. As I walked down the street hunting the schoolhouse, Lula Wood (Winters) came out of their house and asked if I were the new teacher. She took me in tow and showed me the north room, with an organ, a few straight backed chairs and a stove whose top refused to stay put. Next morning I drew 34 of the 55 pupils, a few desks of small size were brought in by Mr. Pflager, who was painter and paperhanger (living where the Grace Smith store now is. It was three months before sufficient seats, blackboards, book shelves etc. were in place. Apple boxes and small chairs helped.

"The huge hall, well endorsed by Christmas, was a source of pride and interest. There was a company formed. I know that Gene and Roxy bought stock.

"Workmen came from Denver to put in the lights and install an engine, which few knew how to run. On Sundays all idle persons were asked to give time to paint the newly placed metal inside furnishings. It had designs to be done in gold and blue, a job which took weeks of effort.

"The first Christmas came before the entrance was put inside, so when Mike Dudrick brought a beautiful huge tree from Lem's ranch it was easily pulled through the front door. Once erected it was a beauty. Aunt Mato supervised the decorations. Dangerous candles lighted it safely. The hall was jammed full of folks. All West Ramah came. Posters in their place bedecked robes and children by the dozen.

"The program went off fine, but the room was cold, and there was a huge open space not yet boarded in for ceiling. I do not know where the piano came from, but it was plenty good for my purpose. I had been trained teaching folk dancing and those little folk were delighted at the job. Professor Beaver's older pupils had little training, but roared out their Christmas joy in a few songs such as "Jingle Bells," "Jolly Old St. Nick," etc. Mrs. Robert Cameron's brother came very well dressed, and took over helping things off and on the stage. He was really charming. Sam Wilder, Mr. Thorne, Ira Kutch, George Wood, old Mr. Lakey and many others seemed very pleased with the colorful musical program.

"I shall never forget it. From then on the dances were frequent. Delicious meals were served upstairs. About 20 persons could be accommodated at a time. And such cake!

"By then the old-timers were slipping away and that hall was the first place large enough for such groups. I sang at Mr. Lee Liptrap's funeral and at Mr. Miles Snell's funeral, when there was only standing room. Lem Gammon was buried in Colorado Springs and also Sam Wilder. My son Gene and I saw Mr. Kitchis grave in Chula Vista, Calif., in 1948.

"I'll never forget Delma Riley (Whyte) singing 'My Christmas Dolly.' All these little girls were simply adorable. Those three years teaching in Ramah are a happy memory to me. The second year I was paid $85 a month, so my board had a very sudden raise also. The second Christmas was in a well finished hall. I was placing music and chairs for the program. At a knock at the door I hurried the long length of the hall and opened the door to Lem Gammon, who said, 'Come on quick. I need you.' Realignment Will Create Difficulties for Aspinall

By GORDON G. GAUSS
Associated Press Writer

The new alignment of Colorado's four congressional districts worked out by the legislature during its five-day special session will make it more difficult for veteran Democratic Congressman Wayne N. Aspinall of Palisade to win re-election.

It also could hurt the chances of Republican Donald G. Brotzman of Boulder, a freshman lawmaker.

Neither, however, can be counted out at this time.

Republican veteran J. Edgar Chenoweth of Trinidad, a congressman since 1940 except for one term, apparently will have an easier time.

Chances of Democrat Byron G. Rogers, who represents Denver, are unchanged since the city remains alone in the First District.

Aspinall, who has represented the Western Slope as Fourth District congressman since 1948, will find more new voters than old in his district. And the biggest concentration is in normally Republican northern Colorado counties. Weld, Larimer, Morgan and Logan counties alone can cast a vote almost equal to that of the old Fourth District.

Coupled with the fact that margins frequently have been small in the old Fourth, Aspinall's position is not an enviable one.

On the other hand, if Republicans select a candidate from east of the mountains, he may find a regional surge of Western Slope residents to his side, regardless of nominal party affiliation.

Also helping him is his seniority in the U. S. House and his chairmanship of the powerful Interior and Insular Affairs Committee.

A possible candidate against Aspinall—if Republicans choose someone from the east—is State Sen. Paul Wenke of Fort Collins. If the GOP candidate comes from the Western Slope it could be Sen. Edwin Lamm of Grand Junction. Conceivably, House Speaker John Vanderhoof of Glenwood Springs could get into the picture as the Republican nominee, but he is more likely to seek the job at a future election.

During arguments in the Senate preceding passage of the bill, the Democratic leader, Sam T. Taylor of Walsenburg, declared: "After Wayne Aspinall, the Western Slope will never have another congressman. After Aspinall, the Democrats will never elect a congressman from the Fourth District. This plan might even beat Wayne Aspinall, and that would be a tragic loss to the state."

Sen. Carl Fulghum, R-Glenwood Springs, replied significantly: "We admit we people of the Western Slope have lost control of our politics to the Eastern Slope, but we can't help ourselves."

Addition of the Republican northern Colorado counties to the Fourth District robs Brotzman of them in the Second District. He now must depend upon Republican majorities usually run up in Arapahoe and Boulder counties to offset the heavy Democratic vote in Adams County, then hope that Jefferson County stays in the Republican column.

Clear Creek and Gilpin counties turn in comparatively small votes.

State Sen. Roy McVicker, D-Wheat Ridge, has been considering a race against Brotzman. His success probably would depend upon whether he could carry Jefferson County, his home, for the congressional post the way he has done twice for the Colorado Senate.

Most of the territory added to the Third District is counted as Republican, although the counties are small individually. Since El Paso County — the state's second largest—remains in the district and is a GOP stronghold, chances of Congressman J. Edgar Chenoweth appear enhanced. None of the additions to the territory will increase Democratic strength — which centers in Pueblo, Huerfano and Las Animas Counties.

The shift in boundaries leaves State Rep. Frank Evans, D-Pueblo, in the race for the Democratic congressional nomination in the Third but adds large areas to the district where he has had little chance to become well known.

Some Republicans privately were disappointed that Denver was left intact. They had hoped that some of the northern or western parts of the city—traditionally Democratic — might be trimmed off and placed in another district, thereby weakening the chances of Rogers, who has been in office since 1950.

Democrats generally would be happy if the federal courts should step into the picture and find that the reapportionment with its 80,000 variation between districts still does not meet standards set by the Supreme Court of the United States. If the federal courts should order all congressional candidates to run at large, they feel Democrats would have a chance to pick up seats. They believe there is an undercurrent to the Democrats, resulting in part from the popularity of President Lyndon B. Johnson and actions of the Republican state administration.

Admiral Doesn't Like Seeing Men's Hands in Pockets

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Claude V. Ricketts is anything but a martinet.

In fact, the Navy's second in command is about the most fatherly looking admiral at headquarters. But there's one thing that obviously nettles him.

It's the sight of an officer shoving his hands in his uniform pockets while conducting a briefing for the brass.

Evidently it happened once too often, because the four-star admiral finally decided to do something about it.

Wrapped around their paychecks recently, Navy officers found this curt memorandum:

"From: Vice Chief of Naval Operations.

"To: All officers Washington area.

"1. Discontinue the unmilitary habit of hand (s) in pockets when making presentations."

No penalty was prescribed for failing to heed the order. But the very least an erring officer can expect in the future is an unfatherly chewing out.

Of course, the other services sometimes have similar problems.

In the past, some high officers have used the oblique path to get their message across.

Back in 1960, Gen. David M. Shoup, then Marine commandant, took a dislike to the swagger stick customarily carried by Marine officers.

The swagger stick, Shoup told his officers, should be "an optional item of interference—if you feel the need of carrying it."

You wouldn't call that an order — but swagger sticks magically vanished from the Marine Corps.

Earlier than that, a question arose as to whether Army officers stationed at headquarters should be obliged to wear their uniforms, or should be permitted to dress in civilian suits.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor was Army chief of staff at that time, and he was asked how he felt about the matter.

"I'm wearing my uniform," Taylor replied—and everybody got the point.

D.C. WASH

By G. VAN DER HEUVEL

Washington. — Dr. Janet Travell, whose place in the Whie House sun had gone into an eclipse during the Kennedy administration is shinning brighter than ever these days. President Johnson, who has appointed scores of women to public office amid great fanfare, has quietly restored the title of physician to the President to the 62-year-old doctor.

She has also become what a White House spokesman termed "a combination house mother and country doctor" to Luci and Lynda and Lynda's roomate, Warrie Lynn Smith.

The doctor, who put both President Kennedy and President Johnson in rocking chairs to relieve one aching back and to prevent aches in another, prods her charges into taking more exercise. Tourists who spot members of the Presidential family taking a brisk stroll around the White House grounds have Dr. Travell to thank.

The doctor was along when the plane carrying Mrs. Johnson to Cleveland was struck by lightening and administered tranquilizers to quite a few frightened people in the First Lady's party.

Robert and Ethel Kennedy's eight children had a surprise birthday party for their mother recently. Eleven-year-old Joe called to invite CIA Director John McCone. He gave him all the pertinent information. The party would be from 6 to 8, he said, no food, just cookies and coffee, and he warned the head of the nation's spy agency "If you can't come, don't leak it."

Newark, N. J. and Rep. Cornelius Gallagher (D-N.J.) have won a major victory in their battle with the airlines. After years of announcing Newark landings as "arriving New York via the Newark terminal," Eastern Air Lines has agreed to announce its flights as "arriving Newark, N.J. Airport, one of the gateways to New York."

Sen. Philip Hart (D-Mich.), part of the four-man team heading the civil rights fight in the Senate got the "word" early in the game. He entered the Senate shortly after the last civil rights bill was passed in 1957. Among his first visitors was a group of conventioners. After the usual amenities and small talk one of the visitors spoke up.

NOT IN THE SENATE? THAT'S NO EXCUSE!

"Well, tell us, Mr. Senator," he said, "just how you voted on that civil rights bill last year."

Hart replied that he hadn't voted on it at all. He hadn't been in the Senate.

There was a slight pause and then the questioner shot back:

"Well, now we just can't accept that as an excuse."

Walter Leller, president Johnson's chief economic adviser, wishes he had picked up the invitation to visit Moscow when it was extended by Russian Foreign Minister Mikoyan several months ago. Now, he says, he can't get away because "LBJ wants you right here and right now."

CHEAPER THAN BUTTONS: SEN. SMITH'S EXPENSES

The top contestants in the Illinois Republican primary are more than satisfied with the return on their campaign dollar.

Sen. Barry Goldwater's headquarters figures he spent about $20,000 for the 525,000 votes he got which comes to about four cents apiece or $40 a thousand. This compares with the $100,000 he spent in New Hampshire where he got 23,000 votes for a net price tag of $4,000 per thousand votes.

Of course Goldwater's rate is still considerably more than the $85 Sen. Margaret Chase Smith spent for her 215,000 votes in Illinois, which divides out to about $2.50 per thousand — cheaper than campaign buttons.

This is apparently the last of the bargain basement primaries however, Mrs. Smith points out that she couldn't afford to even enter the Claifornia June 2 primary. She says that when they told her she would need 15,000 signatures to enter and that it would cost $10,000 to circulate the petitions she decided right then and there it was out of her league.

NOW THE CELEBRITIES ARE GOING INTO POLITICS

Speaking of primaries, the buiness of politics is really coming up in the world. Time was when a mother would cry six weeks if her child became a politician. But now all sorts of big time personalities are leaving their glamorous jobs for the gay life on the hustings.

Along with the lawyers and educators who traditionally put their names on the ballot, there are such well known celebrities as Bud Wilkinson. The Oklahoma football coach who is running for the Senate; GordonMcLendon, the flamboyant radio-television promoter who is running against Sen. Ralph Yarborough in the Texas Democratic primary; and a former White House press secretary Pierre Salinger who is going after the California seat held by fellow Democrat Clair Engle.

On the Republican side of that ticket will be George Murphy, the Hollywood actor; and the University of Wyoming's All-American college and pro basketball player Kenny Sailors, has announced against Democrat incumbent Sen. Gale McGee.

Two youths were arrested Wednesday when police saw them riding in a car which had been stolen on April 30.

The youth who stole the vehicle will be handled by juvenile authorities.

In other theft cases, camping equipment and garden tools worth $100 were stolen from Frank Anthony Marcovich of 1021 E. He discovered the theft Wednesday morning.

A baby stroller worth $18 was stolen sometime Wednesday from Doris Helga Webb, 723 W. Colorado Ave. Mrs. Webb left the stroller in front of 130 N. 7th St. Wednesday morning and when she returned in the afternoon it was gone.

Police Note 1,536 Offenses This Year

Through the first four months of this year, 1,536 offenses of various kinds have been known by the Colorado Springs police department.

This is slightly more than the 1,314 for the same period in 1963, according to Police Chief Cecil J. McKissick.

Of the total, the chief said, 742 of the 1,536 offenses were in the part 1 or more serious category; this compares with 637 for the first four months of 1963.

The chief noted there have been 156 burglaries this year as compared with 125 for the same period in 1963.

There also have been 441 larceny cases involving under $50 in value as compared with 375 last year.

Some of the "other offenses" checked by police this year include the following:

Accidental injury cases, 97; deaths, 22; arson, 7; assault, 32; disorderly conduct, 16; malicious mischief, 319; suicide, 5; attempted suicide, 17; indecent exposure, 8; forgery, 5; bad checks, 8; assault and battery, 5.

Catholic Bishop Asks Methodists To Boost Unity

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A Roman Catholic bishop, making an unprecedented appearance, has told a conference of the Methodist Church that the two faiths should draw closer together "as the world grows more and more secular."

Bishop John J. Wright of the Pittsburgh Roman Catholic diocese expressed this view on Wednesday at a General Conference of the Methodist Church.

When Bishop Fred Pierce Corson, president of the World Methodist Council, introduced Bishop Wright he said this marked the first time a Catholic bishop had spoken at a Methodist General Conference or had been invited to speak.

The 900 delegates, church dignitaries and 1,000 visitors gave the Catholic prelate a standing ovation.

He said "many and deep and basic are the differences between us," but "it is also true that together precisely as Christians we share a difference —a difference from the world that must draw us closer together as the world grows more and more secular."

U.S. Revolution Seen by LBJ in War on Poverty

By FRANK CORMIER

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP) — President Johnson, whirling through Appalachia for the second time in 13 days, said today enactment of his antipoverty program would carry forward the American revolution.

Cumberland was the first stop on a 30-hour tour that will take Johnson into six states for meetings with the unemployed, visits with farmers, and public appeals for recuits in the "war on poverty."

In remarks prepared for his first formal audience, outside the court house in mountain-rimmed Cumberland, Johnson said:

"I come here to ask your help in carrying forward the American revolution."

The first objective in meeting today's enemies, he said, "is to free 30 million Americans from the prison of poverty."

He added: "I know what poverty means to people. I have been unemployed. I have shined shoes and worked on a highway crew for a dollar a day. This has taught me some of the meaning of poverty."

Johnson wants Congress to vote a billion-dollar program to attack the causes of poverty in the Appalachian states, plus similar sums to carry the antipoverty cause into all parts of the nation.

But he said "it is not enough for the government to propose programs" or for congress to pass laws.

He said: "We will not win our war against poverty until the conscience of the entire nation is aroused. We will not succeed until every citizen regards the sufferings of neighbors as a call to action."

From Cumberland, Johnson flies to Martinsburg, W.Va., to change to his big jet. Then he wings into Ohio, Tennessee, North Carolina and Georgia.

All these states lie within the poverty - pocked Appalachian states. The President visited three other Appalachia states in a similar whirlwind tour two weeks ago.

This latest trek marks the President's first trip into the Deep South. He'll stay overnight in Atlanta, where his reception will be carefully gauged by political observers, then make a final stop Friday at Gainsville, Ga., before returning to the White House.

Other highlights of the itinerary:

Lockbourne Air Force Base, Ohio — This could be a sleeper. Johnson stops only to change from his jet back to a helicopter. But base officials are opening the gates for a public reception.

The Nation's Weather

(Report furnished by U.S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field)

Wintry weather over the southwest quarter of the country today contrasted sharply with summer-like conditions in the eastern and southern states.

The Great Basin of the west lies under a snow cover that ranges up to a foot at Austin, Nev. A few miles to the east, Ely, Nev., registered an early morning low of 20 degrees.

Cold air is filtering into the lowlands of California, forcing temperatures down into the 30s and 40s.

Maine is 20 degrees warmer than many sections of southern California this morning.

Much of the nation is fair to partly cloudy and dry.

However, a few thundershowers are still in progress in the lower Ohio Valley, over east Texas, and Oklahoma.

Light rain and drizzle are falling from heavy moisture laden clouds sweeping northward from the Gulf.

Early morning minimum temperatures ranged from the 20s in the highland area of the west to the 70s in the humid Gulf and south central states.

facilities for educational gatherings such as seminars and conferences, Tutt said. One important part of the center's efforts will be aimed at handling the more than 1½ million people, including sightseers who visit the academy during the course of a year and expose them in what Tutt called an interesting fashion to air and space installations and displays, with the object of raising the level of public interest and knowledge in aerospace matters.

It is the aim of the foundation to expand the scope of the Aerospace Educational Center, in concert with other agencies similarly oriented, to encourage and stimulate international participation in aerospace educational matters to the benefit of international understanding in healthy working relationships, an objective of genuine interest to Air Marshal Slemon, Tutt said.

Bicycle Pile Growing at Police Station

The Colorado Springs police department is beginning to get another accumulation of bicycles and other miscellaneous material.

The bicycles have found their way to the department via the lost, strayed or stolen.

Officer George Hall, department custodian, said that if the bicycles are not claimed by their rightful owners they will be sold at a public auction to be held sometime in June. Net proceeds go into the police pension fund from such an auction.

Those who are missing bicycles should check with Officer Hall at the police department.

Springs Water Tests Satisfactory in April

City of Colorado Springs water tested satisfactory last month from a bacteriological standpoint, according to tests made in the laboratory at the City-County Health Department.

All 500 portions tested were found to be satisfactory, lab technicians said.

This has been the case with Colorado Springs water in all but two months in the modern history of the water department.

Officials Asked To Attend Ramah Dam Dedication

the Big Sandy Watershed Protection project, sponsored by the Soil Conservation District of the same name. Fourteen dams were built, but the Ramah Dam is the only one with a permanent recreation pool.

Technical specifications and supervision for construction of the permanent structures were furnished by the Soil Conservation Service. Construction funds were provided by the Federal government under Public Law 566. Land and water easements for the dams were obtained by the Big Sandy district.

Under a prior agreement, the game and fish department and the Federal government shared the cost of the core trench of the Ramah Dam which made the recreation pool possible.

Rains in August, 1963, filled the pool in less than a week after the dam was completed and accepted by the Big Sandy board. Big Sandy officials said flood control dams prevented the rains from flooding surrounding areas as they did in July, 1956, when hundreds of thousands of dollars in damage occurred, involving roads, bridges, railroads, fences, and land.

Elbert and El Paso Counties and the Rock Island Railroad contribute to a maintenance fund to be used in case of extensive damage to one of the floor control structures. Small annual maintenance is performed by the Big Sandy district, however, officials said.

To date, county commissioners in Elbert and El Paso Counties have credited the project with saving over $100,000 damage to roads and bridges.

Uranium Miners Run Higher Risk For Lung Cancer

cupational Health, attributed the reported higher risk of lung cancer among these miners to presence of radiation in the mines.

Dr. Archer said he made studies in 1950 and again in 1960; the latter research involving 1,270 miners. His report said the the exposure to radiation, the higher the incidence of lung cancer and other lung diseases such as emphysema. He gave no specific figures.

One puzzling thing, Dr. Archer said, is that the radiation seemed to give temporary improvement in some lung difficulties, such as shortness of breath. He said he didn't know why radiation produce any improvement, even temporary.

Dr. Saccomanno said he did a lung cancer study at the hospital in Grand Junction involving 276 cases, of which 54 were uranium miners. He said the records showed uranium miners developed lung cancer at a younger age than other people and that it was a severe type that usually caused death within two months after diagnosis.

He said the amount of cigarette smoking was about the the same in the miners and nonminers studied.

Catamount Ranch Set for Summer Events

Keith Bullen, director of the YMCA's summer Day Camp at Catamount Ranch near Woodland Park, reported to the camp committee today that nearly half the boys and girls who could be accommodated this summer are now registered, and that a fine staff had now been employed to supervise program activities, and instruct the youngsters in a variety of skills.

He reported that five horses and a pony would be available for riding; a fine archery range is available and a pit trampoline with instruction is a part of the program equipment. Boating, nature study, simple crafts, hiking, fishing, swimming and a variety of other activities will be available, and all activities will be by small groups.

The day camp will operate in two-week periods starting June 8th, and the boys and girls will report to the YMCA each morning at 8 a.m. and be picked up there again at 5 p.m. One day each period they have the opportunity to camp out overnight and cook their meals over an open fire.

Bullen also reported that the Centennial Sertoma Club is providing a shelter for use in case of bad weather, and they are hauling the logs, and having them milled into lumber for the shelter.

Day camping is for boys and girls six to ten years of age, Mr. Bullen said.

LBJ Declares Late Summer Congress Recall Possible

Defense Robert S. McNamara will make still another visit to South Viet Nam to see how the war against Communist guerrillas is progressing.

Asked labor to hold wage demands within the bounds of productivity increases and appealed to business to hold the price line or even cut prices.

Said he knows of no agreement with the Soviet Union that involves Soviet acquiescence to American spy plane surveillance of Cuba.

Hoped that the Senate will pass the civil rights bill by the end of the month or the early part of June so that Congress can turn to such administration programs as the antipoverty and medical aid measures.

Johnson said "some cynical people think there may be a deliberate slowdown in the Senate" and then went on to say that if there is one he would "seriously consider" calling Congress back after the Republican National Convention in July and the Democratic convention in August.

"I think that the people of this country are entitled to have a vote on these important measures," he declared. "This administration is entitled to have a vote on them, and I am going to ask the Congress to vote them up or down."

But the afternoon was too sunny and the President too intent on playing the showman to remain on a serious track.

Asked about his health—he suffered a severe heart attack in 1955—he blended medical data with a jest: "They tell me that my blood pressure is 125 over 78, that my heart is normal, and that I don't have any aches and pains. I feel fine. I get adequate rest and good pay, and plenty to eat."

Without any prompting at all, Johnson reminded his audience here and those across the country who heard him on radio and watched him on television — of the now-famous dog-ears incident by announcing "I have today accepted lifetime membership in the Vanderburgh Humane Society of Evansville, Indiana."

He even remembered to poke fun at his press secretary, bushy-haired George Reedy, by telling the children: "Someone even suggested you should be accredited to the White House. Here you are. I think that that person ought to remain anonymous, at least until he has his hair cut again."

And he concluded the affair by having the children gather round to have their pictures taken with him.

Warren Will Present Defense Award

The Dean of the nation's Congressmen, the Honorable Carl Vinson of Georgia, is the winner of the 1964 Thomas D. White National Defense Award.

Originated by the Air Force Academy, the award is given annually to the person "judged to have contributed most significantly to the national defense and security of the U.S. during the preceeding years."

Academy Superintendent Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren will present the award to Mr. Vinson at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Pentagon. Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert, and other Air Force and Department of Defense representatives will attend.

Vinson, a member of Congress for the past 50 years, has been active in national legislative affairs since his earliest days on Capitol Hill.

In 1925 he was a member of the Morrow Board, a nine-man group appointed by President Coolidge to evaluate U.S. air defense and recommend changes in laws, programs, and organizational structures.

Rep. Vinson became chairman of the House Naval Affairs Committee in 1932 and in 1949 was named chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

He has announced his intention of retiring at the completion of this term of Congress.

The chairman will receive an individual award — a modernistic statuette — a certificate, and citation. A master award, with names of the annual winners inscribed, is displayed permanently at the Academy.

Dr. Edward Teller, principal architect of the H-bomb, in 1962 was the first White award winner; the late Dr. Theodore von Karman, pioneer in development of jet propulsion and rocket engines, the 1963 winner.

Gen. White, for whom the award is named, was the Air Force Chief of Staff from 1957 to 1961. He commanded the Air Force during a period of revolutionary change and during the formative years of the Academy.

The general retired June 30, 1961, after 41 years of service.

Nominations for the award are received by the Academy from Headquarters USAF, major commands, and joint commands.

Selection of chairman Vinson was made by a committee consisting of: William P. Bundy, Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs; Gen. Earle Partridge, USAF Ret.; Gen. Mark E. Bradley Jr., member of the Academy General Officers Advisory Committee; Gen. Warren; Brig. Gen. Robert W. Strong, the Commandant of Cadets; Brig. Gen. Robert F. McDermott, the Dean of Faculty; and Cadet Col. Allan McArtor, Cadet Wing commander.

Britons to Face Long Struggle In Desert Sands

Facing them are hundreds of well armed Arab tribesmen skilled in desert fighting.

As Britain's Middle East commander, Lt. Gen. Sir Charles Harrington, put it: "It can now be said that the period of consolidation has been reached."

Nasser's aim, according to the British, is to subvert Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf sheikhdoms to win control of the Arabian Peninsula's oil. Nasser has pledged publicly to get the British out of their Aden base, Britain's last major stronghold in the Middle East.

Yet despite Britain's long-time policy of risking all to protect its oil supplies, some younger members of the ruling Conservative party are beginning to think that Britain might profit by quitting the Mid East.

Their viewpoint was put by Humphrey Berkeley, member of Parliament, in an article in the Conservative Daily Mail.

"Before we become bogged down in a private and prolonged guerrilla war in South Arabia," he wrote, "we should be clear as to precisely what we are trying to defend.

"Our concern is to buy oil, maintain the Aden base and fulfill our obligations to the sheikdoms.

"The flow of oil is not dependent on the Aden base."

Berkeley said first priority should be given to ending British - American bickering over Middle East policy.

"Above all," he said, "we should try to hammer out with the United States a common policy for the Middle East."

Britain has about 3,000 troops in the federation or on the way there. Prime Minister Douglas-Home has said that if necessary he will withdraw British troops from Germany to bolster Aden's defense.

Of course Goldwater's rate is still considerably more than the $85 Sen. Margaret Chase Smith spent for her 215,000 votes in Illinois, which divides out to about $2.50 per thousand — cheaper than campaign buttons.

This is apparently the last of the bargain basement primaries however. Mrs. Smith points out that she couldn't afford to even enter the California June 2 primary. She says that when they told her she would need 13,000 signatures to enter and that it would cost $10,000 to circulate the petitions she decided right then and there it was out of her league.

NOW THE CELEBRITIES ARE GOING INTO POLITICS

Speaking of primaries, the business of politics is really coming up in the world. Time was when a mother would cry six weeks if her child became a politician. But now all sorts of big time personalities are leaving their glamorous jobs for the gay life on the hustings.

Along with the lawyers and educators who traditionally put their names on the ballot, there are such well known celebrities as Bud Wilkinson, The Oklahoma football coach who is running for the Senate; Gordon McLendon, the flamboyant radio-television promoter who is running against Sen. Ralph Yarborough in the Texas Democratic primary; and a former White House press secretary Pierre Salinger who is going after the California seat held by fellow Democrat Clair Engle.

On the Republican side of that ticket will be George Murphy, the Hollywood actor; and the University of Wyoming's All-American college and pro basketball player Kenny Sailors, has announced against Democrat incumbent Sen. Gale McGee.

Police Note 1,536 Offenses This Year

Through the first four months of this year, 1,536 offenses of various kinds have been known to the Colorado Springs police department.

This is slightly more than the 1,314 for the same period in 1963, according to Police Chief Cecil J. McKissick.

Of the total, the chief said 742 of the 1,536 offenses were in the part 1 or more serious category, this compares with 637 for the first four months of 1963.

The chief noted there have been 156 burglaries this year as compared with 125 for the same period in 1963.

There also have been 441 larceny cases involving under $50 in value as compared with 375 last year.

Some of the other offenses checked by police this year include the following:

Accidental injury cases, 97; deaths, 22; arson, 7; assault, 32; disorderly conduct, 16; malicious mischief, 319; suicide, 5; attempted suicide, 17; indecent exposure, 8; forgery, 5; bad checks, 8; assault and battery, 5.

Catholic Bishop Asks Methodists To Boost Unity

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A Roman Catholic bishop, making an unprecedented appearance, has told a conference of the Methodist Church that the two faiths should draw closer together "as the world grows more and more secular."

Bishop John J. Wright of the Pittsburgh Roman Catholic diocese expressed this view on Wednesday at a General Conference of the Methodist Church.

When Bishop Fred Pierce Corson, president of the World Methodist Council, introduced Bishop Wright he said this marked the first time a Catholic bishop had spoken at a Methodist General Conference or had been invited to speak.

The 900 delegates, church dignitaries and 1,000 visitors gave the Catholic prelate a standing ovation.

He said "many and deep and basic are the differences between us," but "it is also true that together precisely as Christians we share a difference—a difference from the world that must draw us closer together as the world grows more and more secular."

U.S. Revolution Seen by LBJ in War on Poverty

By FRANK CORMIER

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP) — President Johnson, whirling through Appalachia for the second time in 13 days, said today enactment of his antipoverty program would carry forward the American revolution.

Cumberland was the first stop on a 30-hour tour that will take Johnson into six states for meetings with the unemployed, visits with farmers, and public appeals for recruits in the "war on poverty."

In remarks prepared for his first formal audience, outside the court house in mountain-rimmed Cumberland, Johnson said:

"I come here to ask your help in carrying forward the American revolution."

The first objective in meeting today's enemies, he said, "is to free 30 million Americans from the prison of poverty."

He added: "I know what poverty means to people. I have been unemployed. I have shined shoes and worked on a highway crew for a dollar a day. This has taught me some of the meaning of poverty."

Johnson wants Congress to vote a billion-dollar program to attack the causes of poverty in the Appalachian states plus similar sums to carry the antipoverty cause into all parts of the nation.

But he said "it is not enough for the government to propose programs or for Congress to pass laws."

He said: "We will not win our war against poverty until the conscience of the entire nation is aroused. We will not succeed until every citizen regards the sufferings of neighbors as a call to action."

From Cumberland, Johnson flies to Martinsburg, W.Va., to change to his big jet. Then he wings into Ohio, Tennessee, North Carolina and Georgia.

All these states lie within the poverty-pocked Appalachian states. The President visited three other Appalachia states in a similar whirlwind tour two weeks ago.

This latest trek marks the President's first trip into the Deep South. He'll stay overnight in Atlanta, where his reception will be carefully gauged by political observers, then make a final stop Friday at Gainsville, Ga., before returning to the White House.

Other highlights of the itinerary:

Lockbourne Air Force Base, Ohio — This could be a sleeper. Johnson stops only to change from his jet back to a helicopter. But base officials are opening the gates for a public reception.

The Nation's Weather

(Report furnished by U.S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field)

Wintry weather over the northwest quarter of the country today contrasted sharply with summer-like conditions in the eastern and southern states.

The Great Basin of the west lies under a snow cover that ranges up to a foot at Austin, Nev. A few miles to the east Ely, Nev., registered an early morning low of 20 degrees.

Cold air is filtering into the lowlands of California, forcing temperatures down into the 30s and 40s.

Maine is 20 degrees warmer than many sections of southern California this morning.

Much of the nation is fair to partly cloudy and dry.

However, a few thundershowers are still in progress in the lower Ohio Valley, over east Texas and Oklahoma.

Light rain and drizzle are falling from heavy moisture-laden clouds sweeping northward from the Gulf.

Early morning minimum temperatures ranged from the 20s in the highland area of the west to the 70s in the humid Gulf and south central states.

facilities for educational gatherings such as seminars and conferences, Tutt said. One important part of the center's efforts will be aimed at handling the more than 1½ million people, including sightseers, who visit the academy during the course of a year and expose them in what Tutt called an interesting fashion to air and space installations and displays with the object of raising the level of public interest and knowledge in aerospace matters.

It is the aim of the foundation to expand the scope of the Aerospace Educational Center in concert with other agencies similarly oriented, to encourage and stimulate international participation in aerospace educational matters to the benefit of international understanding in healthy working relationships, an objective of genuine interest to Air Marshal Slemon, Tutt said.

Bicycle Pile Growing at Police Station

The Colorado Springs police department is beginning to get another accumulation of bicycles and other miscellaneous material.

The bicycles have found their way to the department via the lost, strayed or stolen.

Officer George Hall, department custodian, said that if the bicycles are not claimed by their rightful owners they will be sold at a public auction to be held sometime in June. Net proceeds go into the police pension fund from such an auction.

Those who are missing bicycles should check with Officer Hall at the police department.

Springs Water Tests Satisfactory in April

City of Colorado Springs water tested satisfactory last month from a bacteriological standpoint, according to tests made in the laboratory at the City-County Health Department.

All 500 portions tested were found to be satisfactory, lab technicians said.

This has been the case with Colorado Springs water in all but two months in the modern history of the water department.

Officials Asked To Attend Ramah Dam Dedication

the Big Sandy Watershed Protection project, sponsored by the Soil Conservation District of the same name. Fourteen dams were built, but the Ramah Dam is the only one with a permanent recreation pool.

Technical specifications and supervision for construction of the permanent structures were furnished by the Soil Conservation Service. Construction funds were provided by the Federal government under Public Law 566. Land and water easements for the dams were obtained by the Big Sandy district.

Under a prior agreement, the game and fish department and the Federal government shared the cost of the core trench of the Ramah Dam which made the recreation pool possible.

Rains in August, 1963, filled the pool in less than a week after the dam was completed and accepted by the Big Sandy board. Big Sandy officials said flood control dams prevented the rains from flooding surrounding areas as they did in July, 1956, when hundreds of thousands of dollars in damage occurred involving roads, bridges, railroads, fences and land.

Elbert and El Paso Counties and the Rock Island Railroad contribute to a maintenance fund to be used in case of extensive damage to one of the flood control structures. Small annual maintenance is performed by the Big Sandy district, however, officials said.

To date county commissioners in Elbert and El Paso counties have credited the project with saving over $100,000 damage to roads and bridges.

Uranium Miners Run Higher Risk For Lung Cancer

National Health, attributed the reported higher risk of lung cancer among these miners to presence of radiation in the mines.

He said the records showed uranium miners developed lung cancer at a younger age than other people and that it was a severe type that usually caused death within two months after diagnosis.

He said the amount of cigarette smoking was about the same in the miners and nonminers studied.

Catamount Ranch Set for Summer Events

Keith Bullen, director of the YMCA's summer Day Camp at Catamount Ranch near Woodland Park, reported to the camp committee today that nearly half the boys and girls who could be accommodated this summer are now registered, and that a fine staff had now been employed to supervise program activities, and instruct the youngsters in a variety of skills.

He reported that five horses and a pony would be available for riding, a fine archery range is available and a program [illegible] with instruction is a part of the program equipment. Boating, nature study, simple crafts, hiking, fishing, swimming and a variety of other activities will be available, and all activities will be by small groups.

The day camp will operate in two-week periods starting June 8th, and the boys and girls will report to the YMCA each morning at 8 a.m. and be picked up there again at 5 p.m. One day each period they have the opportunity to camp out overnight and cook their meals over an open fire.

Bullen also reported that the Centennial Sertoma Club is providing a shelter for use in case of bad weather, and they are hauling the logs and having them milled into lumber for the shelter.

Day camping is for boys and girls six to ten years of age, Mr. Bullen said.

LBJ Declares Late Summer Congress Recall Possible

Hoped that the Senate will pass the civil rights bill by the end of the month or the early part of June so that Congress can turn to such administration programs as the antipoverty and medical aid measures.

Johnson said "some cynical people think there may be a deliberate slowdown in the Senate" and then went on to say that if there is one he would "seriously consider" calling Congress back after the Republican National Convention in July and the Democratic convention in August.

"I think that the people of this country are entitled to have a vote on these important measures," he declared. "This administration is entitled to have a vote on them, and I am going to ask the Congress to vote them up or down."

But the afternoon was too sunny and the President too intent on playing the showman to remain on a serious track.

Asked about his health—he suffered a severe heart attack in 1955—he reeled off medical data with a jest: "They tell me that my blood pressure is 125 over 78, that my heart is normal and that I don't have any aches and pains. I feel fine. I get adequate rest and good pay and plenty to eat."

Without any prompting at all, Johnson reminded his audience here and those across the country who heard him on radio and watched him on television — of the now-famous dog-ears incident by announcing: "I have today accepted lifetime membership in the Vanderburgh Humane Society of Evansville, Indiana."

He [illegible] press secretary George Reedy by [illegible] the [illegible]. "Someone even suggested you should be accredited to the White House. Here you are. I think that that person ought to remain anonymous, at least until he has his hair cut again."

Warren Will Present Defense Award

The Dean of the nation's Congressmen, the Honorable Carl Vinson of Georgia, is the winner of the 1964 Thomas D. White National Defense Award.

Originated by the Air Force Academy, the award is given annually to the person judged to have contributed most significantly to the national defense and security of the U.S. during the preceeding years.

Academy Superintendent Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren will present the award to Mr. Vinson at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Pentagon. Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert and other Air Force and Department of Defense representatives will attend.

Vinson, a member of Congress for the past 50 years, has been active in national legislative affairs since his earliest days on Capitol Hill.

In 1925 he was a member of the Morrow Board, a nine-man group appointed by President Coolidge to evaluate U.S. air defense and to recommend changes in laws, programs and organizational structures.

Rep. Vinson became chairman of the House Naval Affairs Committee in 1932 and in 1949 was named chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

He has announced his intention of retiring at the completion of this term of Congress.

The chairman will receive an individual award — a modernistic statuette — a certificate and citation. A master award with names of the annual winners inscribed is displayed permanently at the Academy.

Dr. Edward Teller, principal architect of the H-bomb, in 1962 was the first White award winner, the late Dr. Theodore von Karman, pioneer in development of jet propulsion and rocket engines, the 1963 winner.

Gen. White, for whom the award is named, was the Air Force Chief of Staff from 1957 to 1961. He commanded the Air Force during a period of revolutionary change and during the formative years of the Academy.

The general retired June 30, 1961 after 41 years of service.

Nominations for the award are received by the Academy from Headquarters USAF, major commands and joint commands.

Selection of chairman Vinson was made by a committee consisting of William P. Bundy, Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs, Gen. Earle Partridge, USAF Ret., Gen. Mark E. Bradley Jr., member of the Academy General Officers Advisory Committee, Gen. Warren, Brig. Gen. Robert W. Strong, the Commandant of Cadets, Brig. Gen. Robert F. McDermott, the Dean of Faculty, and Cadet Col. Allan McArtor, Cadet Wing commander.

Britons to Face Long Struggle In Desert Sands

Their viewpoint was put by Humphrey Berkeley, member of Parliament, in an article in the Conservative Daily Mail.

"Before we become bogged down in a private and prolonged guerrilla war in South Arabia," he wrote, "we should be clear as to precisely what we are trying to defend.

"Our concern is to buy oil, maintain the Aden base and fulfill our obligations to the sheikdoms.

"The flow of oil is not dependent on the Aden base."

Berkeley said first priority should be given to ending British-American bickering over Middle East policy.

"Above all," he said, "we should try to hammer out with the United States a common policy for the Middle East."

Britain has about 3,000 troops in the federation. In the way there, Prime Minister Douglas-Home has said that if necessary he will withdraw British troops from Germany to bolster Aden's defense.

Italian Beauty Says Separation Is Due to Work

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I'm a big girl," says Gina Lollobrigida. "After 15 years of marriage I should be able to travel by myself."

The Italian beauty is here making a movie with Rock Hudson, "Strange Bedfellows." Her husband, Yugeoslav-born Dr. Drgo Milko Skofic, is in Rome attending to his publishing business. Their divergence started tongues to wag, especially since she has been getting a whirl of the Hollywood night spots with Glenn Ford.

Gina couldn't care less about such talk.

"What am I supposed to do—go out alone?" she asked. "That would be even worse. I wouldn't think of going out with other women. I see it done in this country, but women woud never dine out together in Italy."

The thought of staying home in her luxurious Beverly Hills hacienda doesn't appeal to her, either. She has been taking lessons in such exotic dances as the Watusi for her field trips into the local night life. Rome was never like this, she says.

"I have never seen such wild people as in some of the night clubs in Hollywood," she said.

She also has attended frequent dinner parties in her honor. This is a compliment, she said, but also a hazard.

"So many names!" she groaned. "It's hard enough to learn names in your own language, but in English, too!

"I do the best I can, but sometimes I—how do you say it?—goof. I meet someone who says, 'You don't remember me, do you?' When I confess I don't, he says, 'I gave a dinner party for 60 people in your honor.'

"So I say to the next person I meet: 'I think I know you from somewhere.' And he answers, 'No, I've never met you.' It is very unnerving."

Gina's charm can get her through most situations, and her return to Hollywood is welcomed by her fellow workers. Her enthusiasm for working here might be surprising, in light of her previous experience.

Her first Hollywood film was "Never So Few," a lackluster venture epic with Frank Sinatra.

"I did it mainly to prove to Hollywood that I could work here in spite of Howard Hughes," she said. "I once signed an agreement with him and he kept me from working in Hollywood for seven years without paying me a cent. Even after the contract was over, he made MGM pay him $50,000 to use me in 'Never So Few.' And later MGM paid him $75,000 so I could do 'Go Naked in the World.'"

Gina returned to make "The Lady L" with Tony Curtis. Both stars liked the script, but the new director, George Cukor, did not. Nine scripts and five months later, the project was shelved at a loss Gina reports at $2.5 million.

"I was paid for it — twice," she said, "but it was not good work because I couldn't schedule other films. A year is too long to go without work."

Sonar Detects Amount of Fat

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—If your T-bone steak has more meat and less fat in the future, you can thank the Navy's World War II electronics and sound experts.

The electronics and sound experts perfected a device called sonar, which sends out ultrasound waves—higher than can be detected by the human ear. The waves were bounced off objects such as submarines to determine their location and distance.

Agricultural research scientists now have adapted sonar to the beef cattle business. The device, called somascope, uses the sonar principle to determine meatiness of beef cattle — how much lean as opposed to fat beneath the cowhide.

The device will be a special boon to breeders, who are constantly on the lookout for ways to improve the yield from their cattle.

If you breed two stock animals with a high lean ratio, there is a 50 per cent chance the offspring will retain that quality. But previously, the only way to determine meatiness was to slaughter the animal and physically measure the important cuts.

"That kind of wear and tear is hard on breeding animals," smilingly said Dr. Robert S. Temple of Knoxville, Tenn., investigation leader for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Southern Regional Beef Cattle Breeding Project.

But with the somascope, animals can be tested for meatiness while still alive, and their qualities immediately put to use.

The somascope sends sound waves through the flesh of an animal. Because the sound travels through fat at a different speed than through lean, the waves can be projected onto an oscilloscope and measured.

The somascope still is in the experimental stage, Temple said.

"But once we learn all about the system, it should go a long way in breeding beef cattle that will put meatier cuts on the dinner table."

Armed Forces News

By STEVE TILLMAN

WASHINGTON — Special to Gazette Telegraph — A civilian employe of the Naval Repair Facility, San Diego, Calif., has filed a suit in Federal Court asking for an injunction to stop the closing down of that facility. The suit contends that the Secretary of Defense has exceeded his authority by closing down installations without first consulting with the Armed Services Committees of Congress.

The Department of Defense will ask that the suit be dismissed. If this is rejected, then the case will come to an early trial due to the pressure of the Administration to make wholesale close-outs after the November elections.

Next step toward service unification may be a merger of the air and water terminals. A proposal is now under study at the Pentagon but is meeting with stiff opposition from all of the services. The plan does not include terminals overseas.

Col. William W. Thybony, Army retired, has joined the staff of the National Security Industrial Association as Director of Committees of the organization. In this he succeeds Rear Admiral James D. Boyle Jr. USN retired.

Several Army and Air Force airlift exercises have caused some communities to worry about the economic impact on the commerce of the community because the personnel will not be paid until the troops return to their home bases. Pentagon spokesmen say this could be taken care of by the married personnel concerned having the monthly pay checks sent to their banks with each bank having power of attorney to credit the check in the account of the individual. Then, if bank account is jointly held by the wife, there should be no problem. Each local commander can handle this in his briefing to troops who will participate in any exercise.

Chances look good that either a subcommittee or the House Armed Services Committee will investigate the commissaries under attack by the Comptroller General. Congressman Mendel Rivers says the operation of the commissaries is of no concern to the Comptroller General.

Department of Defense has released a new directive, identified as 1344.5, April 15, 1964, covering uniform requirements for motor vehicle liability insurance coverage for all military and civilian personnel allowed to park on military bases. It will apply to all privately owned vehicles.

The Army is not promoting many to the first three pay grades. More, however, are attaining grades E-8 and E-9 than E-7.

So far the Pentagon has not announced the loss out of any major Army installations. Whether the post November list will include any is not known at this time.

Something new may be in the offing with respect to the retirement of career personnel. The Veterans Administration has proposed that all with at least 20 years of active duty should be automatically considered to have at least a 10 per cent disability. This would mean that at least 10 per cent of the retired pay would be tax free. The Department of Defense now has the proposal of the Veterans Administration under study.

The Veterans Administration has conducted a thorough investigation of all military retirement laws as well as those related to veterans benefits. It is believed that the proposal recommended to the Department of Defense will be "free of any penetration" by the retired Reservists with less than 20 years of active duty.

The available information on the Veterans Adminstration recommendation fails to indicate whether there is any proposal to transfer the retired Title 111 Reservists from the Department of Defense budget to that of the Veterans Administration. As of now the costs of these Reserve retirements average about $151.31 a month per retiree. There are approximately 22,000 current retired Title 111 officers. The annual cost is estimated to be $49,840,560. There are approximately 415,000 Reserve officers who have not yet attained age 60 and eligibility for their retirement.

Reliable Bureau of the Budget sources say the continued charge of this retired pay against the Defense budget could well end all military retirement.

Students Think Barry Will Win Nomination

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater is the man Washington and Lee students think will win the Republican presidential nomination this summer.

They picked him overwhelmingly on the second ballot of their mock political convention Tuesday. The mock convention has picked the out-of-power party's presidential nominee correctly eight out of the last 12 times.

Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania was named after one ballot as Goldwater's vice-presidential running mate.

Speaking on a telephone hook-up, Goldwater told the students he hoped the national convention in San Francisco would show the same confidence they had.

Saigon Cabbies Blame American For Murder

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Saigon taxi drivers staged a three-block-long funeral procession today for one of their number whose murder they blamed on an unidentified American.

There was no violence during the procession.

American officials hoped the threat of trouble had passed. "If we can get through tonight all right, then it will all be over," an American security man said.

The taxi drivers union, which has a membership of several thousand, called for a "drive-on" against the U.S. Embassy after two taxi drivers were fatally shot in their cabs last Friday and early Tuesday. Witnesses claimed that in both cases foreigners, probably Americans, did the shooting.

The "drive-on" did not materialize.

No arrests have been made and Saigon police are still conducting ballistic tests to see if the bullets were fired from the same pistol.

Premier Nguyen Khanh told newsmen the murders were the work of Communist Viet Cong agents or "representatives of colonialists," apparently meaning the French.

Italian Beauty Says Separation Is Due to Work

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I'm a big girl," says Gina Lollobrigida. "After 15 years of marriage I should be able to travel by myself."

The Italian beauty is here making a movie with Rock Hudson, "Strange Bedfellows." Her husband, Yugoslav-born Dr. Drago Milko Skofic, is in Rome attending to his publishing business. Their divergence started tongues to wag, especially since she has been getting a whirl of the Hollywood night spots with Glenn Ford.

Gina couldn't care less about such talk.

"What am I supposed to do—go out alone?" she asked. "That would be even worse. I wouldn't think of going out with other women. I see it done in this country, but women would never dine out together in Italy."

The thought of staying home in her luxurious Beverly Hills hacienda doesn't appeal to her either. She has been taking lessons in such exotic dances as the Watusi for her [illegible] trips into the local night life. "Rome was never like this," she says.

"I have never seen such [illegible] people as in some of the night clubs in Hollywood," she said.

She also has attended frequent dinner parties in her honor. "This is a compliment," she said, "but also a hazard.

"So many names," she groaned. "It's hard enough to learn names in your own language, but in English [illegible]

"I do the best I can, but sometimes I [illegible] good. I meet someone who says, '[illegible] do you?' When I confess I [illegible] he says, 'I [illegible] a dinner party for 60 [illegible] your honor!'

"So I say to the next person I meet, 'I think I know you from somewhere.' And he answers, 'No, I've never met you.' It is very unnerving."

Gina's charm can get her through most situations and her return to Hollywood was welcomed by [illegible] workers. Her enthusiasm [illegible] here might be [illegible] light of her previous experience.

Her first Hollywood film was "Never So Few," a lackluster venture [illegible] with Frank Sinatra.

"I did it mainly to [illegible] Hollywood that I [illegible] here [illegible] Howard Hughes," she said. "I [illegible] signed an agreement with [illegible] and he kept me from working in Hollywood for seven years without paying me a cent. Gina returned to make "The Lady L" with Tony Curtis. Both stars liked the script, but the new director, George Cukor, did not. Nine [illegible] scripts and [illegible] long to go without work.

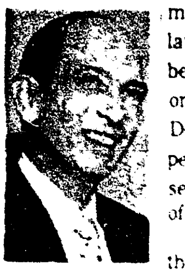
Armed Forces News

By STEVE TILLMAN

WASHINGTON — Special to Gazette Telegraph — A civilian employe of the Naval Repair Facility, San Diego, Calif., has filed a suit in Federal Court asking for an injunction to stop the closing down of that facility. The suit contends that the Secretary of Defense has exceeded his authority by closing down installations without first consulting with the Armed Services Committees of Congress.



The Department of Defense will ask that the suit be dismissed. If this is rejected then the case will come to an early trial due to the pressure of the Administration to make wholesale close-outs after the November elections.

Next step toward service unification may be a merger of the air and water terminals. A proposal is now under study at the Pentagon but is meeting with stiff opposition from all of the services. The plan does not include terminals overseas.

[illegible] William W. [illegible] Army retired, has joined the staff of the National Security Industrial Association as Director of Committees of the organization. In this he succeeds Rear Admiral James D. Boyle [illegible] USN retired.

Several Army and Air Force [illegible] overseas have caused some [illegible] worry [illegible] the [illegible] because the personnel will not be paid until the troops return to their home bases. Pentagon spokesmen say this could be taken care of by the military personnel concerned having the monthly pay checks sent [illegible] with each bank having power of attorney to credit the check in the account of the individual. Then it [illegible] would be [illegible] by the wife. There should be no problem. Each local commander can handle this in his briefing to troops who will participate.

[illegible] House Armed Services Committee will investigate the commissaries under attack by the Comptroller General. Congressman Mendel Rivers says the operation of the commissaries [illegible] the Comptroller General.

Department of Defense has released a new directive identified as 1344.5, April 15, 1964, covering uniform requirements for motor vehicle liability insurance coverage for all military and civilian personnel allowed to park on military bases. It will apply to all privately owned vehicles.

The Army is not promoting many in the first three pay grades. More, however, are attaining grades E-8 and E-9 than E-7.

So far the Pentagon has not announced the loss [illegible] of any major Army installations. Whether the [illegible] list will include any is not known at this time.

Something new may be in the offing with respect to the retirement of career personnel. The Veterans Administration has proposed that all with at least 20 years of active duty should be automatically considered to have at least a 10 per cent disability. This would mean that at least 10 per cent of the retired pay would be tax free. The Department of Defense now has the proposal of the Veterans Administration under study.

The Veterans Administration has conducted a thorough investigation of all military retirement laws as well as those related to veterans benefits. It is believed that the proposal recommended to the Department of Defense will be "free of any penetration" by the retired Reservists with less than 20 years of active duty.

The available information on the Veterans Administration recommendation fails to indicate whether there is any proposal to transfer the retired Title III Reservists from the Department of Defense budget to that of the Veterans Administration. As of now the costs of these Reserve retirements average about $151.31 a month per retiree. There are approximately 22,000 [illegible] retired Title III officers. The annual cost is estimated to be $49,840,560. There are approximately 415,000 Reserve officers who have not yet attained age 60 and eligibility for [illegible] retirement.

Reliable Bureau of the Budget sources say the continued charge of this retired pay against the Defense budget could well end all military retirement

Just a Litter Action Can Keep U.S. Beautiful

By MURRAY J. BROWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — A visiting British noblewoman once said a certain city in the South reminded her "of a beautiful old lady with a dirty face."

Her comment was important not only because it stirred the local citizens into an anti-litter campaign but because it summed up an all-too-common criticism of the United States by foreign tourists.

Foreign visitors speak highly of many things in America—its people, its scenic beauties, its technology and its high standard of living.

But they don't like the litter in most cities, says Allan H. Seed Jr., executive vice president of Keep America Beautiful (KAB). KAB is a non-profit organization sponsored by a group of large business enterprises in the interest of cleaning up the "dirty faces."

"Travelers from abroad are frequently shocked at the amount of litter carelessly strewn about our country," Seed said. "They compare what they see here with such cities as Geneva, Copenhagen and Rotterdam, known internationally for their cleanliness. KAB recognizes this problem. Our goal is to remind every American of his individual responsibility as regards the litter problem."

Recent surveys by the U.S. Travel Service showed the following percentages of visitors from abroad found the United States dirty: Italians 28 per cent, British 25 per cent, Australians 23 per cent, West Germans 14 per cent, Venezuelans 9 per cent, Mexicans 8 per cent, and Japanese 4 per cent.

Another survey found tourists from Belgium, Denmark and Norway also commenting on our "dirty" cities.

"While the majority of people interviewed thought of America as a clean country," Seed said, "the number of tourists still impressed by our poor housekeeping is embarrassingly high—we can't take comfort until our record is more nearly perfect."

The situation presents somewhat of a paradox, Seed admitted. The litter the tourists find objectionable in the United States stems from one of the things they like best here — the high standard of living.

A motivational research study recently completed for the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute found that among the major causes of litter are unprecedented autombile travel, technological advances that have resulted in high productivity and the revolution in merchandising that has led to the individual packaging of most consumer products.

"We have plenty of proof that rising standards of living are being accompanied by rising litter problems in foreign countries, in some instances in the very countries whose citizens appear most vociferous about U.S. litter," Seed said. "In fact, in the last couple of years we have corresponded with anti-litter groups interested in our 'preventative medicine' in almost every free world country."

Seed said educational litter prevention programs are being conducted in 7,000 communities throughout the United States.

"Experience has proved that public education is the No. 1 solution to the litter problem," he said. "Litter is caused by people, not things, and only people can prevent litter."

Seed stressed that litter prevention programs are doubly important in areas where the tourist trade is or can be of economic importance.

"If we are going to have company," he said, "we've got to keep the place tidy."

Golfers' Brother Said Best Friend Of Phinoeros

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As the noble dog is man's best friend, and as diamonds are a girl's best friend, so it might be said that Ian Player is a rhinoceros' best friend.

Player, brother of the golfer Gary Player, is chief warden of the Umfolozi game reserve in Zululand, South Africa. As such, he is a leading figure in a campaign to save the white rhino from extinction.

As such, he also served as technical adviser for a new motion picture called "Rhino." In the process he was captured alive by a Hollywood press agent and brought to this country for a publicity tour.

I had a talk with Player this week and to tell you the truth I never felt so poorly equipped for an interview. About all I know about rhinoceroses is that they have thick hides like U.S. senators.

I thought of asking Player what would happen if someone picked up a rhinoceros by its ears. But I soon realized that he was not interested in American politics. So I asked him now how he happened to become a game warden.

He said he got the idea from watching old Tarzan movies.

Player looks upon wild animals in much the same way that the late Rachel Carson looked upon insects. Their extermination can create imbalances in nature that affect the lives of people, he said.

After World War II, for instance, large numbers of African crocodiles were killed off. During the same period, an important food fish called the tilapia began to disappear.

Experts brought into find out what was happening to the tilapia discovered that their eggs were being consumed by water beetles that had previously been consumed by baby crocodiles.

Which goes to show that it doesn't pay to monkey around with mother nature.

I also learned from Player that if you happen to have a hippopotamus or two handy, they will provide a certain amount of protection against floods.

"Where hippos have been left in rivers, the floods are not nearly so destructive as long rivers where the hippo has been shot out," he said.

The reason is that hippos make big tracks along the river banks which catches part of the overflow.

Since the U. S. Congress annually appropriates a large amount of money for flood control projects, I asked Player if it might be cheaper to import a few hippos to replace the Army Corps of Engineers. But he didn't think that would be very practical.

Too bad. It might have made a good plot for another Tarzan movie.

Saudi Arabians Plan to Plant Crops in Desert

NEW YORK (UPI)—The ancient camel caravan routes that were the tradeways of Arabia for centuries until a few years ago, have all but disappeared. The single-humped camel—legendary "ship of the desert"—has given way to the automobile, airplane and railroad.

This is one facet of the vast economic and social changes discovery of oil barely 25 years ago in the desert kingdom of Saudi Arabia.

Modern air-conditioned buildings, hospitals, schools and homes are being constructed. New techniques are being utilized to develop the country's potentially rich agricultural, mineral and industrial resources.

The Saudi Arabian Information Service says the latest project to modernize the nation will bring about 12,000 areas of virgin, uninhabited desert land under cultivation.

The Information Service said reclamation of the desert will be started this spring in the Wadi Sahba area of the Eastern province. The 10-year project is based on recommendations developed by agricultural experts of the Arabian American Oil Company (Aramco).

The project will be carried out in two five-year stages, first of which calls for establishing a 100-acre research, demonstration and training center at a cost of $13 million, of which Aramco will provide up to $400,000.

The Wadi Sahba project is situated along the 357-mile long Saudi Government Railroad near the city of Harad, about midway between the nation's capital, Riyad, and the terminus at Damman on the Persian Gulf. It also is accessible by road.

The site, more than 37 miles long and approximately a mile wide, has good soil which geologists find comparable to the Mississippi Delta.

Prehistoric men hunted elephants, rhinos and hippos in the green thickets along the Jordan River in the now-barren Jordan Valley.

Life Goes Ahead For the Daughter Of Madame Nhu

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PARIS (NEA) — Early morning travelers on the Austerlitz Station subway line would scarcely notice a pretty Asian girl.

Her almond eyes are topped with coal-black hair done in the current bouffant style which Parisian teen-agers have adopted. Even her clothes are inconspicuous.

How could they know that this particular Paris University student is 18-year old Le Thuy (Vietnamese for Limpid Water), eldest daughter of the Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu, who but a few months ago ranked as a major celebrity. She appeared on the cover of most magazines and rated headlines in the French press. The French appreciated the fact that the first lady of Viet Nam was alluring — especially in her picturesque native costume. With her daughter she made a very pretty picture indeed.

Today, Madame Nhu has had to reduce her standard of living compared to what she enjoyed in Saigon. With her four children she is now living in a moderately luxurious five-room apartment overlooking the Champs de Mars and the nearby military school. Interviews are firmly discouraged. They are granted for a consideration—the starting price is $1,000.

Some two months ago, Match magazine produced six pages of color photographs of Madame Nhu at home with her children —which, it is reported, cost the publisher several thousand dollars. What is more, the butcher, baker, grocer, even her coiffeur refuse to say anything at all about her.

Her immediate entourage consists of a cook and his wife, a personal maid and a Vietnamese secretary.

Madame Nhu insists that money means little to her, that personally she could live on two bowls of rice a day. "The first three months were very difficult," she says. Apparently she is living on advances received from a French publishing house for her memoirs plus contributions from family connections and, of course, an interview here and there.

She is, however, no longer the headliner she once was. Even the news that the Saigon government had made a formal request for her extradition did not cause more than a ripple in the French press. A spokesman at the Foreign Office said this had been put through the usual channels for consideration but that it conceivably could be months before it was answered.

Meanwhile Trac (15) and Quinh (11), the Nhu boys, have been enrolled at Stanislas, a Catholic college on the Left Bank. Le Thuy, who wants to be a surgeon, realizes that she has at least 10 years of hard study ahead of her.

She had just passed her baccalaureate when her father was assassinated, and it was he who counseled her when she hesitated between law and medicine. "If you study medicine you will always be useful to all people in times of war as well as peace," said he.

Le Thuy has made some friends at medical school and will often sit awhile with them over a cup of coffee in a student cafe near the Luxembourg Gardens.

Few of the customers there realize who she is or perhaps even remember the tremendous tragedy which darkened her young life.

Madame Nhu, busy on the last chapers of her story, sees few visitors. She is, according to reports, confident, that "one day I shall go back home."

NEW VIEW

NEW YORK (UPI) — Visitors to Athens this summer can be whisked in two minutes, by a recently constructed telefe-rique to the top of 1,000-foot Mount Lycabettus for a spectacular view of the city, the Greek islands of the Saronic Gulf and of mountains as far away as the central Peloponnese.

Formerly it took an hour's winding climb of the cone-shaped Mount Lycabettus to reach its peak, says the National Tourist Organization of Greece.

Just a Litter Action Can Keep U.S. Beautiful

By MURRAY J. BROWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — A visiting British noblewoman once said a certain city in the South reminded her of a beautiful old lady with a dirty face.

Her comment was important not only because it stirred the local citizens into an [illegible] campaign [illegible]

Golfers' Brother Said Best Friend Of Phinoeros

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — [illegible]

[illegible] said that Ian Player is a [illegible] best friend.

Player, brother of the golfer Gary Player, is chief warden of the Umfolozi game reserve in [illegible] Africa. [illegible]

[illegible]

I had a talk with Player [illegible] [illegible] in an interview. About all I [illegible] they take [illegible] like U.S. senators.

I thought of asking Player what would happen if someone picked up a rhinoceros by its ears. But I soon realized that he was not interested in American politics. So I asked him how he happened to become a game warden.

He said he got the idea from watching old Tarzan movies.

[illegible] Rachel Carson [illegible] insects. Their [illegible] create [illegible] nature that [illegible] he said.

After World War II [illegible] large numbers of [illegible] were killed off. During the same period an important food fish called the tilapia began to disappear.

Experts brought into find out what was happening to the tilapia discovered that their eggs were being consumed by water beetles that had previously been consumed by baby crocodiles.

Which goes to show that it doesn't pay to monkey around with mother nature.

I also learned from Player that if you happen to have a hippopotamus or two handy, they will provide a certain amount of protection against floods.

Where hippos have been left in rivers, the floods are not nearly so destructive as [illegible] rivers where the hippo has been shot out, he said.

The reason is that hippos make big tracks along the river banks which catches part of the overflow.

Since the U.S. Congress annually appropriates a large amount of money for flood control projects, I asked Player if it might be cheaper to import a few hippos to replace the Army Corps of Engineers. But he didn't think that would be very practical.

Too bad. It might have made a good plot for another Tarzan movie.

Saudi Arabians Plan to Plant Crops in Desert

NEW YORK (UPI) —The ancient camel caravan routes that were the tradeways of Arabia for centuries until a few years ago have all but disappeared. The single-humped camel—legendary "ship of the desert"—has given way to the automobile, airplane and railroad.

This is one facet of the vast economic and social changes discovery of oil barely 25 years ago in the desert kingdom of Saudi Arabia.

Modern air-conditioned buildings, hospitals, schools and homes are being constructed. New techniques are being utilized to develop the country's potentially rich agricultural, mineral and industrial resources.

The Saudi Arabian Information Service says the latest project to modernize the nation will bring about 12,000 areas of virgin uninhabited desert land under cultivation.

The Information Service said reclamation of the desert will be started this spring in the Wadi Sahba area of the Eastern province. The 10-year project is based on recommendations developed by agricultural experts of the Arabian American Oil Company (Aramco).

The project will be carried out in two five-year stages, first of which calls for establishing a 100-acre research demonstration and training center at a cost of $1.3 million, of which Aramco will provide up to $400,000.

The Wadi Sahba project is situated along the 357-mile long Saudi Government Railroad near the city of Harad about midway between the nation's capital, Riyad, and the terminus at Damman on the Persian Gulf. It also is accessible by road.

The site, more than 37 miles long and approximately a mile wide, has good soil which geologists find comparable to the Mississippi Delta.

Prehistoric men hunted elephants, rhinos and hippos in the green thickets along the Jordan River in the now-barren Jordan Valley.

Life Goes Ahead For the Daughter Of Madame Nhu

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PARIS (NEA) — Early morning travelers on the Austerlitz Station subway line would scarcely notice a pretty Asian girl.

Her almond eyes are topped with coal-black hair done in the current bouffant style which Parisian teen-agers have adopted. Even her clothes are inconspicuous.

How could they know that this particular Paris University student is 18-year-old Le Thuy (Vietnamese for Limpid Water), eldest daughter of the Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu, who but a few months ago ranked as a major celebrity. She appeared on the cover of most magazines and rated headlines in the French press. The French appreciated the fact that the first lady of Viet Nam was alluring — especially in her picturesque native costume. With her daughter she made a very pretty picture indeed.

Today Madame Nhu has had to reduce her standard of living compared to what she enjoyed in Saigon. With her four children she is now living in a moderately luxurious five-room apartment overlooking the Champs de Mars and the nearby military school. Interviews are firmly discouraged. They are granted for a consideration—the starting price is $1,000.

Some two months ago, Match magazine produced six pages of color photographs of Madame Nhu at home with her children — which, it is reported, cost the publisher several thousand dollars. What is more, the butcher, baker, grocer, even her coiffeur refuse to say anything at all about her.

Her immediate entourage consists of a cook and his wife, a personal maid and a Vietnamese secretary.

Madame Nhu insists that money means little to her, that personally she could live on two bowls of rice a day. "The first three months were very difficult," she says. Apparently she is living on advances received from a French publishing house for her memoirs plus contributions from family connections and, of course, an interview here and there.

She is, however, no longer the headliner she once was. Even the news that the Saigon government had made a formal request for her extradition did not cause more than a ripple in the French press. A spokesman at the Foreign Office said this had been put through the usual channels for consideration but that it conceivably could be months before it was answered.

Meanwhile Trac (15) and Quinh (11), the Nhu boys, have been enrolled at Stanislas, a Catholic college on the Left Bank. Le Thuy, who wants to be a surgeon, realizes that she has at least 10 years of hard study ahead of her.

She had just passed her baccalaureate when her father was assassinated and it was he who counseled her when she hesitated between law and medicine. "If you study medicine you will always be useful to all people in times of war as well as peace," said he.

Le Thuy has made some friends at medical school and will often sit awhile with them over a cup of coffee in a student cafe near the Luxembourg Gardens.

Few of the customers there realize who she is or perhaps even remember the tremendous tragedy which darkened her young life.

Madame Nhu, busy on the last chapters of her story, sees few visitors. She is, according to reports, confident that "one day I shall go back home."

NEW VIEW

NEW YORK (UPI) — Visitors to Athens this summer can be whisked in two minutes by a recently constructed telefe-rique to the top of 1,000-foot Mount Lycabettus for a spectacular view of the city, the Greek islands of the Saronic Gulf and of mountains as far away as the central Peloponnese.

Formerly it took an hour's winding climb of the cone-shaped Mount Lycabettus to reach its peak, says the National Tourist Organization of Greece.

AFA Dentists Take Part in Dental Training

Two Air Force Academy dental officers are taking part in a Colorado Springs program for training dental assistants.

Capts. Theodore Cole and Glenn Jividen will deliver two of a series of lectures being given by local dentists in connection with the training program at Penrose Hospital.

Capt. Jividen will speak to the class today.

The dental assistants are receiving a series of lectures on technical subjects prior to taking an examination leading to national certification.

Dr. Jividen is a graduate of the University of Buffalo School of Dentistry. He received graduate training in Periodontology at Tufts University School of Dental Medicine and was a clinical instructor in periodontics there.

A graduate of the University of Iowa College of Dentistry, Dr. Cole was an instructor in crown and bridge work at the school prior to entering the Air Force.

Capt. Cole spoke to the dental assistants on "Operative Dentistry."

New Frank Note Appears in Talk Of Rockefeller

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A new note of frankness has appeared in Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's national political activity on the sensitive topic of his divorce and remarriage.

The development reflects the thinking of many of his campaign leaders throughout the country that the issue must be faced more directly if he is to preserve any chance of winning the Republican presidential nomination.

Rockefeller has run far behind in virtually every primary and poll connected with the GOP contest.

Originally, the New York governor answered questions about his private life with no effort to defend himself and by saying he would submit to the judgment of voters.

But with the important Oregon and California primaries nearing, pressure has increased on Rockefeller to speak out more frankly on his divorce and remarriage in an effort to offset the damage they caused to his political fortunes.

These have been developments:

—Asked in California about his divorce, Rockefeller did not give the usual answer that the voters would decide but commented on the unhappiness that occurs in having to accept failure.

—When the question of his private life was raised by a college youth at a rally in Portland, Ore., Rockefeller answered: "As you live, you learn that people in their lives have more problems than others realize. We must have the courage to face these problems."

These statements fall short of what some Rockefeller advisors have suggested—a nationwide television appearance by the governor to explain his divorce and remarriage in a manner that would win sympathy for him.

Those who know Rockefeller say he would not consider such public exposure of his private life.

Milk Producers Join New Eight-State Co-Op

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — Owners of nearly 400,000 milk cows in eight states have joined a fledgling bargaining cooperative.

Thomas Townsend, a local dairy co-op marketing specialist, said the purpose is to match pace with chain supermarkets and national brand milk sales.

He said the new Central Southwest Dairy Cooperative includes 4,225 dairy farmers in Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas.

Navy Lieutenant Commander Norman H. Scawthorn, surface operations officer on the Naval Forces Staff at NORAD, will speak to the Colorado Springs Navy League, Friday noon, at the Swiss Chalet Restaurant.

"The New Four Ocean Challenge" the newest mission to be given to the Navy will be discussed. Through this slide presentation, Lt. Cmdr. Scawthorn will show how the Navy's present two-ocean-fleet will become a world-wide task force by extending operations to the Arctic and Indian Oceans.

This presentation has recently been released by the Secretary of the Navy's office.

It is estimated that more than 3 million persons play the organ today, as compared with only 800,000 in 1954.

Verdict Favors Defendants in District Court

A District Court jury returned a verdict in favor of defendants Edward Hall and Gibson and Watts Inc. late Wednesday afternoon in the personal injury suit brought against them by Loney Centers and the Maryland Casualty Co.

Centers alleged that on Oct. 14, 1956, he was struck by a car on the 2400 block of Tahoe Street. The vehicle was driven by Hall who was then employed by Gibson and Watts. According to the complaint, the plaintiff suffered severe and disabling injuries and requested $77,022.25.

The casulaty company was the Workmen's Compensation carrier for Sproul Homes Inc., Centers' employer and was asking $8,734.98 as repayment for medical, hospital and disability payments made to Centers.

Judge Hunter D. Hardeman was on the bench and the plaintiffs were represented by Don Evans of Denver and local attorney Weldon Tarter. Robert Anderson appeared for the defendants.

ISLAND UNTO HIMSELF—Pikes Peak Region Artist Angus Ray received permission from city authorities Wednesday to make some sketches of the Antlers Hotel, which reportedly is to be razed this fall. In order to provide some protection for the artist and his equipment, City Traffic Engineer Don L. Smith (left) surrounded Ray with brightly colored traffic cones. Ray has already made charcoal sketches of the hotel from the south and north and plans some more from the west. This view, however, is known by visitors to Colorado Springs from the world over, so Ray asked for some protection from the police department and Smith.

Loveland Man Found Guilty On Forgery Charge Here

Loren M. Parnell also known as Tom Eston was found guilty of forgery late Wednesday afternoon by a District Court jury which had deliberated one hour.

Parnell, 34, Loveland, issued a $158 check Jan. 4 with intent to defraud the Ranch Bar and Round Up, 128 S. Nevada Ave. It was signed "Truman Summers," of the Summers Sheet Metal and Roofing Co. 3513 N. El Paso St.

Forgery carries a possible sentence of one to 14 years in the state penitentiary.

The second day of the trial began 20 minutes late due to the tardiness of one of the jurors.

Testimony was given by Mary Theel of Loveland who admitted she lived with the defendant from Dec. 31 to March 6 and said she was with Parnell in Denver, Jan. 4, the day the offense was committed. She said they had been together all day as she was waiting for an important letter.

The envelope was produced in court and Deputy District Attorney Montell Dunn pointed out that it was postmarked Leavenworth, Kan. 9:30 a.m. Jan. 4, and yet, continued the attorney, the witness had said she collected it at 4:30 the day it was mailed. Dunn also stressed that it was not sent air mail.

Gabe Brock of the Ranch Bar and Round Up also testified. He told the court the defendant had come to his place of business Jan. 4 and requested him to cash the check. Although he was not in the habit of cashing checks for such a large amount he did it, he stated, as he knew Truman Summers, the signature on the check, to be a reliable business man.

The witness added that Parnell had been in his bar several times since the incident but no restitution had ever been made.

Mrs. Brock also took the stand and positively identified the defendant.

Donald E. Green, formerly of Don's Pancake Corral told the court how he had cashed another bad check for $153.03 for the defendant and had never received any restitution.

Mrs. Lucy Rice of the Star Club, 3001 N. Nevada Ave. said the defendant had asked her to cast the $153.03 check but that she did not have sufficient money in the till. Green, who was in the bar at the time, then cashed it for the defendant, she told the court.

Other witnesses who testified included Deputy Sheriff Woodrow Littrell. Littrell said he saw the defendant at county jail at Parnell's request. Parnell told the deputy he wished to give him a sample of his handwriting so it could be examined by an expert. Parnell insisted he had not committed any of the forgeries.

Handwriting expert Ben Garcia of Denver told the court that the signature on the checks and the specimen of Parnell's handwriting obtained in jail were all written by the same man. He demonstrated his reasons for his belief to the jury with the aid of a blackboard and said a deliberate attempt had been made to disguise the style.

Counsel for the defense John Cooper was given 10 days in which to file for a new trial. The presiding judge was David W. Enoch and Dick Webster also appeared for the district attorney's office.

AFA Debate Team Talks Way To Victory

There may be room for active dispute over the athletic prowess of the four U. S. service academies, but in one competitive aspect, the Air Force Academy tops its rivals without question.

For the third year in a row, the Air Force debating team talked their way into victory at the annual inter-service Golden Gavel Debate Tournament at the Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, N.Y.

In winning the tourney, the Academy quartet defeated teams from the host school, West Point, and Annapolis.

Club Conducts Safety Program In District 2

The Harrison Extension Homemakers Club is conducting a safety program for the 312 first graders at Chamberlin, Stratton Meadows and Stratmoor Hills schools of District 2.

Club members have set up "Safety Town," a simulated village with miniature houses, streets, cars and traffic signals, where the children gain first-hand knowledge and experience with traffic conditions they will meet going to and from school.

It is a controlled traffic situation where the child is completely safe on the school grounds but still subjected to common traffic problems. The pupils take turns being auto drivers and pedestrians so they will become familiar with the rules that apply to both. The purpose of "Safety Town" is to help first graders become safe pedestrians, and eventually safe drivers.

During the week-long program, the children receive classroom instruction from their teachers on all phases of pedestrian and auto safety.

They are shown cartoon safety movies, "Otto the Auto," provided by the Rocky Mountain AAA, and then taken to "Safety Town" where they learn by actual experience how to be safe pedestrians and drivers. At the end of the week, certificates will be presented to those pupils completing the course.

The homemakers club has received cooperation from many sources in this project. Sears donated the packing boxes used for the houses and cars; the District 2 superintendents, principals and teachers aided fully in the project; instruction books were purchased from the American Automobile Association, and the city's traffic engineer, Don Smith, had a model traffic signal and "walk" and "don't walk" lights built for the project. These will be available to other schools for use in their educational safety programs and to instruct pupils in the use of the push-button type signals.

Loveland Man Found Guilty On Forgery Charge Here

Loren M. Parnell, also known as Tom Eston, was found guilty of forgery late Wednesday afternoon by a District Court jury which had deliberated one hour.

Parnell, 34, Loveland, issued a $158 check Jan. 4 with intent to defraud the Ranch Bar and Round Up, 128 S. Nevada Ave. It was signed "Truman Summers," of the Summers Sheet Metal and Roofing Co., 3513 N. El Paso St.

Forgery carries a possible sentence of one to 14 years in the state penitentiary.

The second day of the trial began 20 minutes late due to the tardiness of one of the jurors.

Testimony was given by Mary Theel of Loveland who admitted she lived with the defendant from Dec. 31 to March 6 and said she was with Parnell in Denver, Jan. 4, the day the offense was committed. She said they had been together all day as she was waiting for an important letter.

The envelope was produced in court and Deputy District Attorney Montell Dunn pointed out that it was postmarked Leavenworth, Kan. 9:30 a.m. Jan. 4, and yet, continued the attorney, the witness had said she collected it at 4:30 the day it was mailed. Dunn also stressed that it was not sent air mail.

Gabe Brock of the Ranch Bar and Round Up also testified. He told the court the defendant had come to his place of business Jan. 4 and requested him to cash the check. Although he was not in the habit of cashing checks for such a large amount he did it, he stated, as he knew Truman Summers, the signature on the check, to be a reliable business man.

The witness added that Parnell had been in his bar several times since the incident but no restitution had ever been made.

Mrs. Brock also took the stand and positively identified the defendant.

Donald E. Green, formerly of Don's Pancake Corral, told the court how he had cashed another bad check for $153.03 for the defendant and had never received any restitution.

Mrs. Lucy Rice of the Star Club, 3001 N. Nevada Ave., said the defendant had asked her to cash the $153.03 check but that she did not have sufficient money in the till. Green, who was in the bar at the time, then cashed it for the defendant, she told the court.

Other witnesses who testified included Deputy Sheriff Woodrow Littrell. Littrell said he saw the defendant at county jail at Parnell's request. Parnell told the deputy he wished to give him a sample of his handwriting so it could be examined by an expert. Parnell insisted he had not committed any of the forgeries.

Handwriting expert Ben Garcia of Denver told the court that the signature on the checks and the specimen of Parnell's handwriting obtained in jail were all written by the same man. He demonstrated his reasons for his belief to the jury with the aid of a blackboard and said a deliberate attempt had been made to disguise the style.

Counsel for the defense John Cooper was given 10 days in which to file for a new trial. The presiding judge was David W. Enoch and Dick Webster also appeared for the district attorney's office.

Club Conducts Safety Program In District 2

The Harrison Extension Homemakers Club is conducting a safety program for the 312 first graders at Chamberlin, Stratton Meadows and Stratmoor Hills schools of District 2.

Club members have set up "Safety Town," a simulated village with miniature houses, streets, cars and traffic signals where the children gain first hand knowledge and experience with traffic conditions they will meet going to and from school.

[illegible] where the [illegible] is complete [illegible] safe [illegible] the school grounds [illegible] common traffic problems. The pupils take turns being auto drivers and pedestrians so they will become familiar with the rules that apply to both. The purpose of "Safety Town" is to help first graders become safe pedestrians and eventually safe drivers.

During the week-long program the children receive classroom instruction from their teachers on all phases of pedestrian and auto safety.

They are shown cartoon safety movies, "Otto the Auto," provided by the Rocky Mountain AAA, and then taken to "Safety Town" where they [illegible] experience [illegible] to be safe pedestrians and drivers. At the end of the week certificates will be presented to those pupils completing the course.

The homemakers club has received cooperation from many sources in this project. Sears donated the packing boxes used for the houses and cars, the District 2 superintendents, principals and teachers aided fully in the project, instruction books were purchased from the American Automobile Association and the city's traffic engineer Don Smith had a model traffic signal and "walk" and "don't walk" lights built for the project. These will be available to other schools for use in their educational safety programs and to instruct pupils in the use of the push-button type signals.

West Germany Asks Egypt to Extradite Nazi

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany formally asked the United Arab Republic today to extradite fugitive Nazi Hans Walter Zech - Nenntwich. But West German officials said they doubted the request would be granted.

The Bonn Foreign Ministry said the request for Zech-Nenntwich's extradition was made by the ambassador in Cairo.

The former SS lieutenant convicted of taking part in a wartime massacre of Polish Jews, escaped April 23 from the Brunswick prison four days after he was sentenced to four years in prison. A jail warden, once his crony in the Nazi labor organization, has admitted he let Zech-Nenntwich slip out.

A Justice Ministry spokesman said West Germany has no extradition treaty with the United Arab Republic. He said the U.A.R. could turn the fugitive over if it chose, but this appeared unlikely in view of past experience.

Many former Nazis have settled in Egypt and other Arab countries, which accept them because of mutual hostility toward Israel.

The first news of Zech-Nenntwich's whereabouts came from the picture magazine Der Stern, which said Tuesday he was interviewed by two of its reporters who spotted him in a Cairo hotel. Police said they had known for several days that he was in Cairo.

France Seeks More Than World Grandeur

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PARIS (NEA) — "Why don't you Americans try to understand General de Gaulle, instead of picking him to pieces?"

This is the question most frequently asked these days whether the speaker is a Foreign Ministry official at the Quai d' Orsay or the editor of a Gaullist newspaper.

There is no detectable hostility behind the question. The anti-American bias, if any, is soft-pedaled. Instead, the tone is one of gentle reproach.

If the Gaulists are to be believed, France is the aggrieved party, its president much maligned. (Harry Truman's reported desire to chop off De Gaulle's nose if he poked it into Latin America, in particular, did not go over well here.)

Among other things, De Gaulle in the past two years has:

Torpedoed British entry into the European Common Market, thereby in the U.S. view, weakening the Atlantic Alliance.

Refused to sign the Moscow nuclear test ban treaty.

Withdrawn French naval forces from NATO, and reduced France's total NATO contribution to a token force.

Vetoed the American offer of Polaris missiles in favor of an independent French nuclear striking force.

Recognized Red China and urged a policy of neutrality for Southeast Asia, including Viet Nam where the United States is heavily committed in the fight against communism.

These policies add up in many U.S. eyes to anti-Americanism. But when one mentions this, the general's followers look pained.

By recognizing Peking, De Gaulle has made it easier for the Chinese and Americans to contemplate Vietnamese neutrality without loss of face, Gaullists claim.

De Gaulle's global philosophy was explained to me thus by a highly placed spokesman:

"Britain cannot play an independent role because it is too closely tied to the United States and too preoccupied with commonwealth affairs. Therefore only France is free to pursue an independent global policy.

"What the general has done is to break the ice pack and to restore fluidity to international diplomacy. Far from dividing the free world, De Gaulle is helping to restore stability. This is the real significance of his recent moves in China and in Latin America."

By recognizing Mao's China, De Gaulle was merely admitting the existence of a 600-million-person reality, this spokesman maintained. He quoted De Gaulle's words: "In Asia there can be no peace nor any war imaginable without China being involved."

What has France itself gained from the recognition of Red China? From a trade standpoint, almost nothing. China lacks the hard currency to buy French products, and France has little need for hog bristles and soy sauce which China might export.

On the other hand, by establishing relations with Peking, France has boosted its prestige with those African countries, Algeria in particular, that lean toward a Castrolike socialism.

It has also increased the danger of Communist subversion in tion by the balance of terror these same African states, in the view of most Western observers. If the French-speaking African countries follow De Gaulle's example and recognize Red China it may prove hard to resist Chinese political penetration.

The French attitude is different toward Mexico and South America. Trade considerations, as well as prestige, influence French thinking here. French industry is seeking new outlets.

Not even fresh trade agreements with Russia and the Eastern European bloc will be sufficient to take up the slack, for example, in the steel industry, which is suffering from overproduction. In the long run, France must look to the developing countries for trade.

Recent long - term French loans to Mexico, Greece and Iran provide for the purchase of French equipment and technical services, and De Gaulle is expected to offer similar government loans to the Latin-America countries on his scheduled visit in the autumn.

Such aid has its altruistic aspect, but it is intended as a direct challenge to United States interests in the Western Hemisphere.

With France taking the diplomatic and economic offensive in Asia, Africa and Latin America, it is hard to believe the picture which the Gaullists paint of her as an aggrieved nation. It is harder still to believe that her president is misunderstood by the Americans.

Policy on Civil Rights Adopted By Methodists

By PAUL ZDINAK

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Methodist Church, after spirited debate, has adopted a sweeping policy on civil rights designed to persuade Methodists to abolish racial segregation in their churches and in communities in general.

Delegates to a world -wide General Conference of the Methodist Church approved the policy by a show of hands Monday night.

The policy is embodied in a report by the Committee on Christian Social Concerns. It is now church policy but is not church law.

This means that the policy cannot be enforced by such measures as expulsion or censure.

Some of the highlights of the policy are:

—Pastors and church officials are to open their churches to persons of all races.

—Methodist bodies, organizations and individual Methodists are to use their influence to secure fair employment practices and non-segregated services in the corporations in which they hold investments.

—Equal rights should be provided for voting, law enforcement, education, employment, housing, and public accommodations.

—Elimination of racial segregation, including de facto segregation, in all public and Methodist schools.

The term "civil disobedience" was omitted from a substitute paragraph before the report came to a vote before about 900 delegates.

The original version would have condoned civil disobedience in "rare instances where legal recourse is unavailable."

The substitute paragraph read in part:

"In some instances, where legal recourse is unavailable or inadequate for redress of grievances from laws or their application that, on their face, are unjust or immoral, the Christian conscience will obey God rather than man."

The chairman of the commission which drafted the report, Harold A. Bosley of New York City, told the conference that the substitute portion was not a weaker version.

"We do not intend to give a single inch in endorsing the principle of civil disobedience."

The hour-long debate centered on the issue of civil disobedience. Several Southern delegates voiced opposition to inclusion of the phrase in the report.

"I speak in favor of the substitute statement," Robert E. Cushman, dean of the Duke Divinity School said. He added that the substitute paragraph "is simply a clarifying of Christian ethical basis."

John B. Nichols of Andalusia, Ala., cautioned the delegates to keep in mind the effects of the changes.

"You can't expect 100 per cent readjustment in a very short time," he said.

The adoption of the policy came as the conference entered its second week in Pittsburgh. The conference, which meets every four years, is the supreme policy-making body in the church.

Amendment for Civil Rights Being Promoted

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Senate leaders of both parties arranged to confer with Justice Department officials today in an effort to agree on amendments to the House-passed civil rights bill.

"We are going to take a look at the whole package of amendments and see where we can strike an area of agreement," Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said.

With the Senate starting the 48th day of its civil rights debate, Dirksen said the time had come to find out "where we stand."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader and floor manager of the bill, said he was looking for an agreement that would make it possible to get the two-thirds majority necessary to choke off a filibuster by Southern opponents of the bill.

As of now proponents of the bill concede they are short of the required votes—67 if all 100 senators vote.

Humphrey spoke of trying to impose cloture, under which each senator would be limited to one hour's speaking time on the bill and all amendments, by the third week in May.

Dirksen said he was not now thinking in terms of cloture, although he added it may be necessary in the end to pass the bill.

Without Dirksen's support, it is doubtful if any cloture move could succeed. He has made plain he is not for shutting off debate on the bill in its present form.

MEAT SABOTAGES MEET

TORQUAY, England (AP) — The meet of the South Devon Hunt was thrown into chaos recently when the hounds kept picking up the scent of fresh meat strategically planted by members of the Hunt Saboteurs, an anti-blood sport action group.

The Saboteurs also blocked lanes with cars and one enterprising member led the hounds up a blind alley to a tree where he hid after dragging a silk stock - impregnated with the scent of a vixen fox. Others bewildered the pack with false calls on hunting horns.

Fisticuffs resulted in police action and at least two of the Saboteurs were arrested and charged with "depositing litter."

Komodo dragons, largest of all living lizards, are found only on the steep-sloped island of Komodo in the Lesser Sunda chain of Indonesia and nearby Rintja, Padar and Flores.

Harry Truman's reported [illegible] De Gaulle's [illegible] the past two years [illegible] in Latin America in particular [illegible] go over well here.

Among other things, De Gaulle in the past two years has:

Torpedoed British entry into the European Common Market, thereby, in the U.S. view, weakening the Atlantic Alliance.

Refused to sign the Moscow nuclear test ban treaty.

Withdrawn French naval forces from NATO and reduced France's NATO contribution to the [illegible] force.

These policies add up in many U.S. eyes to anti-Americanism. But when one mentions this, the general's followers [illegible]

By recognizing Peking, De Gaulle has made it easier for the Chinese and Americans to contemplate Vietnamese neutrality without loss of face, Gaullists claim.

De Gaulle's global philosophy was explained to me thus by a highly placed spokesman:

"Britain cannot play an independent role because it is too closely tied to the United States and too preoccupied with Commonwealth affairs. Therefore, only France is free to pursue an independent global policy.

"What the general has done [illegible] the free world. De Gaulle is hoping to restore stability. This is the real significance of his recent moves in China and in Latin America."

[illegible] De Gaulle [illegible] Peking [illegible] He quoted De Gaulle's words: "In Asia there can be no peace nor any war imaginable without China being involved."

What has France to gain from the recognition of Red China? From a trade standpoint, almost nothing. China lacks the hard currency to buy French products, and France has little need for hog bristles and soy beans which China might export.

The French attitude is different toward Mexico and South America. Trade considerations, as well as prestige, influence French thinking here. French industry is seeking new outlets.

With France taking the diplomatic and economic offensive in Asia, Africa and Latin America, it is hard to believe the picture which the Gaullists paint of her as an aggrieved nation. It is harder still to believe that her president is misunderstood by the Americans.

Policy on Civil Rights Adopted By Methodists

By PAUL ZDINAK

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Methodist Church, after spirited debate, has adopted a sweeping policy on civil rights designed to persuade Methodists to abolish racial segregation in their churches and in communities in general.

Delegates to a world-wide General Conference of the Methodist Church approved the policy by a show of hands Monday night.

The policy is embodied in a report by the Committee on Christian Social Concerns. It is now church policy but is not church law.

This means that the policy cannot be enforced by such measures as expulsion or censure.

Some of the highlights of the policy are:

—Pastors and church officials are to open their churches to persons of all races.

—Methodist bodies, organizations and individual Methodists are to use their influence to secure fair employment practices and non-segregated services in the corporations in which they hold investments.

—Equal rights should be provided for voting, law enforcement, education, employment, housing and public accommodations.

—Elimination of racial segregation, including de facto segregation, in all public and Methodist schools.

The term "civil disobedience" was omitted from a substitute paragraph before the report came to a vote before about 900 delegates.

The original version would have condoned civil disobedience in "rare instances where legal recourse is unavailable."

The substitute paragraph read in part:

"In some instances where legal recourse is unavailable or inadequate for redress of grievances from laws or their application that on their face are unjust or immoral, the Christian conscience will obey God rather than man."

The chairman of the commission which drafted the report, Harold A. Bosley of New York City, told the conference that the substitute portion was not a weaker version.

"We do not intend to give a single inch in endorsing the principle of civil disobedience."

The hour-long debate centered on the issue of civil disobedience. Several Southern delegates voiced opposition to inclusion of the phrase in the report.

"I speak in favor of the substitute statement," Robert E. Cushman, dean of the Duke Divinity School, said. He added that the substitute paragraph "is simply a clarifying of Christian ethical basis."

John B. Nichols of Andalusia, Ala., cautioned the delegates to keep in mind the effects of the change.

"You can't expect 100 per cent readjustment in a very short time," he said.

The adoption of the policy came as the conference entered its second week in Pittsburgh. The conference, which meets every four years, is the supreme policy-making body in the church.

Amendment for Civil Rights Being Promoted

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Senate leaders of both parties arranged to confer with Justice Department officials today in an effort to agree on amendments to the House-passed civil rights bill.

"We are going to take a look at the whole package of amendments and see where we can strike an area of agreement," Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said.

With the Senate starting the 48th day of its civil rights debate, Dirksen said the time had come "to find out where we stand."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader and floor manager of the bill, said he was looking for an agreement that would make it possible to get the two-thirds majority necessary to [illegible] a filibuster by Southern [illegible]

As of now, proponents [illegible] concede they are short of the required votes (67 if all 100 senators vote).

Humphrey spoke of trying to [illegible] senators [illegible] the third week of May.

Dirksen said he was not now thinking in terms of cloture [illegible] in the end to pass the bill.

Without Dirksen's support [illegible] any cloture move could succeed. He has made [illegible] debate on the bill in its present form.

Oswald Couldn't Have Had Fair Trial

BOSTON (AP)—Dean Erwin H Griswold of the Harvard Law School says television coverage of the aftermath of President John F. Kennedy's assassination would have made it impossible for Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin, to get a fair trial in the United States.

"The district attorney in Dallas came on TV and outlined all his evidence," Griswold said Tuesday, "and how in the world could anyone expect a fair trial after that."

Griswold spoke at a joint bar-press symposium on the right of people to know and the right of an accused to a fair trial.

Oswald was shot to death by a Dallas night club owner, Jack Ruby, in view of a nationwide television audience.

Griswold said the standards and outlook of "the electronic media get lower and lower."

W. Theodore Pierson of Washington, D.C., attorney for broadcasting media, issued a statement defying Griswold "to prove the standards of TV people are getting lower and lower."

METER MAYHEM

BOSTON (UPI) — During the first 11 weeks of 1964, no fewer than 3,469 parking meters were smashed by thieves and vandals in Boston.

COLLECTION SAFE

BUFFALO, Wyo. (AP)—Marvin Jones co-owner of a Buffalo bar, has a valuable collection of silver dollars—a complete set of every cartwheel minted, except for an 1895 dollar.

He values it at more than $5,000.

Jones kept the collection in the safe at his bar, but the recent publicity over the silver dollar shortage prompted him to take his collection home for examination one weekend.

A couple of nights later, burglars broke into the tavern, wheeled away the safe and fled with $400 in cash and $400 to $500 in checks. Jones' silver dollar collection was safe at home.

Argentina May Expel Offending U.S. Ambassador

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A resolution is before the Argentine Senate requesting the government to expel U.S. Ambassador Robert McClintock because of a comment he made about the cancellation of Argentine contracts with U.S. oil companies.

The resolution, submitted Tuesday night by five leading senators from President Arturo Illia's Peoples Radical Civic Union, accused the ambassador of interfering in Argentina's internal affairs.

McClintock had planned to leave Argentina Sunday. He is being replaced by Edwin Martin, former U.S. assistant secretary of state for Latin-American affairs.

The senators were irate over an article Saturday in the newspaper El Territorio of Posadas, which quoted McClintock as saying U.S. investments in Argentina would end because of the oil contract cancellations.

The U.S. Embassy on Monday corrected the statement to read that "the climate for North American investments in Argentina has been adversely affected by the annulment of the oil contracts."

Another embassy statement Tuesday night said McClintock, during conversations in Posadas with the governor of Misiones Province, "stressed his hopes that there would be increased American investments in Argentina."

Illia's government last November voided contracts with 13 oil companies, nine of them American. The companies have gone to court with claims totaling $250 million to $300 million.

McClintock is a 54-year-old career diplomat with 32 years service in the State Department.

Oswald Couldn't Have Had Fair Trial

BOSTON (AP) — Dean Erwin H Griswold of the Harvard Law School says television coverage of the aftermath of President John F Kennedy's assassination would have made it impossible for Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin, to get a fair trial in the United States.

"The district attorney in Dallas came on TV and outlined all his evidence," Griswold said Tuesday, "and how in the world could anyone expect a fair trial after that?"

Griswold spoke at a [illegible] bar press symposium on the right of people to know and the right of an accused to a fair trial.

Oswald was shot to death by a Dallas night club owner, Jack Ruby, in view of a nationwide television audience.

Griswold said the standards and outlook of "the electronic media get lower and lower."

W Theodore Pierson of Washington, D.C., attorney for broadcasting media, issued a statement defying Griswold "to prove the standards of TV people are getting lower and lower."

BUFFALO, Wyo. (AP) — Marvin Jones, co-owner of a Buffalo bar, has a valuable collection of silver dollars, a complete set of every cartwheel minted, except for an 1895 dollar.

Argentina May Expel Offending U.S. Ambassador

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — A resolution is before the Argentine Senate requesting the government to expel U.S. Ambassador Robert McClintock because of a comment he made about the cancellation of Argentine contracts with U.S. oil companies.

The resolution, submitted Tuesday night by five leading senators from President Arturo Illia's People's Radical Civic Union, accused the ambassador of interfering in Argentina's internal affairs.

McClintock had planned to leave Argentina Sunday. He is being replaced by Edwin Martin, former U.S. assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs.

The senators were irate over an article Saturday in the newspaper El Territorio of Posadas which quoted McClintock as saying U.S. investments in Argentina would end because of the oil contract cancellations.

The U.S. Embassy on Monday corrected the statement to read that [illegible] North American investments in Argentina has been adversely affected by the annulment of the oil contracts.

Another embassy statement Tuesday night said McClintock, during conversations in Posadas with the governor of Misiones Province, "stressed his hopes that there would be increased American investments in Argentina."

Illia's government last November voided contracts with 13 oil companies, nine of them American. The companies have gone to court with claims totaling $250 million to $300 million.

McClintock is a 54-year-old career diplomat with 32 years service in the State Department.

Bloodless Coups Against Reds Suggests Trend

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Analyst

NEW YORK (NEA) — The dramatic pro-United States turn in Latin America is the first direct result of the growing conflict between Russia and Red China.

Indeed, the inevitable split in the Communist camp is the present reality in international affairs—not Sen. J. William Fulbright's myth that Castro's dictatorship is "here to stay."

The bloodless coups against Goulart's pro - Communist regime in Brazil, Latin America's pivotal nation, is a case in point. It could not have happened without a civil war if Brazil's Reds had not been divided by the bitter feud between Nikita Khrushchev and Red China's Mao Tse-tung.

This is not to underestimate the role played in the revolt by courageous men like Carlos Lacerda, the pro-American governor of the State of Guanabara. But as Lacerda recently told this writer in Rio de Janeiro, the global Red rift has shifted the diplomatic initiative to the Free World. This, he said, "is a golden opportunity that the West must not miss."

A recent survey by specialists on communism gives some indication how badly the Reds are split. It also explains the urgency behind Moscow's renewed verbal offensive against Peking which is likely to lead to an open break between the two Red giants.

Not only in Latin America but in Asia and Europe the Communists are now engaged in a civil war among themselves. China is gaining ground within the important Red parties of India, Ceylon, Japan, Burma, North Viet Nam and North Korea.

Indonesia, whose Communist party of 2,500,000 is one of the strongest in Asia, has recently shifted from the position of mediator between Moscow and Peking to that of outspoken supporter of China's anti-Russian policy.

The Chinese have also mounted large-scale propaganda offensives to win over Russia's satellites in East Europe and Red parties in the West to their side in the doctrinal quarrel with Moscow.

In Italy, Red Chinese agents Rome, Milan and Padua. L'Unita, official mouthpiece of Italy's pro - Russian Red, recently complained that "Peking is supporting factional groups all over the world, including Belgium, France, Brazil, Greece, Switzerland and the United States."

The most active pro-Chinese agent in France is Jacques Verges, publishers of the magazine Revolution. He is also reported to be the liaison with pro-Chinese groups in Algeria, Cuba and Venezuela.

Peking has also succeeded in creating strong anti - Russian groups inside the Communist parties of Britain, New Zealand, Australia and in the Scandinavian countries.

No wonder Premier Khrushchev is worried to death. No wonder the Russians are urging a speedy showdown with Mao Tse-tung despite strong opposition among their own satellites who fear an open break in the Red camp.

Will the NATO alliance, then, seize the "golden opportunity" and take advantage of the disarray in the Red world as Gov. Lacerda suggested? Or will a vacillating policy by the West, which sees Russia as the lesser evil, give the Reds enough time to regroup their ranks and strengthen their positions?

When the enemy is under pressure, Bismarck once said, any kind of policy is better than a vacillating policy.

NEW CANCER CLINIC

NEW YORK (AP) — A cancer clinic, where each case will be diagnosed and treated by a team of specialists, will be opened this year in Athens, Greece, by Columbia University.

First such facility to be established by an American university in a foreign country, it will be operated by doctors who are natives of Greece but who were trained at the Francis Delafield Hospital, of the Columbia - Presbyterian Medical Center here. The clinic will be guided by a joint administrative committee from Columbia University and the Univeristy of Athens.

Wasn't Cricket The Way Wild Bill Was Shot

By ROBERT MUSEL

LONDON (UPI) — The great gunman was going blind but the assassin didn't know that, so he took no chances and shot Wild Bill Hickok through the back of the head.

The day was Aug. 2, 1876, and every time Joseph G. Rosa thinks about it, in his house in the London suburb of Ruislip, several thousand miles from Deadwood, South Dakota, he fumes at the infamy of it all.

"Never gave him a chance," Rosa said. "Crept up behind him and blew his brains out. And to think," he said, scornfully, "John McCall dared to call himself a gunfighter."

Rosa is a British teletype operator and a member of the English Western Society, a group of ingenious students of the American West who, despite the distance, have managed by mail and telephone to unearth many new facts about the era.

Without leaving his native shore Rosa has managed to write a book about his special interest, Wild Bill Hickok, which is being published by the University of Oklahoma Press. It is titled: "They Called Him Wild Bill."

This is no mean feat of research but Rosa says people were very kind and let him have copies of court documents and other material about the Western plainsman, sheriff and gunslinger never before published.

Hickok was a scout, detective and spy behind the Confederate lines during the Civil War and by 1871 was marshal of the chief cowtown of Kansas, Abilene. He was a striking figure of a man, as admired by the ladies as he was feared by cattle rustlers and varmints.

He was 6 feet 2, broad-shouldered, slim-hipped, with auburn hair down to his shoulders and a straw-colored mustache. He packed two colt pistols (the 1851 type) on his gun belt and had two small .41 calibre Derringers hidden in pockets in his waistcoat.

Thus armed he killed at least seven men — always, Rosa swears, in fair fights. On one occasion he killed a man and wounded two others although the legends of that encounter claim he slew 10 men, using all four guns.

"He was a lawman when he killed those seven," Rosa said. "So he had a right to do it, in a way."

As a Western celebrity Hickok joined the Buffalo Bill Cody show in 1873 and toured all the way to New York. He realized by then that the day of the plainsman was over — doomed by the advancing railroads — and he left his newlywed wife in Cincinnati and went out West to try to get enough gold to retire on.

The West was full of toughs like McCall but they usually left the Hickoks alone.

"One thing I've learned is that great Western fighters weren't quick on the draw like television heroes," Rosa said. "They generally had their guns out when they came shooting. But I'd stack Hickok up against any of the present - day fast draw experts. He'd have the psychological edge, because if he went for his gun they'd know he intended to kill or maim them."

Rosa says "political interests" in Deadwood hired McCall to kill Hickok because they feared him. But what no one knew was that, at 38, the great Westerner's eyes were fading.

EPILEPTIC EQUIVALENTS

A teen-age girl was referred to the Mayo clinic because of an odd condition. Frequently, as she opened the front door of her home to go to school, she dropped her books. The relationship between bright lights and the response of her arms made the physicians think of a peculiar form of epilepsy. They wanted an electroencephalogram to see what the brain waves had to offer.

The EEG recording showed the girl to be highly sensitive to light. When illumination was flashed into her eyes during the test, the brain waves were most active from the areas where arm movements initiated. Light brought on an epileptic seizure characterized by sudden relaxation of the arms. The condition was controled by wearing dark glasses.

The majority of epileptics have convulsions (grand mal) or blackouts (petit mal). Others develop what are known as epileptic equivalents. These manifestations vary. Migraine headaches may occur instead of convulsions, whereas others go thru episodes of overactivity or uncooperativeness.

Some epileptics have seizures only at night and the equivalent in a child might be occasional bedwetting; months or years later, actual convulsions may occur. Mental dullness may be an epileptic equivalent and treatment for epilepsy may be followed by improvement in learning ability.

An electroencephalographic recording is suggested for all children who exhibit bizarre disturbances in behavior that cannot be explained by illness or emotional upsets. In addition to those mentioned, the list includes severe temper tantrums, dreamlike states, and poor school adjustment. Fainting, crying, and shaking spells may be on this basis and the same can be said of the habit of running away from home.

Electroencephalography is a simple and painless procedure. Small metal disks are attached to the scalp. The electric activity of various areas of the scalp is recorded for a period of half an hour to an hour. The patient is asked to be calm and cooperative while he does simple calculations. The reactions to a flashing light are determined, to complete the test.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamepd, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Skittish Heart

Reply

No, and this is done by the normal heart several times a day and more frequently after smoking or drinking tea or coffee. The old pump never skips out of place, so there is no need for concern.

The answer depends upon the exact location of the pocket, but the majority can be removed via surgery.

Small Business Decline

There is a matter which should be getting a great deal more attention than it is. This is the decline in the number of small businesses in this nation.

In 1948 there were nearly 70 independent businessmen for every 1,000 of population. In 1963 there are only 50.

The steepness of this decline is caused by the inclusion in these figures of farm proprietors. Independent small farms are being reduced in numbers. Nor is this reduction necessarily a bad thing. Many small farms simply cannot afford to purchase the modern tools that can be and should be used if efficient food production is to occur. Thus, the tendency has been in two directions: a growth of large farms into even larger units; a reduction in the number of small farms.

Curiously, in the midst of this shift, farmers, large and small, have not obtained much in the way of an improved position. While food costs have continued to climb, most of the increase paid by housewives has gone into the hands of food processers, wholesalers, jobbers and retailers. Thus, the small farmer has been placed in the position of standing astride a growing gap between production costs and the portion of the retail dollar that filters down to him. The result is seen in the reduction in the number of small farm proprietors.

In not quite such startling percentages, the decline in small non-farm businesses has been occurring in this same period. Business and professional proprietors (small businessmen, doctors, dentists, lawyers) have experienced a reduction in numbers per thousand from about 39.5 in 1948 to 36.4 in 1962. This is an approximate drop of 9 per cent.

In the past, non-farm independent operators have seemed to follow cyclical patterns. In recessions, the total number shrank. But with expansion, new men started their independent operations and increased the total.

Since the beginning of the early 1961 recovery, however, the drop has continued, in spite of what appears to be a generally favorable climate.

In discussing this point it is important that we not condemn large business for what is happening to small business. We should keep in mind that today's large firm is yesterday's small operation grown as a result of skills, customer demand and other factors. And we should also keep in mind that granted a free market, there are advantages accruing to small businesses just as other advantages occur to large firms.

What is at the bottom of the shrinkage in the total percentage figures of small and independent operators is the tax climate in the country. Large firms can weather the governmentally induced financial storms far more readily than a small firm. In fact, although government professes to be the friend of small business, it is the small businessman who is most injured by many of the devices government has invoked to help him.

It has become nearly a truism that government intrusion in the market place, even when it has socialist overtones, as at present, always tends to encourage the large firm and to reduce the numbers of small firms. Only the large and most efficient operations can survive. The smaller and less efficient are quickly driven to the wall.

This process is not wrong in itself, provided a free market is insured. But when the free market has been distorted by government intervention, the area of free entry into competition for persons of limited means is curtailed.

If this trend continues overlong, there will be fewer entrepreneurs and the most optimistic future that can be suggested would be for the young man or woman to make a permanent connection with a large firm and never consider the possibility of making his own way as his own boss.

Such an eventuality will be harmful. For many of the real break-throughs we have and must continue to have, are inspired by bold independents who are free to experiment on small capital without government restraint.

Idols

Images are idols, and people worship them.

News From Down Under

Down under, in New Zealand, the government has come up with a scheme that is a trifle bizarre, to say the least. We'd have said nothing about it, hoping that other bureaucrats would write it off as a kind of madness that might infect people living in the Australian archipelago, save that Great Britain has now decided that it may want to copy the idea. And if Britain does it, and it is socialistic, we can almost predict that before long, good old Uncle Sam will be getting into the act.

The welfare state of New Zealand, casting about for more things to do to make life more pleasant for everyone, has discovered a hitherto neglected field. So it began an experimental program wherein the victims of violent crimes are to be compensated by the government. This doesn't include property damage or loss. But if you are set upon and injured bodily (nothing is said, as yet, about mental injury), the government will write you out a check.

If, later on, the matter gets into court and the victim is compensated, he has to return whatever money the state advanced him. Otherwise, he gets to keep it.

Now, of course, if the government were to attempt to reimburse the victim of robbery, it would, by a proper definition, have to begin writing out checks to each taxpayer in the amount taken by the government. And this, of course, would be self-defeating. So this is by-passed.

But, the way the government continues to spend our money is a caution.

To be sure, we are always sorry for the victim of any harmful or criminal act. The New Zealand government apparently feels that if it can spread the harm around and rob everyone, it will make the victim feel a lot better.

Of course this won't diminish crime. It will make the victim more comfortable and it will increase the incidence of looting generally.

We don't have to copy the New Zealand or the British experiment, however. Senate Majority Leader Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota has come up with something that would be funny if he weren't in a position of power.

Concluding that poverty is caused by a lack of good reading material, the senator is now proposing that the American people be looted generally to provide books for "needy" children. This is his contribution to the war on poverty.

Reduced to fundamental terms, the senator wants to spread poverty around by taxing us all to provide books for a particular group of youngsters. The theory seems to be that if you spread looting around far enough, poverty will finally go away.

Says Mr. Humphrey: "In planning any attack on poverty, we always find the basic problem is education. And in this connection, we generally find that the most common term educators use for children of the poor is 'culturally deprived.'"

But there must be something wrong here. We adopted a program a long time ago that has taken billions of dollars and has definitely taught everyone to read and write and be culturally acceptable. Or hasn't it? If our vaunted governmental school system has failed to reach the masses in "need" of culture, what has it been doing?

The big argument always summoned in support of the government school system is that by using it, EVERYONE learns to read and write. Well, we've had the government school system for one whale of a long time . . . and still the young people are "culturally deprived."

Now, we all know that private and independent schools can and do provide schooling for persons paying their own way. For decades, the government schools have been providing books and hot lunches and schooling for everyone else. Of course, they include those who could pay their way readily, too.

We're not far behind the boys down under when it comes to dreaming up some pretty funny schemes. And as things go, it may not be long before all of us are "down under," too. We'll be down, under a burden of debt and taxes that simply can't be managed.

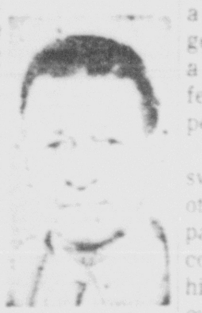
The Local Scene

Stop—Look—Listen

By RUFUS L. PORTER



In the horse and buggy days, the above warning was posted at all railroad grade crossings. But that didn't prevent people from "trying to beat the train" to the crossing. Many were killed trying it. But in those benighted days nobody thought of blaming the railroad. This is not to say that there haven't been times when the railroad was at fault. But in a great majority of accidents involving trains and cars or buses, a little precaution on the part of the car or bus driver could have been the safety factor that saved lives and destruction of property.

We have become so used to handling automobiles that it has become second nature to us. We drive as we breathe — unthinkingly, automatically, by instinct. We know better, but we all have a tendency to relax when we settle back behind the wheel. Perhaps they make cars too comfortable. Remember how on edge you were when you first soloed in a car? You were supremely conscious that you were handling a lethal weapon, and you drove with extreme caution.

I don't believe we all should continue to drive as though we were just starting out. But it would be a good thing if some of the consciousness of the power we control and some of the caution stayed with us as we became more proficient at driving. Of course, where the crossings are accomplished by underpasses or overpasses, both the locomotive engineers and the car drivers are relieved of the necessity for thinking. These are called "fool - proof" crossings. But they are not quite fool proof, for some accidents occur by people driving into the steel or concrete abutments.

A tragic crossing accident is a most deplorable occurrence, and the railroad deplores it along with the rest of us. In many cases where the accident was clearly the fault of the car driver, the railroad company has been very generous to the survivors or to the deceased's relatives or dependents.

The railroad is a big, "rich" corporation and we all have a tendency to blame it whenever an accident occurs. And the railroad has been stuck many times in lawsuits when it should not have been. Just because of its bigness and "richness," the jury felt sorry for the "little guys." Lots of us enjoy soaking the rich, that's one reason our car insurance rates keep rising -- adverse decisions in the courts.

Sometimes the driver of the car was so flagrantly in the wrong that the railroad wins in a court case. But, even so, it generally "does something" for a bereaved family. I know of a few cases where this has happened.

I don't claim to know the answer to the crossing problem, other than underpasses or overpasses. But in some places the cost of such crossings are prohibitive, or at least mountainous. To sock the taxpayers for such things is certainly unfair; many of them would never see what they paid for. And to soak the railroads for such heavy expenses on their own right-of-ways, where we are trespassing, would soon put them out of business. I used quotation marks when writing of the "rich" railroads because they are no longer rich. The government and the unions have about got them bankrupt.

After the government nationalizes the railroads, which is coming soon, there will be no question as to who is to blame for crossing accidents — the government can do no wrong.

As for slowing the trains to five miles per hour on their 10-mile journey through town, this would disrupt traffic more than anything else that could be dreamed up. Many freight trains are more than a mile long. Thus it would take them 10 minutes or more to pass a crossing. Think of the car pile-up on both sides, and the horn honking. I venture to say that some motorists would become so impatient they would attempt to drive UNDER the train.

The solution for the crossing problem is going to take time and a considerable amount of thinking, not by you and me, or the man in the street, but by engineers.

Delusion

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, PhD

Citizens of the State of Arizona imagine they are protected by the Arizona constitution. It appears to me as if they suffer from delusions which ignore the facts. For instance:

Article I, Sec. 8: No person shall be disturbed in his private affairs, or his home invaded, without authority of law. The government passed a law which forces merchants, hotel and motel operators and a variety of people in other private business endeavors to labor in the service of the state as tax collectors. In addition, the administration of the sales tax laws makes it possible for the state to disturb a businessman in his private business affairs, examine his books and papers and other documents in connection with his private business. We find then that the government passed a law which negates Sec. 8 of its constitution except that the section stipulates that laws may negate the section.

Sec. 6, Article I states: Every person may speak freely, write and publish on all subjects being responsible for the abuse of that right. How may a right to speak, write and publish freely be abused? Well, you know how it is, government decides whether the right to do things freely has been abused.

Article XX, First: Perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured to every inhabitant of this state and no inhabitant of this state shall ever be molested in person or property on account of his or her mode of religious worship or lack of same.

Then comes the Second: Polygamous or plural marriages or polygamous co-habitation, are forever prohibited within this state. And if you happen to belong to a religious sect which believes in polygamy, you can see what happens to the perfect toleration, and FOREVER, at that.

Article I, Sec. 34: The State of Arizona and each municipal corporation within the State of Arizona shall have the right to engage in industrial pursuits. This provides constitutional support to socialism and other forms of governmental competition with private enterprise. One well known example of socialism is Arizona Highways Magazine — owned, operated and controlled by a state agency.

In the matter of applications for license to sell alcoholic beverages, the state asks questions which definitely disturb applicants in their private affairs, even to asking for information about other business enterprises and the number of hours devoted to each. Of course, the state also tells the seller of alcoholic beverages when he may open and close his private business, and exerts other controls over the private affairs of the businessman.

Sure, the state has the authority of the laws it passed and there's nothing you can do about it but stay out of the liquor business.

For some reason, I never did get around to reading the constitution of California during the 40 years we lived there but the board of equalization and its operation is enough to make any thinking person who isn't a politician a little sick. It places controls of one kind or another on almost every type of private business, in the typical fashion of fascism.

Every person who goes into business in California is forced into a position which requires cooperation with the state, if not a city and county as well. In other words, when a man invests his money and time and creative energy, he is compelled to cooperate with the evil which will eventually devour him. Sure, he can avoid patronizing the other aspects of fascism and socialism but he provides some aid and comfort to the enemies of business just as soon as he opens the doors of his business, and before. Obviously, the situation is the same in most other states and this is a problem which requires a lot of thought and consideration.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

These Days

Academic Chill On Creativity

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Dr. Woodrow Wilson Sayre, who comes from a distinguished family, is apparently being dropped from the faculty of Tufts University (the news is that his contract will "probably" not be renewed) because of a failure to publish scholarly works. There is no quarrel over Professor Sayre's classroom work, which the Tufts authorities say has been "effective" over a seven-year period.

The attitude of Tufts is in line with a general tendency in this country to regularize everything. The gifted amateur, the original man who lacks a Ph.D. or an M.A. degree, the fellow who came up the hard way and missed touching one or more conventional bases, is more and more excluded from our going institutions.

In Dr. Sayre's case, the man's academic sin is that he took off, two years ago, on a mountain climbing expedition in the Himalayas. He subsequently wrote a book about it, "Four Against Everest." The book, while popular, is not "scholarly." But Dr. Sayre, who teaches philosophy, says his work deals with "the nature of loneliness," which is a philosophical problem. Would it have been better if he had written a derivative work based on other writers' disquisitions on loneliness, with yards of footnotes and an impressive bibliography of the sort which, as every writer knows, can be gotten up in an hour's consultation of library catalogues? The Tufts authorities would have had to accept the latter type of book as evidence of "scholarly activity."

STANDARDS

The animus of Tufts against a philosopher who philosophises but does not publish "research," contributes to the evidence that our country is leaving its creative age behind it. Time was when a Charles Townsend Copeland, a great lover of literature who never did any so-called "scholarly" research, could teach at Harvard. "Copey" would have been unacceptable by the standards which Tufts is now applying to Dr. Woodrow Wilson Sayre. Yet "Copey," who wrote very little himself, taught a long list of important American writers the art of distilling thought and experience into disciplined literary form. Among his students were John Dos Passos, T. S. Eliot, Walter Lippman, Robert Sherwood, Brooks Atkinson, Robert Benchley, Kermit Roosevelt, and Bernard de Voto. Our guess is that these adornments to American literature would have benefited far less from Copeland's teaching if the man had been compelled to spend much of his energies on producing "scholarly" works himself.

The battle over teaching-versus-scholarship once swirled around the head of Professor Robert French at Yale. Bob French was an inspired teacher of a much beloved course called "The Age of Chaucer." He made the age live and breathe for his students. But he never published anything on his specialty himself. Yale almost got rid of him at one point in his life for failure to "publish" but so many of his former students rose up in wrath that the execution was stayed. It is safe to say that Bob French had far more influence on his students than did Professor Tucker Brooke, a man who could spot every displaced comma in a Shakespeare text but who could not convey enthusiasm or knowledge to an undergraduate class.

SO-CALLED SCHOLARSHIP

The fact is that the art of teaching and the science of scholarship are often opposed to each other. Moreover, scholarship, so-called, is often the enemy of wisdom. I would think twice about exposing a son or daughter of mine to the thought of some professors. Here we have two Harvard faculty members, Barrington Moore Jr., a lecturer on sociology, and Martin Peretz, a teaching fellow in government, saying that "antagonism to Cuba" and a concern over "safety for private capital" in Latin America constitute a "desperate holding action against history." In other words, we have academics who think it the mark of wisdom to endorse anything that "history" cares to impose.

Let the juggernaut roll over you, boys and girls, it's "historically" determined! Well, if this is the mark of current professorial philosophy, we need more amateurs who have the free will to take off for an assault on Mt. Everest.

About Mothers

By AMBROSE HILLS

When Mother's Day rolls around, there will be a burst of criticism about the way it has been "commercialized," but the criticism will, as usual, be narrow and mean and will have no effect at all. Those who can afford to do so, will, I hope, lavish expensive gifts on Mother, and those with less in the way of worldly goods will make sure she understands that the sentiment behind the gift is plentiful.

One thing missing this Mother's Day, I hope, will be the blabber about "Momism" that was so popular five or ten years ago, when everybody was busy blaming everything on an attachment to her apron string.

Perhaps all Mothers are not angels. Neither are all poor men honest, or all rich men crooked. On the average, heroes do not have feet of clay, and it is possible that some dark clouds are without a silver lining. The point remains that if special days are to be set aside to honor anyone, there is none more deserving than Mother.

Mother's Day is a good idea. Especially in our country, where we still feel that the family is the heart and core of society. For there is no doubt that the Mother is the heart of the family. No man, or not many men, could do the million and one things a Mother does and retain sanity. Imagine starting each day hearing young voices asking, "Mom . . did you iron a blouse for me? Mom, have I clean slimjims? Mom . . . ?"

So when Mother's Day rolls around, don't listen to the cynics. Go ahead and commercialize the very heck out of it! It will be the best money you ever spent!

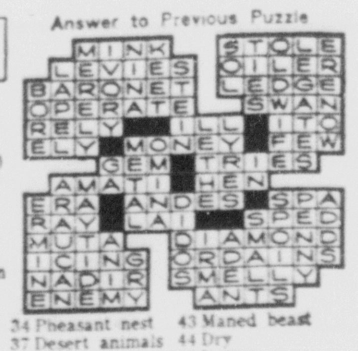
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Question Box

Question No. 493: "Has the secret ballot promoted the well-being of mankind in those nations that have adopted it?"

Answer: We do not know all the nations that have adopted the secret ballot, but to our knowledge the secret ballot was first adopted in Australia in 1856. Then it was adopted in Britain in 1872 and in the United States in 1884. France adopted it in 1914.

We have had the secret ballot in the United States about 80 years. So any man who ever voted on anything but a secret ballot in the United States, would have to be over 100 years old.

It seems that all of the nations listed above have gradually drifted more and more into state socialism and have increased the power of the government to confiscate the property of the individual. Since all our progress comes from individual production (the state produces nothing) the material well-being has been slowed down.

The material well-being is always slowed down when the individuals believe that stealing can be beneficial whether done by an individual, a dictator, or the majority.

Every one who has done any study of it knows that the United States has increased what the government takes from about 5 to 10 per cent when the secret ballot was adopted, to 33 to 35 per cent at the present time.

Undoubtedly, the purpose of the secret ballot was to keep individuals from buying or intimidating people to vote the way they wanted them to vote.

But a man who doesn't have the courage of his convictions and wants to keep his ideas secret and vote to confiscate the property of others cannot promote the well-being of mankind. He takes away the tools of the man who has initiative and ideas, who furnishes jobs and reduces prices and the cost of living.

But those people who were buying votes did it with their own money and they spent very very little compared with the billions and billions of dollars which the government is now spending in buying votes with all the people's money. This affects the improvident much more than it does the provident because the man with foresight is able to see what is happening and he is better able to protect himself. Besides this he has more to live on. Those with small incomes are hit much harder than the well-to-do. This is done by retarding the accumulation of tools which increase production. The affluent will live about as well as he ever did.

Yes, it is hard to see how the secret ballot has done anything but cause the deterioration of virtue and courage, frankness and sincerity. Frankness and sincerity are necessary for the progress of mankind.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

CIVIL RIGHTS BILL

To the Editor:

I have not seen many proposed laws in my life time, but this bill or proposed law is what I would call an imposition upon the average citizen and abusive in nature. I am opposed to everything contained in this proposed legislation for the following reasons:

The concentration of power in the federal government is increased by giving to the attorney general the power to dictate to private business, and individual investors, the manner in which they will or will not make a profit. It impinges upon the right of the individual proprietor to deny anyone (drunks, dopesters, etc.) the accommodations that he is offering to the public.

There is contained in this proposed legislation the taking away from the states the right to regulate and establish rules and laws that are not within the federal government's power to enact as is clearly stated in the Constitution.

The cost of implementing this proposed legislation is frightening when considered in the light of sound financial policy.

There is established in the proposed legislation a doubling up of a single function by the establishment of more commissions than is really required.

In my opinion, if there were less concentration of power in the federal government there would be less solution required of problems that are created by this concentration of power.

Let it be known herewith that I am not opposed to desegregation of public facilities that are subsidized by federal, state, county or municipal funds, but I am very much opposed to the infringement by the federal government upon the constitutional right of the United States of America as specifically written in the Constitution.

The reasons above are only a few of the many that can be used to demand that this proposed legislation, H. R. Bill 7152, not be passed.

RESTRICTED FREEDOM

To the Editor:

The award winning TV program, "The Defenders," this last week brought out a wonderful lesson. How much is the government going to be allowed to restrict our "freedoms" merely because we individuals continue to hide behind the statement, "But THEY won't let us!"

The plot involved freedom of travel and I feel that the speech made by the fine actor, E. G. Marshall, was stated with a lot more "personal" feeling than just a reading of lines from a book. I personally would like to see this one repeated with sufficient notice so that people that missed it would be able to see and hear a man fully discussing "freedom."

Mr. LeFevre, your editorials are without any doubt, on my part, very honest and straightforward. If you saw this portrayal, what did you feel? If you missed it, what is your feeling about the "freedoms" we no longer have? The ones that were our birthrights, now restricted; the ones that have gone "down the drain" even

News From Down Under

Down under, in New Zealand, the government has come up with a scheme that is a trifle bizarre, to say the least. We'd have said nothing about it, hoping that other bureaucrats would write it off as a kind of madness that might infect people living in the Australian archipelago, save that Great Britain has now decided that it may want to copy the idea. And if Britain does it, and it is socialistic, we can almost predict that before long, good old Uncle Sam will be getting into the act.

The welfare state of New Zealand, casting about for more things to do to make life more pleasant for everyone, has discovered a hitherto neglected field. So it began an experimental program wherein the victims of violent crimes are to be compensated by the government. This doesn't include property damage or loss. But if you are set upon and injured bodily (nothing is said, as yet, about mental injury), the government will write you out a check.

If, later on, the matter gets into court and the victim is compensated, he has to return whatever money the state advanced him. Otherwise, he gets to keep it.

Now, of course, if the government were to attempt to reimburse the victim of robbery, it would, by a proper definition, have to begin writing out checks to each taxpayer in the amount taken by the government. And this, of course, would be self-defeating. So this is by-passed.

But, the way the government continues to spend our money is a caution.

To be sure, we are always sorry for the victim of any harmful or criminal act. The New Zealand government apparently feels that if it can spread the harm around and rob everyone, it will make the victim feel a lot better.

Of course this won't diminish crime. It will make the victim more comfortable and it will increase the incidence of looting generally.

We don't have to copy the New Zealand or the British experiment, however. Senate Majority Leader Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota has come up with something that would be funny if he weren't in a position of power.

Concluding that poverty is caused by a lack of good reading material, the senator is now proposing that the American people be looted generally to provide books for "needy" children. This is his contribution to the war on poverty.

Reduced to fundamental terms, the senator wants to spread poverty around by taxing us all to provide books for a particular group of youngsters. The theory seems to be that if you spread looting around far enough, poverty will finally go away.

Says Mr. Humphrey: "In planning any attack on poverty, we always find the basic problem is education. And in this connection, we generally find that the most common term educators use for children of the poor is 'culturally deprived.'"

But there must be something wrong here. We adopted a program a long time ago that has taken billions of dollars and has definitely taught everyone to read and write and be culturally acceptable. Or hasn't it? If our vaunted governmental school system has failed to reach the masses in "need" of culture, what has it been doing?

The big argument always summoned in support of the government school system is that by using it, EVERYONE learns to read and write. Well, we've had the government school system for one whale of a long time ... and still the young people are "culturally deprived."

Now, we all know that private and independent schools can and do provide schooling for persons paying their own way. For decades, the government schools have been providing books and hot lunches and schooling for everyone else. Of course, they include those who could pay their way readily, too.

We're not far behind the boys down under when it comes to dreaming up some pretty funny schemes. And as things go, it may not be long before all of us are "down under" too. We'll be down, under a burden of debt and taxes that simply can't be managed.

We [illegible] as we breathe — unthinking[illegible] automatically [illegible] we know better [illegible] back behind the [illegible] Perhaps they make cars [illegible] Remember [illegible] you were when [illegible] in a car? You were supremely conscious that you were handling a lethal weapon and you drove with extreme caution.

I do not believe we all should continue to drive as though we were just starting out. But it would be a good thing if some of the consciousness of the power [illegible] and some of the [illegible] stayed with us as we became more proficient at driving. Of course, where the crossings are accomplished by underpasses or overpasses, both the locomotive engineers and the car drivers are relieved of the necessity for thinking. These are called "fool-proof" crossings. But they are not quite fool-proof for some accidents occur by people driving into the steel or concrete abutments.

A tragic crossing accident is a most deplorable occurrence, and the railroad deplores it along with the rest of us. In many cases where the accident was clearly the fault of the car driver, the railroad company has been very generous to the survivors or to the deceased's relatives or dependents.

The railroad is a big "rich" corporation and we all have a tendency to blame it whenever an accident occurs. And the railroad has been stuck many times in lawsuits when it should not have been. Just because of its bigness and "richness," the jury felt sorry for the "little guys." Lots of us enjoy soaking the rich, that's one reason our car insurance rates keep rising — adverse decisions in the courts.

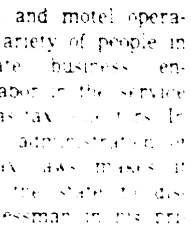
Sometimes the driver of the car was so flagrantly in the wrong that the railroad wins in a court case. But even so it generally does something for a bereaved family. I know of a few cases where this has happened.

[illegible] taxpayers for such things is certainly unfair [illegible] many of them would never see what they paid for. And [illegible] the railroads [illegible] expenses on their own rights-of-way where we are "trespassing" would soon put them out of business. I used quotation marks when writing of the "rich" railroads because they are no longer rich. The government and the unions have [illegible]

After the government nationalizes the railroads, which is coming soon, there will be no question as to who is to blame for crossing accidents. The government can do no wrong. [illegible] 10 minutes [illegible] up on both sides and [illegible] crossing [illegible] they would attempt [illegible] UNDER [illegible] engineers.

Delusion

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, PhD



[illegible] citizens of the State of Arizona imagine they are protected by the Arizona Constitution. It appears to me as if they suffer from delusions which ignore the facts. For instance:

Article I, Sec. 8: "No person shall be disturbed in his private affairs, or his home invaded without authority of law." The government passed a law which forces merchants, hotel and motel operators and a variety of people in other private business endeavors to labor in the service of the state as tax [illegible]. In addition the administration of the sales tax laws makes it possible for the state to disturb a businessman in his private business affairs, examine his books and papers and other documents in connection with his private business. We find then that the government passed a law which negates Sec. 8 of its constitution except that the section stipulates that laws may negate the section.

Sec. 6, Article I states: "Every person may speak freely, write and publish on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right." How may a right to speak, write and publish freely be abused? Well, you know how it is, government decides whether the right to do things freely has been abused.

Article XX, First: "Perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured to every inhabitant of this state and no inhabitant of this state shall ever be molested in person or property on account of his or her mode of religious worship or lack of same."

Then comes the Second: "Polygamous or plural marriages or polygamous co-habitation, are forever prohibited within this state." And if you happen to belong to a religious sect which believes in polygamy, you can see what happens to the perfect toleration, and FOREVER at that.

Article I, Sec. 34: "The State of Arizona and each municipal corporation within the State of Arizona shall have the right to engage in industrial pursuits." This provides constitutional support to socialism and other forms of governmental competition with private enterprise. One well known example of socialism is Arizona Highways Magazine — owned, operated and controlled by a state agency.

In the matter of applications for license to sell alcoholic beverages, the state asks questions which definitely disturb applicants [illegible] private enterprise [illegible] Of course, the state also tells the seller of alcoholic beverages when he may open and close his private business and exerts other controls over the private affairs of the businessman.

Since the state has the authority [illegible] laws if passed and there is nothing you can do about it but stay out of the liquor business.

For some reason I never did get around to reading the constitution of California during the 40 years we lived there but the board of equalization and its operation is enough to make any thinking person [illegible] It [illegible] of one kind or another in almost every type of private business in the typical fashion of fascism.

Every person who goes into business in California is forced into a position which requires cooperation with the state, if not a city and county as well. In other words, when a man invests his money and time and creative energy, he is compelled to cooperate with the evil which will eventually devour him. Sure he can avoid patronizing the other aspects of fascism and socialism but he provides some aid and comfort to the enemies of business just as soon as he opens the doors of his business, and before. Obviously, the situation is the same in most other states and this is a problem which requires a lot of thought and consideration.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

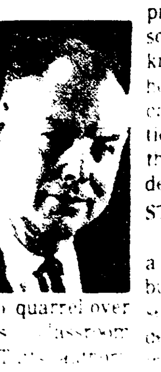
Academic Chill On Creativity

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN



Dr. Woodrow Wilson Sayre, who comes from a distinguished family, is apparently being dropped from the faculty of Tufts University. [illegible] news [illegible] that his contract will [illegible] be renewed because of a failure to publish "scholarly" works. There is no quarrel over Professor Sayre's classroom work, which the Tufts authorities say has been effective over a seven-year period.

The attitude of Tufts is in line with a general tendency in this country to regularize everything. The gifted amateur, the original man who lacks a Ph.D. or an M.A. degree, the fellow who came up the hard way and missed touching one or more conventional bases, is more and more excluded from our [illegible] institutions.

In Dr. Sayre's case, the man's academic sin is that he took off two years ago on a mountain climbing expedition in the Himalayas. He subsequently wrote a book about it, "Four Against Everest." The book, while popular [illegible] scholarly. But [illegible] if he had written a derivative work based on other writers' disquisitions on loneliness, with yards of footnotes and an impressive bibliography of the sort which, as every writer knows, can be gotten up in an hour's consultation of library catalogues, the Tufts authorities would have had to accept the latter type of book as evidence of "scholarly activity."

STANDARDS

The animus of Tufts against a philosopher who philosophises but does not publish "research" contributes to the evidence that our country is leaving its creative age behind. Time was when a Charles Townsend Copeland, a great lover of literature who never did any so-called "scholarly" research, could teach at Harvard. "Copey" would have been unacceptable by the standards which Tufts is now applying to Dr. Woodrow Wilson Sayre. Yet "Copey," who wrote very little himself, taught a long list of important American writers the art of distilling thought and experience into disciplined literary form. Among his students were John Dos Passos, T. S. Eliot, Walter Lippman, Robert Sherwood, Brooks Atkinson, Robert Benchley, Kermit Roosevelt and Bernard de Voto. Our [illegible]

The battle over teaching-versus-scholarship once swirled around the head of Professor Robert French at Yale. Ben French was an inspired teacher [illegible] celebrated course called "The Age of Chaucer." He made the age live and breathe for his students. But he never published anything on his specialty himself. Yale almost got rid of him at one point in his life for failure to "publish," but so many of his former students rose up in wrath that the execution was stayed. It is safe to say that Ben French had [illegible] than did Professor Tucker Brooke, a man who could spot every displaced comma in a Shakespeare text but who could not convey enthusiasm or knowledge to an undergraduate class.

SO-CALLED SCHOLARSHIP

The fact is that the art of teaching and the science of scholarship are often opposed to each other. Moreover, scholarship so-called is often the enemy of wisdom. I would think twice about exposing a son or daughter of mine to the thought of some professors. Here we have two Harvard faculty members, Barrington Moore Jr., a lecturer on sociology, and Martin Peretz, a teaching fellow in government, saying that "antagonism to Cuba and a concern [illegible] for private capital in Latin America constitute a 'desperate holding action against history.'" In other words, we have academics who think it the mark of wisdom to endorse anything that "history" cares to impose.

Let the juggernaut roll over you, boys and girls, it's "historically" determined! Well, if this is the mark of current professorial philosophy, we need more amateurs who have the free will to take off for an assault on Mt. Everest.

About Mothers

By AMBROSE HILLS

When Mother's Day rolls around there will be a burst of [illegible] about the way it has been "commercialized" but the [illegible] will as usual be narrow and mean and will have no effect at all. Those who can afford to do so will, I hope, [illegible] gifts on Mothers and those with less in the way of [illegible]

One thing missing this Mother's Day, I hope, will be the blabber about "Momism" that was so popular five or ten years ago when everybody was busy blaming everything on an attachment to her apron string.

Perhaps all Mothers are not angels. Neither are all poor men honest or all rich men crooked. On the average heroes do not have feet of clay and it is possible that some dark clouds are without a silver lining. The point remains that if special days are to be set aside to honor anyone, there is none more deserving than Mother.

Mother's Day is a good idea. Especially in our country where we still feel that the family is the heart and core of society. For there is no doubt that the Mother is the heart of the family. No man, or not many men could do the million and one things a Mother does and retain sanity. Imagine starting each day hearing young voices asking, "Mom, did you iron a blouse for me? Mom, have I clean slimjims? Mom ..."

So when Mother's Day rolls around, don't listen to the cynics. Go ahead and commercialize the very heck out of it. It will be the best money you ever spent.

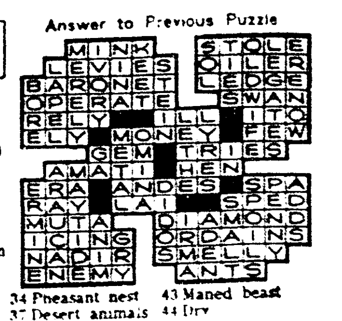
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Question Box

Question No. 493: "Has the secret ballot promoted the well-being of mankind in those nations that have adopted it?"

Answer: We do not know all the nations that have adopted the secret ballot but to our knowledge the secret ballot was first adopted in Australia in 1856. Then it was adopted in Britain in 1872 and in the United States in 1884. France adopted it in 1914.

We have had the secret ballot in the United States about 80 years. So any man who ever voted on anything but a secret ballot in the United States would have to be over 100 years old.

It seems that all of the nations listed above have gradually drifted more and more into state socialism and have increased the power of the government to confiscate the property of the individual. Since all our progress comes from individual production, the state produces nothing, the material well-being has been slowed down.

The material well-being is always slowed down when the individuals believe that stealing can be beneficial whether done by an individual, a dictator or the majority.

Every one who has done any study of it knows that the United States has increased what the government takes from about 5 to 10 per cent when the secret ballot was adopted, to 33 to 35 per cent at the present time.

Undoubtedly, the purpose of the secret ballot was to keep individuals from buying or intimidating people to vote the way they wanted them to vote.

But a man who doesn't have the courage of his convictions and wants to keep his choice secret [illegible] the [illegible] cannot promote the well-being of mankind. He takes away the tools of the man who has initiative and ideas, who furnishes jobs and reduces prices and the cost of living.

But those people who were buying votes did it with their own money and they spent very very little compared with the billions and billions of dollars which the government is now spending in buying votes with all the people's money. This affects the improvident much more than it does the provident because the man with foresight is able to see what is happening and he is better able to protect himself. [illegible] small [illegible] harder than the [illegible] This is done by retarding the accumulation of tools which increase production. The affluent will live about as well as he ever did.

Yes, it is hard to see how the secret ballot has done anything but cause the deterioration of virtue and courage, frankness and sincerity. Frankness and sincerity are necessary for the progress of mankind.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

CIVIL RIGHTS BILL

To the Editor:

I have not seen many proposed laws in my life time, but this bill or proposed law is what I would call an imposition upon the average citizen and abusive in nature. I am opposed to everything contained in this proposed legislation for the following reasons:

The concentration of power in the federal government is increased by giving to the attorney general the power to dictate to private business, and individual investors, the manner in which they will or will not make a profit. It impinges upon the right of the individual proprietor to deny anyone, drunks, dopesters, etc., the accommodations that he is offering to the public.

There is contained in this proposed legislation the taking away from the states the right to regulate and establish rules and laws that are not within the federal government's power to enact as is clearly stated in the Constitution.

The cost of implementing this proposed legislation is frightening when considered in the light of sound financial policy.

There is established in the proposed legislation a doubling up of a single function by the establishment of more commissions than is really required.

In my opinion, if there were less concentration of power in the federal government there would be less solution required of problems that are created by this concentration of power.

Let it be known herewith that I am not opposed to desegregation of public facilities that are subsidized by federal, state, county or municipal funds, but I am very much opposed to the infringement by the federal government upon the constitutional right of the United States of America as specifically written in the Constitution.

The reasons above are only a few of the many that can be used to demand that this proposed legislation, H. R. Bill 7152, not be passed.

RESTRICTED FREEDOM

To the Editor:

The award winning TV program "The Defenders" this last week brought out a wonderful lesson. How much is the government going to be allowed to restrict our "freedoms" merely because we individuals continue to hide behind the statement, "But THEY won't let us!"

The plot involved freedom of travel and I feel that the speech made by the fine actor, E. G. Marshall, was stated with a lot more "personal" feeling than just a reading of lines from a book. I personally would like to see this one repeated with sufficient notice so that people that missed it would be able to see and hear a man fully discussing "freedom."

Mr. LeFevre, your editorials are without any doubt, on my part, very honest and straightforward. If you saw this portrayal, what did you feel? If you missed it, what is your feeling about the "freedoms" we no longer have? The ones that were our birthrights, now restricted; the ones that have gone "down the drain" even though our forefathers fought for them?

What about a list of freedoms that we no longer have? It should be a basis for more than one editorial from you. Even if it has been done before, it should be repeated over again until the individuals are released from their fears of government controls.

What about a "Freedom School" in your paper with a textbook on the "rights of others, as opposed to the rights of government" with a full recap on what we can do?

As one of the lines in the play says, "Who says we can't be free?"

FRED A. LANDER
228 N. Cascade

Editor's note: We appreciate the information concerning the program "The Defenders." We did not see the program to which reference is made and in consequence we cannot comment upon it directly.

However, we have been asked what is our feeling about the freedoms we no longer have. Mr. Lander need not have asked the question since we are spending virtually all of our time and all of our money in an effort to regain lost freedom and to preserve the bits and pieces remaining.

Unfortunately, the suggestion that we list the freedoms we have lost in this country is beyond our ability. Since every law that is passed has to be implemented by the collection of still more taxes, one would require a total tabulation of all the laws passed in order to correctly itemize the areas where curtailment, repression and regulation have come.

Since these fill many volumes, a mere tabulation would probably require all of the space in the Gazette Telegraph in a Sunday edition, and then some. It would undoubtedly take many Sunday editions.

We will, however, attempt to write an editorial which will bring out some of the more important losses in this area we all have experienced.

So far as a "freedom school" conducted on the pages of the newspaper, this is precisely what we have tried to do and plan to continue doing. Our editorial page daily for many years has enunciated the philosophy of freedom, an explanation of the concept of human rights, an outlining of morality and a definition of it as well as countless illustrations of what freedom means and what happens when, in some given case, it is lost.

If the program alluded to is as good as Mr. Lander believes it to be, then certainly it provided a wonderful service.

We appreciate the kind words of reader Lander and will assure him that we will continue to offer on our editorial page items of interest to those who believe in freedom and who will constantly reiterate the challenge, "Who says we can't be free?"

SECOND WIND

To the Editor:

A golden spike driven 95 years ago May 10 completed the first transcontinental railroad. The Iron Horse is just now getting its second wind. It meets the challenge of its non-rail competitors. These are formidable only in their ability to wangle welfare state subsidies by pleading infancy. Hoary 19th century hobbles of monopoly type over-regulation and discriminatory taxation are finally wearing out.

Service improvements raised railroads from beggars for crumbs of traffic refused by others. Management firmly refuses to submit to demands for retention of obsolete jobs. Union empire builders should realize that political opportunists who solicit labor votes also destroy job-sustaining railroad traffic by pork barrelling.

The high cost of subsidized flight and the traffic nightmares created by too many automotive toys encourage appreciation of our faithful railroad workhorse. Whenever we allow political expedience to sever the steel bands forged at Promontory, Utah in 1869, we invite the red boss to bury us.

McNamara Withholds Data

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary McNamara's vehement denial of Senator Goldwater's jolting challenge of the reliability of U.S. ballistic missiles is taking a strange turn.

The Pentagon boss is refusing to submit to Senate investigators evidence supporting his contention on the ground it is "too sensitive" for them to see.

In other words, McNamara is taking the extraordinary position that the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee, which is endeavoring to get at the bottom of this crucial controversy and has the legal authority to do so, can't be trusted with what he claims is highly classified information.

This remarkable backstage stand is in direct contradiction to President Johnson's offer to provide Republican presidential candidates with intelligence and foreign policy briefings involving secret data.

Under the law, the Preparedness Subcommittee, which the President himself once headed, is entitled to the classified information it is seeking. But there is nothing on the statute books empowering the President to give such data to the G.O.P. presidential aspirants in the contemplated briefings. He is doing that wholly on his own authority.

There are other ironic twists to McNamara's attempted black-out of the Preparedness subcommittee, headed by Senator John Stennis, D-Miss.

One is that two of its leading members are Republican presidential candidates — Senator Barry Goldwater, whose bristling charges precipitated the missile furore, and Senator Margaret Chase Smith, Me.

Another irony is that McNamara intermediaries have been trying to persuade Mrs. Smith to act as peacemaker between him and Goldwater.

As disclosed in this column on April 23, David McGiffert, assistant to McNamara (for legislative affairs), made such a pitch to Mrs. Smith in behalf of his boss.

Obtaining an appointment without indicating its purpose, McGiffert fervently besought her help on resolving the stormy wrangle between Goldwater and McNamara. McGiffert argued that the controversy was "getting out of hand," and was not in the best interest of national security because "highly sensitive information" is involved.

Mrs. Smith said she would take the matter "under advisement."

SECRET BOMBSHELLS

Behind McNamara's backstage defiance of the Preparedness subcommittee are a series of reports on missiles that he apparently is extremely anxious to withhold from senatorial scrutiny.

These studies, made by both military experts and private contractors, deal with the reliability of this country's principal ballistic missiles—the Atlas, Titan, Minuteman and Polaris. They also involve the crucial question of the effect a Soviet 60-megaton superbomb would have on the reliability of these missiles positioned 200 to 500 miles of the center of explosion.

This is a key issue that played a leading role in last year's Senate battle over confirmation of the nuclear test ban treaty with Russia.

Senator Stennnis, chairman, has sought unavailingly to obtain these tightly-secreted reports or information about them.

McNamara's adamant blackout is viewed by committeemen as definitely related to his rapidly burgeoning vice presidential ambitions. It is the private belief of these senators that McNamara fears that if these studies get into the hands of the subcommittee they might torpedo his evident burning desire to be President Johnson's running mate.

Certainly Senator Goldwater could be expected to make the most of these reports — if they are as critical as is increasingly suspected.

James Kendall, committee counsel, wants to crack down on McNamara.

In a blunt-worded memorandum to Senator Stennis, Kendall asserts that the committee might just as well shut down if McNamara is allowed to get away with his refusal to produce the desired missile information. Kendall stresses that the committee is the authorized watchdog of the Defense Department, and that McNamara is thwarting that legal function.

Kendall also points out that McNamara's defiance extends beyond the missile controversy.

The high-handed Pentagon chief also is refusing to supply the Senate investigators with information on "cost comparison studies made by the Defense Department of government and private shipyards." The probers want this data as part of their inquiry of McNamara's plans to shut down a number of government shipyards on both coasts.

A majority of the Preparedness subcommittee favors taking the explosive backstage controversy direct to President Johnson.

Senator Stennis is proposing that another effort be made to persuade McNamara to back down. Stennis has offered to undertake this. If he fails, a showdown on the demand that the matter be put squarely up to the President is certain.

THE ENGLE TRAGEDY

Senator Clair Engle, D-Calif., entered the hospital under an assumed name a week before it was announced he had gone there for a check-up. His return to the hospital was for new surgery, but the neurosurgeon refused to operate unless it was done under Engle's right name. This stand forced the disclosure that he was in the hospital and several days later that he had undergone more surgery.

After the operation, the neurosurgeon strongly insisted that Engle withdraw from the campaign for a second term.

Paul Greene who has acted as Engle's press man the past several months, is returning to the Senate Anti-Trust Investigating Committee, headed by Senator Philip Hart, D-Mich. This committee became noted under the late Senator Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., and Greene was hired by him. When Greene shifted to Engle, he did not reveal he was on leave from the Anti-Trust Committee; instead, claimed he took the job — at much higher pay — because of complete confidence in Engle's ability to stay in the race.

FLASHES

Robert McKinney, publisher of the Santa Fe New Mexican, will be named Treasury undersecretary to succeed Henry Fowler, who resigned last month to re-enter private law practice. McKinney's ambition is to become secretary of the treasury in place of incumbent C. Douglas Dillon. . . . Senator Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., is assuring constituents that the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee is making a thorough investigation of the handling of the case of Colonel Michael Goleniewski, Polish secret police defector, by the State Department and Central Intelligence Agency. In a letter, Keating wrote, "As a member of the Internal Security Subcommittee, I am very much aware of this situation and have been following it for several years . . . The subcommittee has been in touch with Colonel Goleniewski for some months and I can assure you his statements will be thoroughly and conscientiously investigated in every detail no matter who is implicated."

HINTS FROM

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

What do you do when you have your drapes cleaned and they come back a half inch too short? I would appreciate any answer you can give me.

Also, when you move from one house to the other, what do you do when they are "three" inches too short? —Melissa

Dear Melissa:

I asked my cleaner if he could clean the panels in my living room without shrinking them. He said "Dear Heloise, if you dry clean them yourself they are still going to shrink an inch."

I didn't believe this.

I took the panels down and dumped them in a do-it-yourself cleaning establishment. they still shrunk.

This fellow tried to tell me that just because something was dry cleaned, did not mean that it would not shrink. Now, I believe him. And mine was a synthetic fabric!

About your short side drapes. There is nothing I can tell you to do but let out the hem and make a false hem with some kind of fabric. This will still give you the weight of your drapery and perhaps it will never be noticed.

However, here is what I did once.

When my thick, heavy side drapes shrank three inches, I bought some three-inch-long fringe. This is ordinarily used across the bottom of chairs, sofas, etc., and is not too expensive, if you go to a drapery shop to purchase it. I sewed this along the bottom of my draperies. It not only covered up the baseboards but gave the drapery weight and made it look nicer. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My husband is a truck driver and his lunch pail rides with him on his job. He used to complain about his sandwiches becoming dry.

Then a fellow driver told me to line the bottom of the lunch pail with aluminum foil and fold it over the packed lunch. this really works. No more dry lunches now. —Barbara Mironda

Dear Heloise:

I will be forever grateful for your advice to prevent steam from forming in the bathroom by running some cold water in the tub before putting in the hot water. This is absolutely wonderful. —Grateful

Dear Heloise:

When I put on my child's rain boots, I slip a piece of wax paper in first, and then the shoe pops right on. —Reader

Exotic Flavors Add Enchantment To Spareribs

Mandarin is the style; spareribs are the meat. The result? It's a delectable dish to set before guests or an admiring family, particularly now that spareribs have found new popularity among the younger crowd.

Spareribs take nicely to the seasonings of soy sauce, orange marmalade, garlic, ginger and pepper. They are marinated in this mixture for 12 hours in the refrigerator, before baking.

It's smart to have the spareribs sawed across the rib bones, advocates Reba Staggs, noted expert on meat cookery, so they're easy to carve and serve. They're baked, covered during the first hour of the cooking period, then uncovered for the remaining 30 minutes.

MANDARIN SPARERIBS

- 2 to 3 pounds of spareribs
- ½ cup soy sauce
- ½ cup orange marmalade
- 1 clove of garlic, minced
- ½ teaspoon ginger
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Have spareribs sawed across rib bones so individual servings may be carved easily after cooking. Combine soy sauce, orange marmalade, garlic, ginger and pepper. Marinate spareribs in soy sauce mixture for 12 hours, turning occasionally. Refrigerate ribs while marinating. Place ribs, rib end down, on a rack in a baking pan. Cover tightly and cook in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour. Remove cover, turn spareribs and spoon half the marinade over the ribs. Return to the oven, cook for 15 minutes, turn spareribs, spoon remaining marinade over the ribs and continue cooking 15 minutes or until browned. 4 to 6 servings.

REEL IT IN

MOSCOW (AP) — Fishermen who use a long line should try handling one as long as Soviet fishermen have been using in the Indian Ocean — 12½ miles or more long.

The Soviet research ship Orlik cast such long lines more than 400 times in experimental fishing for tuna and swordfish, Tass news agency reported.

Woman Flier Back At Midway Island

HONOLULU (AP) — Flier Joan Merriam, plagued by troubles mechanical and natural in her attempt to fly solo around the world, was back at Midway Island again today after a foiled flight to Hawaii.

She was 400 miles from Midway en route to Honolulu when forced back by severe thunderstorms Wednesday, the Federal Aviation Agency reported. The time of her next attempt was uncertain.

The 1,300-mile Midway-Honolulu flight is her next-to-last leg of the 27-year-old Long Beach, Calif., housewife's global adventure.

Miss Merriam is following the route being flown by the ill-fated Amelia Earhart when she disappeared in the western Pacific in 1937.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Seven of ◇.

For the cheap investment price of an overtrick—worth a mere 30 points — West could have availed himself of a legitimate opportunity to defeat the declarer's three notrump contract.

South's decision to accept his partner's game invitation of two notrump was somewhat aggressive inasmuch as he had only the minimum 16 points required for an opening notrump bid.

West chose to open the seven of diamonds. The jack was played from dummy and, when it held the trick, the deuce of clubs was led. East followed with the trey and declarer finessed the ten, losing to West's jack. Another diamond was returned, and South was in his hand with the king.

Although declarer was now in position to test the spade suit and then make another play in clubs, he decided to lead a heart first. West hastened to put up the king of hearts in order to clear the diamonds. The six of clubs was led from dummy, and the king appeared from East's hand. South played the ace and then cashed his top spade honors. West showed out on the second round, discarding a small heart.

A spade was led to the queen and, at this point, West committed the fatal error: he discarded the seven of hearts. A heart lead put him in with the ace, which he had blanked, and the forced club return away from the nine-five into South's queen-eight presented the declarer with the last two tricks.

Had West thrown away his queen of diamonds, retaining instead the small heart, East would have been able to win the heart lead with the queen and then cash enough tricks to defeat the contract. West's fear that the declarer had the queen of hearts was no justification for his choice of discards for, if South did indeed have that card, then the defense might just as well give up the ghost.

McNamara Withholds Data

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary McNamara's vehement denial of Senator Goldwater's [illegible] challenge of the reliability of U.S. ballistic missiles is taking a strange turn.

The Pentagon boss is refusing to submit to Senate investigators [illegible] supporting his [illegible] on the ground it is [illegible] for them to see.

In other words McNamara is taking the extraordinary position that the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee, which is endeavoring [illegible] and has the [illegible] authority [illegible] cannot be trusted with what he claims is [illegible] classified information.

This [illegible] backstage [illegible] President [illegible] Republican presidential [illegible] [illegible] secret data.

Under the law the Preparedness Subcommittee, which the President himself once headed, is entitled to the classified information it is seeking. But there is nothing on the statute books empowering the President to give such data to the G.O.P. presidential aspirants in the contemplated briefings. He is doing that wholly on his own authority.

There are other ironic twists [illegible] McNamara's attempted [illegible] of the Preparedness subcommittee headed by Senator John Stennis, D-Miss.

[illegible] is that two of its leading members are Republican presidential candidates — Senator Barry Goldwater, whose bristling charges precipitated the missile furor, and Senator Margaret Chase Smith, Me.

Another irony is that McNamara intermediaries have been trying to persuade Mrs. Smith to act as peacemaker between [illegible] and Goldwater.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Also, when you move from one house to the other, what do you do when they are "three inches too short"? —Melissa

---

Dear Melissa:

I asked my cleaner if he could clean the panels in my living room without shrinking them. He said "Dear Heloise, if you dry clean them yourself they are still going to shrink an inch."

I didn't believe this.

I took the panels down and dumped them in a do-it-yourself cleaning establishment . . . they still shrunk.

This fellow tried to tell me that just because something was dry cleaned, did not mean that it would not shrink. Now, I believe him. And mine was a synthetic fabric!

About your short side drapes: There is nothing I can tell you to do but let out the hem and make a false hem with some kind of fabric. This will still give you the weight of your drapery and perhaps it will never be noticed.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

For the Sinners!

DEAR ABBY: You performed a great service by printing the letter signed "SINNERS" in your column. Not all Californians know that their Civil Code provides that unmarried couples who have been living together as man and wife, and are eligible to be married (that is, not married to anyone else and of legal age) may present themselves to a minister, explain the circumstances, be married, obtain a certificate of marriage issued by that minister, and have the wedding recorded in the church records. No license is necessary, and there is no waiting period or publicity. —REV E E LANGGUTH, LIVINGSTON, CALIF

DEAR REVEREND LANGGUTH: Thank you for your letter. I wish more people realized that churches are not for the fellowship of the pure and holy alone, but rather for those who know themselves to need the help, forgiveness and love that God is continually offering to all of us. If one has a problem of this kind, the place where he will find the least judgment and the greatest understanding and acceptance is at his nearest parsonage, rectory or synagogue.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 and have done a little baby-sitting in the neighborhood for 50 cents an hour. Yesterday I sat with my two little brothers for four hours while my mother went downtown. I told my father I thought I should get paid. He asked me how much, and I told him only 25 cents an hour, so he owed me a dollar. Then he figured out that the food I ate that day cost $1.10 and the insurance policy he paid for came to 50 cents, so I owed HIM 60 cents. Do you think this was fair? —UNPAID

DEAR UNPAID: No. A 12-year-old should not have to pay for the food she eats at home. Neither should she "charge" her parents for looking after younger sisters and brothers.

DEAR ABBY: I am having a difference of opinion with someone and hope you can settle it. Is it true that the best chefs in the world never TASTE anything—they can tell if something is properly seasoned simply by SMELLING it? I don't believe it, yet I can't prove that this person who made the above statement is wrong and I am right. Can you help me? —M Mc in MONTPELIER

DEAR M Mc: I can't qualify as one of the best chefs in the world, but I will let you know what THEY say after I have heard from them.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Wardo": Sometimes it is better to put off until tomorrow what you are likely to botch today.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212, for Abby's new booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 and [illegible] Yesterday I sat with my two little brothers for four hours while my mother went downtown. I told my father I thought I should get paid. He asked me how much, and I told him only 25 cents an hour, so he owed me a dollar. Then he figured [illegible] that the food I ate that day [illegible] $1.10 and [illegible] so I owed HIM 60 cents. Do you think this was fair? UNPAID

DEAR UNPAID: No. A 12-year-old should not have to pay for the food she eats at home. Neither should she "charge" her parents for looking after younger sisters and brothers.

DEAR ABBY: I am having a difference of opinion with someone and hope you can settle it. Is it true that the best chefs in the world never TASTE anything—they can tell if something is properly seasoned simply by SMELLING it? I don't believe it, yet I can't prove that this person who made the above statement is wrong and I am right. Can you help me? —M. Mc. in MONTPELIER

Informal Buffet for Popular Party

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The informal buffet dinner party served in the living room is an increasingly popular way of entertaining. An electric warming tray with a drawer to keep breads and desserts warm, too, makes serving the buffet dinner easy and pleasant. Place the main cooked dishes on top of the attractive warmer, the rolls and pies in the warming drawer. Then let your guests help themselves.

This beef, mushroom and veal dish is an appropriate dish for the buffet supper. When guests arrive, place it on the electric tray, along with a dish of fluffy rice with carrots.

* * *

Beef and Veal Balls
(6 to 8 servings)

1 pound chopped beef
1 pound chopped veal
1 can (1⅜ ounces) dry onion soup mix
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup milk
2 eggs
1-3 cup quick-cooking rice cereal
1 can (6 ounces) broiled mushroom crowns
1 tablespoon bottled brown bouquet sauce

* * *

¼ cup flour
½ cup water
2 cups long-grain rice
1 can (1 pound) sliced carrots

Combine beef, veal, 1 tablespoon onion soup mix, salt, milk, eggs, and cereal. Mix and shape into 24 or 36 meat balls. Drain mushroom broth into a 1 pint measuring cup and add enough water to make a pint. Place in a skillet and bring to a boil. Stir in the rest of the onion soup mix and simmer for 10 minutes. Stir in bottled brown bouquet sauce, add meat balls and bring to a boil. Cover, lower heat and simmer 5 minutes, then turn meat balls over, add mushrooms, and allow to cook an additional 10 minutes. Remove meat balls and mushrooms to a hot dish and keep warm. Blend together flour and cold water and add to liquid in skillet, stirring constantly until gravy thickens. Lower heat and simmer an additional 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Return meat balls and mushrooms to skillet and allow to heat in sauce. Lamb Loaf Wears Topping of Bacon, Cheese

Ground lamb appears subtly accented with seasonings of marjoram, garlic salt, green pepper and catchup in Lamb Loaf Supreme.

Lamb loaves are best when baked in a slow to moderate oven, advises Reba Staggs, meat authority, so set the oven at 325 degrees F. after 1¼ hours of baking top the lamb loaf with a mixture of crumbled bacon and grated cheese, then bake 15 minutes longer.

The topping melting over the loaf, fragrantly flavored with bacon, makes this dish glamorous enough to serve guests. The eight serving size of the recipe comes in handy too.

LAMB LOAF SUPREME

2 pounds ground lamb
4 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled
¼ cup milk
1 cup cracker crumbs
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon marjoram
½ cup chopped onion
¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
¼ cup catchup
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese

Pour milk over cracker crumbs. Add lamb, salt, pepper, garlic salt, marjoram, onion, green pepper, catchup and eggs. Mix thoroughly. Pack in a 9x5-inch loaf pan. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 1¼ hours. Combine crumbled bacon and grated cheese. Sprinkle over meat mixture and continue baking for 15 minutes or until cheese is melted. 8 servings.

A little bluing added to soapy water when washing cut glass will give extra sparkle to the glass.

Peachy Glaze Covers Sausage, Ham Rolls

When its time to have the ladies over for a spring luncheon, serve them a conversation piece in the form of Pork Partners. They are really slices of "boiled" ham which blanket cooked pork sausage links.

These two favorite pork cuts, teamed together, are then baked in peach juice with the sliced fruit, spiced with cinnamon and cloves, sparkled with the tang of lemon juice.

Pork sausage links will be at their best, points out Reba Staggs, meat authority, when they're first placed in a cold frying-pan and cooked slowly. The links are then browned. "Boiled" han may be purchased already sliced.

It's nice to have an oven dish like this for luncheon because it frees the hostess from last minute food preparation. She can put the finishing touches on the table, powder her nose or greet the guests.

PORK PARTNERS

1 pound of pork sausage links
8 slices "boiled" ham
2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 can (16 ounces) sliced peaches
½ teaspoon lemon juice

Place sausage links and water in cold frying-pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Remove cover. Pour off drippings and brown links. Place two links side by side on each ham slice and roll as a jelly roll. Fasten with wooden picks. Drain peaches, reserving liquid. Add enough water to liquid to make 1 cup. Mix cornstarch, cloves, cinnamon and peach liquid. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add peaches and lemon juice and cook until heated through. Pour half the peach mixture in the bottom of a greased 8x8x2-inch baking baking dish. Then add the 8 ham-sausage rolls. Top the remaining peach mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes. 8 servings.

Star Sweetbreads In Gourmet Dish For Luncheons

When a homemaker's entertainment calendar is crowded with luncheons for the bride-to-be, PTA, art circle and women's guild, it's nice to be able to have a really distinguished casserole for at least one of these occasions.

Such a dish can finish cooking in the oven allowing the hostess to greet her guests smiling and unruffled.

Epicurean touches highlight this casserole of sweetbreads, crisp-textured water chestnuts and slivers of green beans. The top is crusty with herb-seasoned cornflakes.

Sweetbreads are an interesting variety meat with a delicate flavor. Heed the advice of Reba Staggs, noted meat cookery expert, who says they will keep white and firm if they are simmered in water with an acid such as lemon juice or vinegar.

Sweetbread Casserole Deluxe

1 pound sweetbreads
Water to cover
1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1 can (6½ ounces) water chestnuts, drained and sliced
1 package (9 ounces) frozen Frenched green beans, cooked and drained
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed celery soup
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon marjoram
1/3 cup crushed cornflakes
¼ teaspoon thyme

Cover sweetbreads with water. Add vinegar or lemon juice and salt. Cover tightly and simmer 20 minutes. Drain and remove membrane. Break sweetbreads into pieces. Combine sweetbreads, water chestnuts, green beans, celery soup, salt, pepper and marjoram. Pour into a 1½-quart casserole. Combine cornflakes and thyme and sprinkle over casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (375 F.) 20 minutes. 4 to 6 servings.

Creative Touch Adds Regal Air To Pork Entree

The magic wand of creative cookery has touched a few ingredients with imagination, seasoned them with spice and come up with Pork Tenderloin Royale.

Just think of the interesting flavor and aroma that a combination of soy sauce, ginger and cashew nuts can give to rice. Top this with pork tenderloin patties and you begin to get the idea of the recipe.

Like all meats, pork tenderloin is a source of high quality protein, maintains meat cookery expert Reba Staggs. It's an especially good source of the B vitamin thiamine, so important for good nutrition.

Pork Tenderloin, Royale

1½ pounds pork tenderloin, cut into 6 patties
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
¾ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
2 cups cooked rice
1 cup chopped cashew nuts
¼ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
3 tablespoons soy sauce
¼ teaspoon ginger

Brown tenderloin patties in lard or drippings. Season with salt, pepper and garlic salt. Combine rice, cashew nuts, onions, celery, soy sauce and ginger. Pour into a greased 12 x 8-inch baking dish. Arrange tenderloin patties on top. Cover tightly and bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) 45 minutes or until meat is done. 4 to 6 servings.

Conservancy District Approved by Judge

STERLING (AP)—Dist. Judge Francis L. Shallenberger approved today the formation of the Lower South Platte Water Conservancy District.

He overruled a motion by attorneys representing an opposition group to have petitions for the district dismissed.

The conservancy district favors construction of a dam on the South Platte River, probably at the Narrows site near Fort Morgan.

Petitions for formation of the district were filed last November. A month later protest petitions were filed, opposing the district.

Attorneys for the latter group argued today that backers of the proposed district had failed to prove that benefits would result. They also questioned information given by officials of the proposed district regarding the number of irrigated farm owners favoring the district.

HEAT FROM EARTH

MOSCOW (AP) — Big plans are being made to heat Soviet cities by tapping the high temperature regions of the earth.

A scientific conference in Moscow recently discussed plans for a 1.55 - mile - deep borehole that is expected to supply water at about 135 degrees Fahrenheit to heat Osmk in Siberia.

The scientists estimated that between 100 and 150 million metric tons of coal could be saved annually by tapping underground heat.

Meet Merrie, Tippy, Lovely Girl-Women

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA)—If "The World of Henry Orient" has done nothing else, it has given the world Marie Spaeth and Tippy Walker. These are two females not yet women but far from little girls.

Sitting with them, you are aware of this confusion. They will be conducting a serious adult conversation and suddenly there will be a childlike nose-wrinkling or an immature word. They are in that delightful never-never land, midway between a lollipop and a scotch-and-soda.

Merrie, the younger at 15, is taller, fairer, more composed and more serious. She sits in her chair, her back straight and her blue eyes steady and her politeness always in place. But, when something excites her, the eyes widen and the nose wrinkles and a little girl giggle bubbles up.

Tippy, at 17, is a kind of junior grade glamor girl. Her lovely face already gives promise of becoming a crowd-stopper. She is kookie, irreverent, explosive, nervous. Her long, straight hair has a nasty habit of dipping in her soup, and she must constantly brush it out of her eyes.

In "The World of Henry Orient," they play two teenagers who follow concert pianist-roue Peter Sellers around, haunting him as he attempts to make time with Paula Prentiss. They very nearly steal the picture, and yet neither has had professional experience. Both, however, are convinced they are now actresses forever, although they had other ambitions before the movie.

"I wanted to be a writer or a painter," Tippy says. "I still do some writing and painting, as well as acting. When I was a 5th grader, I sold a painting of a fish to a neighbor for $5."

"I wanted to be a doctor like my father, my grandfather and my uncle," Merrie says. "I've got all kind of microscopes and chemistry sets around the house."

Merrie was picked for the movie first, when her drama teacher in Germantown, Pa., sent in her name, with several others, to a talent scout looking for teen-age actresses for "Orient." Tippy, from Rye, N. Y., had been doing some modeling, and got the part when a photographer introduced her to the producer.

Despite their differences, the two girls got along famously. They do share a love of practical jokes. They took great delight in rehearsing a fainting scene on Park Avenue, for example.

Their success — they walked away with most of the reviews —has not materially altered their lives. They still go to school, still live the same kind of life they did before, still have kid brothers to contend with. Merrie says her 11-year-old brother "every once in a while is overcome by brotherly love—but not often."

To Tippy (the name comes from the middle of her three names, Elizabeth Tipton Walker), "all success has meant is that my school work is incomplete and I have to work hard to catch up."

While both of them plan to continue in acting, it will be some time yet before they are full-fledged actresses. Both sets of parents are insistent that their daughters finish school first. And they don't have agents yet, Merrie explains.

"My mother says that agents get jobs for people. So I have no agent."

Bouzouki Beat Specialty for Greece Tourist

By GERALD MILLER

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — More and more foreigners are getting the hang of Greece's Bouzouki beat.

Bouzouki is the Greek answer to Rock 'n Roll. The difference is it has been around 500 years longer, it is half as loud but twice as sensual and the Greeks like it better.

So do a lot of foreigners. Anthony Quinn is a new fan. In Greece to play the lead in the film "Zorba the Greek," Quinn recently got an earful of Bouzouki thump and twang at an Athens club.

Like a man mesmerize Quinn rose to his feet, shuffled to the dance floor and executed a deft belly dance.

That's what Bouzouki does to people. It's been doing it ever since the Turks brought the music to Greece in the 15th Century.

The Greeks hated the Turks but loved their Bouzouki, which is half mandolin and half guitar.

When played by experts it sounds like somebody sniveling with a bad case of adenoids. But the droning nasal tone is hypnotic.

Bouzouki music is usually the guitar plus drums, tambourines, and in the really posh joints, an accordian.

While Greeks have been savoring Bouzouki for many years, the sound of Bouzouki only began to make an impression on outsiders with the film "Never on Sunday."

That was the picture that made Melina Mercouri a star. It also showed what well played Bouzouki was like.

Now the average tourist who turns up in Athens tends to be as interested in sampling Bouzouki as in seeing the Acropolis.

A top Bouzouki star is rated as high here as the Beatles and the Presleys elsewhere.

The biggest Bouzouki star of the moment is regoris Bidhikotsis, a middle aged man with a mustache and a head of black wavy hair.

He croons in a reedy voice as he plinks away at his Bouzouki. And when Bidhikotsis plucks and wails it is something to hear.

It is no accident that Bidhikotsis isn't a teen - ager. There's not a Bouzouki star going who is.

For the Greeks good Bousouki is like good wine. It takes some aging to produce the best.

London Line Of Men's Suits Is Catching on

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The London Line in men's suits was introduced four years ago by the British Menswear Guild but it is only now that the ripples from this fashion splash are beginning to wash up on the shores of America.

Importers of British suits sold them here when they were first introduced but generally they were considered a bit too new for the average American taste —especially the taste of clothing buyers who tend to stick to tried and true styles they know will sell.

The London Line has a slightly fuller chest, a slight waist suppression and a slight flare of the jacket skirt. There is a definite curve to the back and a very deep center vent, sometimes two deep, side vents. Pockets have a slight slant.

It has its origin in the hacking jacket of old but is far less extreme. The hacking jacket, worn by horsemen, had a long skirt, very deep vents and slashed pockets. A more subdued variation made its way into country suits, usually in tweed, and finally into the business world.

The first newspaper advertisements for the American version have appeared in the local press and U.S. manufacturers say the suits will be sold in greater number next Fall. Many have been featured in showings to buyers this spring.

One of the men most delighted at progress of the London Line is Gerald M. Abrahams, new president of the British Menswear Guild and chairman and managing director of Aquascutum Ltd. He realizes such a development can only help British sales.

"Men need a little change," he said. "Men look good in it and manufacturers should do all they can to help men look better. . . . Men say 'you look better' but they don't know why. We must face it—as men grow older their shapes aren't what they used to be.

"We are doing the same thing in a topcoat—a little waist suppression and a little flair. If there is no flair the coat may be a bit too tight—you remember how tight British jackets used to be."

Abrahams, who was founder-chairman of the Guild when the line was introduced in 1960, said any further developments in the line might make it too extreme but that American buyers in London in recent months had expressed deep interest in the far more extreme hacking jacket itself.

"This particular look — the London Line, the British Look —is just now beginning to get out of England. It's a big change for many, which is why it is so slow crossing the Atlantic."

Abrahams, who was wearing one of the suits himself in a medium gray worsted, predicted the next big change in the London Line would be in fabrics—a tweed look in town but a tweed closer to the ordinary smooth worsted than the rough country tweed.

"We know what we get out of the Scottish mills is unique in style and color," he said. "The fabric is the big thing. We can do more with tweeds. In tweeds you can have a mixture of colors you can't get anywhere else but it will be several years before the tweed influence makes itself felt in town clothes."

Bride Spends Her Wedding Night in Cell

DENVER (UPI)— The bride spent her wedding night alone—in the Colorado State Penitentiary at Canon City.

Theresa Barbara Marquez, 21, and David Ralph Jaramillo, 28, were married Tuesday before Dist. Judge Mitchel B. Johns.

Following the ceremony, she was taken to the State Penitentiary where she will serve a term of 2 to 5 years for conspiracy for illegal possession of heroin. Her husband faces trials on the same charges in June and September.

Two Boys Fined, Their Driving Rights Suspended

Municipal Judge Allan Asher Wednesday fined two boys $35 and suspended their right to drive in the city for 30 days on charges of speeding.

David Paul, 16, 230 N. Walnut St., and William Wallace, 18, 219 N. Foote Ave., had originally been charged with drag racing. David had originally entered a guilty plea and Wallace had pleaded not guilty.

In court Wednesday, David said he wanted to change his plea to guilty to speeding. Judge Asher said that was't the issue, and allowed the boy to withdraw his guilty plea to the drag racing charge.

After discussing the charges with the two boys, Deputy City Attorney Bob Isaac moved to dismiss them on the failure of the two officers to appear in court. He said the city would accept a guilty plea from the boys for driving 10 to 19 miles over the speed limit. Both boys agreed to this stipulation, and Judge Asher granted the motion.

A charge of failing to yield the right of way against Joyce Bishop, 38, Manitou Springs, was converted to a warning ticket.

Donald Bruce Chapman, 24, 474 Glen View Ct., was found guilty of careless driving and fined $25. Pierre D'Auray, 20, 3331 Santa Rosa St., was found guilty of a muffler violation but his $10 fine was suspended on condition he not again be involved in a further similar violation.

Reckless and careless driving charges were dismissed against Karl Parker, 23, 1222 N. Alexander Highway, when the complainant said Parker was not the driver of the car.

Elizabeth Blakely, 2512 W. Bijou St., was found guilty of speeding and fined $10. At her attorney's request, a 10-day stay of execution was granted. She was defended by Jack Agee.

Judge Asher suspended a 15-day jail sentence against Betty Thompson of Denver, on condition she leave here and not return to Colorado Springs for the purpose of soliciting. She was found guilty of this charge Tuesday in Municipal Court.

Church Holds Groundbreaking Ceremonies

A Groundbreaking Ceremony was held Sunday afternoon for the future Nob Hill Assembly of God Church to be located at 619 Tia Juana Street.

Construction of the future church was begun Monday. The Great Western Church Plan under the direction of C. A. Kennedy of Littleton, will be letting contracts out to local contractors.

The Rev. R. G. Fulford, district superintendent of Littleton, presented a short message entitled "The Ground On Which Thou Standest" to the group that gathered for the ceremony.

Pastor D. L. Bennett concluded the ceremony by turning a shovel of earth at the future building site.

An Anniversary dinner was held Sunday celebrating the 11th year of service to the community. We trust to be of better service in the future.

Construction of the new church is being financed by sale of six per cent interest first mortgage bonds which mostly have been sold. Any interested party may call Pastor D. L. Bennett at 634-4131 for information concerning the purchase of these bonds.

The completion of the church is scheduled for Sept. 1st. While the building program is in progress the church body will continue to meet at the present location which is 2631 E. Willamette Ave. Visitors please feel welcome to our services.

One-Time Rare Syphilis Now Bigger Problem

By ELDON BARRETT

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—One of the most vicious diseases the world has ever known again is rearing its ugly head in this country where only 15 years ago it was thought to have almost eradicated.

The name of the disease is syhpilis, and the fact that it is spread primarily through sexual intercourse and therefore isn't "nice" is one of the reasons it is infrequently mentioned. People don't like to talk about it.

Complacency on the part of both patients and physicians is probably even more to blame for the resurgence of this venereal infection.

What is happening can be seen quite clearly in King County, Wash., which includes the city of Seattle. In 1963, doctors reported 115 cases of syphilis—more than double the 47 cases reported in 1962. At the same time, county-city health officials reported a 30 per cent increase in the number of cases of gonorrhea, the other most prevalent venereal disease in this country.

Just prior to World War II, the venereal disease rate in Seattle was so high military authorities threatened to declare the city "out of bounds" if the place wasn't cleaned up. Being a world seaport and a military embarkation center, the task looked almost impossible. And the importation of labor from all parts of the nation to work in the greatly accelerated aircraft, shipyard and logging industries did not make the task any easier.

But with the aid of penicillin, mass production of which began in this country in 1941, the venereal disease rate was reduced at least enough to satisfy military authorities. In subsequent years, syphilis became almost as rare as diptheria. It came to be considered as a "Skid Row" disease, confined to a few derelicts and streetwalkers or an occasional itinerate seaman who hunted that rundown area of the city.

But statistics today show that syphilis is no longer a Skid Row ailment. It has moved uptown. And at an alarming rate. And health officials say this situation is not unique in Seattle. Most major U.S. cities are facing the same problem.

Fortunately for Seattle, syphilis has not increased greatly among Seattle teenagers as it has in some other parts of the nation. But Seattle-King County officers are not being smug about that fact.

"All we need to trigger an outbreak among our teen-agers is for the disease to be introduced into the group," said Dr. A. H. B. Pedersen, assistant director of the department's adult-health division. "We're sitting on a powder keg."

Dr. Pedersen explained that it was not the function of the health department to preach about the morals of the community.

"We realize that one of the factors in the spread of this disease is increased sexual promiscuity," he said. "But that is a problem of the whole community. We stick close to the medical aspects.

"We consider syphilis as just another communicable disease."

He pointed out that syphilis still kills from 3,000 to 5,000 persons each year in the United States. Prompt treatment with penicillin can effect a cure in 10 days in most cases.

But prevention is better than cure in any man's book, including those of the doctors. Dr. Pedersen and fellow public health advocates believe schools, specially high schools, could do more toward informing students about venereal diseases.

Dominick Is Boosted As Keynote Speaker

DENVER (UPI) — Colorado GOP officials confirmed Tuesday they were boosting Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., as keynote speaker at the Republican National Convention.

"I am of the opinion he has a darn site better than a fighting chance," said William S. Powers, Colorado's GOP national committeeman. Powers and Mrs. Fletcher Swan, the state's committeewoman, have been campaigning on Dominick's behalf for several months.

The National Committee will meet in Washington May 26 to choose a speaker. The committee will act upon the recommendation of the Convention Arrangements Committee of which Mrs. Swan is a member.

Minnesota Republican Chairman Robert A. Forsth also is known under consideration for the speaking assignment.

The meeting will continue Saturday with a chapter officers conference at 9 a.m., a luncheon and annual meeting at 12:30 p.m. and a board of directors meeting at 3:30 p.m. The chapter officers will meet in the El Pomar Room with the other meetings taking place in the Green Room.

Colorado Springs residents affiliated with the state organization are Loy Callen, past president, and Gordon Jacobson, treasurer. Both are civil engineers with the Air Defense Command. Callen will be chairman of the annual meeting.

Col. C. W. Bovee, Headquarters, ADC, is in charge of publicity for the meeting.

Obsolescence Quite Slow in Hi Fi Field

By PRESTON McGRAW
United Press International

There may be a tendency to regard high fidelity as a field of sudden and revolutionary change because it involves electronics.

Actually, obsolescence is slow in the first lines of high fidelity components.

R. T. Bozak of Darien, Conn., for example, recently brought out an updated version of his B-310 series of high fidelity speaker systems.

The woofer in the new version—the B-410—is essentially the woofer that went into the B-201, a speaker system that Bozak built in 1949 in Buffalo, N.Y.

The B-201, a direct ancestor of the 310s and 410s, looked like a kettle drum. Bozak later redesigned it for outdoor use.

The 310s are among the classic big high fidelity speaker systems made in the United States. Since there are no basic changes in the 410s, they are likely to carry on the tradition.

Bozak is the leading exponent of the infinite baffle — speakers mounted on the front of a completely enclosed box.

"The infinite baffle, because it is passive, affords the broadest frequency range, has the lowest distortion and the best transient response," he says.

Bozak's original infinite baffle "kettledrum" speaker used one woofer and one tweeter. The next step in the evolution was the addition of a mid-range speaker for the B-302A systems.

This led to use of multiple speakers for larger systems — the B-305 and the first B-310. The first B-310 had multiple woofers and tweeters but a second mid-range speaker was later added for better dispersion in the mid-range.

The 53-inch high 310 systems had four tweeters mounted in pairs at the bottom, then two mid-range speakers and finally eight tweeters in pairs mounted in an arc at the top.

The speakers were all coned types. The range of the 310 was 28-29,000 cycles.

The B-410 has the same range and contains the same number of speakers in each category. But instead of installing the eight tweeters at the top, they are mounted in a row on the side.

Bozak says the vertical mounting gives a 150-degree horizontal dispersion of highs which "contributes significantly to the rounded front of sound that we consider significant in stereophonic reproduction of music."

While the woofers have remained about the same since 1949, Bozak has improved his high and mid-range speakers.

The old model high and mid-range speakers had upper cones. The new models have rubber-aluminum laminated cones that improve smoothness and clarity.

The cabinetry on the B-410s also has been restyled. The B-410s—as was true of the B-310s—are not a mass market item. One of them costs as much as perhaps 50 per cent of the complete high fidelity systems in the country.

But they are of interest to the high fidelity hobbyist, even if they may be beyond his means, because they show how far the art of speaker system design has progressed in the 15 years since "hi-fi" became a household word.

Negro Is Executed In Electric Chair

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A young Negro died in the electric chair moments after midnight at the State Prison for his part in the assault of a Houston white woman.

James Echols, 19, was pronounced dead at 12:10 a.m. after receiving the first electrical charge six minutes earlier.

Dr. H. E. Dustin examined Echols, still strapped in the chair, and said he detected a faint heartbeat. After waiting about two minutes, he pronounced the condemned man dead.

Echols and four other Negro youths were convicted in the April 16, 1962, attack and rape of a young mother of two. Of the other four, one was electrocuted and the others are serving terms.

Echols said as he entered the death chamber: "I have no hard feelings against anyone." He had steadfastly maintained his innocence.

Msgr. Edward J. Flanagan, founder of Boys Town near Omaha, Nebr., died in Berlin, Germany, on May 15, 1948.

McNamara Goes Back to Saigon For New Probe

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert S. McNamara, secretary of defense, who has become something of a general trouble shooter for President Johnson in South Viet Nam's vexing problems, sets out again Friday night on a world-girdling trip back to Saigon.

Johnson told a news conference Wednesday he had asked McNamara to go to South Viet Nam to take a new look at the situation there.

At the Pentagon, McNamara's aides said that the new trip, coming only two months after his previous trip, did not mean that any new, critical emergency had arisen.

McNamara was going to assess any progress made in recommendations agreed upon after his March trip, these sources said.

While there may be no sharp new crisis, developments obviously have not shown any abrupt upturn toward victory in recent months.

Wednesday McNamara, in an address to a session of the Advertising Council, said the situation still was serious—although he also repeated an earlier statement that he hoped for improvement in the next few months.

In his announcement, Johnson said McNamara would check up on both the military and civilian effort there. The United States has deployed in Viet Nam now about 15,500 military personnel—and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge—to help the Saigon government in its war against the Viet Cong guerrillas.

With McNamara on the trip will be Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, Army chief of staff; John McNaughton, ths assistant defense secretary in charge of foreign military assistance, and Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary for public affairs.

McNamara is scheduled to take off Friday night. The first stop will be at Bonn, to discuss with West German leaders the status of the program under which Germany buys equipment and supplies from the United States to help offset the gold dollar cost of maintaining almost a quarter million military men in West Germany.

With the Bonn sessions concluded by Monday, McNamara will take off for Saigon. He plans to be back at his Pentagon desk next Thursday.

Carson Officer Retires After 20-Year Service

Twenty years of Army service ended at Ft. Carson last Thursday as Maj. Cecil C. Shields, movements control officer with the 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) Supply section, received his fourth award to the Army Commendation Ribbon, during retirement ceremonies held at the mountain post.

Maj. Shields served in the South Pacific in World War II with the 35th Transportation Composite Group. In addition to his Pacific assignments, he has been to Europe, and twice to Korea, once during the war, with the 425th Traffic Group.

He was one of the few officers assigned to the mountain post since the formation of the 5th Division at Carson. Prior to his movements control job, he was the post motor pool officer. He served at Carson during the days of the 9th Division as commander of the advanced marksmanship unit.

The major makes his home at 1212 Rosemont, in Security, with his wife, Valeri and their two children, Kevin and Betty.

Lutherans To Observe Ascension Day

Immanuel Lutheran Church will observe Ascension Day today. An Ascension Day Service and concert will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the church, East Pikes Peak Avenue and Institute Street.

Ascension Day commemorates the return of Jesus to His Father's right hand there to reign and intercede for Christians, church officials said.

The adult choir and the Jr. high choir, both under the direction of Kenneth Schlueter, will sing throughout the service. The Rev. Walter Enge, pastor of Immanuel, will give a short address.

McNamara Goes Back to Saigon For New Probe

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert S. McNamara, secretary of defense who has become something of a general trouble shooter for President Johnson in South Viet Nam's vexing problems, sets out again Friday night on a world-girdling trip back to Saigon.

Johnson told a news conference Wednesday he had asked McNamara to go to South Viet Nam to take a new look at the situation there.

At the Pentagon, McNamara's aides said that the new trip, coming only two months after his previous trip, did not mean that any new critical emergency had arisen.

McNamara was going to assess any progress made in recommendations agreed upon after his March trip, these sources said.

While there may be no sharp new crisis developments, obviously have not shown any abrupt upturn toward victory in recent months.

Wednesday McNamara, in an address to a session of the Advertising Council, said the situation still was serious—although he also repeated an earlier statement that he hoped for improvement in the next few months.

In his announcement Johnson said McNamara would check up on both the military and civilian effort there. The United States has deployed in Viet Nam now about 15,000 military personnel and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to help the Saigon government in its war against the Viet Cong guerrillas.

With McNamara on the trip will be Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, Army chief of staff, John McNaughton, the assistant defense secretary in charge of foreign military assistance, and Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary for public affairs.

McNamara is scheduled to take off Friday night. The first stop will be at Bonn to discuss with West German leaders the status of the program under which Germany buys equipment and supplies from the United States to help offset the gold dollar cost of maintaining almost a quarter million military men in West Germany.

With the Bonn sessions concluded by Monday, McNamara will take off for Saigon. He plans to be back at his Pentagon desk next Thursday.

Carson Officer Retires After 20-Year Service

Twenty years of Army service ended at Ft. Carson last Thursday as Maj. Cecil C. Shields, movements control officer with the 5th Infantry Division, Mechanized Supply section, received his fourth award of the Army Commendation Ribbon during retirement ceremonies held at the mountain post.

Maj. Shields served in the South Pacific in World War II with the [illegible] Transportation Composite Group. In addition to his Pacific assignments, he has been to Europe and twice to Korea, once during the war, with the 425th Traffic Group.

He was one of the few officers assigned to the mountain post since the formation of the 5th Division at Carson. Prior to his movements control job, he was the post motor pool officer. He served at Carson during the days of the 9th Division as commander of the advanced marksmanship unit.

The major makes his home at 1212 Rosemont, in Security, with his wife Valeri and their two children, Kevin and Betty.

Lutherans To Observe Ascension Day

Immanuel Lutheran Church will observe Ascension Day today. An Ascension Day Service and concert will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the church, East Pikes Peak Avenue and Institute Street.

Ascension Day commemorates the return of Jesus to His Father's right hand there to reign and intercede for Christians, church officials said.

The adult choir and the Jr. high choir, both under the direction of Kenneth Schlueter, will sing throughout the service. The Rev. Walter Enge, pastor of Immanuel, will give a short address.

Former Nazis Blend Into 'Background'

By LEON DENNEN

NEW YORK (NEA) — Some 300 prominent ex-Nazis are reported to be holding top government posts in Communist East Germany. Like chameleons, they have blended with their backgrounds.

Yet the Russians, who never tire of castigating West Germany as a "nest of Nazis," are curiously silent about the horde of Hitlerites which serves Walter Ulbricht.

This, alas, is also true of some Americans whose hearts bleed easily for real or imaginary victims of injustice in the non-Communist world. But they resort to a double standard, even a double vision, in judging Moscow's favorite Nazis.

To be sure, in the closed society of communism it is not easy to distinguish between Reds and ex-Nazis. This undoubtedly confuses some liberals.

The Russians have even seized all Nazi party records in East Berlin in a clumsy effort to protect their faithful servants who have exchanged their Nazi membership cards for Red party cards.

They refused to make the records available to the West Germans who are currently trying for murder 22 former officials of the notorious Auschwitz concentration camp.

But despite Moscow's efforts, many of the Nazis employed as top government officials in Communist East Germany are known in the West.

They include, among others, Hans Bentzien, East German minister of culture; Hans Reichlet, minister of agriculture; Heinz Merkel, minister of trade and supply. Merkel joined the Nazi party in 1938 and held membership card No. 7,018, 914.

Two East German officials even have the distinction of having been members of Hitler's Old Guard (Alte Kaempfer). They are Heinrich Hohmann, chairman of the East German state council and Werner Winkler, vice chairman of the state planning commission. They joined the Nazi party in 1931 and helped Hitler seize power in Germany.

When, then, will the liberals protest the employment of Nazis in East Germany as they constantly do in the case of West Germany? When will the Reds put their own Nazis on trial?

The current trial in Frankfurt, West Germany, of former staff members of Auschwitz will not bring to life the millions of Jews, Poles, gypsies and children who perished in Hitler's gas chambers. But, at least, it represents the clearest indictment yet produced in a German court of the inhuman crimes committed by the Nazis.

It took West German prosecutors years of painstaking research to produce the massive 700-page indictment. Their investigations included the interviews with several thousand witnesses, most of them survors of Hitler's extermination camps. More than 200 witnesses will eventually be heard at the Frankfurt trial which began last December.

"Hitler's crimes must not go unpunished," Prof. Carlo Schmid, vice president of the West German Bundestag, told this writer. "They cannot go unpunished, no matter how long it takes to find Hitler's accomplices, if Germany is to rise as a democratic state founded on the rule of law and justice."

It is characteristic of a free society like West Germany that sooner or later it cleans its own house. But no such "democratic prejudices" trouble the conscience of the Kremlin rulers and their East German puppets.

Even the West German judge wept when an Auschwitz death camp trial witness told how one of the Nazi defendants killed children by dashing them against a wall.

When will a similar trial be held in Communist East Germany?

ODDBALL OTTER

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) — When M. L. Steyn of Choma, Northern Rhodesia, led his pet named Stinker through the streets near here, he caused quite a stir. Stinker is an otter.

According to Mr. Steyn, Stinker was one of a litter of three pups sold to him for $1. Otters however, are very difficult to rear, and Stinker was the only survivor. Steyn claims Stinker is the only pet otter in the Southern Hemisphere and says that despite his name he is playful, inquisitive and clean.

Major Reforms To Be Urged At NATO Meet

By DAVID MASON

PARIS (AP)—Major reforms in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization reportedly will be urged at the spring meeting of the alliance's foreign ministers in the Hague next week.

The proposals reflect the wide political and military changes since 1949, when NATO was created to rally war-ravaged Western Europe in common defense against the threat of Comunist aggression.

One possible effect would be to diminish the role of the United States and Britain in the 15-nation alliance.

In the forefront of those seeking a major shakeup in the NATO structure is French President Charles de Gaulle, who has long chafed under what he considers the alliance's Anglo-Saxon leadership. Informed sources said Wednesday that French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville will not make any specific recommendations.

But Couve de Murville is expected to expound De Gaulle's views, and West Germany and Italy may join France in seeking a larger voice in NATO, reflecting their postwar resurgence.

Officials doubt that any hard decisions will emerge next week. They say some questions raised may be taken up at a special meeting of the NATO defense ministers in July.

The only formal action likely in the Hague is an announcement that Manlio Brosio, Italy's ambassador to France, will succeed Dirk U. Stikker of the Netherlands as NATO secretary-general. Brosio formerly was Italy's ambassador in Washington. Stikker has announced he will resign Aug. 1 because of his health.

The political planners have sometimes been unaware of what takes place at the military consultations across the Atlantic.

De Gaulle wants the alliance to reflect the economic and military recovery of Western Europe; the diminished threat from the Soviet bloc; the acquisition of nuclear weapons by France, and the apparent nuclear stalemate between the United States and the Soviet Union.

De Gaulle finds no reason for the United States to continue to exercise paramount authority in NATO and asks why the supreme commander in Europe must always be an American.

De Gaulle also finds fault with the political arrangement whereby smaller nations, such as Norway and Luxembourg, sit on an equal basis with the Western Big Three.

The United States refuses to join Britain and France in a Western triumvirate. American officials say this would give France a veto over U.S. decisions in areas where France's power and interests are far less than those of the United States.

Trainmen Go On Strike In Illinois

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — More than 100 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen on two freight railroads went on strike at 12:01 a.m. today, officials of the two lines announced.

The reason for the strikes was not determined immediately.

Operations halted on the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad and the Peoria & Pekin Union Railway. The Toledo, Peoria and Western is a 239-mile line across Illinois from Keokuk, Iowa, to Effner, Ind., which is used for transcontinental freight hauls. The Peoria & Pekin Union Railway is a terminal line which switches freight cars in the Peoria area for seven other railroads.

Russ Esslinge, vice president of the TP&W, said about 55 members of the union are employed by the line. E. J. Brasso, superintendent of the terminal said here are about 66 members of the BLFE employed by the road which has about 500 employes.

Pickets were set up at both carriers and other workers stayed away from their jobs, the rail officials said.

Union officials were not immediately available for comment.

The strikes started as railroads throughout the nation issued layoff notices to thousands of diesel engine firemen in freight and yard service. All firemen losing their jobs have less than two years' seniority.

Major Reforms To Be Urged At NATO Meet

By DAVID MASON

PARIS (AP) —Major reforms in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization reportedly will be urged at the spring meeting of the alliance's foreign ministers in the Hague next week.

The proposals reflect the wide political and military changes since 1949 when NATO was created to rally war-ravaged Western Europe in common defense against the threat of Comunist aggression.

One possible effect would be to diminish the role of the United States and Britain in the 15-nation alliance.

In the forefront of those seeking a major shakeup in the NATO structure is French President Charles de Gaulle, who has long chafed under what he considers the alliance's Anglo-Saxon leadership. Informed sources said Wednesday that French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville will not [illegible]

But Couve de Murville is expected to expound De Gaulle's views, and West Germany and Italy may join France in seeking a larger voice in NATO, reflecting their postwar resurgence.

Officials doubt that any hard decisions will emerge next week. They say some questions raised may be taken up at a special meeting of the NATO defense ministers in July.

The only formal action likely at the Hague is an announcement that Manlio Brosio, Italy's ambassador to France, will succeed Dirk U. Stikker of the Netherlands as NATO secretary general. Brosio formerly was Italy's ambassador in Washington. Stikker has announced he will resign Aug. 1 because of his health.

The political planners have sometimes been unaware of what takes place at the military consultations across the Atlantic.

De Gaulle wants the alliance to reflect the economic and military recovery of Western Europe, the diminished threat from the Soviet bloc, the acquisition of nuclear weapons by France, and the apparent nuclear stalemate between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Trainmen Go On Strike In Illinois

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — More than 100 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen on two Illinois railroads went on strike at 12:01 a.m. today, officials of the two lines announced.

The reason for the strikes was not determined immediately.

Operations halted on the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad and the Peoria & Pekin Union Railway. The Toledo, Peoria and Western is a 239-mile line across Illinois from Keokuk, Iowa, to Effner, Ind., which is used for transcontinental freight hauls. The Peoria & Pekin Union Railway is a terminal line which switches freight cars in the Peoria area for seven other railroads.

Russ Essinger, vice president of the TP&W, said about 55 members of the union are employed by the line. F. J. Brasso, superintendent of the terminal, said there are about 66 members of the BLFE employed by the road which has about 500 employes.

Pickets were set up at both carriers and other workers stayed away from their jobs, the rail officials said.

Union officials were not immediately available for comment.

The strikes started as railroads throughout the nation issued layoff notices to thousands of diesel engine firemen in freight and yard service. All firemen losing their jobs have less than two years seniority.

Body of Missing Boy Found at End of Trail

HILLSVILLE, Va. (AP)—FBI agents, following a trail from Massachusetts to Georgia through an ex-convict's use of stolen credit cards, have found the body of a missing eight-year-old New Jersey boy — the third such discovery in little more than a month.

Use of a credit card at a nearby service station led the FBI Wednesday to the location in mountainous terrain of a body they identified as that of David Wulff, last seen when he left his home April 1 in Willingboro, N.J., to attend a school function.

While medical authorities checked for the cause of the boy's death, police sought to link it with Joseph Francis Bryan Jr., 25, of Audubon, N.J., already in custody in Sumter, S.C. on charges of kidnaping two other boys.

Bryan, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals when he was arrested last Tuesday in New Orleans, has been charged with kidnaping John David Robison, 10, of Mt. Pleasant, S.C., and Dennis Burke, 8, of Humboldt, Tenn.

The body of young Robison, who disappeared from his home Feb. 27, was found March 31 in a shallow grave near Hallandale, Fla. The Burke boy had not been harmed when he was found with Bryan at the time of his arrest. Dennis had been missing from his home for four days.

St Petersburg, Fla., authorities have sought to link Bryan also with the March 23 disappearance there of Lewis (Hackie) Wilson, 7. The child's body was found last Thursday in a palmetto grove at Venice, Fla., near a spot the FBI has learned Bryan got stuck in the sand.

Bryan was arraigned Monday in New Orleans on the kidnaping charge in the Robison case and was returned to South Carolina to face court action.

The FBI said use of a credit card at a service station at Fancy Gap — eight or nine miles away — brought them to this area and the end of a six-day hunt for the Wulff boy through southwest Virginia.

Joseph D. Purvis, agent in charge of the Richmond FBI office, said agents had placed Bryan in West Virginia the night of April 13 and had placed Bryan in West Virginia the next night without the youngster.

About halfway between Wytheville and the Blue Ridge Parkway, agents found a toy pistol amid a clump of bushes just off U.S. 52. Some 400 yards northwest of the highway, they found the body, crumpled up under a fallen tree, face down, the right leg folded back underneath.

Purvis said the head was wrapped with a plastic raincoat and two strands of electric wire were around the neck.

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Wulff of Willingboro, a few miles south of Trenton. His father is freight manager for the New York Central Railroad in New York. There are two other children — Beth, 6, and Caroline, 5.

Police Chief S. Marshall Roser said in Willingboro he was informed by the FBI last Friday that an investigation was being conducted that might link Bryan to the Wulff boy's disappearance.

Roser, the boy's father and an uncle left New Jersey Wednesday night to come here. The boy's mother reportedly collapsed when told the body had been discovered.

Truman Slated To Stay at Blair House

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — History takes an intriguing turn today as Harry S. Truman, on the eve of his 80th birthday, heads into town and toward a billet at Blair House, the mansion for the nation's most distinguished guests.

Well does the former president know this famous old home on Pennsylvania Ave. It was there he lived in the early 1950s while the sagging White House was being rebuilt from top to bottom. And it was there that wild Puerto Rican revolutionaries stormed the door in a bloody but unsuccessful attempt to assassinate him.

President Johnson figured it is not every day that a former president about to turn 80 hits town. So he invited Truman to stay at the Blair House, which is usually reserved for kings, queens and oil-rich sheiks.

Rockefeller Foundation's 1963 Report

NEW YORK — The Rockefeller Foundation appropriated $37,146,072 during 1963 in carrying out a five-point program in the United States and abroad. Following the guidelines recently established by its Board of Trustees, the Foundation is devoting its major professional and financial resources to the improvement of health and nutrition, toward solutions of problems in population, the strengthening of emerging centers of learning in developing nations, the improvement of educational opportunities for disadvantaged minorities in the U. S., and general cultural achievement in this country.

Dr. J. George Harrar, the Foundation's President, reported that over the past 51 years The Rockefeller Foundation has invested more than $800,000,000 in promoting the well-being of mankind throughout the world.

The information comes from the President's Review, an 87-page report of the Foundation's activities during 1963 made public today by Dr. Harrar.

More than one half of the funds expended during 1963 were devoted to projects within this country. Grants exceeding $4.3 million were made to help prepare disadvantaged Negro and other students for college, to establish special scholarship funds for them, and to strengthen the faculties of predominantly Negro colleges.

Training projects in drama and music in the U. S., and the development of performing arts centers received support exceeding $6,000,000.

Toward the worldwide conquest of hunger, the Foundation appropriated $8,094,248 for work in the agricultural sciences. This included budgets for research and development undertaken by the Foundation's own staff of agricultural scientists, fifty of whom are serving in Latin America, India, Africa and the Far East.

Coordinated efforts in the field of population, now a major concern of the Foundation's program in the medical and natural sciences, received appropriations totaling $6,928,840. Special attention was given to experimental programs in rural health centers in Latin America, India, and Africa.

Slightly more than $1 million was spent on continuing investigations of little known insect-borne viruses, some of which are disease-causing agents. This work is being carried out, in part by Foundation scientists, at laboratories located in the United States, Brazil, Colombia, India and Trinidad.

Support of the humanities and social sciences, much of it directed at strengthening emerging centers of learning and at meeting the economic, political, and cultural needs of developing nations, amounted to $11,904,772.

In addition to its grant-making and operating activities, The Rockefeller Foundation made available a total of $3,525,000 for fellowships and scholarships held by 709 men and women from 52 countries.

"Over the years," Dr. Harrar commented, "we have woven education and training into all aspects of the effort to advance human welfare. Today, more than ever, trained manpower is the key to accomplishment."

Unfair Oswald Trial Charges Are Denied

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade says the dean of the Harvard Law School "got his facts twisted" contending that television coverage would have denied Lee Harvey Oswald a fair trial.

Oswald was charged with asassinating President John F. Kennedy.

Dean Erwin Griswold, at a symposium on news coverage of trials, said: "The district attorney in Dallas came on TV and outlined all his evidence. How in the world could anyone have expected a fair trial after that?"

Wade said he did not make public his evidence against Oswald until after he was shot by Jack Ruby, and then "I thought the public had a right to know the evidence which linked him with the assassination."

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued to move higher in active trading early this afternoon despite some profit taking.

Plus signs predominated as key stocks moved generally from fractions to about a point.

The market's upward drive, now in its fifth straight day, appeared to be running into increasing difficulty.

Chrysler continued to draw buyers because of its recent glowing report on sales. Trading had to be halted temporarily in the stock to match orders after it had climbed 1¾ to 50.

Other motors were mixed, with changes narrow. The major steelmakers pressed ahead slightly.

Gains by selected industrials supported the list but there was nothing much in the way of pronounced group leadership. Utilities and rails were mixed.

An uneven pattern also prevailed among chemicals, oils, airlines, tobaccos and nonferrous metals.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 306.9 with industrials up .7, rails up .2 and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .97 at 829.15.

Texas Gulf Sulphur resumed its advance with a gain of ¼ on an opener of 22,000 shares but erased the gain later and showed a net loss of a point.

U.S. Smelting, up about 3, was in a new spate of demand. IBM ran up more than 4; Xerox, Control Data and High Voltage Engineering more than a point each.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were steady.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP)—Trade in the grain futures market indicated a good deal of nervousness in the early afternoon today and prices became irregular.

RFK 'Not Surprised' At Vote for Wallace

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says he "was not surprised" at the strong vote for Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama in the Indiana presidential primary.

Kennedy, speaking to 300 law students at the University of Pennsylvania Wednesday, said "there is a revolution now in the United States over civil rights and people don't like to have their lives disturbed."

"It's not surprising then," he added, "that one-third of the people in Indiana voted for Wallace. About one-fifth of the people are against everything all the time."

Wallace, who campaigned against the civil rights bill pending in the Senate, got more than 29 per cent of the votes in losing to Democratic Gov. Matthew E. Welsh.

HEAVENLY DISHES

MANHASSET, N.Y. (AP) — Some cooks like to keep special recipes a secret, but the chefs at a recent church supper at Christ Church here were most anxious to share theirs.

The Doubles Club of the church served a meal prepared entirely from recipes in a new cookbook which includes the favorite formulas of many members of the congregation. The 144-page book, printed to raise funds for club projects, is titled "Holy Smoke."

Race Picketing Of Barber Shop Being Planned

TELEGRAPH EDITORS: The following reports on demonstrations by college students against barbers who refuse to serve Negroes are suggested for side-by-side use.

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP)—Lewis Gegner is sticking to his vow that he will not reopen his barber shop until his appeal is ruled upon by the Ohio Supreme Court.

Gegner and his shop have been the subject of numerous civil rights demonstrations, led by white and Negro students at Antioch College, and court actions for the past four years before of his refusal to serve Negroes.

He says he doesn't know how to cut Negroes' hair.

He closed March 15 after a demonstration at his shop the day before developed into a near riot and more than 100 persons were arrested. The violence broke out when police began arresting demonstrators on a charge of violating a court order limiting pickets at the shop to three at a time.

He said he was not closing his shop in defeat but "for the safety of my wife and son and the dignity of the community."

Gegner's appeal to the Supreme Court asks that it overturn a decision by the 2nd Ohio District Court of Appeals upholding the state public accommodations statutes as they apply to barbers.

That appellate court decision had reversed a trial court ruling which had said barbers were not covered by the state statutes.

The Ohio Supreme Court agreed in March to review Gegner's appeal but it had not set a date for hearing.

MADISON, N.J. (AP) — The corner barber, traditionally an expert talker on topics like baseball and politics, finds himself talking about just one thing these days in Madison—civil rights. Chances are his shop is being picketed.

The pickets—students at Drew University—contend that most barbers in this northern New Jersey college town refuse to cut the hair of Negroes, and accuse the barbers of racial prejudice.

They have picketed shops since April 13 and their leader, a 20-year-old white junior, said the demonstration would continue until "we're sure they've stopped discriminating."

The same protest is being made in East Orange, where Upsala College students have been picketing barber shops.

The protests began when Negro students, including Africans, were refused haircuts.

Barbers say Negroes' hair is difficult to cut and they have had no training for it. They also claim a right to refuse service to anyone. Some say white customers would go elsewhere if they served Negroes.

Five barbers here formed an association to protect their own civil rights, which they said were being violated by the students.

Federal Figures Show Where Tax Cut Money Going

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the mystery of what people are doing with their tax cut bonanza is lifted by government figures on personal debts.

A lot of them have used the increase in their take-home pay to lighten the load of their charge accounts and single payment loans. Others apparently have used some of the tax windfall to make larger than usual repayments on various types of instalment credit other than for autos.

But another sizable group has been encouraged by the higher take-home pay to make downpayments on still more instalment credit.

Merchants earlier had reported little apparent rush of shoppers to spend the new money in the stores. Gains in retail sales had followed usual seasonal patterns and were otherwise in line with slowly increasing personal income totals from other than tax cut windfalls.

Banks had failed to report any great rise in savings accounts.

The U.S. Treasury's sales of savings bonds was smaller in April than in March and also below the figure for April 1963.

Then just where was the new money going?

A really notable change after the larger pay checks began to appear in March was in charge accounts and single payment loans. These tend to be smaller than the instalment type debt. And a man with a few extra dollars in his pocket is likely to think of tidying up some of the pressing bills before tackling the problem of the regular monthly payments on household appliances, cars and the home mortgage.

Also, the tax cut benefits began showing up when many persons were calculating how much they still might owe in federal and state income taxes for last year. And, in many cases, the extra dollars came in handy in making first advance payments on this year's taxes. In that case, the Treasury gave and the Treasury took away without the individual noticing much immediate benefit.

Although repayments of instalment credit increased in March more than seasonally, the volume of new debt advanced even more, so that the total outstanding hit another record at $53.8 billion. In many cases the same people may have reduced their outstanding bills and then splurged by adding commitments.

Telephone Cables In Springs Area Gas Pressurized

Twenty-seven men have been working for the last five months on "gas pressurization" of underground telephone cables here, Glenn Anderson, district manager for Mountain States Telephone, said today.

Anderson said that in years past whenever sudden heavy rains occurred many customers in the area were temporarily put out of service because of wet cable. This was caused, he said, by small cracks in the cable, which, when a sudden rain occurred, temporarily caused moisture to be sucked into the hole, causing wet cables and putting telephones out of service.

Gas pressurization means, he said, that gas pressure is forced through the main cables and a constant pressure is maintained to prevent moisture from leaking into the cables.

FRIENDS, ROMANS, COUNTRYMEN . . .

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Mark Antony may have been off the beam in extolling Julius Caesar in that speech of his. Dr. Richard Bauman, who has just been awarded a doctorate of philosophy from Witwatersrand University here, wrote in his thesis that Caesar was a big-time hoodlum involved in Rome's protection racket. Dr. Bauman claims that the Emperor was one of the first public relations practitioners in history and built up a big image of himself despite his illegal doings.

Six-Month Sales And Income Up For Emerson

Both sales and net income of Emerson Electric Co., were up for six months ended March 31, and earnings available for common stock amounted to $1.01 per share as compared with 89 cents per share a year ago, W. R. Persons, chairman of the board and president, announced today.

Sales for the first six months of this year were $105,876,168 and net income was $7,306,691, as compared with sales of $102,293,304 and net income of $6,319,022 reported a year ago.

Net earnings for the period benefited somewhat from the reduction of the Federal corporate income tax rate and from changes in the treatment of investment credit for new equipment, as provided in the new tax law.

"Our results were on target with respect to the growth plan of Emerson Electric," Persons said, "and we continued to experience exceptionally strong progress in our commercial products divisions. For both the six months and in the second quarter, we achieved the largest commercial sales volume in our history.

"At the same time, the planned changes and 'stretch-outs' by the government in its defense and space activities definitely slowed our over-all progress. This is a matter of serious concern to many segments of American industry. On our part, we are currently engaged in an intensive evaluation of the real potential for government products work.

"For over three decades Emerson has made a sizeable contribution to U. S. military and space programs, and until recently this constituted a large part of our sales volume. We intend to continue to seek to capitalize on our extremely strong position in such fields as radar, microelectronics, re-entry, helicopter armament, and ground support weaponry systems on a profitable basis.

"As to the balance of this fiscal year, with an excellent outlook for continued progress in commercial business we expect to achieve our profit objective."

Santa Fe to Put 12 New Pullmans On Super Chief

Twelve new Pullman cars will go in service on Santa Fe Railway's Super Chief beginning Sunday, according to Ross E. Chappell, general passenger traffic manager, Chicago. Two of the new cars will be on the train daily, Chappell said.

The cars each contain 11 bedrooms, reflecting the public's demand for this type of accommodation, Chappell said. Each bedroom has a lower and upper berth with large reading lights, enclosed toilet facilities, wash basin with large mirror, push-button controls for radio or music, clothes closet and a full-length mirror. Bedrooms are designed for occupancy by one or two persons or the partition may be removed between two bedrooms, making a suite which will accommodate as many as four.

Completely rebuilt from the frame up at the Pullman Co. shops at Chicago, the new cars will complement existing equipment on the Super Chief. The streamliner features radio or music in each room, market bulletins placed aboard at intervals, a pleasure-dome lounge car with exquisite appointments and a wide range of dining facilities. In addition to the regular Fred Harvey menu, a special champagne dinner is available or arrangements can be made for private dining or cocktail parties in the intimate Turquoise Room.

The Chicago to Los Angeles train has long been a favorite with business executives, Hollywood stars and others who want to relax and enjoy privacy during the 39½ hour trip, Chappell said. Denver, Pueblo and Colorado Springs passengers can make connections with the Super Chief at La Junta where the east and west-bound trains arrive daily at 8:51 a.m. and 8:25 p.m., respectively.

Burlington Net Income Nearly Double in Quarter

Net income of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad in the first quarter this year totaled $5,495,108, compared to $2,957,192 in the first quarter a year ago, Harry C. Murphy, president announced at the annual meeting of stockholders Wednesday in Chicago.

Operating revenues were $64,126,945, compared to $59,900,204 in the first quarter of 1963. Higher revenues resulted primarily from increased grain loadings, Murphy said, totaling 5,000 more cars than in the first quarter of 1963. Coal and coke loadings also increased by more than 3,500 cars and lumber traffic by more than 1,000 cars.

Burlington's 1963 annual report showed net income was $21,367,648, highest since 1956, due in part to reduced state taxes resulting from the equalization of taxes on railroad property with non-railroad property.

Operating revenues were $261,713,684, compared to $263,434,538 in 1962. Operating expenses increased by $656,039, to $208,555,126. A dividend of $7.50 per share was paid, the 102nd consecutive annual payment to stockholders.

Industry continued to locate along the railroad, and the industrial department granted 761 leases. Newest industry to go into operation is the modern Dial Soap plant of Armour & Company in the railroad's industrial park near Aurora, Ill. Nearing completion at Burlington's North Kansas City industrial park is a warehouse facility of Sears, Roebuck & Company to serve the southwestern United States. At Grand Island, Nebraska, Swift & Company is building a modern meat packing plant alongside the railroad's mainline. Anticipating industrial expansion land was acquired at Grand Island, Nebraska, Casper, Wyoming and, jointly with the Great Northern Railway, at St. Paul, Minnesota.

Three-cent coins were minted by the U.S. several times, the first being in 1851.

CIG Net Income For Quarter 70 Cents a Share

Colorado Interstate Gas Company's consolidated net income for the first quarter of 1964 was $3,120,667, equal to 70 cents per share of common stock after provision for preferred dividends, compared with $3,053,383, or 69 cents per share of common stock in the first quarter of last year.

Announcement of first quarter operating results was made Tuesday by President W. E. Mueller at the annual meeting of stockholders.

For the 12-month period ended March 31, consolidated net income increased to $9,966,287 or $2.18 per common share compared with $9,488,604 or $2.07 per common share, Mueller said.

He said that first quarter operating results were aided by colder than normal weather which contributed to the increase in gas sales revenues. He also noted that product sales of the manufacturing divisions of Colorado Oil and Gas Corporation, a CIG subsidiary, also increased in the first three months.

All members of the board of directors were reelected at the stockholder's meeting, and all officers of the Company were reelected at the board meeting which followed.

Officers reelected are: W. E. Mueller, president; J. P. Roetzel, executive vice president; S. Cassell Barrett, P. J. King Jr., Neal B. LauBach and Thomas I. Pelican, senior vice presidents; William H. Cook, John W. Hopkins, Bernie B. Morgan, Charles H. Shinn and L. M. Stone, vice presidents; Lewis M. Poe, secretary, and John J. Yeonopolus, treasurer. All are from Colorado Springs.

In addition to Mueller, members of the board reelected by stockholders are: John Evans, honorary chairman of the board of the First National Bank, Denver; Robert W. Hendee, consultant, Colorado Springs; Joseph H. King, partner, Eastman Dillon, Union Securities & Company, New York, N.Y.; Albert K. Mitchell, rancher, Albert, New Mexico; Ralph E. Mullin, independent oil operator, Corpus Christi, Texas, and Russell T. Tutt, president, El Pomar Investment Company, Colorado Springs.

Dividends for the second quarter on Interstate's common and preferred stock were declared by the board.

A dividend of 31¼ cents per share on the common stock will be paid June 15 to stockholders of record June 1.

A dividend of $1.25 on the five per cent series preferred stock will be paid July 1 to stockholders of record on June 15.

A dividend of $1.33¾ on the 5.35 per cent series preferred stock will be paid July 1 to stockholders of record June 15.

Mueller told the stockholders that 1964 is proving to be an active and eventful year.

"Common stockholders dividend income was increased by 40 per cent commencing with the first quarter dividend of 1964," he said. "This reflects the common stock reclassification in that amount which took place last December."

He noted that Colorado Interstate's common stock was admitted to trading on the New York Stock Exchange on April 30 under the ticker symbol CGC.

He also said that a successful public offering of $35,000,000 of 4.75 per cent debentures due 1984 was made in April.

Mueller said that an expansion application filed with the Federal Power Commission in April is designed to provide new facilities for the Rocky Mountain area in time to take care of next winter's heating demands.

Estimated cost of the proposed facilities is $2,231,000. Included are construction of 32 miles of new pipeline to provide Trinidad, Colo., with a direct link to CIG's new Arkansas Valley transmission line and construction of a compressor station in the Mocane area of western Oklahoma.

Ground-breaking for the Wycon Chemical Company's ammonium nitrate plant near Cheyenne, Wyo., is scheduled to be held shortly and it is expected that the plant will be in production during the first quarter of 1965.

More than 85 per cent of the Company's stockholders were represented at the meeting either in person or by proxy.

MANHASSET, N.Y. (AP) — Some cooks like to keep special recipes a secret, but the chefs at a recent church supper at Christ Church here were most anxious to share theirs.

The Doubles Club of the church served a meal prepared entirely from recipes in a new cookbook which includes the favorite formulas of many members of the congregation. The 144-page book, printed to raise funds for club projects, is titled "Holy Smoke."

Race Picketing Of Barber Shop Being Planned

TELEGRAPH EDITORS: The following reports on demonstrations by college students against barbers who refuse to serve Negroes are suggested for side-by-side use.

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — Lewis Gegner is sticking to his vow that he will not reopen his barber shop until his appeal is ruled upon by the Ohio Supreme Court.

Gegner and his shop have been the subject of numerous civil rights demonstrations, led by white and Negro students at Antioch College, and court actions for the past four years because of his refusal to serve Negroes.

He says he doesn't know how to cut Negroes' hair.

He closed March 15 after a demonstration at his shop the day before developed into a near riot and more than 100 persons were arrested. The violence broke out when police began arresting demonstrators on a charge of violating a court order limiting pickets at the shop to three at a time.

He said he was not closing his shop in defeat but "for the safety of my wife and son and the dignity of the community."

Gegner's appeal to the Supreme Court asks that it overturn a decision by the 2nd Ohio District Court of Appeals upholding the state public accommodations statutes as they apply to barbers.

That appellate court decision [illegible] ruling [illegible] said barbers were not [illegible] Supreme Court [illegible] has not set a date [illegible]

MADISON, N.J. (AP) — The [illegible] being picketed.

The pickets, students at Drew University, contend that most barbers in this northern New Jersey college town refuse to cut the hair of Negroes and accuse the barbers of racial prejudice.

They have picketed shops since April 13 and their leader [illegible] said the demonstration would continue until "we're sure they've stopped discriminating."

The same protest is being made in East Orange where Upsala College students have been picketing barber shops.

The protests began when Negro students [illegible] African [illegible] were refused haircuts.

Barbers say Negro hair is difficult to cut and they have had no training for it. They also claim a right to refuse service to anyone. Some say white customers would go elsewhere if they served Negroes.

Five barbers here formed an association to protect their own civil rights, which they said were being violated by the students.

Federal Figures Show Where Tax Cut Money Going

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of the mystery of what people are doing with their tax cut bonanza is lifted by government figures on personal debts.

A lot of them have used the increase in their take-home pay to lighten the load of their charge accounts and single payment loans. Others apparently have used some of the tax windfall to make larger than usual repayments on various types of instalment credit other than for autos.

But another sizable group has been encouraged by the higher take-home pay to make down-payments on still more instalment credit.

Merchants earlier had reported little apparent rush of shoppers to spend the new money in the stores. Gains in retail sales had followed usual seasonal patterns and were otherwise in line with slowly increasing personal income totals from other than tax cut windfalls.

Banks had failed to report any great rise in savings accounts. The U.S. Treasury's sales of savings bonds was smaller in April than in March and also below the figure for April 1963.

Then just where was the new money going.

A really notable change after the larger pay checks began to appear in March was in charge accounts and single payment loans. These tend to be smaller than the instalment type debt. And a man with a few extra dollars in his pocket is likely to think of tidying up some of the pressing bills before tackling the problem of the regular monthly payments on household appliances, cars and the home mortgage.

Also the tax cut benefits began showing up when many persons were calculating how much they still might owe in federal and state income taxes for last year. And in many cases the extra dollars came in handy in making first advance payments on this year's taxes. In that case the Treasury gave and the Treasury took away without the individual noticing much immediate benefit.

Although repayments of instalment credit increased in March more than seasonally, the volume of new debt advanced even more, so that the total outstanding hit another record at $53.8 billion. In many cases the same people may have reduced their outstanding bills and then splurged by adding commitments.

Telephone Cables In Springs Area Gas Pressurized

Twenty-seven men have been working for the last five months on "gas pressurization" of underground telephone cables here, Glenn Anderson, district manager for Mountain States Telephone, said today.

Anderson said that in years past whenever sudden heavy rains occurred many customers in the area were temporarily put out of service because of wet cable. This was caused, he said, by small cracks in the cable which, when a sudden rain occurred, temporarily caused moisture to be sucked into the [illegible] causing wet cables and putting telephones out of service.

Gas pressurization means, he said, that gas pressure is forced through the main cables and a constant pressure is maintained to prevent moisture from leaking into the cables.

FRIENDS, ROMANS, COUNTRYMEN . . .

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Mark Antony may have been off the beam in extolling Julius Caesar in that speech of his. Dr. Richard Bauman, who has just been awarded a doctorate of philosophy from Witwatersrand University here, wrote in his thesis that Caesar was a big-time hoodlum involved in Rome's protection racket. Dr. Bauman claims that the Emperor was one of the first public relations practitioners in history and built up a big image of himself despite his illegal doings.

Six-Month Sales And Income Up For Emerson

Both sales and net income of Emerson Electric Co., were up for six months ended March 31, and earnings available for common stock amounted to $1.01 per share as compared with 89 cents per share a year ago, W. R. Persons, chairman of the board and president, announced today.

Sales for the first six months of this year were $105,876,168 and net income was $7,306,691 as compared with sales of $102,293,304 and net income of $6,319,022 reported a year ago.

Net earnings for the period benefited somewhat from the reduction of the Federal corporate income tax rate and from changes in the treatment of investment credit for new equipment, as provided in the new tax law.

"Our results were on target with respect to the growth plan of Emerson Electric," Persons said, "and we continued to experience exceptionally strong progress in our commercial products divisions. For both the six months and in the second quarter we achieved the largest commercial sales volume in our history.

"At the same time, the planned changes and 'stretch-outs' by the government in its defense and space activities definitely slowed our over-all progress. This is a matter of serious concern to many segments of American industry. [illegible] we are currently engaged in an intensive evaluation of the [illegible] potential for government [illegible] work.

"For over [illegible] Emerson has made a [illegible] contribution to U.S. [illegible] and space programs [illegible] recently this constituted a [illegible] part of our sales volume. The streamliner features radio or music in each room, market bulletins placed aboard at intervals, a pleasure-dome lounge car with exquisite appointments and a wide range of dining facilities. The Chicago-Los Angeles train has long been a favorite with business executives, Hollywood stars and others who want to relax and enjoy privacy during the 39½ hour trip. Burlington Net Income Nearly Double in Quarter

Net income of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad in the first quarter this year totaled $[illegible] compared to $2,067,[illegible] in the first quarter a year ago, Harry C. Murphy, president, reported at the annual meeting of stockholders Wednesday [illegible]

Operating revenues were $64,[illegible] compared to $70,000,[illegible] in the first quarter [illegible] 1963. Higher revenues resulted primarily from increased grain loadings, Murphy said. [illegible] in the first quarter of 1963. Coal and [illegible] loadings [illegible] increased [illegible] more than [illegible] cars and lumber [illegible] by more than 1,000 cars.

Burlington's 1963 annual report showed net income was $21,367,648, highest since 1956, due in part to reduced state taxes resulting from the equalization of taxes on railroad property with non-railroad property.

Operating revenues were $261,713,664 compared to $262,[illegible] in 1962. Operating expenses [illegible] $656,[illegible] [illegible] A dividend of $7.50 [illegible] 1962 [illegible] payment [illegible]

Burlington continued to locate along the railroad, and the industrial department granted 761 leases. Newest industry to go [illegible] is the modern [illegible] plant of Armour & Company in the railroad's industrial park near Aurora, Ill. Nearing completion at Burlington's North Kansas City industrial park is a warehouse facility of Sears, Roebuck & Company to serve the southwestern United States. At Grand Island, Nebraska, Swift & Company is building a modern meat packing plant alongside the railroad's mainline. Anticipating industrial expansion, land was acquired at Grand Island, Nebraska, Casper, Wyoming and [illegible] with the Great Northern [illegible] at St. Paul, Minnesota.

Colorado Interstate Gas Company's consolidated net income for the first quarter of 1964 was $3,120,667, equal to 70 cents per share of common stock after provision for preferred dividends, compared with $3,053,383 or 69 cents per share of common stock in the first quarter of last year.

Announcement of first quarter operating results was made Tuesday by President W. E. Mueller at the annual meeting of stockholders.

For the 12-month period ended March 31, consolidated net income increased to $9,[illegible] or $2.18 per common share compared with $9,486,604 or $2.07 per common share, Mueller said.

He said that first quarter operating results were aided by colder than normal weather which contributed to the increase in gas sales revenues. He also noted that product sales of the manufacturing divisions of Colorado Oil and Gas Corporation, a CIG subsidiary, also increased in the first three months.

All members of the board of directors were reelected at the stockholder's meeting and all officers of the Company were reelected at the board meeting which followed.

Woman Battles to Save Frank Lloyd Wright House

By RICHARD ARKIN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Freeway construction is about to eliminate a unique example of American arthitecture even though a determined woman stands in the way.

A state condemnation suit has been filed against famed architect Frank Lloyd Wright's Pope house in nearby Falls Church, Va., and it may soon fall prey to bulldozers clearing the way for Interstate Highway 66.

Mrs. Robert Leighey, present owner, has been leading a battle, now joined in by the government, to save the house from destruction.

"I'm not doing it for myself," she told UPI in an interview, "but for architects, students, and people building their own homes. This is the kind of house that people can live in, rather than just exist in."

The house was built in the 1940's and is an example of Wright's "organic" architecture —a blending of a building with its surroundings that gave the project an unusual esthetic value.

Mrs. Leighey has shown the curious around the house for the past 17 years.

"Even couples with babies in their arms have come to see it," she said.

The curious and the interested continue to come by, spurred by the publicity the place has received.

Finis Farr, author of "Frank Lloyd Wright, A Biography," wrote of the house:

"It was widely believed in those days (the early 1940's) that only the rich could afford to employ the famous architect and Wright accepted every opportunity to destroy this legend. The Falls Church commission was therefore much to his liking. Loren Pope was a newspaperman who needed the help of his publisher in financing the moderate-sized house.

"Perhaps the outstanding quality of the Pope house is the certainty of the designer's touch. The unhesitating precision in the handling of line and mass is characteristic of all Wright's work."

The house seems to grow from the woods in which it stands. It's weatherbeaten cypress exterior blends and merges with the tree trunks around it. Rows of plate glass doors stretch from floor to ceiling, and where these meet at a corner, there is no corner support. The walls open out while the floor continues and becomes a terrace. The ceiling, projecting out into space, pulls the eye beyond the house to a tree, a few feet away, which seems to become a building's cornerpost.

An interplay of forms, planes and space gives the house an illusion of depth. From any one point in the living room, it is impossible to see all the walls. The house pulls and pushes your eye, inside the house and outside it, around the brick piers and cypress, creating a unity with the land it is on.

"I think you become a better person by living here," Mrs. Leighey said. "Little by little your pretensions fall away, and you become a more truthful, a more honest person."

The state has offered $24,000 for the house although it would cost an estimated $48,000 to replace and an estimated $52,000 to relocate. There is vacant land adjacent and parallel but the state refuses to consider moving the alignment of the highway, claiming its land acquisition had gone too far for that.

"That's ridiculous," Mrs. Leighey said. "All they have to do is put the land up for sale. Land in Falls Church is at a premium. The land would be gone almost as soon as it was put on the market.

"I had this dream that the National Park Service would buy up the land, the house, an the land the state has already bought for the highway, and make it into a park—an urban park—but the highway department won't budge."

Mrs. Leighey no longer has to carry on her fight alone. The National Trust for Historic Preservation, Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and local newspapers have joined with her to preserve the house.

The Park Service, which is now convinced it cannot sway state highway officials to reroute their highway, has offered to help move the house to one of its parks.

"The hunt is on for a site," a Department of Interior spokesman said, and Virginia has offered to pay "within reason," the relocation costs. The Federal Bureau of Public Roads is investigating the possibility of government financing, and assorted groups and individuals have offered their help.

"It is a measure of the blind, restless surge of modern society," Secretary Udall said in a speech in Chicago, "that today three of Frank Lloyd Wright's most distinguished creations—the Robie house in Chicago, the Pope House, and the Imperial Hotel in Tokyo — are threatened by the advance of 'progress.'

"The preservationists are winning few battles with the bulldozers these days, but I can report to you with satisfaction that action is underway in Washington which should resul in the preservation of the Pope house."

"For the first time," Mrs. Leighey said, "I'm optimistic. If the highway can't be moved, the house will be moved and preserved for the future."

Parolee Hunted In Slaying of Two Policemen

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP)—A nationwide alert has been issued for a San Quentin parolee wanted for questioning in the slayings of two Fredericksburg policemen and a New Jersey service station attendant.

The FBI advised law officers not to attempt an arrest of Lewis Henry Wells without help as the exconvict is believed to be heavily armed and may have one or more companions with him.

Wells, who lists his age as either 53 or 63 and goes by various aliases, is sought in the Monday slaying of John S. Kersnowsky, 20, in New Brunswick, N.J., and the murders the following day of Fredericksburg policeman Sgt. R. G. Wright, 31, and patrolman William Frank Mines, 27.

T. W. Coble, Fredericksburg police chief, said an FBI ballistics report confirmed that the same foreign-made automatic fired the shots that killed all three victims.

Kersnowsky's body was found in the service station lavatory in North New Brunswick. Police said $60 had been stolen from the station.

The bodies of the two policemen were found behind a shopping center in South Fredericksburg by an early morning deliveryman. Their guns and ammunition had been taken and their clothing rifled.

Wells was traced through part of a New Jersey license number that was recorded by a witness Tuesday near the shopping center where the policemen were slain. The number tallies with that of a car owned by Wells, police said.

The fugitive is also being sought for violation of parole.

Firemen Put Out Grass Fires

The Colorado Springs Springs Fire Department put out three small grass fires Wednesday afternoon and this morning. This morning's alarm came at 8:17, and company 4 made the shortest run possible, unless it should be a run across an alley. The fire was at the residence of Mrs. Virginia Peralta, 847 W. Colorado Ave., directly across the street from the No. 4 station. The firemen hardly had time to sound the siren as they drove out of the station to the house of Mrs. Peralta. Fire had spread from an incinerator to grass in the back yard. The grass was a small patch and the firemen stood by, preventing the flames from spreading until they burned out. Capt. Neil Luehring was in charge.

Children playing with matches are reported to have started a grass fire along the Rock Island track at Paseo Road and LaSalle St. Wednesday. The fire department was called at 4:18 p.m. Deputy Chief A. N. Cummings and Company 6 responded. The fire was quickly put out with a booster pump.

At 1:59 p.m. Wednesday a grass fire broke out in the rear of 1058 LaSalle St. Capt. Bernard Bailey and Company 6 put this fire out. A two-wheeler trailer was damaged.

Deputy Sheriff Lee Quein said the theft happened outside the officers' mess hall at the Air Force Academy where Summers was working. It is a Black and Decker seven inch grinder with a three quarter horse power motor.

Hubcaps Stolen From Resident's Car

Four hubcaps worth a total of $60 were stolen from a car belonging to Michael Riley, 3816 N. Nevada Ave., the sheriff's office reported Wednesday.

The hubcaps are for a 1964 Corvette and have the initials "MR" printed inside them. Deputy Sheriff Charles Dietsche said the theft happened while the car was parked outside Riley's home.

Tigers Crush Orediggers To Clinch Winning Season

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

It was only a few hundred pitches ago that Colorado College's baseball team was the victim of just about every cruelty that has ever been devised by bat or glove.

However, early this spring freshman coach, Bob Johnson, announced that the days of the "big fumble" were strictly a blot on recent CC history —and were on the way out. Tiger players, who had never attended a symposium of this sort, have obeyed with almost miraculous results.

As an example, Wednesday afternoon Johnson's new cult secured the school's first winning baseball season since friends of the four-legged animal first began campaigning against the use of the term "horsehide."

Johnson's smooth unit celebrated this feat by burying Colorado Mines' Orediggers beneath a 21-7 score that was strangely reminiscent of CC scores of past seasons, the only difference being that this time the Colorado Springs club was the executioner.

Wednesday's triumph gave the Tigers a 10-5 record for 1964, a showing which can not be thrown out of balance by the four games remaining. The first two of those contests come up this weekend at Gunnison when CC battles Western State. A split in the Friday and Saturday series would practically assure the local club of a second place finish in the Rocky Mountain Conference.

The proof of the baseball renaissance at CC was in the nonchalant manner in which the Tigers mutilated Mines Wednesday. Johnson, who had planned to start ace Warner Reeser, switched to Jeff Sauer at the last minute when it became known that Sauer would be unavailable for the weekend trip.

The change in plans was never noticed by Mines. The Orediggers were too busy fielding the 23 hits that the Tigers deposited around Memorial Park.

So potent was the CC attack against three Mines' pitchers that the Tigers had 12 players hit safely. This included four whacks by previously slumping veteran, Dennis Walker, and three each by Carl Clay and Dee Wilson. Four other starters banged a pair of safeties.

Sauer, who had hurled two complete game victories last week, received credit for his Wednesday effort even though Mike Irsfield was summoned in relief after the Orediggers began rattling their bats in the seventh. Irsfield yielded a two run homer to the Miners' Tom Lea in the eighth but that shock was buffered by the rather solid cushion.

Actually Mines had a brief lead in the game. Paul Brennecke drew a walk in the first and rode around on Jerry Jergenson's double. The Tigers did not get to work until the bottom of the second but the end came quickly once the fireworks started. Walker led off the frame with a double and Williams followed with a orbital smash over the center field fence.

Before the inning was over CC had scored two more runs and six more scooted across the plate in the third. The fourth was the clincher as Johnson's Tigers ripped eight hits and poured nine tallies into the scorebook, upping the margin to 19-1.

For a team that has been humiliated so often in the past, the Tigers could be excused for assuming an attitude of comfortable embarrassment. But the club is far from being spoiled at this point. Chances are it'll take another 10 victories before the Tigers get tied of swinging.

Nicklaus Opens Bid For Colonial Crown

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH, Tex (AP)—Rain and a top-flight field posed a duplicate threat to Jack Nicklaus today as he opened his bid for the Colonial National Invitation Golf Championship.

Nicklaus, young powerhouse from Ohio, was rated the favorite as 72 players teed off in quest of a plump $75,000 purse.

A record $14,000 has been set aside for the winner who, the experts contend, will be Nicklaus, Masters champion Arnold Palmer or defending champion Julius Boros.

However, it was youthful Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla., who stole the preliminary spotlight with a two-under-par 68 in a pro-amateur Wednesday. It netted him first place money of $350.

Cloudy skies threatened all day to wash out the $3,500 appetizer after dumping showers intermittently for 48 hours. However, the threat produced little more than a good soaking for the treacherous 7,122-yard course.

A revised forecast called for more cloudiness with a possibility of thunder showers some time after 2 p.m., CST, today.

New Zealander Bob Charles and Dan Sikes of Ponte Vedra, Fla., deadlocked for second among the low pros with 69s. Each picked up $277 for his efforts.

South African Gary Player was a picture of frustration after he whipped in with a 69 only to discover that he had 15 clubs in his bag and was therefore subject to a four-shot penalty. The resulting 73 knocked him out of the money.

Nicklaus, the tour's leading money-winner with $46,150 officially, was among seven 70 shooters who won $159 for the afternoon.

Nicklaus says the recurring back injury that bothered him in the final round at the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions has disappeared and he feels fine. He won the tourney by two strokes.

He explained that the ailment is caused by tension and raises a knot in the small of his back. He said Sunday was the third time it has occurred but "it hasn't bothered me the last two days."

Kadets Topple Widefield

The Air Academy High track squad scored a 64-53 victory over the Widefield thinclads, Wednesday afternoon at the Gladiators' oval.

Brink Spear paced the winning Kadets as the Academy High speedster won both sprints. Spear was clocked 10.6 in the century and turned in a 23.1 in the 220-yard dash.

The host team captured both relay events. This concluded both teams' regular Pikes Peak League scheduled single meets and the two teams will compete in the PPL District Meet this Saturday.

Cheyenne Wins Track Quadrangular

With the Pikes Peak League District track meet set for Saturday, the Cheyenne Mountain tracksters tuned up for that outing with a quadrangular track and field win over St. Mary's, Manitou Springs and Harrison on their home field, Wednesday.

Cheyenne scored 66½ points to win the meet, followed by St. Mary's with 52½ points, Manitou with 21½ and Harrison finished last with 10 points.

The Indians, victors of the 1963 PPL District meet, scored heavily in the field events with strongman Rick Stowell winning both the shot put and discus. Stowell has been undefeated in competition this season as the 220-pound All-State footballer tossed the shot 53¼ feet and sailed the discus 153-4 feet.

Bruce Mangerich of St. Mary's edged the Tribe's leading jumper, Ron Graham, in the broad jump event as the Pirate ace recorded a 20-10¾ feet. However, Graham won the high jump to continue his supremacy in that event with a leap of 5-8 feet, below par for the Cheyenne trackster.

Gladiators Defeat Danes, 2-1

Widefield managed only three hits Wednesday afternoon but still whipped Fountain Valley 2-1 behind the hurling of Dave Weih.

Weih, who allowed 10 safeties, was rescued from a tough situation by a freak play in the top of the seventh. L. Smith had singled for the visitors when Ballenger socked a long blast over the heads of the Widefield outfielders and circled the bases. However, it was ruled that he had missed second base and only Smith's run counted.

Widefield opened the scoring in the fourth when Dave Smedsrud walked, stole second, went to third on an overthrow, and crossed the plate on Rick Sutton's single. Don Tomsha's home run in the fourth provided the Gladiators with the winning marker.

Chicago Park Pays Biggest Daily Double

CHICAGO (AP)—Two horses, which just didn't figure, combined Wednesday night to produce the biggest daily double figures in Washington Park harness racing history, a whooping $1,346.40.

Lady Purdue, a 4-year-old filly which hadn't won in 13 races this year and who had accounted for only two victories in her last 50 outings, started it off. Lady Purdue coasted to a three-length triumph in the first race at win mutuels of $62.80.

Flight Abbe, eighth in his only race this year and a winner in only two of 25 starts in 1963, had a bit more difficulty in the second, but the 5-year-old gelding held on for a head victory and a $54.50 payoff.

The big double, which easily topped the former Washington Park record of $609.20, set last Oct. 18, was the third largest in Illinois sulky history, being surpassed only by the $1,818.60 payoffs at Maywood Park May 11, 1962, and the $1,496.80 jackpot at Aurora Downs in 1946.

The biggest previous double at Washington this year had been the $448 payoff April. 8.

A crowd of 6,535 sent $38,018 into tonight's double pool, but only 24 $2 tickets were sold on the winning combination of numbers 9 and 1.

Falcons Out-Last Pioneer Nine In Tilt Featured by Eight Homers

By LOY HOLMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

The Air Force Academy moved one step closer to an all-but-assured berth in the NCAA playoffs in Wednesday afternoon's marathon against the Falcons' nearest rival among the independents of the area when the Cadets out-lasted Denver University in a fence-denting duel, 15-10.

From here on out, the Falcons have another go-round with hapless Colorado State University this Saturday, a trip to Wyoming University on Sunday and they finish up with road games at Denver and another at Wyoming. They could even drop all the rest on the schedule and still easily be the top candidate in the region to meet the winner of the Rocky Mountain Conference in the first round of the playoffs as the AFA record now stands at 16-3 compared to DU's 13-15 mark.

But the most important part of Wednesday's battle of 25 hits between these area rivals was the fact that for the 16th time in 19 games for the Air Force, the pitcher went the nine-inning distance.

For Coach Connie Sparks this has been the saving factor of the season as he has manipulated his tissue-thin pitching staff through a somewhat crowded slate with only minor mishaps and has had to use only three hurlers on regular duty. It's been a small miracle on his part.

But for the suffering fans which are limited in number for the collegiate variety of the sport, it's the main reason games tend to drag into hours on end and why the scores often resemble football rather than baseball. Whereas most pitchers should never be allowed to take the pounding of nearly a dozen hits before getting relief (as was the case with Denver starter John Streifel), because of the shortage of throwers on nearly all college teams they are made to remain in the game and the score balloons out of reason.

It's little wonder the crowds can usually be counted with a few fingers when games often push past three hours and such things as home runs are little more than just another statistic in the record books and hardly anything to warm the chilled hands with applause.

This was the case Wednesday as AFA starter and finisher Pete Bracci relied more on his free-swinging teammates than he did on his own pitches. Bracci gave up nine hits — seven of them for homers or doubles — and yet was forced to stick it out. Denver blasted five of the eight home runs hit and added two doubles.

However, the Air Force matched that with 16 hits of their own off three DU throwers with three homers, two pinch-hit triples and 11 singles to chase the Pioneers of Coach Jack Rose back to the Mile High City with their 15th defeat in 28 games this season.

Hitting two homers each were first baseman Bruce Huneke of the winning Falcons and third baseman Jim Zinck (last year's top hitter in all of college baseball) and shortstop Tom Moeller of the Pioneers. Single homers came from the bats of the AFA's leading hitter Jim Steed and DU's Mike Corson.

Huneke's two homers and a single in four trips drove in six runs for the Cadets, but this was equalled by Zinck as these two led the barrage against the pitchers on both sides.

On the strength of Steed's first inning smash that cleared the barrier 360 feet away in right-center, the Falcons took a two run lead, but the Pioneers came right back with a pair plated in the third on three consecutive AFA errors and Zink's double that bounced over the center field wall.

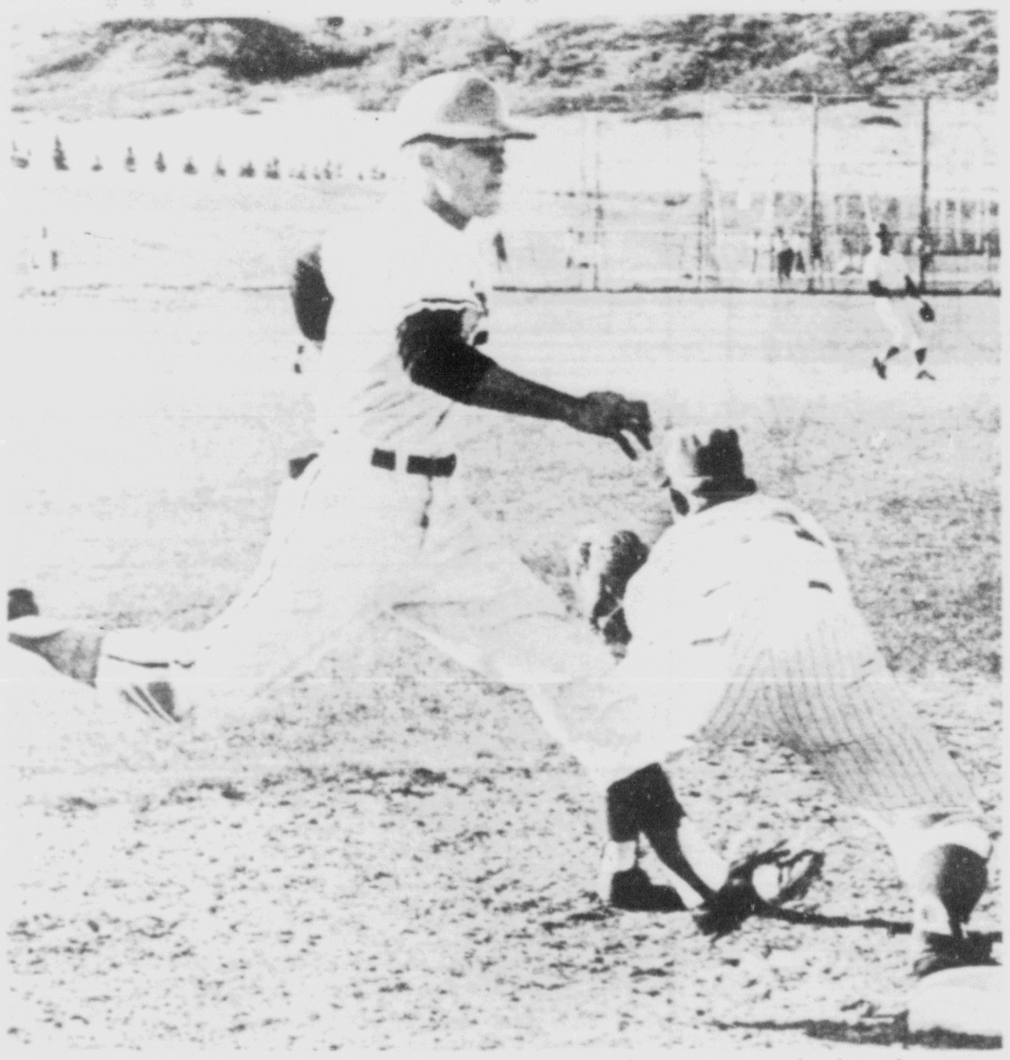
The slugfest continued in the AFA's half of the third as they scored three times on only a pair of singles, coupled with three walks from Striefel, who picked up his second loss in seven games. And the Falcons took an 8-2 lead in the fourth with three more on two Denver errors and Huneke's first over the fence.

But still Streifel stayed on, and it looked like he might survive when his mates finally got to Bracci with five runs on four hits in the fifth frame. Following a single by leadoff man Jim Ambuehl and Dick Brush's double, Zinck clouted one over the left field fence and then after another walk Moeller hit the second homer of the inning to bring the score to 8-7 in favor of the Falcons.

It wasn't over by a long shot, however, and the Air Force padded its lead to three runs with another pair in the sixth on a walk, single and John Olila's pitch-hit triple. And then the Cadets came across with still another in the seventh on Paul Stein's pinch-hit triple and a sacrifice fly by winning pitcher Bracci.

Denver tried to make threatening motions in the eighth with two straight homers by Corson and Moeller, but Bracci settled down without further damage. Then the AFA exploded for four more in the bottom of the frame on four hits, capped by Huneke's second round-tripper.

That put the verdict out of sight for the visiting Pioneers although one more came in on Zinck's leadoff homer to center.



OUT ON CLOSE PLAY—Denver University's Jim Ambuehl is out as he stretches for first base in this sixth inning action from Wednesday's game at the Air Force Academy. AFA first baseman Bruce Huneke is just about to take the throw of shortstop Darryl Bloodworth. The Falcons went on to best the Pioneers in a slugfest that saw 25 hits and eight home runs in the three-hour game, 15-10. Hitting two homers each were Huneke of the Falcons and Jim Zinck and Tom Moeller of the Pioneers. This was the final home game for the AFA. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

Track Records Should Fall During PPL District Meet

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

(Editor's note: The following is a two - part series reviewing the forthcoming Pikes Peak League District track and field meet, Saturday at Widefield Stadium. Friday's series: field events outlook.

For the first time in many years, the 1964 Pikes Peak League District track and field meet promises to be a wide open affair with at least four teams capable of winning the championship, Saturday.

In addition, the other five squads have the potential and personnel to make this year's outing at the Widefield Stadium a run to the wire with defending champion from Cheyenne Mountain battling top challenger Fountain, Air Academy High and Salida for top honors.

Based on this season's best performances, all but four of the 14 track and field PPL records should fall. Last year Academy High's speedster, Rob Stockhouse, established two marks in the dashes setting the 100-yard dash record at 9.9 seconds and the 220 at 22.1 seconds. It's unlikely that the Kadet flash will exceed those marks, however it is possible Stockhouse could equal his 1963 performance.

The other two marks which should be unchallenged include the mile relay and mile run. The Fountain relay squad established the mile relay record in 1960 with a time of 3:37.5 and David Ramos of Florence set the mile run mark a year later with a 4:44.6 effort. Cliff Bradley turned in the best time this year in the mile with a 4:53 and the Widefield relay team was clocked at 3:38.

According to Dean Fleischauer, PPL commissioner, the District Meet will kick-off Saturday morning at 9:30 with the preliminaries and follow that same afternoon with the finals at 1 p.m. There will be no charge for the morning session but tickets will be sold for the finals. Ticket prices: 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students and children.

Saturday's agenda: field events (pole vault, discus, broad jump, high jump) begin at 9:30; track preliminaries (high hurdles, 100-yard dash, low hurdles, 220-yard dash) begin at 10 a.m. and continue at half-hour intervals.

The following is the schedule for the finals: shot put, 1 p.m.; high hurdles, 1 p.m.; 100-yard dash, 1:20 p.m.; mile run, 1:30 p.m.; 880-yard relay, 1:50; 440-yard dash, 2:20; low hurdles, 2:50; 880-yard run, 3:20; 220-yard dash, 3:50; and mile relay, 4:20.

Five places will be scored in each track and field event with the top four tracksters in each event, qualifying for the State Class - AA meet which is slated the following Saturday, May 16, at the Adams State College oval in Alamosa.

The highlight of the District Meet should be the sprints. Although Stockhouse turned in a 9.9 at a triangular meet at Florence last month, the Academy High speed merchant has yet to beat Fountain's Bob Carter, who has reigned as the 100-yard and 220-yard dash champion in PPL meets this season.

Carter's best time to date in the century race is 10 seconds flat. But the Trojan flash has yet to lose to Stockhouse or Cheyenne's ace Bob Richardson in the 100 or 220 races.

Manitou's John (the Jet) Moore should break the high hurdles record (15.6) set last year by Widefield's Bill Hudson. Moore has been undefeated in the high hurdles this season and has turned in his best effort of 15.4.

Claude Burke of Widefield has the best time in the low hurdles with a 20.7 which tops the PPL record (20.9). In the 440-yard dash event, Salida's sophomore ace Russell Purcell has the potential to better the District mark based on his 52.5 mark in a previous meet this season. The 440-yard dash record was set in 1960 by Fountain's Klopenstine (52.8).

Steve Rhodes of Widefield has been clocked at 2:07.4 in the 880-yard run which bettered the District mark (2:09.3).

Coach Tom McCord's 880-yard relay team has consistently topped the District record this season and during a triangular meet at Fountain the Tribe squad turned in a blistering 1:32.1 which surpassed their own record (1:35.4).

Wasson has tumbled from the top of the Denver Post poll which ranks Colorado's high school baseball teams following two weeks as the first place team.

Tigers Crush Orediggers To Clinch Winning Season

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

It was only a few hundred pitches ago that Colorado College's baseball team was the victim of just about every cruelty that has ever been devised by [illegible].

However, early this spring freshman coach Bob Johnson announced that the days of the "big fumble" were strictly a part of recent CC history — and were on the way out. Tiger players who had never attended a symposium of this sort have obeyed with almost miraculous results.

As an example, Wednesday afternoon Johnson's new cult secured the school's first winning baseball season since friends of the four-legged animal first began campaigning against the use of the term [illegible].

Johnson's [illegible] celebrated this feat by burying Colorado Mines' Orediggers beneath a 21-7 score that was strangely reminiscent of scores of past seasons, the only difference being that this time the Colorado Springs club was the executioner.

Wednesday's triumph gave the Tigers a [illegible] and a showing which can not be thrown [illegible] four games remaining. [illegible] two of these contests come this weekend at Gunnison when CC battles Western State. A split in the Friday and Saturday series would practically assure the local club of a second place finish in the Rocky Mountain Conference.

The [illegible] of the baseball renaissance at CC was in the [illegible] manner in which the Tigers mutilated Mines Wednesday. [illegible] who had planned to start ace Warren Reeser, switched to Jeff Sauer at the last minute when it became known that Sauer would be unavailable for the weekend trip.

The change in plans was never [illegible] by Mines. The Orediggers were the ones [illegible] that the Tigers [illegible] Memorial Park.

[illegible] was the CC attack [illegible] Mines' pitchers [illegible] Tigers had 12 players [illegible]. This included four walks to previously slumping veteran Dennis Walker and three each by Carl Clay and Joe Wilson. Four other starters banged a pair of safeties.

Sauer, who had hurled two complete game victories last [illegible], received credit for his Wednesday effort even though Mike Isfeld was summoned in [illegible] after the Orediggers began rattling their bats in the [illegible]. Isfeld yielded a few [illegible] the Miners [illegible]

[illegible] Mines [illegible] game. Paul Brown [illegible] Jerry [illegible]. The Tigers did [illegible] until the [illegible] end came [illegible]. Walker led off the [illegible] with a double and W[illegible] with a [illegible] over the center field [illegible].

[illegible] the inning was over CC had [illegible] two more runs and six [illegible] across the [illegible]. The fourth was [illegible] as Johnson's [illegible] eight hits and [illegible] margin to [illegible].

[illegible] team that has been [illegible] in the past, the Tigers could be excused for assuming an attitude of [illegible] embarrassment. But the club is far from being [illegible] at this point. Chances [illegible] take another 10 victories before the Tigers get tired of swinging.

Nicklaus Opens Bid For Colonial Crown

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — [illegible] Jack Nicklaus [illegible] National Invitation Golf Championship.

Nicklaus' [illegible] was rated the favorite as 72 players teed off in quest of a plump $75,000 purse.

A record $14,000 has been set aside for the winner with the experts contending it will be Nicklaus, Masters champion Arnold Palmer or defending champion Julius Boros.

However, it was youthful Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla., who stole the preliminary spotlight with a two-under-par 68 in a pro-amateur Wednesday. It netted him first place money of $350.

[illegible] today [illegible] $1,500 [illegible] intermittently for 48 hours. However the threat produced little more than a good soaking of the treacherous 7,122-yard course.

A revised forecast called for more cloudiness with a possibility of thunder showers some time after 2 p.m. CST today.

New Zealander Bob Charles and Dan Sikes of Ponte Vedra, Fla., deadlocked for second among the low pros with 69s. Each picked up $277 for his efforts.

South African Gary Player was a picture of frustration after he whipped in with a 69 only to discover that he had 15 clubs in his bag and was therefore subject to a four-shot penalty. The resulting 73 knocked him out of the money.

Nicklaus, the tour's leading money winner with $46,150 officially, was among seven 70 shooters who won $139 for the afternoon.

Nicklaus says the recurring back injury that bothered him in the final round at the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions has disappeared and he [illegible]. He [illegible].

Kadets Topple Widefield

The Air Academy High track squad scored a 64-53 victory over the Widefield thinclads Wednesday afternoon at the [illegible].

Brink Stear paced the winning Kadets as the Academy High speedster [illegible] sprints. Stear was clocked [illegible] in the century and turned in a 23.1 in the 220-yard dash.

The host team captured both relay events. This concluded both teams' regular Pikes Peak League scheduled single meets and the two teams will compete in the PPL District Meet this Saturday.

Cheyenne Wins Track Quadrangular

With the Pikes Peak League District track meet set for Saturday, the Cheyenne Mountain tracksters tuned up for that outing with a quadrangular track and field win over St. Mary's, Manitou Springs and Harrison on their home field Wednesday.

Cheyenne scored 66½ points to win the meet followed by St. Mary's with 32½ points, Manitou with 21½ and Harrison finished last with 13 points.

The Indians, victors in the 1963 PPL District meet, [illegible] track in the field events with [illegible] Rick Stowe winning both the shot put and discus. Stowe has been undefeated in competition this season as the 200-pound All-State tackle [illegible] the shot 53-4 feet and sailed the discus 153-4 feet.

Bruce Mangerson of St. Mary's edged the Tribe's star jumper Ron Graham in the broad jump event as the Pirate ace [illegible] a 20-10. However, Graham won the high jump to [illegible] his supremacy in [illegible] event with a leap of 5-8 [illegible] the Cheyenne [illegible].

Gladiators Defeat Danes, 2-1

Widefield managed [illegible] hits Wednesday afternoon but still whipped Fountain Valley 2-1 behind the hurling of [illegible] Weth.

Weth, who allowed [illegible] safeties, was rescued from a tough situation by a freak play in the top of the seventh. L. Smith had singled for the visitors when Ballenger socked a long blast over the heads of the Widefield outfielders and circled the bases. However, it was ruled that he had missed second base and only Smith's run counted.

Widefield opened the scoring in the fourth when Dave Smedsrud walked, stole second, went to third on an overthrow and crossed the plate on Rick Sutton's single. Don Tomsha's home run in the fourth provided the Gladiators with the winning marker.

Chicago Park Pays Biggest Daily Double

CHICAGO (AP)—Two horses, which just didn't figure, combined Wednesday night to produce the biggest daily double figures in Washington Park harness racing history, a whooping $1,346.40.

Lady Purdue, a 4-year-old filly which hadn't won in 13 races this year and who had accounted for only two victories in her last 50 outings, started it off. Lady Purdue coasted to a three-length triumph in the first race at win mutuels of $62.80.

Flight Abbe, eighth in his only race this year and a winner in only two of 25 starts in 1963, had a bit more difficulty in the second, but the 5-year-old gelding held on for a head victory and a $54.50 payoff.

The big double, which easily topped the former Washington Park record of $609.20, set last Oct. 18, was the third largest in Illinois sulky history, being surpassed only by the $1,818.60 payoffs at Maywood Park May 11, 1962, and the $1,496.80 jackpot at Aurora Downs in 1946.

The biggest previous double at Washington this year had been the $448 payoff April 8.

A crowd of 6,535 sent $38,018 into tonight's double pool, but only 24 $2 tickets were sold on the winning combination of numbers 9 and 1.

Falcons Out-Last Pioneer Nine In Tilt Featured by Eight Homers

By LOY HOLMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

The Air Force Academy moved one step closer to an all-but-assured berth in the NCAA playoffs in Wednesday afternoon's marathon against the Falcons' nearest rival among the independents of the area when the Cadets outlasted Denver University in a [illegible] 13-11.

From here on in the Falcons [illegible] another [illegible] with [illegible] State University this Saturday, a trip to Wyoming University on Sunday and they finish up with road games at Denver and another at Wyoming. They could even drop all the rest on the schedule and still easily be the top candidate in the region to meet the winner of the Rocky Mountain Conference in the first round of the playoffs as the AFA record now stands at 16-3 compared to DU's 10-15 mark.

But the most important part of Wednesday's battle of 25 hits between these area rivals was the fact that for the 16th time in 19 games for the Air Force the pitcher went the nine-inning distance.

For Coach Connie Sparks this has been the saving factor of the season as he has manipulated his tissue-thin pitching staff through a somewhat crowded slate with only minor mishaps and has had to use only three hurlers on regular duty. It's been a small miracle on his part.

But for the suffering fan [illegible] which are limited in number for the collegiate variety of the sport, it's the main reason games tend to drag into hours on end and why the scores often resemble football rather than baseball. Whereas most pitchers should never be allowed to take the pounding of nearly a dozen hits before getting relief as was the case with Denver starter John Striefel because of the shortage of hurlers on many a college team, they are made to remain in the game and the score [illegible] reason.

[illegible] the wonder [illegible] home runs [illegible] more than just another statistic in the record books and hardly anything to warm the chilled hands with applause.

This was the case Wednesday as AFA starter and finisher Pete Bracci relied more on his free-swinging teammates than he did on his own pitches. Bracci gave up [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] secutive AFA errors and Zink's double that bounced over the center field wall.

The slugfest continued in the AFA's half of the third as they scored three times on only a pair of singles, coupled with three walks from Striefel, who picked up his second loss in seven games. And the Falcons took an 8-2 lead in the fourth with three more on two Denver errors and Hineke's first over the fence.

But still Striefel stayed on, and it looked like he might survive when his mates finally got [illegible] Bracci with five runs on four [illegible] in the fifth frame. Following a single by leadoff man [illegible] and Dick Brush's double, Zink clouted one over the left field fence and then after another walk Moeller hit the second homer of the inning to bring the score to 8-7 in favor of the Falcons.

It wasn't over by a long shot, however, and the Air Force padded its lead to three runs with another pair in the sixth on a walk, single and John O[illegible] triple. And then the Cadets came across with still another in the seventh on Paul Steen's pinch-hit triple and [illegible] winning pitcher Bracci.

Denver tried to make threatening motions in the eighth with [illegible] homers by Corson and M[illegible] but Bracci settled down without further damage. Then the AFA exploded for four more in the bottom of the frame [illegible] capped by Hineke's second round-tripper.

That put the verdict out of reach of the visiting Pioneers although one more came in on Zink's [illegible] homer to center.

[illegible]

[illegible] CLOSE PLAY—Denver University [illegible] Wednesday's game [illegible] Air Force Academy. AFA beat the Pioneers in a slugfest that saw 25 hits and [illegible] each were [illegible] and Jim Zink and [illegible] for the Pioneers. [illegible] the AFA [illegible]

Greeley Tops State Poll; Wasson, Palmer Fifth

Wasson has tumbled from the top of the Denver Post poll, which ranks Colorado's high school baseball teams following two weeks as the first place team.

The Thunderbirds, who dropped a 5-4 decision to Centennial and lost to Trinidad 2-1 last week, slipped to a fifth place tie with Palmer in this week's ranking.

Greeley of the Northern League moved [illegible] of the poll while North Denver is ranked second, Arvada third, and Pueblo Centennial fourth.

The South Central League was the only circuit to have three teams in the top 10 (Centennial, Wasson and Palmer). The Denver League has two (North Denver and Washington), the Northern League two (Greeley and Fort Morgan), the Jefferson County League one (Arvada) and the Adams-Arapahoe League one (Littleton). Pikes Peak Golf Tourney Kicks-Off Here, Friday

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

The Pikes Peak Intercollegiate Tournament, co-sponsored by the Air Force Academy and Colorado College, opens a two-day run here Friday as the kick-off event in a summer which is loaded with prize amateur golf attractions.

* * *

Defending champion Oklahoma State, annually one of the top college golf powers in the nation, heads a sparkling field of 20 teams which will be participating in the annual event.

Tee off time both Friday and Saturday is 7 a.m. Friday's double round will be played over the rugged Air Force Academy Eisenhower Course. The final 18 holes of the 54 hole tournament is scheduled for the Broadmoor Championship Course Saturday morning.

* * *

Oklahoma State has been established as an early favorite to retain the title it captured with a come-from-behind triumph a year ago. The Cowboys, from the Big Eight Conference, trailed Colorado University after the first 36 holes in 1963 but rebounded the final day to edge the Buffaloes by five strokes with a 920 total.

Steve Spray of Eastern New Mexico, the defending individual champion, is not expected to return although earlier reports had suggested that he would. Spray, who recently played in the Masters Tournament, injured a hand and has elected to pass up the competition here.

With Spray absent, last year's runner-up, Larry McAtee of Colorado U., will be trying to move up to the number one spot. Spray edged the C. U. star by a single stroke a year ago with a 226 medal, 10 over par. McAtee, who is from Denver, and Ray Pierson of Boulder are both former Colorado state amateur match play champions and will lead the C. U. team here.

Oklahoma State, the defending NCAA champion, can expect tough competition from such formidable opponents as Houston and Oklahoma in addition to Colorado, in the university division of this year's tournament. Houston has won the NCAA title six of the past eight seasons and the Cougars also hold the team record for this affair. They traveled the 54 holes in 880 strokes in 1960. In addition Houston has not lost a 54 hole tournament since 1954.

While the university division is expected to settle down to a battle between these top schools, Colorado College is afforded an excellent chance of capturing first place in the college division. Eastern New Mexico looms as the Tigers' top challenger but with the low-scoring Spray absent, CC's chances will improve.

The Pikes Peak Intercollegiate will give local golfing fans at least a miniature preview of what is to follow slightly over a month from now when the NCAA holds its week long championships at the Broadmoor Course. The NCAA is generally considered to be one of the finest amateur competitions in existence.

Other top golf events to follow will be the Trans-Mississippi, the World Seniors, and the Men's and Women's Invitationals, all at the Broadmoor. In addition Patty Jewett will again host the Pikes Peak Invitational, which this year is scheduled to return to match play.

LEADS C.U. GOLFERS—Larry McAtee of Denver will be leading a strong Colorado University team in the Pikes Peak Intercollegiate golf tournament which opens at the Broadmoor Friday. McAtee was runner-up for individual honors a year ago and is expected to challenge for the top spot over the two-day meet this week. (Colorado University Photo)

Miami Plans To Have Negro Football Player

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—University of Miami officials reportedly plan to have at least one Negro player on the school's 1966 varsity football team if contract matters with some opponents can be worked out.

The Herald quoted Coach Charlie Tate as saying "I'm ready to start as soon as it is feasible schedulewise. If we have any problems, they will be with games in other Southern cities."

Miami has games scheduled with Louisiana and Tulane in 1966 and 1967 and at Auburn in 1968 and Alabama in 1969.

Tate said "The thing couldn't possibly come up until '66, beveause we have no Negroes signed for our '64 varsity team. If we signed one or more next winter, their varsity eligibility would not begin until '66."

Gibson's Wild Throw Gives Pirates Win Over Cards

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Has Roger Craig ruboed off on Bob Gibson?

Craig probably hasn't revealed any on his tough-luck techniques to his new St. Louis teammate, but it's been an unusually unsuccessful week for Gibson, who got too close to the target Monday night and Wednesday night couldn't get close enough.

It cost Gibson $50 Monday night when he fired a couple of beanballs at Philadelphia pitcher Dennis Bennett. It cost the Cardinals a victory Wednesday night when Gibson fired a peg over first base and let the winning run score in a 1-0 loss to Pittsburgh.

Gibson came on in relief of Ray Sadecki in the ninth after Roberto Clemente led off with a double. Gibson proceeded to walk Donn Clendenon intentionally. Bob Bailey followed with a bunt down the third base line, and when Gibson threw wildly, Clemente raced home with the clincher.

The victory went to Bob Friend, who checked the Cardinals on six hits for a 3-0 record. Sadecki allowed only seven hits, but came up with an 0-3 record ahen Gibson extended his streak of misfortune.

Don Drysdale, meanwhile, got a 3-for-3 performance from catcher John Roseboro and broke a string of four straight losses to Houston pitcher Dick Farrell, hurling his third complete game in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 5-2 victory over the Colts.

Elsewhere in the National League, Wes Covington's two-run homer gave Philadelphia a 7-6 decision over Milwaukee, Leo Cardenas drove in four runs as Cincinnati walloped the New York Mets 12-4 and the Chicago Cubs whipped San Francisco 4-2 behind Larry Jackson's five-hit pitching.

Friend was in trouble twice—and Ken Boyer put him there both times. Boyer doubled in the fourth but was thrown out at home when he tried to score on a single by Curt Flood. In the seventh, Boyer led off with a triple, out stayed there as Friend retired Flood, Charlie James and Johnny Lewis.

Drysdale, now 3-1, had trouble only in the seventh when Walt Bond's fourth homer, a single by Bob Aspromonte and John Bateman's double produced the Colts' runs. Poseboro was instrumental in two Dodger runs. A walk, Roseboro's double and a sacrifice fly brought in a run in the second then Frank Howard's triple and Roseboro's single added another in the fourth.

The Braves held a 6-5 lead in the eighth when rookie Richie Allen got the Phillies started with a walk. Two outs later Covington beat his former Milwaukee teammates. Allen also singled to start a four-run Philadelphia uprising in the first inning and scored in the fifth after smashing a triple. Joe Torre homered for the Braves.

Cardenas went 4-for-5 against the Mets, collecting a two-run homer, a double and two singles for four runs batted in. Frank Robinson produced three runs for the Reds with a two-run homer and a single. Sammy Ellis won his first major league start with a seven hitter. George Altman homered for the Mets. start with a seven hitter. George

Jackson brought his record to 4-1 while striking out 11 and driving in what proved to be the winning run with a double in the Cubs' three-run fourth inning rally. Willie Mays celebrated his 33rd birthday by stroking a double and a single for the Giants and Willie McComey slammed his sixth homer before Jackson retired the last 12 men he faced.

Sportscaster Weaver Dies

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Veteran sportscaster Henry A. Weaver, semi-conscious since an auto accident last year in Los Angeles, is dead at 48.

Weaver, for 25 years an announcer with the American Broadcasting Co., died Wednesday in Veterans Hospital. Doctors said the cause was not immediately determined.

Weaver suffered a brain hemorrhage when his car struck a utility pole as he was leaving a boxing match at Dodger Stadium March 21, 1963. Boxing coverage was his specialty.

On the card that night was the Sugar Ramos - Davey Moore boit, in which Moore, the featherweight champion, suffered fatal head injuries.

Arizona State Top Team In U. S. College Rating

By DICK STUART
Associated Press Sports Writer

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP)—In the mid 1950s, it took a bunch of determined students to keep baseball alive at Arizona State University. Today, the Sun Devils are the No. 1 college team in the nation.

"And we deserve it," said Coach Bobby Winkles Wednesday after being told of his team's selection by coaches in the latest poll by the newspaper Collegiate Baseball.

"We've worked hard," Winkles said, "and if we hadn't been No. 1, I'd have been disappointed in the other coaches in the country."

The Sun Devils, who sport a 34-5 season record and already have dethroned Arizona as the Western Athletic Conference Southern Division champion, replaced Santa Clara, Calif., University in the top spot.

Behind the Sun Devils in order, Missouri 13-3, Mississippi 17-2, Michigan State 17-4, North Carolina 17-6, Southern California 26-15, Santa Clara 28-6, West Virgina 18-1, Texas A&M, 16-5 and Florida State 18-7.

The second 10 is composed of Texas, Western Michigan, Auburn, UCLA, Wake Forest, Florida, Oregon, Minnesota, Oregon State and Baylor.

In the 1950s baseball was a joke at A-State. Arizona dominated the scene, and at one point A-State didn't have an official team or schedule. Students gathered what equipment they could and played an unofficial schedule.

Times have changed, and much of it has been brought on by Winkles during his six year tenure. His teams have compiled a 190-80 record.

Winkles credits the success this year to fielding and sophomores.

The sophomores Winkles referred to are first baseman Jan Kleinman, third baseman Sal Bando and pitcher Skip Hancock. Kleinman and Bando have .372 and .315 batting averages respectively, and Hancock has a 9-1 record with a 1.25 earned run average. The youthful right-hander has struck out 120 and walked 42.

Nicholson Homer Stirs Plenty of Excitement

CHICAGO (AP)—This is the story of a baseball on a hot tin roof.

"I was flying down from Minneapolis to Chicago in my private plane Wednesday evening," says owner Art Allyn of the Chicago White Sox. "I had the radio on and heard that Dave Nicholson had hit a home run over the left field stands of my park. The radio people were so excited about it, I couldn't figure out what it was all about.

"I landed and my wife, Dorothy, met me and said: 'Let's get out to the park right away. Something big has happened.'

"We rushed out to the park. And what happened, I guess, was something historical."

What created this cliff-hanger was Nicholson's No. 2 homer of the season in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader which the Sox swept 6-4 and 11-4 from the Kansas City A's. It moved them into a tie with the Cleveland Indians for the American League lead.

Strong boy Nicholson, who set a major league record for strikeout with 175 last season and has 22 in 15 games this year, had his biggest night in baseball. He clubbed two homers in the first game and another in the second. He fanned three times.

But the prodigious stroke was his first homer, a solo shot, in the opener. It went over the roof of the left field stands, aided by a brisk tailwind.

There was divided opinion whether it bounced on the roof of the ancient pavillion or cleared it. And that is where the controversy boils.

Was it the longest homer in Comiskey Park history?

"I doubt it," says veteran Jimmy Dykes, once manager of the Sox and now an A's coach. "Back in about 1928 when I was playing with the old Philadelphia Athletics, Jimmy Fox, was my teammate. One day in Comiskey Park he smacked one that I know cleared the left field stands. Nicholson's homer bounced off the roof.

The ball Nicholson belted was brought to the press box by a beaming youngster who retrieved it.

"I was listening to the game on my transistor radio in the public park behind the stands while my dad was playing softball," said Mike Murillo, 12. "I didn't see the ball bounce. All I know is that it didn't land far from me. I thought dad had hit a homer. Then I realized a ball had come over the stands."

Veteran baseball writers examined the ball. There was no mark on it.

"If it had landed on the roof," said Howie Roberts, chief publicitor and traveling secretary of the Sox, "it would have had a visible bruise on it. It cleaned the roof."

Paul Junkroski, a fan sitting in the left field stands, said: "The ball hit the roof. I heard the thump. It probably will be the only time in my life I will hear a thump up there." It is 375 feet to the first row in the lower deck.

Ed Holstein, White Sox park superintendent, sped to the scene after Nicholson's homer and later announced:

"I paced it off. It came to rest 73 feet away."

If true, this beats Mickey Mantle's well-publicized modern era shot of 565 feet out of old Griffith Stadium in Washington, D.C. in 1953. And it would rank the second longest ever hit in the majors. Babe Ruth's 600-footer in 1926 is regarded No. 1, according to available records.

Nicholson calmly said:

"Moe Drabowsky threw me a slider and I met it. But I've hit some base hits just as good. This one just went farther."

Drabowsky said:

"My bad luck is holding out. I give this famous home run pitch. I give Stan Musial his 3,000th hit. I lose when Early Wynn wins his 300th game. How do you like them apples?"

Arizona State Top Team In U.S. College Rating

By DICK STUART
Associated Press Sports Writer

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — [illegible] students [illegible] at Arizona State University. Today the Sun Devils are the No. 1 college team in the nation.

"And we deserve it," said Coach Bobby Winkles Wednesday [illegible] newspaper [illegible] Basota.

"We've worked hard," Winkles said, "and if we hadn't been No. 1, I'd have been disappointed [illegible] in the country."

The Sun Devils, who sport a 34-5 season record and already have dethroned Arizona as the Western Athletic Conference Southern Division champion, replaced Santa Clara, Calif., University in the top spot.

Behind the Sun Devils are [illegible] Missouri 15-3, Mississippi 17-2, Michigan State 17-4, North Carolina 17-6, Southern California 26-15, Santa Clara 28-6, West Virginia 18-1, Texas A&M 16-5 and Florida State 18-7.

The second 10 is composed of Texas, Western Michigan, [illegible] UCLA, Wake Forest, [illegible] Minnesota, [illegible] State and Baylor.

In the 1950s baseball was a [illegible] at A-State. Arizona dominated the scene and at one point A-State didn't have an official team or schedule. Students gathered what equipment they could and played an unofficial schedule.

Times have changed and much of it has been brought on by Winkles during his six-year tenure. His teams have compiled a 194-80 record.

Winkles credits the success this year to fielding and sophomores.

The sophomores Winkles referred to are first baseman Jan Kleinman, third baseman Sal Bando and pitcher Skip Hancock. Kleinman and Bando have .372 and .315 batting averages, respectively, and Hancock has a 9-1 record with a 1.22 earned run average. The youthful right-hander has struck out 120 and walked 42.

Nicholson Homer Stirs Plenty of Excitement

CHICAGO (AP) —This is the story of a baseball on a hot tin roof.

"I was [illegible] down from Minneapolis [illegible] in my private plane Wednesday evening," says [illegible] Art Allyn of the Chicago White Sox. "I had the radio on and heard that Dave Nicholson had hit a home run over the left field stands of my park. The radio people were so excited about it I couldn't figure out what it was all about.

"I landed and my wife, Dorothy, met me and said 'let's get out to the park right away. Something big has happened.'

"We [illegible] to the park. And what happened, I guess, was something historical."

What happened was [illegible] was Nicholson's No. 2 [illegible] of the season in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader, which the Sox swept 6-4 and 11-4 from the Kansas City A's. It moved them into a tie with the Cleveland Indians for the American League lead.

The ball Nicholson belted was brought to the press box by a beaming youngster who retrieved it.

"I was listening to the game on my transistor radio in the public park behind the stands while my dad was playing softball," said Mike Murillo, 12. "I didn't see the ball bounce. All I know is that it didn't land far from me. I thought dad had hit a homer. Then I realized a ball had come over the stands."

Veteran baseball writers examined the ball. There was no mark on it.

"It had landed on the roof," said Howie Roberts, chief publicist and traveling secretary of the Sox. "It would have had a visible bruise on it. It cleaned the roof."

Paul Jankroski, a fan sitting in the left field stands, said: "The ball hit the roof. I heard the thump. It probably will be the only time in my life I will hear a thump up there." It is 371 feet to the first row in the upper deck.

Ed Holstein, White Sox park superintendent, sped to the scene after Nicholson's homer and later announced:

"I traced it off. It came to rest 573 feet away."

[illegible] beats Mickey Mantle's [illegible] 565 feet out of [illegible] Stadium in Washington in 1953. And it would rank the second longest ever hit in the majors. Babe Ruth's 600-footer in 1926 is regarded No. 1, according to available records.

Portland's McDowell Fires No-Hitter in PCL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southpaw Sam McDowell, sent to the Portland Beavers by the Cleveland Indians for more work and to get the kinks out of a sore arm, responded with a no-hitter Wednesday, highlighting Pacific Coast League action.

The bonus pitcher defeated the Salt Lake City Bees 8-0 for his fourth straight victory. He struck out 15 and walked one, Glenn Beckert, although no one was left on base.

Elsewhere, a sacrifice fly by Jim Mahoney in the 10th inning turned the tables on front-running Arkansas and produced a 6-5 win for Oklahoma City. Spokane edged Tacoma 2-1 and Denver scored three runs in the seventh to beat Seattle 4-2.

A home run by Chico Salmon climaxed a five-run second inning that gave Portland most of its runs against the Bees.

Oklahoma scored once in the first inning in its game with the Travelers, and Arkansas tied it up in the second. The 89ers continued to hit pitcher Paul Brown hard and scored three in the bottom of the second. Arkansas tied it with three in the fourth, powered by a homer by Adolfo Phillips.

The Travelers took the lead with one run in the eighth. The 89ers' Joe Wooten homered to tie it again. Then in the 10th Mahoney's fly sent Lee Elia home with the tie-breaking run after winning pitcher Gordon Jones had kept Arkansas batters off the bases for the last two innings.

Howie Reed pitched three-hit ball for his fourth victory as Spokane took the lead in the first after a triple by Jim Barbieri and sewed its game up by a homer by Al Ferrara in the fourth. Tacoma scored its only run in the seventh.

Seattle tied Denver 1-all in the fourth on a home run by Joe Pedrazzini. The Rainiers went out in front by a run in the fifth, but a double by Sandy Alomar and a single by J. W. Porter in the seventh drove in three runs for the Bears and gave them the game.

Nicholson's Blast Covers 573 Feet

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dave Nicholson, reaching for even greater heights with his strikeout act this season,, has added depth to the other half of his repertorie.

The Chicago White Sox swinger is missing the third strike at a slightly faster rate than he did last season when he fanned a record 175 times.

But Nicholson went a long way Wednesday night toward showing his ability as a double threat as the White Sox swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 6-4 and 11-4.

Actually, it was the ball that went a long way—573 feet by Comiskey Park measurement. The hit was one of three home runs Nicholson clouted in the two games.

According to existing records, only a 600-foot blast by Babe Ruth at Detroit in 1926 went further than Nicholson's home run over the roof of the left field stands.

Nicholson's other two homers didn't go as far, but they still accounted for four runs and gave him four homers for the season.

At the same time, the 6 foot-2, 215-pounder gave equal treatment to his strikeout artistry, fanning three times for a season total of 22. If he maintains his present pace and bats the same number of times as he did last year, the 24-year-old right-handed would strike out 194 times.

Nicholson wasn't the only home run hitter Wednesday night. The New York Yancees got into the act as they split a doubleheader with Washington, winning the opener 9-2 and dropping the nightcap 5-4. Cleveland home runs stopped Baltimore 6-3 and Los Angeles nipped Minnesota 4-3 in other American League games.

Nicholson's second homer in the first game, a two-run blow, climaxed a four-run rally and clinched the victory for Gary Peters. In the nightcap, Nicholson's two-run blast came during Chicago's five run first inning. home runs in 13 games, erupted three-run homer for the Athletics in the first.

Floyd Robinson connected for the White Sox in the third while Minnie Minoso belted a three-run pinch homer in the seventh, putting the game far beyond Kansas City's reach.

The Yankees, held to three home runs in 13 games, erupted for five homers but still gained only a split with the Senators. Hector Lopez connected twice and Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris once each as New York glided to the first-game victory.

Mantle hit another in the second game, which the Senators won in the ninth when Chuck Hinton scored from third on catcher Elston Howard's passed ball. Hinton smashed a two-run homer in the first game and a three-run blow in the second.

The Indians got four home runs as they outlasted the Orioles. Max Alvis hit one for three runs, and Dick Howser and Larry Brown added back-to-back blows in a six-run sixth inning. Woodie Held connected in the seventh. Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell homered for Orioles.

Norm Cash supported Dave Wickersham with two homers, good for three runs, in the Tigers' triumph. Wickersham beat teh Red Sox for the second time in five days. Frank Malzone singled home two runs for Boston while Billy Bruton had a two-run single for Detroit.

Jim Fregosi's three-run pinch homer lifted Los Angeles past Minnsota. Fregosi blasted a Camilo Pascual pitch after Tom Satriano doubled and Bob Knoop walked. Harmon Killebrew's two-run single in the first gave the Twins a 2-0 lead.

Story of Jim Umbricht Saved Life of Another

HOUSTON (AP)—The death of one young athlete may have indirectly sloved the life of another.

Mickey Herskowitz of the Houston Post, traveling with the Houston Colts, told from Los Angeles Wednesday the remarkable story that involves an almost chilling coincidence.

Two weeks ago Jack Pardee, former star fullback at Texas A&M and now a linebacker with the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League quietly underwent surgery for the removal of a malignant growth on his right forearm.

Pardee, now recovering at his home in the San Fernando Valley, is optimistic about the future, and will know within 30 day if he can report in July for the start of his eighth professional season.

On the morning of April 10, Pardee sat down to breakfast and turned to the sports section of a Los Angeles newspaper.

He read, with rising interest and a sense of uneasiness, of the death of Jim Umbricht, the Houston Colt pitcher, from cancer.

Pardee thought about the mole on his right arm. He had noticed it nearly a year ago, and last winter—in the middle of the pro football season—he knew he should consult a doctor.

But this meant missing a game and Pardee said he told himself he would attend to it when the season ended. The season ended. The weeks turned into months and the day came when he read of Umbricht's death after a brave but hopeless battle.

"The way the papers described it," Pardee said, "It sounded exactly like what I had. I made an appointment to see a doctor the next morning. Actually, my wife—Phyllis—had insisted on it."

Tests revealed the growth on Pardee's arm was maligant. His doctor told him he had melanoma—black mole cancer—the very form of the disease that had been detected too late in Umbricht.

On April 20 surgeons at the Medical Center at UCLA removed the growth in an operation that lasted 9½ hours. They used a technique called perdusion—in which the blood circulation to the cancerous limb is completely tied off. The technique had been used for the first time in March, 1963, in Houston, in an effort to save the life of Umbricht.

"It was a complicated operation," Pardee said, "and my arm has been a little slow to heal. But my doctors say that I can expect a complete recovery. I just thank God we caught it in time."

Pardee had never met the late Houston pitcher, whose determination touched and inspired people throughout the country.

"I don't know how long I might have put it off, if I hadn't read that story. I felt fine, and you know how it is. When you're feeling good you hate to see a doctor."

Pardee said the mole, just above the elbow on his right forearm, was "about the size of a dime."

The operation took place in almost total secrecy.

"I preferred it that way," Pardee explained. I didn't want to upset my parents. I didn't know what would happen—the whole thing sort of confused me—and I didn't want my parents to know about it until the operation was over. The Rams cooperated fully, and kept it out of the papers."

Lombardi Says Trade Will Improve Packers' Defense

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—"We'll continue to make trades that help our club," Green Bay Packer Coach Vince Lombardi said Wednesday. "We also want to keep our team comparatively young."

He was referring to Tuesday's trade of center Jim Ringo and reserve fullback Earl Gros to the Philadelphia Eagles for linebacker LeRoy Caffey and the Eagles' No. 1 draft choice in the National Football League draft next winter.

"We fell down a little bit on defense last year," Lombardi said, "and we had to help it. Caffey has great speed and he was good enough to play regular in his first year."

As for Ringo, he said, "we have a bigger man who has been sitting on the bench. I mean Bob Skoronski. He has had some experience at center and we know he can play it regularly.

Ringo was an outstanding center for the Packers and he has some good years left. But I'm sure Skoronski can do the job for us."

Skoronski, who has alternated at left tackle with Norm Masters, said, "It's been a long time since I've been this happy about football. I can hardly wait for the season to begin.

"I know I'm taking over for a great pro in Ringo. Just looking at his record kind of scares me, but it's a great challenge and I'm very excited aboit it."

Lombardi said Gros had "little chance to show his ware as understudy to Jim Taylor. I could play only one at a time. Gros can play in this league and he'll get a better chance with the Eagles."

He said Caffey "will be a likely starter but at what position, I don't know."

Nicholson's Blast Covers 573 Feet

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dave Nicholson, reaching for ever greater heights with his strikeouts this season, has added depth to the other half of his repertoire.

The Chicago White Sox swinger is missing the third strike at a slightly faster rate than he did last season when he fanned a [illegible] 175 times.

But Nicholson went a long way Wednesday night toward showing his ability as a double threat as the White Sox swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 6-4 and 11-4.

Actually, it was the ball that went a long way—573 feet by Comiskey Park measurement. The hit was one of three home runs Nicholson [illegible] in the two games.

According to existing records only a 600-foot blast by Babe Ruth at Detroit in 1926 went further than Nicholson's home run over the roof of the left field stands.

Nicholson's other two homers didn't go as far but they still accounted for four runs and gave him four homers for the season.

At the same time the 6-foot-2 215-pounder gave equal treatment to his strikeout artistry, fanning three times for a season total of 22. If he maintains his present pace and bats the same number of times as he did last year, the 24-year-old right-handed would strike out 194 times.

Nicholson wasn't the only home run hitter Wednesday night. The New York Yancees got into the act as they split a doubleheader with Washington, winning the opener 9-2 and dropping the nightcap 5-4. Cleveland home runs stopped Baltimore 6-3 and Los Angeles nipped Minnesota 4-3 in other American League games.

Nicholson's second homer in the first game, a two-run blow, climaxed a four-run rally and clinched the victory for Gary Peters. In the nightcap, Nicholson's two-run blast came during Chicago's five-run first inning [illegible] home runs in 13 games, erupted [illegible] three-run homer for the Athletics in the first.

Floyd Robinson [illegible] the White Sox [illegible] the Senators [illegible] Mickey Mantle [illegible] Mantle and Roger [illegible] Kansas City's [illegible] New York [illegible].

The Yankees [illegible] Mantle [illegible] home runs in 17 games [illegible] with the Senators [illegible] win in the ninth when Chuck Hinton [illegible] from third on [illegible] Howard was passed [illegible]. Hinton smashed a two-run [illegible] in the first game and a [illegible] in the second.

Story of Jim Umbricht Saved Life of Another

HOUSTON (AP)—The death of one young athlete may have indirectly saved the life of another.

Mickey Herskowitz of the Houston Post, traveling with the Houston Colts, told from Los Angeles Wednesday the remarkable story that involves an almost chilling coincidence.

Two weeks ago Jack Pardee, former star fullback at Texas A&M and now a linebacker with the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League, quietly underwent surgery for the removal of a malignant growth on his right forearm.

Pardee, now recovering at his home in the San Fernando Valley, is optimistic about the future and will know within 30 days if he can report in July for the start of his eighth professional season.

On the morning of April 10 Pardee sat down to breakfast and turned to the sports section of a Los Angeles newspaper.

He read with rising interest and a sense of uneasiness of the death of Jim Umbricht, the Houston Colt pitcher, from cancer.

Pardee thought about the mole on his right arm. He had noticed it nearly a year ago, and last winter, in the middle [illegible] season, he [illegible].

But [illegible] meant missing a game and Pardee [illegible] he would attend to it when the season ended. The season ended. The weeks turned into months and the day came when he read of Umbricht's death after a brave but hopeless battle.

"The way the papers described it," Pardee said, "It sounded exactly like what I had. I made an appointment to see a doctor the next morning. Actually my wife—Phyllis—had insisted on it."

Tests revealed the growth on Pardee's arm was maligant. His doctor told him he had melanoma—black mole cancer—the very form of the disease that had been detected too late in Umbricht.

On April 20 surgeons at the Medical Center at UCLA removed the growth in an operation that lasted 9½ hours. They used a technique called perdusion—in which the blood circulation to the cancerous limb is completely tied off. The technique had been used for the first time in March, 1963, in Houston, in an effort to save the life of Umbricht.

"It was a complicated operation," Pardee said, "and my arm has been a little slow to heal. But my doctors say that I can expect a complete recovery. I just thank God we caught it in time."

Pardee had never met the late Houston pitcher, whose determination touched and inspired people throughout the country.

"I don't know how long I might have put it off, if I hadn't read that story. I felt fine, and you know how it is. When you're feeling good you hate to see a doctor."

Pardee said the mole, just above the elbow on his right forearm, was "about the size of a dime."

The operation took place in almost total secrecy.

"I preferred it that way," Pardee explained. "I didn't want to upset my parents. I didn't know what would happen—the whole thing sort of confused me—and I didn't want my parents to know about it until the operation was over. The Rams cooperated fully and kept it out of the papers."

Lombardi Says Trade Will Improve Packers' Defense

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—"We [illegible] continue to make trades that help our club," Green Bay Packer Coach Vince Lombardi said Wednesday. "We also want to keep our team comparatively young."

He was referring to Tuesday's trade of center Jim Ringo and reserve [illegible] Earl Gros to the Philadelphia Eagles for [illegible] Lee Roy Caffey and the Eagles' No. 1 draft [illegible] in the National Football League [illegible] next winter.

"We fell down a little [illegible] defense last year," Lombardi said, "and we had to help it. Caffey has great speed and he was good enough to play regularly [illegible] his first year.

"As for Ringo," he said, "[illegible] [illegible] mean Bob Skoronski. He has had some experience at center and we know he can play it regularly.

"Ringo was an outstanding center for the Packers and he has some good years left. But I'm sure Skoronski can do the [illegible]."

Skoronski, who has alternated at left tackle with Norm Masters, said: "It's been a long time since I've been this happy about football. I can hardly wait for the season to begin.

"I know I'm taking over for a great pro in Ringo. Just looking at his record kind of scares me, but it's a great challenge and I'm very excited about it."

Lombardi said Gros had [illegible] to show his wares as understudy to Jim Taylor. "[illegible] play only one at a time. Gros can play in this league and he'll get a better chance with the Eagles."

He said Caffey "will be a [illegible] starter but at what position I don't know."

Major League Veterans Now Face Sudden Abyss

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The other side of the baseball hill, once a gently sloping path back to nowhere, suddenly has become a short walk to an abyss.

In the old days, the toil-stained veterans could play out the string for an extra five years or more as they gradually slipped down through the minor league network. But today when you've had it you're a gone goose.

Part of the answer is in the fact that with 10-team leagues there are 100 more major league jobs and the "names" hang on a bit longer than in the past.

You can add to this the dwindling position of the minor leagues. In their lusty years they needed the falling veterans to fill out their rosters. Now the sole duty of a minor league setup which has been streamlined to the point of emaciation is to prep the young players who may be the big leaguers of tomorrow.

A taste of water . . .

A quick turn . . .

And thank goodness that's over. This is the form that helped teen-age Cynthia Goyette of Detroit become the National Amateur Athletic Union 250-yard breast stroke champion.

A look through the minor league player rosters shows very few former big leaguers who still are in action—and the most amazing of all is big Luke Easter.

The giant first baseman who was with Cleveland for six years now is 53 years old. But he's still playing with Rochester of the International League and hopes to compete again next year to round out an even 30 years of baseball competition.

Warren Hacker, at 39, still is a relief specialist with Indianapolis after 13 years in the majors. A dozen years ago he won 15 games against nine losses for the Cubs and ran out the string with the Reds, Phillies and White Sox.

Mickey McDermott, who won 18 games for the Red Sox in 1953, at 35 is with Hawaii in the Pacific Coast League.

Yet those three are easy to spot simply because they are among the very few former big league names still active in the minors.

The route down which is preferred in these times is to manager in the minors. The answer is that it also could be a way back to the big time.

You'll remember a lot of them, such as Cleveland pitcher Bob Lemon, Grady Hatton, Johnny Lipon, Andy Seminick, Clint Courtney, Whitey Kurowsky and Harry Walker.

Hatton is handling the reins at Oklahoma City in the Pacific Coast League after 11 years as an infielder with Cincinnati, the White Sox, Red Sox and Cardinals. Lemon manages Hawaii in the same league while Lipon, who for 11 years was a shortstop with Detroit, the Red Sox, Browns and Reds, pilots Portland.

Seminick was a 30-year-old catcher on the Philadelphia "Whiz Kids" team which won the pennant in 1950. He had 12 years with the Phillies and four with the Reds and now manages Chattanooga of the Southern League. Courtney, the scrap iron catcher who moved around with five big league clubs for 13 years, coaches San Antonio in the Texas League.

Two old teammates are pulling the strings in the International League, Kurowski at Buffalo and Walker at Jacksonville. They played on three pennant winners together for the Cardinals. They helped beat the the Yankees in 1942 and it was Walker's hit on which Enos Slaughter scored all the way from first base to beat the Red Sox in 1946.

Under baseball's new modern structure the bench is their only way back.

Kansas City Stadium May Be Site of Homer Record

By BILL OSTHOFF
United Press International

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)— The major league baseball season is less than four weeks old, but the single season record for the most homeruns hit in one park may be challenged in Kansas City's Municipal Stadium.

The Athletics Tuesday night completed a 13-game home stand which resulted in 50 home runs and left the Athletics' home dubbed as the "homer haven" of baseball.

The single season mark for the most homeruns in one park is 248. The record was established at Wrigley Field in Los Angeles (the ex-home of the Angels) in 1961.

If the athletes continue belting round-trippers at their present rate, over an 81-game schedule here, the homerun total comes to 308.

The Minnesota Twins, who last year led the American League in homeruns with 225, put on the biggest power show here. They slugged 15 home runs in four games, six of which came in a single contest.

Last year, when only 139 homers were hit in Municipal Stadium, the Twins managed 12.

The Los Angeles Angels, although showing no signs of equaling the performance of Minnesota, belted four homeruns in their two appearances. The Angels managed only four homers in 16 games before coming to Kansas City.

Only four of the 50 homeruns to date can be labeled the result of Athletics owner Charles O. Finley's right field "pennant porch." The Athletics, who have hit 24 of the 50 circuit drives, have the lead in "porch" homers, 3-1.

Finley stated that "porch" homers could win five games during the season. So far, none of the so called "porch" homers, although being key hits, have directly resulted in a Kansas City victory or defeat.

The first "porch" homer was hit by Kansas City third baseman Ed Charles April 28 against Detroit. The homer gave the Athletics a 1-0 first inning lead in a game they eventually won 5-1.

Three days later against Minnesota, catcher Charley Lau belted the second "porch" homer to tie the game 4-4 in the seventh. The Athletics wound up losing 10-5.

In the first game of Sunday's doubleheader, the Twins' Rich Rollins became the first player to send a drive into the "porch." Although the clout gave the Twins a brief 4-3 lead, Kansas City came back to win 7-4.

In the second game, rookie Tom Reynolds belted a three-run "porch" drive, but the Athletics won the game on a bases loaded ninth inning walk.

Rocky Written Off by Albany Newspaper

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Albany Knickerbocker News wrote off Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today as a contender for the Republican presidential nomination and said his chief goal now was to stop Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

"It's not true," Rockefeller commented in New York. "I'm still in it to win."

The Knickerbocker News, one of two daily newspapers published in the state capital, had not endorsed editorially Rockefeller's presidential bid, but had expressed "well wishes" in his efforts.

The newspaper supported him for re-election two years ago.

SIDNEY POITIER ON WHIRL SINCE WINNING OSCAR

HOLLYWOOD — Oscar Winner Sidney Poitier can't get out of the spotlight long enough to work on his play. Robert Wagner, mayor of New York, gave him the highest cultural award the city has to bestow; he'll put his hand and footprints in the cement at Grauman's Chinese theater; and he got a hero's welcome in Nassau with a ticker-tape style parade with flowers instead of confetti. Besides all the honors, the picture offers are rolling in. His favorite is "To Sir, With Love," E. R. Braithwaite's fiction-autobiography about a highly educated young Negro engineer who can't find work in London and takes a job teaching school in a slum district. It's the story of how he wins the respect and love of his incorrigible students. Columbia owns the property; also wants him for "Synanon House" about the experimental rehabilitation center for dope addicts in Santa Monica.

Mary Astor joins Bette Davis and Joan Crawford in "Hush, Hush . . . Sweet Charlotte," playing a key figure in the murder mystery. It would have to be a good role to get Mary away from her Malibu home, where she spends her time gardening and working on her third book. She recently made a trip around the world. The picture starts June 1 with Bob Aldrich at the helm. With those gals, he's praying for the best.

Greg Bautzer told me he won first prize at a charity ball in New York.

"For dancing?" I asked.

"No, no, Hedda — that was years ago. I collected the most script in the ball's gambling casino and am now the owner of a motorcycle.

Bautzer plans to save the thing for his 4-year-old son, Mark.

Art Linkletter, now in his 19th year on radio with House Party, signed for six more. If he ever wants to quit the show, he has to give the network a year's notice. Just like being married.

Here's a letter that came while I was away: "You've got to be kidding — Frank Sinatra for 'Von Ryan's Express?' The story describes him as young, with a good, tough face, a 90-minute wonder from officer candidate school, but the suspense of the script lies in the fact he is the epitome of untried American manhood, a little green, but pitching all the way. The whole idea is that this brainy little guy could outmatch a set of professionals. Where is the conflict now? With its wheels flattened to four squares, I wouldn't bet on the express ever reaching Switzerland."

After the death of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, I was certain his first wife, Louise, would take pen in hand and write her memoirs. And sure enough she's doing it. Love letters and all. If she puts on paper everything she knows, it will shake some circles harder than that earthquake in Alaska. I know Louise quite well, and she's not kidding.

The wife of a crewman on "Bikini Beach" tells me that Jody McRea has been annoying the girls on the picture, and they're afraid to snap back at him for fear they'll lose their jobs. I might have disregarded the story if I hadn't heard the same thing some weeks ago from a beautiful young star who played opposite him. I called him at the time and warned him that if I heard any more stories like that, I'd print them.

Oscar Levant settled on the title for his book about psychiatry — "Duet for Three Heads."

I hear Federico Fellini called on Mae West while here to pick up his Oscar. No fool, he.

Sorry to learn of the death of Conger Goodyear, founder and first president of the Modern Museum of Art in New York. I bought my first Hollywood home from him. Conger was a great friend of Katharine Cornell and helped a lot with her career.

Sidney Blackmer's playing a tipsy judge in "How to Murder Your Wife." After 55 years of movie making, his advice to young actors is: "Play anything. Ive always made myself available as a halfback or a coach, so Ive never stopped working."

Uganda Closes Border Against Refugees

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — The Uganda government has closed its borders with Sudan and Rwanda to keep out further waves of refugees seeking asylum.

Adoko Nekyon, planning and community development minister, announced Wednesday that the little East African nation is unable to cope with more refugees.

"Since 1955," he said, "when the first Sudanese came, we have hardly had a breathing space. Congo Belgians followed them, then the Congolese themselves, then three waves of Rwanda Watusi and now Sudanese again—7,000 during the last 10 days."

Sante Fe Railroad To Fire 40 Firemen

LA JUNTA (AP) — The Santa Fe Railroad said today that 40 firemen would be dismissed today on its Colorado division.

The division extends from Albuquerque, N. M. to Dodge City, Kan. and from La Junta, area headquarters, to Denver.

Division Superintendent C. B. Kurtz said few, if any, of the firemen involved had been working regularly. He said he did not have a breakdown of addresses of the firemen.

They will receive dismissal pay based on a formula set up by the Railway Arbitration Board. Kurtz said he did not know the total amount involved. The dismissals followed action of the U.S. Supreme Court in upholding a finding of the board that firemen were not needed in the diesel engines of some trains.

Looking at Hollywood

SIDNEY POITIER ON WHIRL SINCE WINNING OSCAR

HOLLYWOOD — Oscar Winner Sidney Poitier can't get out of the spotlight long enough to work on his play. Robert Wagner, mayor of New York, gave him the highest cultural award the city has to bestow; he'll put his hand and footprints in the cement at Grauman's Chinese theater, and he got a hero's welcome in Nassau with a ticker-tape style parade with flowers instead of confetti. Besides all the honors, the picture offers are rolling in. His favorite is "To Sir, With Love," E. R. Braithwaite's fiction autobiography about a highly educated young Negro engineer who can't find work in London and takes a job teaching school in a slum district. It's the story of how he wins the respect and love of his incorrigible students. Columbia owns the property, also wants him for "Synanon House," about the experimental rehabilitation center for drug addicts in Santa Monica.

Mary Astor joins Bette Davis and Joan Crawford in "Hush Hush, Sweet Charlotte," playing a key figure in the murder mystery. It would be a good role to get Mary away from her Malibu home, where she spends her time gardening and working on her third book. She recently made a trip around the world. The picture starts June 1 with Bob Aldrich at the helm. With those gals he's praying for the best.

Greg Bautzer told me he won first prize at a charity ball in New York.

"For dancing?" I asked.

"No, no, Hedda — that was years ago. I collected the most script in the ball's gambling casino and am now the owner of a motorcycle."

Bautzer plans to save the thing for his 4-year-old son Mark.

Art Linkletter, now in his [illegible] year on radio with House Party, signed for six more. If he ever wants to quit the show he has to give the network a year's notice. Just like being married.

Here's a letter that came while I was away: "You've got to be kidding. Frank Sinatra for 'Von Ryan's Express.' The story describes him as [illegible] with a good [illegible] face, a [illegible] minute wonder from officer candidate school, but the suspense of the script lies in the fact he is the epitome of untried American manhood, a little green, but pitching all the way. The whole idea is that this brainy little guy could outmatch a set of professionals. Where is the conflict now? With its wheels flattened to four squares, I wouldn't bet on the express ever reaching Switzerland."

After the death of Gen. Douglas MacArthur I was certain his first wife, Louise, would take pen in hand and write her memoirs. And sure enough she's doing it. Love letters and all. If she puts on paper everything she knows, it will shake some circles harder than that earthquake in Alaska. I know Louise quite well, and she's not kidding.

The wife of a crewman on "Bikini Beach" tells me that Jody McRea has been annoying the girls on the picture, and they're afraid to snap back at him for fear they'll lose their jobs. I might have disregarded the story if I hadn't heard the same thing some weeks ago from a beautiful young star who played opposite him. I [illegible] him at the time and warned him that if I heard any more stories like that I'd print them.

Oscar Levant [illegible] in the [illegible] for his book about [illegible] Heads.

I hear Federico Fellini called on Mae West while here to pick up his Oscar. No fool he.

Sorry to learn of the death of Conger Goodyear, founder and first president of the Museum of Modern Art in New York. I bought my first Hollywood home from him. Conger was a great friend of Katharine Cornell and helped a lot with her career.

Sidney Blackmer's playing a tipsy judge in "How to Murder Your Wife." After 55 years of movie making, his advice to young actors is: "Play anything. I've always made myself available as a halfback or a [illegible], so I've never stopped working."

Uganda Closes Border Against Refugees

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — The Uganda government has closed its borders with Sudan and Rwanda to keep out further waves of refugees seeking asylum.

Adoko Nekyon, planning and community development minister, announced Wednesday that the little East African nation is unable to cope with more refugees.

"Since 1955," he said, "when the first Sudanese came we have hardly had a breathing space. Congo Belgians followed them, then the Congolese themselves, then three waves of Rwanda Watusi and now Sudanese again—7,000 during the last 10 days."

The National Automobile Club suggests drivers allow more time for passing in high altitudes of mountain driving because of a slowdown in motor reactions.

Rocky Written Off by Albany Newspaper

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Albany Knickerbocker News wrote off Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today as a contender for the Republican presidential nomination and said his chief goal now was to stop Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

"It's not true," Rockefeller commented in New York. "I'm still in it to win."

The Knickerbocker News, one of two daily newspapers published in the state capital, had not endorsed editorially Rockefeller's presidential bid, but had expressed "well wishes" in his efforts.

The newspaper supported him for re-election two years ago.

LUTHERAN OBSERVANCE

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Lutheran Church recently observed Christian College Education Sunday with the installation of Norman D. Fintel as executive director of the Board of College Education. He succeeded Dr. Sydney A. Rand, who last August became president of St. Olaf College.

Sante Fe Railroad To Fire 40 Firemen

LA JUNTA (AP) — The Santa Fe Railroad said today that 40 firemen would be dismissed today on its Colorado division.

The division extends from Albuquerque, N. M., to Dodge City, Kan., and from La Junta, area headquarters, to Denver.

Division Superintendent C. B. Kurtz said few, if any, of the firemen involved had been working regularly. He said he did not have a breakdown of addresses of the firemen.

They will receive dismissal pay based on a formula set up by the Railway Arbitration Board. Kurtz said he did not know the total amount involved. The dismissals followed action of the U.S. Supreme Court in upholding a finding of the board that firemen were not needed in the diesel engines of some trains.

HAWK MISSILES GUARD FLORIDA—Three HAWK (Homing All the Way Killer) missiles are silhouetted against the Florida sky at an Army Air Defense Command missile site in the Key West area. HAWK is one of the Army missiles scheduled to be exhibited here on Armed Forces Day.

(U.S. Army photo)

Father, Son to Face Robbery Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—Two men were captured Wednesday after a finance company was held up—and they turned out to be father and son.

Charged with assault, robbery and grand larceny were John C. Graft, 39, Queens, a bartender, and John Jr., 21.

Police said the pair entered a finance company in Washington Heights, the older man carrying a gun, and fled in a car with $1,286.

Two patrolmen, hearing shouts of "stop, thief" commandeered an auto and forced the fleeing car to a curb in the Bronx after a chase at speeds up to 90 miles an hour.

Army Missiles Display Set for Armed Forces Day

A full-size model of the Army's Nike Zeus missile, now in development as part of the Nike X system to give America a defense against the much-vaunted intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM), will be exhibited in Colorado Springs on Armed Forces Day, May 16.

The missile is one of three to be displayed by the Army Air Defense Command during the "Power for Peace" parade and the exhibit of weapons at Peterson Field after the parade.

The anti-missile Nike Zeus and the Army's HAWK (Homing All the Way Killer) missile, which was employed in the active air defense system of the United States for the first time during the Cuban crisis, will be appearing in Armed Forces Day activities in Colorado Springs for the first time.

The third missile is the Army's Nike Hercules, a nuclear-capable high-altitude missile which is employed by ARADCOM to provide the inner ring of protection offered by the North American Air Defense Command to target centers throughout the nation.

Nike Hercules units were also among the Army air defense forces called upon during the Cuban crisis to establish new defenses in southern Florida.

Nike Zeus, which has logged a number of other successful tests against target vehicles in the last several years, scored the first successful intercept of an ICBM-boosted target nose cone July 19, 1962, out over the Pacific Range. The ICBM-boosted target was fired from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California and the Zeus was fired from Kwajalein atoll, some 5,000 miles away.

Nike Zeus is a three-stage missile of hypersonic speed, the first stage packing a boost of more than 450,000 pounds. The missile is approximately 48 feet in length. Two years ago the Nike Zeus model was exhibited for one hour on Pikes Peak Avenue in downtown Colorado Springs when the model was being moved to Oklahoma City for an exhibit at a fair.

The HAWK, a missile designed for optimum use against low-flying aircraft seeking to penetrate beneath the screen of conventional air defense weapons, has only been shown in Colorado Springs on two other occasions — the Pikes Peak Army Exhibit in 1959 and during the Joint Civilian Orientation Conference this week. Several HAWKS will be mounted together on the trailer. The missiles, which are more than 16 feet in length and 14 inches in diameter, are normally mounted on a mobile launcher in clusters of three.

The Nike Hercules, which is the backbone of the Army Air Defense Command's defenses of key bases and cities, has the highest altitude capability — well in excess of 100,000 feet — of all air defense missiles in the NORAD system today.

It is a two-stage, solid-propellant missile of supersonic speed. It's range is more than 75 miles. In test firings it has destroyed every type of target made available to it, from a balloon soaring above 150,000 feet, to other Nike Hercules missiles which required a closing speed of the interceptor missile and target missile of seven times the speed of sound.

This will be the first Armed Forces Day parade here since the middle 1950s in which Nike Ajax, the first guided missile of the air defense system, has not been exhibited. The last four Nike Ajax batteries in the air defense system are being phased out at Norfolk, Virginia this month.

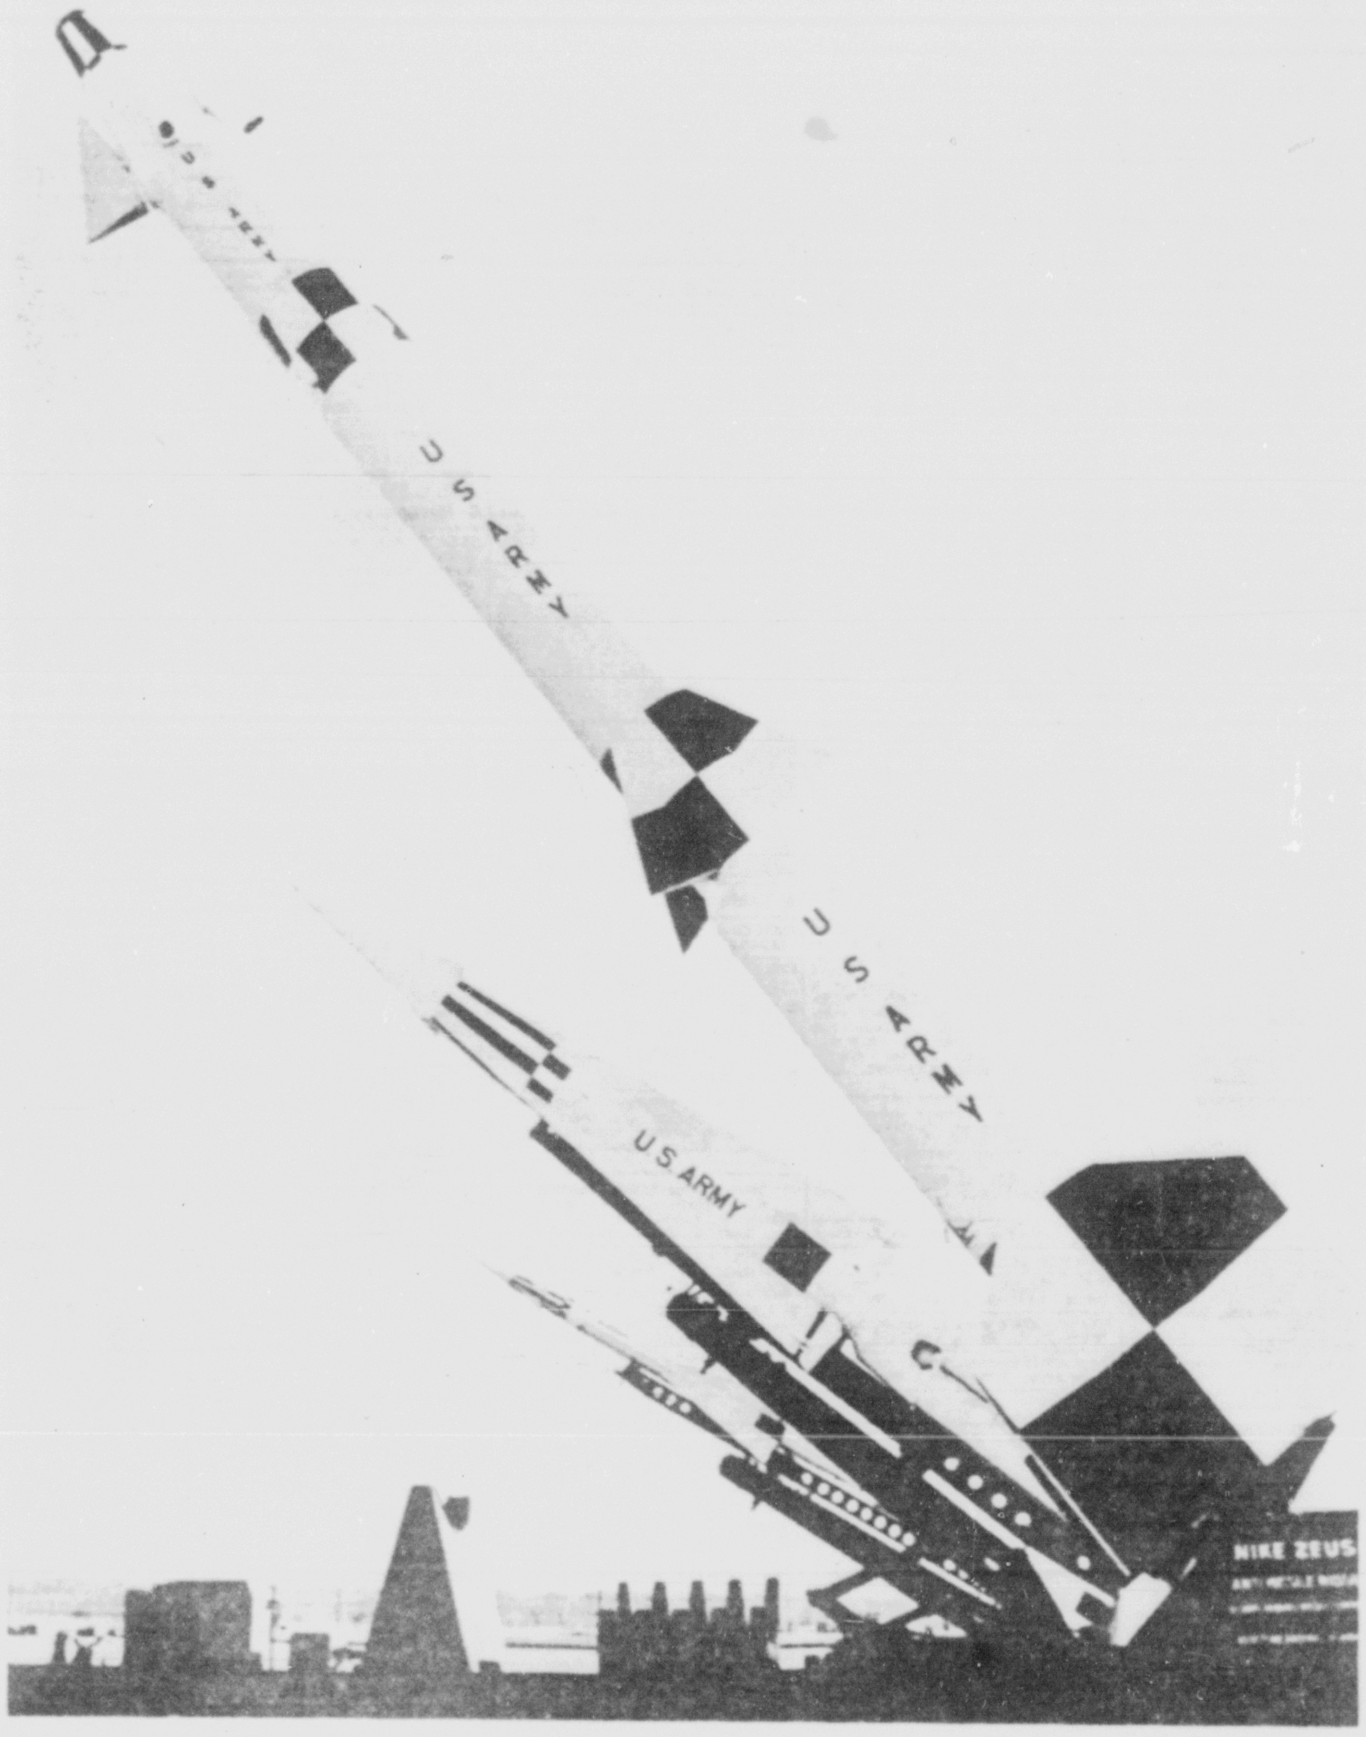
Local Students Earn Academic Military Honors

Two Colorado Springs youths are among those earning academic honors for the second six weeks grading period of the second semester at Wentworth Military Academy, Lt. Col. Cordell Thomas, dean, has announced.

The youths, who earned superior grades to qualify for the dean's lists, are as follows:

Cadet Paul G. Crozier, son of Mrs. Elia H. Crozier, 2529 Balboa St., who qualified for the Special Distinction List, and Cadet David Berwick, son of Mrs. Bobbe Berwick, 711 Manitou Ave., Manitou Springs, who qualified for the dean's Honor Roll.

Cadets who earn academic honors during the specified grading periods at Wentworth are accorded extra privileges and are permitted to wear the Scholastic Bar on their uniform.



MISSILE "POWER FOR PEACE"—Two of these Army air defense missiles — the developmental anti-missile Nike Zeus (foreground) and the Nike Hercules (center)—will be exhibited in the Armed Forces Day "Power for Peace" activities in Colorado Springs May 16. In the background is Nike Ajax, which was the first guided missile in the air defense system but which, for the first time since the mid-1950s, is not being shown in Armed Forces Day activities here since the Ajax is being phased out of the system this month.

Lyndon Travels More Than Any Other President

WASHINGTON (AP) — If he keeps up the pace he has set so far, Lyndon B. Johnson could become the travelingist president of all.

Between last Nov. 22, when he took office, and the end of April, Johnson logged 25,229 miles.

Except for a 150-mile motor round trip to Winchester, Va., to see his daughter, Luci Baines 16, crowned queen of an Apple Blossom Festival, all of his travels have been by plane and helicopter.

Since only out-of-Washington trips are counted, there is no way of calculating exactly how far he has traveled.

The 25,229 miles traveled by Johnson outside of Washington in a period of about five and one-third months, compare with 39,994 miles for President John F. Kennedy in his first full year in office.

Franklin D. Roosevelt is the record holder for travel with a total of 364,164 miles. But that covered a period of more than 12 years.

Johnson also might become the first president in modern times not to travel by train. So far he has not used a train.

Kennedy took only two train rides while President. These were from Philadelphia after Army-Navy football games to which he had gone by air.

From his inauguration in January 1961 until his assassination last Nov. 22, Kennedy traveled a total of 147,611 miles. This included considerable foreign travel. Johnson has not left the country and has said he has no plans to do so while the nation is without a vice president.

Dwight D. Eisenhower traveled 248,489 miles in eight years as president. His predecessor in the White House, Harry S. Truman, logged 230,808 miles in about seven years.

Oldest of the Shrine Temples in North America is Mecca, which was organized in 1872 at New York City.

CENSORSHIP COSTS

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Nigeria has announced it will now charge fees for censoring all films and film posters brought into the country.

Films here are certified "U" which is suitable for viewing by everyone, "A" which means a film can be seen by adults and by children under 16 if they are accompanied by an adult, and "X" which designates a film that will not be shown to anyone under 16.

Films previously had been censored without charge.

Negro Motel Damaged By Heavy Explosion

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A Negro motel, still under construction, was heavily damaged by an explosion, Sheriff Fred Pickett said Wednesday night.

The damage was discovered when the motel owner made a routine check of the structure.

Residents of North Jackson had reported an explosion Tuesday night but sheriff's deputies had been unable to find the blast scene.

France Swept By Old Oriental 'Nostalgia'

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS (NEA) — The jewel of France's colonial empire was, until its independence, Indochina. Now, with DeGaulle's recognition of Communist China, a geographical neighbor to its old colony, oriental nostalgia has swept France.

Mao Tse-tung is sparing no effort to bolster the popular image of China within France.

The visiting Peking State Opera was booked solid for weeks. Imports from dresses to chess sets are on the upswing. And exotic Chinese foods, a rarity since the Communist takeover, are now in evidence on the shelves of specialty stores.

The number of oriental restaurants in Paris has increased to about 240. They range from cheap chop suey counters in the Latin Quarter to de luxe restaurants in the heart of the city. Prices range from the equivalent of 50 cents to $6 per dish.

At least one French travel agency has organized the first holiday cruise to China in recent history. One of the largest department stores recently conducted a "Chinese month." It was such a success other establishments plan similar promotions.

Perhaps the biggest impact made by the oriental boom has been on the women of France. The "Asian look" is in. And on one fashionable avenue of Paris, a young Hong Kong woman has opened a beauty shop—guaranteed to make you look more oriental than your neighbors.

The beautician, Lan Xuan, treats customers with steam baths and immersions in water scented with crushed flowers and plants. Exotic powders and oils are applied to the skin, and an Asian treatment is applied to the eye contours. Presto! A Chinese lady is created on the spot.

There are at least six fulltime Chinese teachers in Paris. One professor at the College of Social and Economic Sciences says the language can be taught to any Frenchman in two years, with weekly two-hour lessons. A pupil has to memorize 3,000 Chinese characters.

Paris has long had its miniature Chinatown, situated on the Left Bank. On one street there are 12 Chinese restaurants, two groceries, a Chinese printer and the meeting place of a Franco-Chinese association.

At the groceries, goods are stacked at random. For sale are spices, rice, bamboo shoots, lichees, tea, incense, teacups, pots and rice bowls.

Mr. Liou, who owns a grocery in the shadow of the famous Pantheon, came to Paris in 1920 as a student. He worked for a while at the Renault automobile works where one of his friends also worked. His friend was Chou - en - lai, now Red China's premier.

Liou is pleased with France's diplomatic recognition of China. He sees increased importation of such goods as dried meats and fish and Chinese rice. He thinks, however, that certain luxury items like fine porcelain and silks will still be scarce.

There are also 12 Chinese antique and curio dealers in Paris. All deplore the fact that authentic Tang or Ming pieces are becoming more rare. According to Mr. Moreau-Gobard, top Chinese art expert, 20 years ago there were only a handful of serious collectors. Now there are hundreds of Parisians who have come into the game. But the real stuff is in very short supply.

"Most of the important Chinese dealers have taken refuge in Formosa, and it is useless to hope to find anything worthwhile inside China," said Moreau-Gobard.

Britain Releases Accused Spy

LONDON (AP)—Barbara Fell, 55, a British civil servant imprisoned for giving information to her Yugoslav lover, has been freed.

The Home Office said she was released from prison Wednesday. She went into seclusion, and her attorneys said she would make no statement.

Miss Fell was chief officer of the Central Information Office's overseas division. She was convicted of communicating confidential reports on the political situation in Yugoslavia to Smiljan Pacjak, a press counsellor at the Yugoslav Embassy in London.

At her trial she admitted being Pacjak's mistress, said she considered he was pro-Western and believed the reports on his country would make him more so.

'MIRACLE'

MARYKNOLL, N.Y. (UPI) — Townspeople at Curepto, Chile, saw Maryknoll Father Joseph H. Cappel ride his motorcycle across a swollen stream and ran back to their village to report "Miracle" Padre Jose can ride across the water on his motorcycle.

It wasn't a miracle. A week earlier, Father Cappel reported to Maryknoll headquarters here, he and volunteers had built a bridge over the stream. When he maneuvered his motorcycle over the submerged bridge after the stream had swollen, he amazed residents who didn't know about the bridge.

Church, State Separation Said To Be Necessary

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Chief Justice Earl Warren, speaking at the dedication of a cathedral tower, declared today the Constitution's separation of church and sate is "for the protection not only of the state, but of faith itself."

Thus Warren alluded to the renewed controversy over the Supreme Court's decisions holding that required prayers and Bible reading in public schools are unconstitutional.

The House Judiciary Committee is now hearing witnesses on proposals to amend the Constitution to permit prayers and Bible reading in the schools.

Warren, in remarks prepared for the dedication of the bell tower at Washington Episcopal Cathedral, said that "though our Founding Fathers maintained and we have preserved a separation of church and state, we are a religious people.

"The underlying concepts of our system of justice are ethical or religious, if you please. They derive fro m our convictions about the dignity of man."

Warren declared "our national life reflects a religious people" and recalled that the Supreme Court itself had said "the history of man is inseparable from the history of religion. And since the beginning of that history many people have devoutly believed that 'more things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of.'"

"But," added Warren, "religion is, under our Constitution, incapable of state establishment; this is for the protection not only of the state, but of faith itself, in all its forms.

"The interaction of religion and the state is, therefore, made informal and free, not barren and nonexistent as some suppose. It is as fruitful and unfettered as we have the strength to make it."

Greenhouse Blooms Again at Carson Hospital

In bloom once again is the greenhouse built at the Ft. Carson Post Hospital in April 1955 by Col. James L. Murchison, (Retired). It was put back into use last December by the combined efforts of Col. Martin Pfotenhauer, Sergeant Major G. D. Thompson and Roy Campbell, manager of the Broadmoor Hotel Greenhouse.

Since neither Col. Pfotenhauer, a doctor, nor Thompson, an archeolgist in his free time, knew much about horticulture, it was decided that professional guidance was needed. They found outside help in Campbell, a man with 17 years experience at the Broadmoor Greenhouse.

Besides time and services, Campbell donated many seeds and seedlings which were planted in the newly revamped greenhouse.

The first thing Campbell noted wrong was that there was no drainage in the flower beds. So, the house, 50 x 15 feet, was totally stripped of dirt and drainage holes were drilled six inches apart in each direction. The soil taken out was replaced with a mixture of peat moss, sand and topsoil to eliminate all weeds in the newly created beds.

All windows were covered with lime to eliminate light inside. Naturally, the task of scraping the lime off the glass was necessary prior to planting any seedlings.

Next, supports for the flowers were erected with wire and twine. The wire was run the length of the flower beds and heavy twine woven across the beds. This left six-inch open squares for the stalks to grow through and give support to the full grown flowers.

When the project was started last October, the men had no knowledge, no skill, no funds—just desire. In six short months the greenhouse was overflowing with a mixture of 3500 carnations, snapdragons, geraniums, gladiolis, chrysanthemums and many other flowers.

The Hospital will welcome old flower pots, any size, or vases of any kind, for use in supplying wards with flowers. Bulbs and plants will also be accepted. Pick-ups will be made through SMaj Gerald Thompson, Ext. 2005 or 2006.

When the blooms reach maturity they are cut and used as bedside bouquets for hospital patients. Others are transplanted and used to beautify Ft. Carson.

Division SMaj Bruce M. Shankland and Thompson have combined their efforts in a joint project to beautify the post. Money for the outside flowers was donated by the Officers Wives Club and the Central Post Fund.

Spec. 4th C. Dwain W. Weir who does much of the greenhouse care has built 10 flower beds to date around the post. Two are located outside Post Headquarters. One is at the main gate in the shape of a diamond, 12 feet wide, and 18 feet long. In the near future this diamond will be filled with blooming red geraniums.

Why all the trouble to renovate an old dilapidated greenhouse? Col. Pfotenhauer explains: "We want to make our hospital as cheerful as possible for our patients."

LEOPOLDVILLE — Congolese officials are improvising an air force, with soldiers lobbing hand grenades from low flying planes, to quell uprisings by tribesmen in jungle sectors.

Labor Chief Appeals Canadian Conviction

MONTREAL (AP) — Hal C. Banks, deposed kingpin of the Canadian waterfronts, has appealed a five-year prison sentence for conspiracy in the beating of a rival union official.

The Quebec Court of Appeals received the appeal Tuesday but declined to fix bail until it studied the trial transcript.

Banks, former president of the Seafarer's International Union of Canada, was convicted in connection with the beating in 1957 of Capt. Henry Francis Walsh, an organizer for the Canadian Merchant Service Guild.

Penn State baseball teams have appeared four times in the college World Series at Omaha since 1952.

Carson Ordinance Group to Note 20th Anniversary

One of the Army's oldest explosive disposal detachments, the 41st Ordnance Detachment, will note the 20th anniversary of its activation Thursday at Ft. Carson.

The 41st, commanded by 1st Lt. K. L. Hoover, has the mission of rendering safe all dangerous conventional, chemical and nuclear explosive ordnance in Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota when ordered or requested.

One of two such units stationed at Ft. Carson, the explosive disposal experts are on call 24 hours daily for civilian emergencies in addition to policing the ranges at Ft. Carson and other installations in the three states.

They are on call through civilian law enforcement agencies preferably.

Since the 41st was activated on May 7, 1944, it has been stationed at Manila, Phillippines; Yokohama, Japan; Raritan Arsenal, N.J.; Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.; Rocky Mountain Arsenal, Colo.; and Ellsworth Air Force Base, S. D. The unit was cited for outstanding performance of bomb disposal while in Japan.

All personnel in the 41st are volunteers who have qualified for their specialized field by attending the Explosive Ordnance Disposal School at Indianhead, Md. Refresher courses are required each 20 months.

Panama Commander Disclaims Coup Plan

PANAMA (AP) — Panama's National Guard commander, Col. Bolivar Vallarino, Tuesday night brushed off speculation that he will prevent former President Arnulfo Arias from taking office if he wins next Sunday's presidential election.

Vallarino said in an interview his 3,000-man force, Panama's army, will support the election winner no matter who he is.

Arias, regarded as having a slight edge in the seven-man race, has accused Vallarino of masterminding Arias' two ousters from the presidency, in 1941 and 1951.

Greenhouse Blooms Again at Carson Hospital

In bloom once again is the greenhouse built at the Ft Carson Post Hospital in April 1955 by Col James L Murchison (Retired). It was put back into use last December by the combined efforts of Col Martin Pfotenhauer, Sergeant Major G. D Thompson and Roy Campbell, manager of the Broadmoor Hotel Greenhouse.

Since neither Col Pfotenhauer, a doctor, nor Thompson, an archeologist in his free time, knew much about horticulture, it was decided that professional guidance was needed. They found outside help in Campbell, a man with 17 years experience at the Broadmoor Greenhouse.

Besides time and services, Campbell donated many seeds and seedlings which were planted in the newly revamped greenhouse.

The first thing Campbell noted wrong was that there was no drainage in the flower beds. So the house, 50 x 15 feet, was totally stripped of dirt and drainage holes were drilled six inches apart in each direction. The soil taken out was replaced with a mixture of peat moss, sand and topsoil to eliminate all weeds in the newly created beds.

All windows were covered with lime to eliminate light inside. Naturally, the task of scraping the lime off the glass was necessary prior to planting any seedlings.

Next, supports for the flowers were erected with wire and twine. The wire was run the length of the flower beds and heavy twine woven across the beds. This left six-inch open squares for the stalks to grow through and give support to the full grown flowers.

When the project was started last October, the men had no knowledge, no skill, no funds — just desire. In six short months the greenhouse was overflowing with a mixture of 3500 carnations, snapdragons, geraniums, gladiolis, chrysanthemums and many other flowers.

The Hospital will welcome old flower pots, any size, or vases of any kind for use in supplying wards with flowers. Bulbs and plants will also be accepted. Pickups will be made through SMaj Gerald Thompson, Ext 2005 or 2006.

When the blooms reach maturity they are cut and used as bedside bouquets for hospital patients. Others are transplanted and used to beautify Ft Carson.

Division SMaj Bruce M Shankland and Thompson have combined their efforts in a joint project to beautify the post. Money for the outside flowers was donated by the Officers Wives Club and the Central Post Fund.

Spec. 4th C Dwain W Weir, who does much of the greenhouse care, has built 10 flower beds to date around the post. Two are located outside Post Headquarters. One is at the main gate in the shape of a diamond, 12 feet wide and 18 feet long. In the near future this diamond will be filled with blooming red geraniums.

"Why all the trouble to renovate an old dilapidated greenhouse?" Col Pfotenhauer explains, "We want to make our hospital as cheerful as possible for our patients."

Carson Ordinance Group to Note 20th Anniversary

One of the Army's oldest explosive disposal detachments, the 41st Ordnance Detachment, will note the 20th anniversary of its activation Thursday at Ft Carson.

The 41st, commanded by 1st Lt K L [illegible], has the mission of rendering safe all dangerous conventional, chemical and nuclear explosive ordnance in Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota when ordered or requested.

One of two such units stationed at Ft Carson, the explosive disposal experts are on call 24 hours daily for civilian emergencies in addition to policing the ranges at Ft Carson and other installations in the three states.

They are on call through civilian law enforcement agencies preferably.

Since the 41st was activated on May 7, 1944, it has been stationed at Manila, Phillippines, Yokohama, Japan, Raritan Arsenal, N J, Ft Leonard Wood, Mo, Rocky Mountain Arsenal, Colo, and Ellsworth Air Force Base, S D. The unit was cited for outstanding performance of bomb disposal while in Japan.

All personnel in the 41st are volunteers who have qualified for their specialized field by attending the Explosive Ordnance Disposal School at Indian Head, Md. Refresher courses are required each 20 months.

Panama Commander Disclaims Coup Plan

PANAMA (AP) — Panama's National Guard commander, Col. Bolivar Vallarino, Tuesday night brushed off speculation that he will prevent former President Arnulfo Arias from taking office if he wins next Sunday's presidential election.

Vallarino said in an interview his 3,000-man force, Panama's army, will support the election winner no matter who he is.

Arias, regarded as having a slight edge in the seven-man race, has accused Vallarino of masterminding Arias' two ousters from the presidency, in 1941 and 1951.

Gladiators Told To Stay Close To Tooth Brush

"Get a little closer to your tooth brush" is the parting advise of Ft. Carson dentists to troops going on Exercise Desert Strike.

Men going to the desert and other Ft. Carson units have received the suggestion during a brand-new series of talks given by post dentists.

The series of talks on tooth and gum care stems from the number of cases of serious gum diseases found following Exercise Swift Strike II.

The three dental clinics were busy from Labor Day to Thanksgiving treating cases of "trench mouth." Dentists hope the same thing does not happen again.

The two main ideas are expressed to the men, check your teeth and gums frequently and "get a little closer to your tooth brush."

The ideas are emphasized with color slides of actual cases treated at Ft. Carson following Swift Strike III. The slides show diseased teeth and gums which, the dentists point out, could have been prevented by brushing teeth and consulting a dentist sooner.

During one of the talks, Maj. David Layman., preventative dentistry officer, told troops they would be breathing more through their mouths, drinking less water and generally having drier mouths while in the desert.

He said these factors will foster gum diseases if troops do not brush their teeth. The diseases are most painful, he pointed out.

Maj. Layman said the three dental clinics can treat 100 cases per day on sick call, but a heavy influx of persons with gum diseases after Desert Strike would be difficult to handle.

He advised the men to check promptly with their dentists any trouble noticed concerning teeth.

In a further note aimed toward parents, Maj. Layman declared, "It is an error in people's thinking that children's teeth need not be treated because the baby teeth are diseased." He stated all teeth and gum diseases should be checked by a dentist.

Teacher Sends Her Panties for Tax, Too

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A Southern California school teacher did more than protest to state income tax officials that they were taking the shirt off her back. She sent along her panties.

The disgruntled lady, officials report, made out her 1963 income tax check on a pair of panties and sent them to the Franchise Tax Board.

Those gentlemen gulped, then sent the novel check to a bank for payment. The gentlemen at the bank gulped, then honored the payment. The lady was not identified.

Gladiators Told To Stay Close To Tooth Brush

"Get a little closer to your tooth brush" is the parting advise of Ft. Carson dentists to troops going on Exercise Desert Strike.

Men going to the desert and other Ft. Carson units have received the suggestion during a brand-new series of talks given by post dentists.

The series of talks on tooth and gum care stems from the number of cases of serious gum diseases found following Exercise Swift Strike II.

The three dental clinics were busy from Labor Day to Thanksgiving treating cases of "trench mouth." Dentists hope the same thing does not happen again.

The two main ideas are expressed to the men: check your teeth and gums frequently and "get a little closer to your tooth brush."

The ideas are emphasized with color slides of actual cases treated at Ft. Carson following Swift Strike III. The slides show diseased teeth and gums which the dentists point out could have been prevented by brushing teeth and consulting a dentist sooner.

During one of the talks Maj. David Layman, preventative dentistry officer, told troops they would be breathing more through their mouths, drinking less water and generally having drier mouths while in the desert.

He said these factors will foster gum diseases if troops do not brush their teeth. The diseases are most painful, he pointed out.

Maj. Layman said the three dental clinics can treat 100 cases per day on sick call, but a heavy influx of persons with gum diseases after Desert Strike would be difficult to handle.

He advised the men to check promptly with their dentists any trouble noticed concerning teeth.

In a further note aimed toward parents, Maj. Layman declared, "It is an error in people's thinking that children's teeth need not be treated because the baby teeth are diseased." He stated all teeth and gum diseases should be checked by a dentist.

Teacher Sends Her Panties for Tax, Too

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A Southern California school teacher did more than protest to state income tax officials that they were taking the shirt off her back. She sent along her panties.

The disgruntled lady, officials report, made out her 1963 income tax check on a pair of panties and sent them to the Franchise Tax Board.

Those gentlemen gulped, then sent the novel check to a bank for payment. The gentlemen at the bank gulped, then honored the payment. The lady was not identified.

Murder of Two Policemen Poses Mystery

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP)—A fingerprint report and sketchy descriptions of two automobiles are the main clues in murder of two policemen in this northern Virginia city.

"We feel pretty futile about it," Police Chief R. W. Coble said. "There is, to be blunt, not a hell of a lot to go on."

Several persons were questioned but were released.

The fingerprints were on the squad car in which Sgt. R. G. Wright, 31, and Patrolman William Frank Mines, 27, were making their rounds before they were killed before dawn Tuesday.

Two cars with New Jersey license plates were said to have been noticed in the area of the slayings.

The bodies of Wright and Mines, both fathers of children, were found by a delivery man at 5:30 a.m. behind a shopping center. Mines was in the front seat of the patrol car and Wright was sprawled on the ground nearby.

Wright had been shot seven times and Mines three times by the same weapon, a foreign make the size of a .32 caliber weapon. An autopsy also showed that neither officer had fired a shot. When found, their guns and ammunition had been removed from their bodies.

The murders bore some similarities to the slaying April 17 of three officers in Georgia but Fredericksburg police discounted any connection.

Red China Waives Interest for Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Communist China has waived interest on its loans to Ceylon, a reliable source reported today.

Under a rubber-for-rice trade pact, China loaned Ceylon $10 million at 2.5 per cent interest for the purchase of textiles and other goods.

The source said following recent talks between Premier Chou En-lai and Ceylon's prime minister, Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike, Peking credited about $200,000 already paid in interest toward repayment of the loan.

Baccalaureate services will be held Sunday, May 10 at 8 p.m. Rev. Deverle Cooper, of the Kendrick Bible Church will be in charge of the service.

Commencement exercises will be held Thursday, May 1, at 8 p.m. Byron Parks of the State Department of Education will be the speaker.

The County Softball, Baseball Tournament will be played at Edison Friday, May 1.

Duane Edenborough took Pamela Rasner, Colette Bellmyer and Trudy Carter to Colorado Springs Thursday for the County History Contest.

Carolyn Sullivan and Fred Geist attended County Government Day in Colorado Springs Friday. Congratulations to David Bevans of Miami, who was chosen one of the eight to attend Boys State at Boulder one week in June. Fred Geist is the alternate. One hundred and fifty boys and girls met at the County Office Building at 8:30 a.m. Rev. John Skeen gave the Invocation. Joe Siegel the pledge of allegiance. County Commissioner Keith McBurney introduced the county officials. Major John Keeler of the Air Force Academy gave an address, "Our American Heritage." A tour of the county offices was taken. Lunch was served at the American Legion Hut, paid for by different business firms. Fred and Carolyn ate with the compliments of the Pikes Peak National Bank. After lunch all assembled in the Courthouse for a mock trial where the students took part. After this they witnessed a naturalization ceremony and then Paul Jasa, a refugee from Communist Czechoslovakia, spoke on "The Tragedy of Freedom."

The School Annuals have been sent home now and our thanks to the nice dedication page which was dedicated to the community mothers for their help in the past.

After retotaling scores a mistake was found in Sandra Gieck's score which should have given her a blue ribbon instead of the red at the recent County Judging 4-H Contest. Penny Gieck and Sandra Gieck will be on the county judging team that goes to Simla for Eastern Slope judging Saturday, May 9th.

Teny Brown called at the Harry Geists' Tuesday morning.

Patt Frazier, of Miami, has won a four year scholarship to Gunnison College.

Lyndon's Health Is Doing Fine Despite Pace

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite the whirlwind pace he's been keeping, President Johnson's heart—the heart that suffered an attack in 1955—is apparently still doing fine.

That was the indication from the White House today in answer to a query concerning the state of the President's health.

The query was motivated by the fact the President, ever since he took office, has maintained a fast and vigorous working schedule—ranging from sudden airplane trips to fast-paced on-the-hoof news conferences held on the quarter-mile driveway behind the White House.

At least one published report has said some of Johnson's associates have been worried about his energetic pace — in view of his history of having had one heart attack.

However, there are indications the President knows how to mix rest and relaxation with his fast-stepping work day.

The White House said Johnson's latest electrocardiograph examination—a test of his heart function—showed a normal finding. The same is true of his pulse, blood pressure and breathing rate.

Furthermore, there is "no enlargement of the heart," the White House said. It was the first technical word on Johnson's health since Dec. 4, shortly after he took office.

None of Johnson's own doctors—and he has them in various parts of the country as well as the White House—were available for interviews on the subject.

But one doctor outside the White House—who has nothing to do with President Johnson's case—told a reporter the information given out by the White House, together with the obvious fact that Johnson has been leading a fast work pace, add up to this, in his opinion:

"The fact that he has been able to maintain the pace gives reassurance that his coronary attack of 1955 was well-healed."

The doctor said the medical details given out by the White House could be interpreted this way:

1. "Normal" EKG: Means that the electrical-conducting system that makes the heart work was not damaged permanently by Johnson's coronary thrombosis in 1955.

2. "Normal" pulse: Means that Johnson's heart is responding well to its work-load—that is, it's not going too fast, or too slow.

3. "No enlargement of the heart": Means for one thing that the area of heart muscle damaged when a clot blocked Johnson's coronary artery during the 1955 attack has healed well. It also means that unaffected muscle in the heart has been able to carry the heart's work-load without becoming enlarged.

Signs that the President knows how to taper off from a hard-driving schedule include the following:

During his walkathon in the White House back yard last Saturday he told reporters he is usually in bed by 11 p.m. — and watches television or reads until about 2 a.m.

He is awake by 6:45 a.m.—automatically, and without any alarm clock, he indicated—but he stays abed a couple of hours after that, reading, or just resting.

Thus, he indicated, he rests up to 10 hours, even though he's not sleeping that long.

Moreover, he swims before lunch—and takes a nap every afternoon.

Pro-Reds Reject New Plans for Laos Rule

TOKYO (AP)—The pro-Communist Pathet Lao rejected "any reorganization or expansion of the Laotian coalition government," the New China News Agency said today.

The Red Chinese broadcast apparently was Pathet Lao Prince Souphanouvong's answer to proposals presented him by neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma at a meeting Tuesday of the two Laotian leaders.

Prince Souvanna flew to the Pathet Lao headquarters at Khanh Khay, 110 miles north of Vientiane, in another effort to get Souphanouvong to rejoin the coalition government, which the 1962 Geneva conference on Laos set up.

The premier said on his return to Vientiane that his talks with Souphanouvong—his half-brother—were held in a "friendly atmosphere" and that he would go back to Khang Khay in a few days to get the answer to his proposals.

Big Audience Is Seen for Outer Limits

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Outer Limits" is an early evening show apparently designed to scare deliciously an audience that is too old for Godzilla but too unsophisticated for "Twilight Zone."

There obviously is a big audience for this nonsense — monsters from outer space and mad scientists with time machines—because ABC has renewed it for another season.

Monday nights tale was typical of the silly series. It started with two frightened girls serving a poisoned cocktail to a handsome blackmailer standing for some unexplained reason, in swimming trunks in a lake in the middle of a dark forest. Then one of those Hollywood studio storms started as the girls fled through the woods to an eerie house where they found a grim blind man—played by, of all people, Sir Cedric Hardwicke—and a strange young man who had invented a machine that could "tilt time."

Well, sir, that poisoned fellow kept popping up, alive and dead, for most of an hour as the machine kept shuffling the past and the present. And all the time the braver of the girls kept running in the forest with a shovel trying to bury him.

This sort of stuff was grade D movie fodder before World World II. Maybe ABC needs a time tilting machine of its own.

The odds—for the next seven days of television only — are just about even that any evening network program is a re-run of a program seen earlier this season—or in a movie house long ago. There will be 42 repeats; 45 new shows.

Best bet for the viewer in search of fresh episodes in CBS, which will be showing 22 new programs and only 10 re-runs. Both ABC and NBC have at least twice as many repeat shows as new ones.

The situation will worsen sharply as June approaches. By summer, viewers will have available to them only a handful of new programs. Ed Sullivan, for one, will show only two repeats; the rest will be new.

Of the five network game shows in evening time, "What's My Line?" "Password" and "The Price Is Right" will use fresh shows, but "To Tell the Truth" and "I've Got a Secret" will go into re-runs.

"The Danny Kaye Show" will be replaced in early July by a variety-type show starring Rudy Vallee and featuring young performers. "The Garry Moore Show" will disappear—forever—at the end of June and re-runs of tour long specials from other seasons will be substituted. CBS's Sunday night "Brenner" will be new episodes of a summer series made five years ago.

NBC, whose summer schedule contains not a single new entertainment program, will replace "That Was the Week That Was" in July with a series of variety shows shown originally to Canadian television viewers, to be called "On Parade." Its "Moment of Fear" series, to take over the Tuesday night "You Don't Say" half hour two weeks from now, are re-runs of half-hour dramatic shows, mostly from the old GE Theatre series.

ABC's Lawrence Welk Show and "Hollywood Palace" will continue with fresh material.

All in all, it looks as if network television would have its leanest summer season in a long time. It probably is depending on the heavy coverage of political activities to keep viewer interest alive until fall.

Four Scotmen Learn How to Collect Money

NEW YORK (AP) — Four Scotsmen are in New York learning how to collect money.

They are studying the Port of New York Authority and the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority, which together collected more than $96 million in tolls on 15 bridges and tunnels last year.

The Scotsmen are here on behalf of a group that will open a bridge across the Firth of Forth in September.

"It may seem strange to you for Scotsmen to come here to learn how to collect tolls," John McWilliams, one of the four, said Tuesday, "but your authorities have got the technique down fine.

"Indeed, they don't miss a dime."

For an unusually good Sunday breakfast, serve canned whole hominy with country sausage and glazed fresh pear halves.

The Red Chinese broadcast apparently was Pathet Lao Prince Souphanouvong's answer to proposals presented him by neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma at a meeting Tuesday of the two Laotian leaders.

Prince Souvanna flew to the Pathet Lao headquarters at Khanh Khay, 110 miles north of Vientiane, in another effort to get Souphanouvong to rejoin the coalition government, which the 1962 Geneva conference on Laos set up.

The premier said on his return to Vientiane that his talks with Souphanouvong—his half-brother—were held in a "friendly atmosphere" and that he would go back to Khang Khay in a few days to get the answer to his proposals.

Big Audience Is Seen for Outer Limits

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Outer Limits" is an early evening show apparently designed to scare deliciously an audience that is too old for Godzilla but too unsophisticated for "Twilight Zone."

There obviously is a big audience for this nonsense — monsters from outer space and mad scientists with time machines—because ABC has renewed it for another season.

Monday night's tale was typical of the silly series. It started with a frightened girl serving a poisoned [illegible] a handsome blackmailer standing for some unexplained reason in swimming trunks in a lake in the middle of a dark forest. Then one of those Hollywood studio storms started as the girl fled through the woods to [illegible] Hand- [illegible] a ma- [illegible]

ABC's Lawrence Welk Show and "Hollywood Palace" will continue with fresh material.

All in all, it looks as if network television would have its leanest summer season in a long time. It probably is depending on the heavy coverage of political activities to keep viewer interest alive until fall.

Four Scotmen Learn How to Collect Money

NEW YORK (AP) — Four Scotsmen are in New York learning how to collect money.

They are studying the Port of New York Authority and the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority, which together collected more than $96 million in tolls on 15 bridges and tunnels last year.

The Scotsmen are here on behalf of a group that will open a bridge across the Firth of Forth in September.

"It may seem strange to you for Scotsmen to come here to learn how to collect tolls," John McWilliams, one of the four, said Tuesday, "but your authorities have got the technique down fine.

"Indeed, they don't miss a dime."

For an unusually good Sunday breakfast, serve canned whole hominy with country sausage and glazed fresh pear halves.

Santo Domingo Strike Losing Its Impact

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—A five-day-old strike by the country's 4,000 taxi drivers appeared losing some force and sympathy today.

With about 2,000 troops patrolling the streets, the only disorders Tuesday were minor stone throwing and burning of tires. Two persons were killed and dozens injured in weekend violence and about 700 persons were under arrest.

Santo Domingo depends on taxis for public transport, and there was growing concern that a continuation of the paralyzing walkout and disturbances might spawn an attempt to overthrow the country's ruling civilian junta.

The Dominican Republic's two largest labor organizations appealed to the taxi drivers, and 4,000 dockworkers who struck in sympathy, to go back to work.

The civilian junta kept Santo Domingo's docks functioning by bringing in hundreds of longshoremen from nearby ports.

The taxi drivers struck to protest recent junta decrees banning public meetings without official authorization, increasing duties on cars and other exports and authorizing police to seize drivers' licenses for traffic violations.

HYDROFOIL VIEW

NEW YORK (UPI)—Among the best views to be had of the Mediterranean coastline along the French Riviera are those from the Navite, a hydrofoil boat which plies between Cannes, Nice, Monaco, Menton and San Remo. Round trip fares range from $8 between Cannes and Nice to $16 between Cannes and San Remo.

Israel Will Test Divers on Project

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel has started testing its Jordan River diversion project to channel irrigation water into the Negev Desert.

Officials said if several weeks of tests are satisfactory, the project will go into operation this summer.

Leaders of the 13 Arab states have warned they will oppose the project under "the legitimate right of self-defense." They are making plans to divert headwaters of the rivers.

Housewives Are Indicted in Call Girl Ring

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Housewives, bartenders and restauranteurs are among 39 persons indicted on charges of being part of a Long Island call-girl ring that recruited suburban wives and mothers as prostitutes.

Also indicted Tuesday by a Nassau County grand jury were a former county policeman and the reputed madam of the $200,000-a-year ring, Concetta McAlister, 35, divorced mother of three, of Hicksville.

She also was accused of grand larceny for allegedly taking $6,253 in welfare payments while earning nearly $30,000 from prostitution.

The sex-in-suburbia scandal broke last February with the arrest of 13 women. Dist. Atty. William Cahn called them "typical housewives who live in split-level houses in suburbia."

Cahn said other "housewive-prostitutes" were granted immunity from prosecution in return for testimony. The grand jury heard 400 witnesses.

The 181-count indictments also charged 10 corporations, including Val Anthony's restaurant in Roslyn Heights, the Tivoli Motel and the adjacent Accent Lounge on the Jericho Turnpike and the Raceway Motel and the Gam Wah Chinese restaurant in Westbury. All are near Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury.

John Beck, 39, of Wantagh, who resigned from the Nassau County police force when the first arrests were made, was charged with aiding prostitutes to solicit business. He also was charged with neglect of police duty.

Also indicted was Mrs. McAllister's brother, Frank Pizzo, of East Meadow, N.J., on two counts of aiding prostitution and one count of statutory rape.

RECORD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Automobile Association last year issued a record number of American International Driving Permits to motorists headed overseas —a total of nearly 165,000.

A family's "distaff side" refers to the female branch, as opposed to the "spear side" or male branch, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

The chili supper held at the Grange Hall was well attended and a pleasurable occasion, netting a nice profit to assist Alaskans who lost their homes in the earthquake. In addition to all the delicious homemade chili and pie one could eat, games were featured and prizes awarded. A number of Divide neighbors were present.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. David Dorrity, who were married at Woodland Park, May 2. A large crowd attended the ceremony and the reception which was held at Trout Haven ranch. The couple left for a honeymoon trip to Connecticut and to visit relatives, and will be home at Divide on their return. The bride is the former Barbara Jean Manuel.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robinson of Wichita, Kan., spent a recent weekend at their Lake George summer home. O. N. Wamsley was also here briefly from Wichita.

A speedy recovery is wished for Ray Landis, Mrs. Jack Rodgers and Woody Woodhouse who have been confined to Penrose Hospital. Friends here wish Pearlie Rideout of Canon City the same as he's been on the sick list.

The relatives of elementary students attended the colorful spring festival at Woodland and proudly witnessed their youngsters perform in the festive program, April 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Barr Sr., are presently visiting at Othello, Wash., at the home of their daughter and family, the former Beverly Barr.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Anderson, newlyweds, visited Mrs. Lavern Anderson, recently enroute to Idaho Falls where he's stationed at a naval base.

Mrs. Dorothy Erb, president of the school board, gave an address at the cornerstone ceremonies of the new high school at Woodland Park, April 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fallis spent a few days last week visiting friends at Florence.

Mrs. Ruby Carman is now home after spending some time in Colorado Springs undergoing therapy on her injured hand.

The name of Karen Walden was among the seven students appearing on the honor roll at Woodland Park High. Karen also attended the scholastic contests which were held in Cripple Creek this year.

Mrs. John Quick has returned home after a trip deep into Old Mexico on a rock hunting quest.

Mrs. Jim Imboden of Colorado Springs hosted a birthday dinner, honoring Paul Imboden, with a number of friends and relatives present to wish him many more.

Spring construction is underway here with building programs progressing at Sanborn's youth ranches. Lynn Gregg of Austin, Tex., is here to assist in development of Crystal Peak Estates and new signs have been erected. A home is under construction west of Florissant, the work being done by Jack Walden for the William Shipleys of Colorado Springs who plan to make this their permanent home.

The Cattleman's Trading Post at Lake George will be open on Sundays hereafter to accommodate the weekend visitors to the region.

The county crew from Fairplay are here with carryalls and a dozer working in this area building fills, etc., on the 11 Mile Reservoir road.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Lewis were business callers Friday at Fairplay.

DOG DISCRIMINATION

NEW YORK (AP) — An organization has been formed to stop discrimination against dogs.

One of the things being done by the newly organized Dog Owners Association of America is to offer its members a $3,000 insurance policy to pay for damage done by their dogs in homes away from home.

This, says an association spokesman, is to help combat doggy discrimination by certain motel owners who refuse to allow canines on their premises. The motel people argue that often a dog is many miles away before any canine damage is discovered.

Santo Domingo Strike Losing Its Impact

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—A five-day-old strike by the country's 4,000 taxi drivers appeared losing some force and sympathy today.

With about 2,000 troops patrolling the streets, the only disorders Tuesday were minor stone throwing and burning of tires. Two persons were killed and dozens injured in weekend violence and about 700 persons were under arrest.

Santo Domingo depends on taxis for public transport and there was growing concern that a continuation of the paralyzing walkout and disturbances might spawn an attempt to overthrow the country's ruling civilian junta.

The Dominican Republic's two largest labor organizations appealed to the taxi drivers, and 4,000 dockworkers who struck in sympathy, to go back to work.

The civilian junta kept Santo Domingo's docks functioning by bringing in hundreds of longshoremen from nearby ports.

The taxi drivers struck to protest recent junta decrees banning public meetings without official authorization, increasing duties on cars and other exports and authorizing police to seize drivers' licenses for traffic violations.

HYDROFOIL VIEW

NEW YORK (UPI)—Among the best views to be had of the Mediterranean coastline along the French Riviera are those from the Navite, a hydrofoil boat which plies between Cannes, Nice, Monaco, Menton and San Remo. Round trip fares range from $8 between Cannes and Nice to $16 between Cannes and San Remo.

Israel Will Test Divers on Project

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel has started testing its Jordan River diversion project to channel irrigation water into the Negev Desert.

Officials said if several weeks of tests are satisfactory, the project will go into operation this summer.

Leaders of the 13 Arab states have warned they will oppose the project under "the legitimate right of self-defense." They are making plans to divert headwaters of the rivers.

Housewives Are Indicted in Call Girl Ring

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — Housewives, bartenders and restauranteurs are among 39 persons indicted on charges of being part of a Long Island call-girl ring that recruited suburban wives and mothers as prostitutes.

Also indicted Tuesday by a Nassau County grand jury were a former county policeman and the reputed madam of the $200,000-a-year ring, Concetta McAlister, 35, divorced mother of three, of Hicksville.

She also was accused of grand larceny for allegedly taking $6,253 in welfare payments while earning nearly $30,000 from prostitution.

The sex-in-suburbia scandal broke last February with the arrest of 13 women. Dist. Atty. William Cahn called them "typical housewives who live in split-level houses in suburbia."

Cahn said other "housewife-prostitutes" were granted immunity from prosecution in return for testimony. The grand jury heard 400 witnesses.

The 181-count indictments also charged 10 corporations, including Val Anthony's restaurant in Roslyn Heights, the Tivoli Motel and the adjacent Accent Lounge on the Jericho Turnpike and the Raceway Motel and the Gam Wah Chinese restaurant in Westbury. All are near Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury.

John Bock, 39, of Wantagh, who resigned from the Nassau County police force when the first arrests were made, was charged with aiding prostitutes to solicit business. He also was charged with neglect of police duty.

Also indicted was Mrs. McAllister's brother, Frank Pizzo, of East Meadow, N.J., on two counts of aiding prostitution and one count of statutory rape.

RECORD

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Automobile Association last year issued a record number of American International Driving Permits to motorists headed overseas—a total of nearly 165,000.

A family's "distaff side" refers to the female branch, as opposed to the "spear side" or male branch, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Pesticides Are Blamed For Huge Fish Kills

By LOUIS MILLINER
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Huge fish kills on the lower Mississippi by potent insecticides may force a choice between the farmer and the river.

Scientists from the U.S. Public Health Service told a pollution investigating committee Tuesday that Endrin and similar pesticides are the villains.

The kills, involving millions of fish, have hit the lowr Mississippi and the Atchafalaya River. fish, have hit the lower Mississippi through Louisiana.

The problem is: Banning the pesticides would make life more diffcult for farmers, who use them to destroy pests that prey on crops.

Some scientists, and spokesmen for manufacturers of the insecticide, deny charges that the chemicals are responsible for the river damage.

The PHS scientists testified before representatives of pollution control agencies from Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee.

Dr. Robert J. Anderson of the U.S. Department of Agriculture said afterward, "If it should be found that the cancellation of registration on Endrin, Aldrin and Dieldrin—two other pesticides—is necessary, the department is prepared to do so."

Anderson, deputy administrator of the department's Agricultural Research Service, added: "Such cancellation could well jeopardize the continued ability of the American farmer to produce the quantity and quality of food, feed and fiber vital to our national welfare. It is imperative, therefore, that this matter be studied with extreme care and that the decision reached be based on sound judgment and evidence."

Federal scientists testified that one source of Endrin pollution was located in the discharge of industrial waste and other drainage from the Memphis, Tenn., complex, particularly the plant of the Velsicol Chemical Corp.

Velsicol, named previously as a source of river contamination, has denied it is responsible for dumping Endrin waste into tributaries of the Mississippi.

Our world traveler, Miss Marguerite McLelland, will spend her May 10 birthday in Kowloon, Hong Kong. In a recent letter sent to her friends Miss McLellan tells of her travels through Africa, visiting the African Kraals and Animal preserves in Eshowe and at Durban the "Straat Torres." She and her companion arrived in Singapore on April 18 and in Hong Kong April 26. They will spend the month of June in Australia and the Fiji Islands, planning to be back in the United States on July 9 in San Francisco. The travelers left New York February 16, on the Robin Gray freighter, arriving in Capetown March 8, and have met four U.S.A. travelers in their journeying, on a bus in Africa.

Kenneth Quinn heading the Ute Pass Cancer Crusade, reports a small increase over last year's house-to-house canvas was realized, and that many donations were mailed directly to the headquarters office. The Cascade Community contributed $193 under Helen Dugdale, captain. Chipita Park, under Dorothy Sabin Jones, gave $27.25; Green Mountain Falls, under Lucille White, with Crystola and Highway 24, under Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Quinn, turned in $102.25. Woodland Park, under Mrs. Adeline Golden, captain, contributed $126.

The Brockhurst Boys Ranch is preparing a Library Corner in the main lodge hall which has been spear-headed by God and Country Scouts, Terry Thomson and Layne Van Arsdale, as one of their welfare and work projects. A recent gift donation to the ranch was a Shop Master power saw and other tools of all kinds from James M. Parsons, a neighbor of Mr. and Mrs. George Roth. The boys at the Ranch have been busy tearing down the several old buildings on Highway 24, across from Crystola Canyon. The good parts of the lumber are being used to build steps and do repair work needed at the Ranch. We are reminded of the public auction which will be held at the Ranch Sunday, June 28. Any donations of discarded furniture, dishes, knick-knacks, etc., will be welcome. For pick up service call Frank Van Arsdale, 684-9689. Don Gilbert will be the auctioneer on the day of the sale, the proceeds, to be used for ranch operating costs.

Capt. John McGinnis left May 2, for Fort Sill, Okla., where he will take a 6 months course in advanced artillery, graduating around December 17. Capt. McGinnis is with Artillery Headquarters Division at Fort Carson. A most important event occurred in their lives May 1, when their adopted children were among some 40, who received their United States Citizen papers in Denver, at the Old Post Office Building, 2 p.m. The adoption contract was finalized two years ago in Baunholder, Germany where the McGinnises were stationed for three years. U.S.-Japan Cable Completed in Pacific

TOKYO (AP)—The American cable ship Long Lines has resumed laying the last link of the U.S.-Japan telephone circuit after fishing up and repairing a deep sea cable which broke Monday.

Japanese officials said they received word the ship found the broken cable 68 miles east of Japan and lowered an anchor-like device to retrieve it from a depth of 4,000 feet.

The accident is not expected to delay the opening of the Japan-Hawaii circuit scheduled for June 19.

DOG DISCRIMINATION

NEW YORK (AP) — An organization has been formed to stop discrimination against dogs.

One of the things being done by the newly organized Dog Owners Association of America is to offer its members a $3,000 insurance policy to pay for damage done by their dogs in homes away from home.

This, says an association spokesman, is to help combat doggy discrimination by certain motel owners who refuse to allow canines on their premises. The motel people argue that often a dog is many miles away before any canine damage is discovered.

Sierra Leone Turns Down Independence

LONDON (AP)—The Creoles of Sierra Leone have been refused independent statehood by a descendant of the antislavery campaigner who settled their ancestors in Africa 175 years ago.

The decision Tuesday, by High Court Judge Richard Wilberforce, ended three years of litigation brought by Dr. Prince Buck and five others.

Judge Wilberforce's great-great-grandfather, William Wilberforce, led the campaign which resettled the Creoles—freed slaves from America and the British West Indies — on West Africa's Sierra Leone peninsula. The community, a crown colony, was later merged with the larger protectorate of Sierra Leone, and the entire territory was given independence in 1961.

Dr. Buck and the other five Creole plaintiffs contended that the British government had exceeded its powers. Judge Wilberforce ruled that the crown powers were sufficient, and ordered the plaintiffs to pay court costs of about $2,800.

EXPENSIVE WATER

CAPE KENNETY, Fla. (AP)—Boeing Co. scientists estimate that astronauts on extended space flights will require about a gallon of water a day. The price tag on putting a gallon into orbit under current rocket launching costs is about $2,000.

With the high price, plus the fact there is a limitation to what can be orbited regardless of cost, Boeing is studying ways of recovering, processing and recycling water used in a space capsule.

Even so, it won't be like home. It is estimated that every man, woman and child in the United States uses an average 50 gallons of water a day for drinking, washing, cooking and watering the lawn.

The Phillies won 87 games in 1963, six more than they won in 1962. They moved from seventh place in the National League to fourth.

Methodists Not Quite Agreed On Race Issue

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A northern bishop and a Southern bishop held differing interpretations today on a new Methodist Church law saying persons of any race are eligible to worship or hold membership in any Methodist church.

Bishop John Owen Smith of Atlanta, Ga., said the key word is "eligible." He said that doesn't mean persons of any race must necessarily be admitted to any Methodist church.

Bishop James K. Mathews of Boston, said it is his feeling that Methodist churches are under a "compulsion of faith" to abide by the intent of the law and thus are obligated to throw open their doors to everyone.

The church's general conference, holding its quadrennial meeting in Pittsburgh's Civic Arena, adopted the new law Tuesday night. Approval came on a show of hands and without debate.

The law reads: "The Methodist Church is a part of the church universal. Therefore, all persons, without regard to race, color, natural origin, or economic condition, shall be eligible to attend its worship services, to participate in its programs, and to be admitted into its membership anywhere in the connection."

Bishop Smith was asked to give his interpretation of it.

He said: "All people are eligible. Eligible means they are free to go and should be admitted. I don't know if that makes it binding on them to be let in."

If a person would be kept out of a church, the bishop added, it would not be a matter of prejudice but a matter of custom, particularly in the South.

Bishop Smith went on to say," "Demonstrations and picketing kind of set up a barrier. It has made a great many people think they did not come to worhip but came more as a test case."

The bishop said the new law will make it embarrassing to a local church if it does not admit a person.

Bishop Mathews said it appeared to him it is the responsifilled. But the job of enforcement would fall to bishops if disputes arose, he said.

Speaking generally of the rule he said, "it is entirely in accordance with Christian faith and therefore it seems a compulsion of faith for churches to abide by it."

The law was drawn up by the Committee on Membership and Evangelism. It was placed in the church's discipline (law) in a chapter entitled "Church Membership."

New Head Count Does Not Benefit City

PASCO, Wash. (AP)—Pasco City officials should have quit while they were ahead.

About a month ago they ordered a new head count hoping for a substantial increase in the per capita distribution of state liquor and gasoline taxes to cities.

The census, which cost $1,567, showed a population loss of 823 since last year, down to 15,677. As a result, Pasco stands to lose about $13,100 this year in state funds.

Pesticides Are Blamed For Huge Fish Kills

By LOUIS MILLINER
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Huge fish kills on the lower Mississippi by potent insecticides may force a choice between the farmer and the river.

Scientists from the U.S. Public Health Service told a pollution investigating committee Tuesday that Endrin and similar pesticides are the villains.

The kills, involving millions of fish, have hit the lowr Mississippi and the Atchafalaya River fish, have hit the lower Mississippi through Louisiana.

The problem is: Banning the pesticides would make life more difficult for farmers, who use them to destroy pests that prey on crops.

Some scientists and spokesmen for manufacturers of the insecticide, deny charges that the chemicals are responsible for the river damage.

The PHS scientists testified before representatives of pollution control agencies from Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee.

Dr. Robert J. Anderson of the U.S. Department of Agriculture said afterward, "If it should be found that the cancellation of registration on Endrin, Aldrin and Dieldrin—two other pesticides—is necessary, the department is prepared to do so."

Anderson, deputy administrator of the department's Agricultural Research Service, added:

"Such cancellation could well jeopardize the continued ability of the American farmer to produce the quantity and quality of food, feed and fiber vital to our national welfare. It is imperative, therefore, that this matter be studied with extreme care and that the decision reached be based on sound judgment and evidence."

Federal scientists testified that the source of Endrin pollution was located in the discharge of industrial waste and other drainage from the Memphis, Tenn., complex, particularly the plant of the Velsicol Chemical Co.

Velsicol, named previously as a source of river contamination, has denied it is responsible for dumping Endrin waste into tributaries of the Mississippi.

The United States minted a two-cent piece from 1864 to 1873.

Japanese officials said they received word the ship found the broken cable 68 miles east of Japan and lowered an anchor-like device to retrieve it from a depth of 4,000 feet.

The accident is not expected to delay the opening of the Japan-Hawaii circuit scheduled for June 19.

Sierra Leone Turns Down Independence

LONDON (AP) — The [illegible] of Sierra Leone have been refused independent status by a descendant of the anti-slavery campaigner who settled their ancestors in Africa 175 years ago.

EXPENSIVE WATER

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Boeing Co. scientists estimate that astronauts on extended space flights will require about a gallon of water a day. The price tag on putting a gallon into orbit under current rocket launching costs is about $2,000.

With the high price, plus the fact there is a limitation to what can be orbited regardless of cost, Boeing is studying ways of recovering, processing and recycling water used in a space capsule.

Even so, it won't be like home. It is estimated that every man, woman and child in the United States uses an average 50 gallons of water a day for drinking, washing, cooking and watering the lawn.

The Phillies won 87 games in 1963, six more than they won in 1962. They moved from seventh place in the National League to fourth.

Methodists Not Quite Agreed On Race Issue

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A northern bishop and a Southern bishop held differing interpretations today on a new Methodist Church law saying persons of any race are eligible to worship or hold membership in any Methodist church.

Bishop John Owen Smith of Atlanta, Ga., said the key word is "eligible." He said that doesn't mean persons of any race must necessarily be admitted to any Methodist church.

Bishop James K. Mathews of Boston, said it is his feeling that Methodist churches are under a "compulsion of faith" to abide by the intent of the law and thus are obligated to throw open their doors to everyone.

The church's general conference, holding its quadrennial meeting in Pittsburgh's Civic Arena, adopted the new law Tuesday night. Approval came on a show of hands and without debate.

The law reads: "The Methodist Church is a part of the church universal. Therefore all persons without regard to race, color, national origin, or economic condition, shall be eligible to attend its worship services, to participate in its programs, and to be admitted into its membership anywhere in the connection."

Bishop Smith was asked to give his interpretation of it.

He said: "All people are eligible. Eligible means they are free to go and should be admitted. I don't know if that makes it binding on them to be let in.

"If a person would be kept out of a church," the bishop added, "it would not be a matter of prejudice but a matter of custom, particularly in the South."

Bishop Smith went on to say: "Demonstrations and picketing kind of set up a barrier. It has made a great many people think they did not come to worhip but came more as a test case."

The bishop said the new law will make it embarrassing to a local church if it does not admit a person.

Bishop Mathews said it appeared to him it is the responsibility [illegible] filled. "But the job of enforcement would fall to bishops if disputes arose," he said.

Speaking generally of the rule he said: "It is entirely in accordance with Christian faith and therefore it seems a compulsion of faith for churches to abide by it."

The law was drawn up by the Committee on Membership and Evangelism. It was placed in the church's discipline (law) in a chapter entitled "Church Membership."

New Head Count Does Not Benefit City

PASCO, Wash. (AP)—Pasco City officials should have quit while they were ahead.

About a month ago they ordered a new head count hoping for a substantial increase in the per capita distribution of state liquor and gasoline taxes to cities.

The census which cost $1,567 showed a population loss of 823 since last year, down to 15,677. As a result Pasco stands to lose about $13,100 this year in state funds.
